JUST RING TO KEEP HEALTHY

Arizona Ratifies Vote Amendment

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Arizona became the 30th state to ratify the constitutional amendment lowering the voting age to 18 Monday.

Defense Asks Court Mercy

MOSCOW (UPI) —Defense attorneys pleaded today for mercy for nine Jews on trial in Leningrad, saying the defendants had been used as "pawns" by the Zionists, the Soviet news agency Tass said.

Tass said the lawyers expressed the repentance of their clients and defended the legality of the trial, in an apparent effort to rebut foreign critics.

(In Jerusalem, Israeli Premier Golda Meir denounced the trial Monday as "Stalinist terror.")

Tass said attorney Yuri Buzinier, representing defendant Mikhail Korenblit, "described all the other members of the group as helpers of the evil will of the Israeli Zionist circles."

"They were pawns in the speculative political gamble played by these circles," it quoted Buzinier as saying.

Nixon Nod To Pay Hike For Railmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Senate committee approved legislation today to stop the nationwide rails strike. The resolution would order striking signalmen back to work until at least Oct. 1, while giving them an interim pay increase of 17.5 per cent.

The legislation, which was moved to the Senate floor for quick action, went far beyond legislation requested by President Nixon who asked only that the strikers be ordered back to work until July 1 while negotiations resumed.

The White House said the Senate plan was "acceptable to us." Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon would go along with both the later deadline and an interim pay increase because it would "get the rails moving again."

The proposed legislation approved by the Senate Labor Committee was in line with a similar settlement imposed by Congress in another nationwide rail strike almost six months ago when four other unions were given pay increases of 13 per cent.

The wage increase recommended by the Senate group would come out to about 67 cents additionally an hour to highest-paid signalmen.

The Senate action came as the House Commerce Committee considered similar legislation, with congressmen making it clear they did not like the idea of being strike breakers.

"We're getting fed up with it," Rep. Samuel Devine, R-Ohio, told Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson during the hearing.

Rep. John Moss, D-Cal., asked Hodgson whether the intervention of Congress was not "an impairment of collective bargaining."

Congress gave reluctant priority to the strike-stopping legislation proposed by Nixon Monday a few hours after the signalmen tied up the nation's rail passenger and freight service by setting up picket lines that members of other rail unions refused to cross.

Hodgson warned, in testimony before the House committee today, of "drastic effects" on the nation's economy if the strike continued.

The vote was 13 to 1. Sen. Robert O. Packwood, R-Ore., said he cast the lone vote against the proposal because he felt Congress had no business settling rail strikes.

A Republican, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N. Y., was one of the sponsors of the revised proposal that cleared the committee to

A Cautious Greeting To Health Plan

Marin health and medical officials today expressed cautious approval of consolidating all health and medical services under one department, but warned that the propsoed new alignment has flaws.

Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella outlined a plan to form a new department of health care services with Dr. Donovan O. Cooke as department head.

This department would combine the departments of public health, medical, community mental health services, county service officer, conservatorships, coroner, public administrator, public guardian and comprehensive health planning.

Campanella recommended that under Dr. Cooke would be two assistants, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht as health officer and Dr. John Guerrant as mental health program chief.

Campanella recommended that sanitarians, building inspectors and the zoning administrator should be realigned under a new department of inspections. Dr. Albrecht should concentrate on public health planning, said Campanella.

This did not sit well with Dr. Albrecht and several other speakers. Dr. Albrecht said she is opposed to having her department of environmental health under a new department of inspections. She said her sanitarians do more than just inspect, playing valuable roles in consultation and education.

She also opposed Campanella's proposal to put health education, nutrition and rabies control under a chief of special services, that post to be filled by the present county service officer, James V. Burdick.

Dr. Stephen Kent, representing the Marin Medical Society, expressed similar concern.

He said such services as venereal disease control and rabies control cannot be divorced from the health officer because during an epidemic, the health officer is vitally concerned with such outbreaks.

"I don't see how you can provide better service if you remove environmental health from public health," said Dr. Kent.

Dr. Cooke, Burdick and representatives of the mental health advisory board, Easter Seal Society, and comprehensive health planning council also agreed in general with the reorganization idea but asked for careful study to see that services are aligned in proper categories.

Supervisors asked Campanella to consult with the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council and come back with any changes that the council might propose on the reorganization plan.

Campanella said the reorganization proposal is not his idea alone, and he is open to any changes that might be suggested.

Mass Arrests Over Abduction

ISTANBUL (UPI)—The Turkish government arrested scores of dissidents, professors and politicians today in a race to find kidnapped Israeli Consul Ephraim Elrom before his abductors can execute him as threatened.

The leftist extremists who kidnapped Elrom, 59, from his home Monday said they would kill him in two days if the government did not release "all revolutionary guerillas" now in jail. Instead there were mass arrests.

Army units and security police halted traffic at roadblocks throughout Turkey in a search for what government sources said were more than 300 known leftwings, student extremists, intellectuals, unionists, professors and politicians thought to be connected in some way with the organization that seized Elrom.

Elrom, who helped send Nazi mass murderer Adolf Eichmann to the gallows a decade ago, was captured by men calling themselves the Turkish Liberation Army, a leftwing organization that claimed responsibility for previous kidnappings of Americans.

Many of those arrested were taken to a security headquarters building that Florence Nightingale once used as a hospital during the Crimean War.

At the top of the wanted list were 49 persons the government said were "guilty of inciting innocent youths" to the kidnapping.

(In Jerusalem the Israeli cabinet met in emergency session to discuss the kidnapping and the possible involvement of Arab guerrilas. A statement issued afterward expressed Israel's "disgust" with the kidnapping. Prime Minister Golda Meir sent a message of encouragement to the wife of the abducted diplomat.)

Elrom, a policeman-turned diplomat, was seized by four or five armed and masked men when he came home for lunch. He struggled but was subdued with a pistol blow to the head.

Five hours later a typewritten note delivered to the Turkish news agency said Elrom would be shot unless all "revo-

Elderly Housing Plan Gets Tentative Nod

Catholic Social Service of Marin will get a use permit to build 102 units of housing for the elderly at 217 Laurel Grove Avenue in Kentfield, now occupied by a Dominican priory.

Ralph D. Cairns, Deputy County Zoning Administrator, announced yesterday he would issue the permit, barring a legal obstacle.

The legal question was raised by Louis F. Hawkins of 4 Hanken Drive, who protested the apartment development. Hawkins said Article 34 of the state Constitution provides that no low rent housing can be built by any state public body without prior approval in a referendum election.

William Parnow, representing Catholic Social Service, replied that the housing will be relatively expensive units, not low cost housing. He assured residents that the apartments will not become a ghetto.

Architect James McDonald said the priory building will be remodeled into 26 units, and six new buildings will house 76 more units. Parking will be provided for 47 cars. He said construction will be rustic, and exterior colors will be earthy stain to blend with the residential neighborhood.

The property, at the corner of Lauren Grove Avenue and Hanken Drive, comprises 10.5 acres. Only one half will be used for the apartments, and the rear half will be sold for private development of one-family homes.

Hawkins and Dudley F. Miller, president of the Del Mesa Property Owners Association, led the opposition. They said 102 units on five acres would destroy the character of their neighborhood of one-family homes, create congestion, and lower values. 70 per cent of Del Mesa residents are opposed to the dense apartment development, said Miller.

Speakers, both for and against the development, were about equally divided.

Those who backed the apartments included T. C. Wellman, a Del Mesa Property Owners Association director; Rebecca Watkin, representing the Marin Council for Civic Affairs; and other individuals. They argued that the housing policy just approved by the county calls for integrating housing for the elderly with one-family homes.

Hawkins replied that there are other properties in San Rafael or in unincorporated areas close to shopping centers. If apartments must go in, then the entire 10.5 acres should be used, not just five acres, argued Hawkins.

Cairns, the deputy zoning administrator, said he believes the housing for the elderly will generate less traffic than single family homes. He said he will approve the use permit, after checking with the county counsel on the legal point raised by Hawkins.

Last year, Katharine Branson School tried to open a boys school on the same property but withdrew in the face of mass protest by the Del Mesa residents.

Two Film Panels Hit The Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Catholic and Protestant film boards withdrew their support from the Mition Picture Association of America's (MPAA) voluntary rating system today, charging it had failed to protect the young from sex and violence on the screen.

The church groups blamed "pressures from motion picture companies" and said it appeared "the spectre of governmental regulation is too remote, for the industry as a whole to take seriously its task of self-regulation at present."

The Broadcasting and Film Commission of the National Council of Churches and the National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures said in a joint statement the industry's ratings of films had proved unreliable and that the public was losing confidence in the system.

"The basic criterion for evaluating the rating program is whether it protects the young from material beyond their ability to cope," the boards said. "We believe that the ratings at present do not take into account sufficiently the total context of a given film, that they place too much weight on overt sex and not enough on the implicit exploitation of sex and the over-all impact of violence and other anti-social aspects of the film on the child.

"In addition," they said, "overt visual sex is now finding its way into the 'GP' (All Ages Admitted, Parental Guidance Suggested) films. This pivotal rating thus has become worse than useless because a parent, having once been misled, has no way of knowing whether other 'GP' rated films contain similar material."

In addition to "GP," film ratings are "G"—all ages admitted, general audience; "R"—restricted, under 17 must be accompanied by a parent or adult guardian, and "X"—no one under 17 admitted.

The boards said that while the reliability of the ratings were "at the heart of the matter," it also was necessary that "more local theaters seriously enforce the ratings, and advertising reflect more concern with informing the public and less with exploiting sex and violence." The boards also have complained in the past about the practice of showing "R" and "X-rated trailers with "G" and "GP" films.

"It is essential," they said, "that the motion picture industry itself realize that it must develop a workable, dependable and credible system of self-regulation as an alternative to governmental censorship."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Fund Freeze Denial

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Caspar Weinberger, deputy director of the budget, Monday denounced as "completely demagogic and political" claims that the Nixon administration was seizing power from Congress by impounding funds.

Weinberger told a Capitol Hill news conference that $12 billion in funds frozen by the administration were well below the average of previous years under Democratic administrations. He said the figure represented 5.6 per cent of total authorized outlays, compared with an average of 6.8 per cent during the past decade.

Weinberger contended that holding funds in reserve was necessary to fight inflation and to comply with a spending ceiling imposed by Congress.

Deodorant Warning

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Repeated use of some commercial underarm aerosol deodorants can lead to clinical lung disease in certain persons, an Army doctor warned Monday in a report to a medical conference.

Lt. Col. George W. Ward Jr. of the Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver, told the American Thoracic Society that two brands of deodorant figured in the cases of five men and two women whose lungs were affected.

He refused to name them because of the preliminary nature of his investigation and the uncertainty of the chemicals involved.

Ward told the society, which is meeting here as a division of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Assocation conference, that the seven persons were affected by sarcoidosis—formation of fibrous tissue in the lungs.

Jubilee's Mayhem

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (UPI)—Many residents of this Sierra community in Calaveras county wish Mark Twain's story never made their annual frog jumping contest a famous international jubilee.

About 70,000 people jammed the old gold rush town for the weekend event. One person was killed, at least 141 injured and 60 arrested on various charges in the resulting mayhem.

"And that's probably about 1 per cent of the ones that should have been arrested," said Sheriff Russell Leach.

Leach said fences were cut and a barn burned near the county fairgrounds, where 2,000 frogs leaped for prizes in the contest held annually since 1928.

Laos Evacuation

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Wives and children of Americans and other employes of the U.S. government were evacuated today from Pakse in southern Laos where a new North Vietnamese offensive has carved out huge new areas.

The official Laotian military spokesman said the situation "is getting worse."

The evacuation of about 100 dependents followed the virtual leveling of the town of Dong Hene Monday night in a rocket attack by advancing Communist troops. Laotian government spokesmen said about 75 per cent of the town's homes were destroyed by rockets.

The big Communist offensive in the south coincided with renewed peace efforts by the Communist Pathet Lao and their demands that Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma halt U.S. bombing attacks in Laos. B52s have hit the Ho Chi Minh Trail almost daily for months and U.S. planes have supported Laotian ground operations.

Hijack Foiled

MALMOE, Sweden (UPI)—Police arrested a U.S. Army deserter Monday night after he tried to hijack a Scandinavian Airlines System (SAS) airliner by threatening to kill his Swedish girlfriend.

Authorities said the man, identified only as a 21-year-old Negro, was persuaded by his friends and by police to give up after 45 minutes. He was taken into custody by scores of policemen that surrounded the Stockholm-bound DC9. No one was hurt.

The police said the deserter quarreled with three friends at Malmoe harbor, then forced his 21-year-old girl friend to accompany him to Bultofta Airport in a taxi.

Refugee Request

NEW DELHI (UPI) —India, already burdened with 2.8 million refugees from the civil war in East Pakistan, is bracing itself for another 3 million. It wants foreign countries to help pay the staggering cost of feeding and sheltering them.

A United Nations panel that studied the refugee situation said Monday India has a "monumental" problem that might continue for another three to six months. India has asked the world organization for $266 million for a six-month refugee program.

U.N. Deputy High Commissioner Charles Mace, head of the refugee study group, told a news conference Monday his panel would return to Geneva Wednesday and submit its findings "in a matter of days." It will be up to his commission and other U.N. agencies whether India gets the money.

YARMOUTH, Maine (UPI)—Wesley Storer, 22, was never in the Army and he had no combat training. But when his younger brother Glenn came home from Vietnam disillusioned with the war, Wesley decided to take his place on the front line.

"We're not sure what happened or how it happened," the boy's father, Carleton R. Storer, a Yarmouth contractor, said Monday. "But Wesley decided that since he was not likely to be drafted, he ought to share Glenn's service."

So Wesley put on his brother's uniform and went to Vietnam in April in his place. The hoax was discovered when someone in his battalion reported a civilian in their midst.

Meanwhile, Glenn turned himself in April as absent without leave. He was sent to Ft. Devens, Mass., and kept in a maximum security cell. He was told he would be sent back to Vietnam.

"It was a brotherly gesture," he boys' mother said. "Wesley told me he was willing to give his life for his brother and was willing to come home with a leg blown off for his brother."

Spec. 4 Glenn Storer, 21, came home early last month after five months' service for a two-week furlough.

"He was a wreck when he came home but he straightened out after a while," his father said. "I guess Glenn summed it up best. He said they're playing games with his life over there."

The brothers left April 18, saying they were going to Connecticut, where Glenn was to return to Vietnam and Wesley, who was unable to join the Army because he broke his knee skiing, was to take a cruise to Bermuda.

Instead, Wesley, wearing Glenn's uniform, reported April 22 to the Americal Division in the Chu Lai section of Vietnam and was ordered into combat. He had learned how to "break down" his M16 rifle, but he had never carried one.

"They had agreed that when Wes came home on the next scheduled leave, Glenn would take over as the soldier again," their father said.

Wesley has been keeping himself busy with minor carpentry chores at Chu Lai while awaiting a return to the United States.

"He is not in custody," a military spokesman said. "He has the freedom of the Chu Lai base. He has received enough money from home to book a civilian flight back to the United States. But there are political problems."

As a civilian who arrived without passport and visa, Wesley is in Vietnam illegally.

Viet Troops Begin Closing In On Red Bastion In A Shau Valley

SAIGON (UPI) —South Vietnamese troops along the summit of mile-high peaks at both ends of the A Shau valley started moving down into the valley today in a pincers movement against Communist forces on the valley floor.

As they started down, the multi-battalion force encountered only sporadic contact with the communists, military sources said.

But heavy fighting was expected in the five-week-old Operation Lam Son 720, which is aimed at breaking Communist control of the 35-mile long valley 375 miles north of Saigon.

U.S. forces six miles east of the valley's northern end, supported by B52 bombardments, began blowing up a vast six-mile square Communist base area so well built it even has running water, field spokesmen said.

So far in the A Shau campaign, the Army of the Republic of (South) Vietnam (ARVN) has claimed killing nearly 400 Communists at a loss of about 75 dead of its own.

But ARVN Brig. Gen. Vau Van Giai, commander of the operation, has predicted that heavy fighting lies ahead.

U.S. B52 Stratofortresses dropped 90 tons of bombs early today on the Communist bunker complex.

Other Thailand-based B52's put another 90 tons of bombs into the Ho Chi Minh Trail complex three miles south of the Demilitarized Zone and a mile east of the Laos border. B52's also bombarded Communist targets in Cambodia and the main corridor of the Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos.

RICHMOND (UPI)—A billow of black smoke floated over San Francisco Bay on Monday as the result of a fire in a large pile of old tires on mudflats at Point Isabelle.

Radiation Peril Linked To SSTs

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Exhaust gas from supersonic transport (SST) jets could break up the ozone shield surrounding the Earth and let in "blinding and even lethal" ultraviolet radiation from the sun, a University of California scientist said Monday.

A layer of ozone molecules surrounds the Earth, protecting it from dangerous radiation from the sun. Dr. Harold S. Johnston, a former dean of the University of California College of Cehmistry, said gas released by exhausts of high-flying SSTs would speed up the reactions that destroy the ozone molecules.

The result, Johnston said, would be the opening of a "window through the ozone in the stratosphere and which would allow "harsh" radiation to reach the surface of the Earth.

Johnston said his findings have been presented to President Nixon's Science Advisory Committee in Washington.

The first report on his research was published in the Newhall, Calif., Signal — a thrice-weekly paper—and his findings will be published in Science Magazine.

Johnston said he began his investigation into the exhaust problem in March, 1970, after a meeting of experts in the field had been called by the SST research panel in Boulder, Colo.

He said his calculations depicted "a serious potential hazard that has been largely overlooked until now in both sides of the continuing SST controversy."

"And the magnitude of the new problem is far greater than the questions raised earlier by some scientists about the effect of added water vapor in the ozone region."

The scientist said the essence of his findings was that oxides of nitrogen discharged in exhaust gas from SST aircraft would provide a powerful catalytic or speedup effect on reactions that destroy ozone molecules."

Johnston said research showed that 500 SSTs in worldwide service for two years could reduce by half the total field of stratosphere ozone.

"Ozone destruction by this amount, other calculations have indicated, would expose the surface of the Earth with a type of ultraviolet radiation that is totally absent at present," he said.

Nixon Issue Dies At Whittier

WHITTIER, Calif. (UPI) — The Whittier College faculty has decided not to consider a proposal that President Nixon's honorary law degree be revoked by his alma mater.

The faculty Monday ignored the issue because the old student senate, which last month passed a resolution saying Nixon did not deserve the degree because of his Vietnam war policies, had been dissolved.

The new student senate last week put the question before the school's 1,900 students for a vote.

The vote was 3-to-1 to let the President keep the degree which was awarded in 1959.

Poll Shows Senate Will Defeat SST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The once-dead supersonic transport (SST), revived in the House last week, seems doomed to sink a third time at the hands of a still-hostile U.S. Senate.

A UPI check Monday showed SST foes in the Senate should have an eight or nine-vote margin when the vote comes late Wednesday on whether to join the House in rescuing the controversial project.

The senate rejected the SST by 11 votes in December, but was forced to give in to the House and approve continued development of the jetline until spring. In March, however, the House narrowly approved scrapping the project, and the Senate concurred, 51-46.

But the House reversed itself again last week, converting a $85.3 million item in a supplemental appropriations bill for SST contract termination costs into an appropriation to continue the program. The Senate Appropriations Committee quickly concurred.

Sometime Wednesday night, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., leader of the anti-SST forces, will move to strip the money from the bill. Barring last-minute switches or heavy-absenteeism, the tally should be 54 to 45 in his favor.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Fund Freeze Denial

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Caspar Weinberger, deputy director of the budget, Monday denounced as "completely demagogic and political" claims that the Nixon administration was seizing power from Congress by impounding funds.

Weinberger told a Capitol Hill news conference that $12 billion in funds frozen by the administration were well below the average of previous years under Democratic administrations. He said the figure represented 5.6 per cent of total authorized outlays, compared with an average of 6.8 per cent during the past decade.

Weinberger contended that holding funds in reserve was necessary to fight inflation and to comply with a spending ceiling imposed by Congress.

Deodorant Warning

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Repeated use of some commercial underarm aerosol deodorants can lead to clinical lung disease in certain persons, an Army doctor warned Monday in a report to a medical conference.

Lt. Col. George W. Ward Jr. of the Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver, told the American Thoracic Society that two brands of deodorant figured in the cases of five men and two women whose lungs were affected.

He refused to name them because of the preliminary nature of his investigation and the uncertainty of the chemicals involved.

Ward told the society, which is meeting here as a division of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Assocation conference, that the seven persons were affected by sarcoidosis—formation of fibrous tissue in the lungs.

Jubilee's Mayhem

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (UPI)—Many residents of this Sierra community in Calaveras county wish Mark Twain's story never made their annual frog jumping contest a famous international jubilee.

About 70,000 people jammed the old gold rush town for the weekend event. One person was killed, at least 141 injured and 60 arrested on various charges in the resulting mayhem.

"And that's probably about 1 per cent of the ones that should have been arrested," said Sheriff Russell Leach.

Leach said fences were cut and a barn burned near the county fairgrounds, where 2,000 frogs leaped for prizes in the contest held annually since 1928.

Sputnik Launched

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union announced today it had launched another in its series of unmanned Cosmos sputniks and indicated it was travelling close to the track of the Salute earth satellite.

The official Tass news agency said Cosmos 420 was fired into earth orbit on an undisclosed date "for the exploration of outer space."

Laos Evacuation

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Wives and children of Americans and other employes of the U.S. government were evacuated today from Pakse in southern Laos where a new North Vietnamese offensive has carved out huge new areas.

The official Laotian military spokesman said the situation "is getting worse."

The evacuation of about 100 dependents followed the virtual leveling of the town of Dong Hene Monday night in a rocket attack by advancing Communist troops. Laotian government spokesmen said about 75 per cent of the town's homes were destroyed by rockets.

The big Communist offensive in the south coincided with renewed peace efforts by the Communist Pathet Lao and their demands that Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma halt U.S. bombing attacks in Laos. B52s have hit the Ho Chi Minh Trail almost daily for months and U.S. planes have supported Laotian ground operations.

Hijack Foiled

MALMOE, Sweden (UPI)—Police arrested a U.S. Army deserter Monday night after he tried to hijack a Scandinavian Airlines System (SAS) airliner by threatening to kill his Swedish girlfriend.

Authorities said the man, identified only as a 21-year-old Negro, was persuaded by his friends and by police to give up after 45 minutes. He was taken into custody by scores of policemen that surrounded the Stockholm-bound DC9. No one was hurt.

The police said the deserter quarreled with three friends at Malmoe harbor, then forced his 21-year-old girl friend to accompany him to Bultofta Airport in a taxi.

Refugee Request

NEW DELHI (UPI) —India, already burdened with 2.8 million refugees from the civil war in East Pakistan, is bracing itself for another 3 million. It wants foreign countries to help pay the staggering cost of feeding and sheltering them.

A United Nations panel that studied the refugee situation said Monday India has a "monumental" problem that might continue for another three to six months. India has asked the world organization for $266 million for a six-month refugee program.

U.N. Deputy High Commissioner Charles Mace, head of the refugee study group, told a news conference Monday his panel would return to Geneva Wednesday and submit its findings "in a matter of days." It will be up to his commission and other U.N. agencies whether India gets the money.

No Complaint In Pot Possession

The Marin district attorney's office reported there was insufficient evidence to prosecute the case.

Customs Boss Sees No Slowing In Marijuana, Hash Smuggling

WASHINGTON (UPI) —U.S. Customs Commissioner Myles J. Ambrose said today marijuana and hashish continue to be smuggled into the United States at an unprecedented rate, despite intensified surveillance.

MYLES J. AMBROSE
'No simple solution'

Customs agents are employing dogs, composite profiles of potential smugglers and the latest electronic devices, Ambrose told the National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse, but "We realize ... there is no simple solution to the complex problem of marijuana and hashish abuse."

For one thing, he said, more people than the entire population of the United States —225.6 million —passed through customs into the country last year alone and "each one of these persons is a potential smuggler."

And smugglers employ the latest technology available, including "trash smashers" meant for compacting garbage which smugglers are using to compress marijuana and hashish into 25 and 30 pound blocks. He also said hashish, more potent than marijuana, has been found pressed and baked and shipped commercially as dishes.

"Our seizure statistics for the past several years indicate that marijuana and hashish smuggling is continuing at an unprecedented rate despite all efforts to stop this illicit trade," Ambrose said in a statement prepared for the commission, created by Congress last year to study the pot problem.

Marijuana seizures during fiscal 1970 totaled a then-record 104,303 pounds, but in the first nine months of this fiscal year seizures have hit 126,965 pounds. In fiscal 1965, he said, only 11,000 pounds was taken.

"As long as the threat of marijuana and hashish smuggling remains, we feel it is our mission and duty to protect our young people through vigorous enforcement efforts centered around our nation's borders," Ambrose said.

Another witness, John Kaplan, author of "Marijauna — The New Prohibition," told the commission in his prepared testimony that marijuana should be "sold legally with taxation, age limits and quality control ... as alcohol has been since the repeal of Prohibition."

He said it would be a "very healthy thing for America when marijuana is sold in the same stores as alcohol. It will be valuable for those who use alcohol to be confronted once and for all —and every time they enter a liquor store —with the fact that they are using a drug."

He said the current laws against marijuana are "propelling us to a national crisis of confidence of major dimensions."

Soviet Support For Mutual Troop Cuts

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said today the Soviet Union "will do all we can to achieve agreement" on reducing troops and armaments deployed in Europe if Western powers show themselves willing to do the same.

Kosygin spoke at a Kremlin luncheon in honor of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada, furthering the direct and indirect dialogue between Moscow and Washington on possible negotiations for a European troop cut that began last weekend.

Communist party secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev renewed the Soviet proposal for such negotiations in a speech delivered last Friday in Tbilisi. U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam asked for clarifications on the Soviet proposal on Monday.

"In connection with the European situation, much attention is now being paid to the reduction of troops and armaments," Kosygin said.

"In several countries there is much discussion on this question, especially with regard to a possible reduction of foreign troops.

"If the West shows a readiness to undertake practical measures towards reducing foreign troops, we will do all we can to achieve agreement."

Kosygin also made another Soviet appeal for the Russian proposal that an all-European security conference be called to tie up diplomatic and political loose ends left over from World War II. He said Canada would be welcome to participate.

"Canada has definite interests in Europe, for which reason her interest in a pan-European conference is natural," Kosygin said. "In the European conference, the task now stands for a fundamental change towards peace. As a result of the efforts over many years of the Soviet Union...the general situation in Western Europe has been made more hopeful and favorable to achieve changes for the better," he said.

The Soviets have already indicated they would welcome the United States and Canada to participate in such a conference.

Kosygin restated the standard Soviet positions on the Middle East and Indochina.

"The Soviet position is entirely clear," he said. "The aggressor must withdraw from foreign lands."

Harvard To Vote Against Proposal On South Africa

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)— The Harvard Corporation says it will vote its 288,160 shares of General Motors stock against a proposal asking the huge company to withdraw its operations in South Africa.

Nathan Pusey, president of Harvard University, said Monday the corporation would have backed the proposal "if we had thought it would make a significant contribution to the elimination of apartheid.

"But since we had no information that convinced us it would, and since it seems certain it would work a hardship on the employes affected, we decided to oppose this proposal," Pusey said in announcing how the corporation intends to vote its stock on eight proposals at GM's annual meeting in Detroit.

Disclosure Law Ruling Appeal Set

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A lower court ruling invalidating the financial disclosure law for ballot proposition campaigns will be appealed by Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr.

Brown announced Monday he will ask the Supreme Court today to overturn the lower court ruling two weeks ago which held the law was discriminatory and unconstitutional.

The controversy centers around Proposition 18, which was defeated by the voters last November. That proposition would have allowed the use of gas tax funds to develop rapid transit systems to fight air pollution.

Following the election, the secretary of state filed a suit in which fines totaling some $250,000 were sought against several major oil companies and individuals who contributed to the campaign to defeat the proposition.

The suit claimed that Standard Oil of California, Gulf Oil Co. and Mobil Oil Co. violated the law by failing to itemize their expenditures and contributions.

In seeking invalidation of the law, the oil companies charged the disclosure law dealing with ballot propositions was unconstitutional in that its provisions were much broader than a similar law dealing with candidates for public office.

PROPERTY RELIEF

A $2 Billion Tax Package

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A $2 billion program to reduce each homeowner's property tax by $400 and assure that most wealthy people pay at least a minimum income tax has cleared its first legislative committee.

The Democratic author credits Gov. Ronald Reagan with a helpful "assist" for disclosing he owed no state income tax for 1970.

"I'd say that was a pretty good break for me and will help get this passed," said Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, citing the new clamor for state tax reform.

The program, which is the 1971 legislative session's chief property tax relief package, was sent on a voice vote Monday from the Revenue and Taxation Committee which Gonsalves chairs to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Its major feature amended into the program Monday is a provision to eliminate property taxes on owner-occupied homes valued at up to $16,000. Higher priced homes also would have their taxes sharply reduced on a proportionately declining scale as the market value increased.

Under the proposal, the first $4,000 of a owner-occupied home's assessed value generally pegged at 25 per cent of market value would be exempt from property taxation. Gonsalves estimated this would lower taxes by about $400 on every owner-occupied home in the state.

Another feature amended into the legislation Monday would impose a minimum tax of 5 per cent on all so-called prefarential income over $30,000. Preferential income includes capital gains, oil depletion, depreciation and excess interest.

Gonsalves said he did not know whether Reagan would have owed a state income tax for last year had his proposal been in effect. But he noted his measure would require most wealthy people now exempt from state taxes to pay at least some levy.

Reagan, whose salary as governor was $44,100, did not owe a state income tax because of investment losses.

Other "relief" elements of the program are these:

An additional $242 million in state school aid this year and $305 million the next, a $3,400 state income tax reduction plus a $35 tax credit for couples who rent, a lowering of from 65 to 55 the age at which a person can quality for senior citizen's property tax benefits, a reduction in business inventory taxes and the state takeover of substantial county welfare costs next year.

Here's how the program would be financed:

The payroll withholding of state income taxes starting next January, an increase in the sales tax from 5 to 6 cents on the dollar, an increase of from 10 to 15 per cent in the maximum state income tax, the closing of income tax loopholes, increased bank and corporation taxes, a sharp reduction in the oil depletion allowance, higher insurance taxes and bigger auto registration fees.

The committee deleted a provision which called for exempting all owner-occupied homes from property taxation and taxing only the land on which the structures sat. The $4,000 assessed value exemption was substituted in its place.

The amendment was agreed to beforehand by Gonsalves and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, the leading co-author. The formal motion was put by Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Napa, who argued the land-only taxation proposal would provide proportionately more relief for owners of luxury homes than for less expensive homes.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, cautioned Gonsalves the six-bill package may be killed on the Assembly floor if a "compromise accommodation" is not reached with Republicans and the governor.

Poll Claims Nixon Losing Majority

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — President Nixon's Vietnam policies find minority agreement among Californians, the California Poll said today.

President Nixon has called for a gradual withdrawal of U.S. troops with substantial forces in Vietnam through 1972. The President has said a faster pullout would be construed as a military and political defeat.

But pollster Mervin D. Field said today his poll showed that 59 per cent of the state's residents feel "we should pull out of ... Southeast Asia even if this step is seen by the rest of the world as a political and military defeat." A year ago only 46 per cent supported this position.

And 7 out of 10 Californians want all U.S. troops out of Vietnam by the end of the year.

The poll also showed that the so-called credibility gap is still in the minds of the people. Sixty-nine per cent agreed that "there have been so many shifts in our government's statements about the Vietnam war in the past that I find it hard to believe the President is giving us the whole story now." In May of 1970, 64 per cent supported this assertion.

On the statement that "losing the war in Vietnam is something this country should avoid at all costs," only 26 per cent agreed as compared to 37 per cent a year ago.

But despite their dovish stand, Californians still hope that the Communists won't gain control of the South Vietnamese people and government.

On the question of whether this would cause concern with respect to the security of the United States, 71 per cent said it would, a drop of 3 per cent from a year ago.

'Gargoyle' To Be Closed By Quake Threat

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— "The gargoyle," the 96-year-old main building at the fashionable Town School, is being shut down because it is "prone to earthquake damage," it was announced Monday.

School officials said the three-story building, affectionately known as "the gargoyle" by students and alumni of the private school, would be replaced by a new structure.

The two second-grade glasses now housed in the old building will be moved next door while the cafeteria, auditorium, gymnasium and kitchen will simply be closed down.

The officials said the school's 365 students are being asked to bring their lunches for the rest of the year.

Bid To Straddle Fence On NATO

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A bipartisan drive has developed in the Senate to head off a showdown on the issue of whether President Nixon should be forced to cut U.S. troops strength in Europe by 150,000 men.

The move is against the apparent wishes of both the President, who strongly opposes the cutback, and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, prime backer of the troop reduction.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., and Charles Mathias, R-Md., fearing the troop cutback legislation might pass, have drafted a "compromise" designed to stave off a showdown.

Their substitute proposal would simply urge the President to negotiate a troop reduction with the Soviet Union and NATO allies, reporting back to the Senate every six months on the progress. If it passes, the Mansfield amendment would be killed.

But Javits and Mathias said the White House wanted no part of any compromise arrangement and was pushing for a direct vote against the Mansfield measure to leave no doubt among NATO allies where the U.S. stands. Mansfield said he also wanted an up-or-down vote on his proposal requiring a 50 per cent cutback by the end of the year.

The issue is to be resolved Wednesday in one manner or another.

A UPI survey indicated the vote may be close if, indeed, the Mansfield amendment is put to the test.

The poll showed 42 opposed to the measure, 38 for it, 17 undecided, two unknown and one absent.

The Nixon administration, continuing its campaign against the Mansfield amendment, revealed Monday that the Soviet Union had "reconfirmed" its willingness to talk about "mutual troop reductions in Europe."

State Department officials said the reconfirmation came Monday in Moscow in a meeting between U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Officials also reported the Kremlin was willing to talk about the troop reductions outside the framework of a general European security conference — a provision it always had previousl insisted on.

"This is clearly not the time to throw away our one negotiating card by unilaterally withdrawing American troops from Europe," a State Department official said.

The rhetoric for and against the amendment continued to escalate as the Senate resumed debate today.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said an immediate pullout of half the U.S. force in Europe would result in "a collapse of confidence in American "assurances." He contended it would signal to the Soviet Union "a failure of our will and invite the conclusion that we will not stand firm in a crisis."

But Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said the United States must disengage to save its own economy.

"Unless we manage to bring under some kind of public control the enormous military bureaucracy abroad, we will end up as did the Roman empire, which became so much a slave to its foreign commitments that it died at home."

Found Guilty In Assassination Try

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 33-year-old Taiwanese airchitect, Tzu-Tai cheng, was found guilty Monday of the attempted assassination of Chiang Ching-kuo, a deputy premier of nationist China, and the son of Chiang Kai-shek, on the steps of New York's Plaza Hotel in April 1970.

A second defendant, Cheng's brother-in-law, Peter Huang, 33, of Ithaca, N.Y., pleaded guilty when the trial began, April 28. Both men face up to 25 years in prison for attempted murder and up to seven years for possession of a gun. Sentencing was set for July 6.

Customs Boss Sees No Slowing In Marijuana, Hash Smuggling

WASHINGTON (UPI) —U.S. Customs Commissioner Myles J. Ambrose said today marijuana and hashish continue to be smuggled into the United States at an unprecedented rate, despite intensified surveillance.

Customs agents are employing dogs, composite profiles of potential smugglers and the latest electronic devices, Ambrose told the National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse, but "We realize ... there is no simple solution to the complex problem of marijuana and hashish abuse."

MYLES J. AMBROSE
'No simple solution'

For one thing, he said, more people than the entire population of the United States —225.6 million —passed through customs into the country last year alone and "each one of these persons is a potential smuggler."

And smugglers employ the latest technology available, including "trash smashers" meant for compacting garbage which smugglers are using to compress marijuana and hashish into 25 and 30 pound blocks. He also said hashish, more potent than marijuana, has been found pressed and baked and shipped commercially as dishes.

"Our seizure statistics for the past several years indicate that marijuana and hashish smuggling is continuing at an unprecedented rate despite all efforts to stop this illicit trade," Ambrose said in a statement prepared for the commission, created by Congress last year to study the pot problem.

Marijuana seizures during fiscal 1970 totaled a then-record 104,303 pounds, but in the first nine months of this fiscal year seizures have hit 126,965 pounds. In fiscal 1965, he said, only 11,000 pounds was taken.

"As long as the threat of marijuana and hashish smuggling remains, we feel it is our mission and duty to protect our young people through vigorous enforcement efforts centered around our nation's borders," Ambrose said.

Another witness, John Kaplan, author of "Marijauna — The New Prohibition," told the commission in his prepared testimony that marijuana should be "sold legally with taxation, age limits and quality control ... as alcohol has been since the repeal of Prohibition."

He said it would be a "very healthy thing for America when marijuana is sold in the same stores as alcohol. It will be valuable for those who use alcohol to be confronted once and for all —and every time they enter a liquor store —with the fact that they are using a drug."

He said the current laws against marijuana are "propelling us to a national crisis of confidence of major dimensions."

Soviet Support For Mutual Troop Cuts

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said today the Soviet Union "will do all we can to achieve agreement" on reducing troops and armaments deployed in Europe if Western powers show themselves willing to do the same.

Kosygin spoke at a Kremlin luncheon in honor of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada, furthering the direct and indirect dialogue between Moscow and Washington on possible negotiations for a European troop cut that began last weekend.

Communist party secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev renewed the Soviet proposal for such negotiations in a speech delivered last Friday in Tbilisi. U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam asked for clarifications on the Soviet proposal on Monday.

"In connection with the European situation, much attention is now being paid to the reduction of troops and armaments," Kosygin said.

"In several countries there is much discussion on this question, especially with regard to a possible reduction of foreign troops.

"If the West shows a readiness to undertake practical measures towards reducing foreign troops, we will do all we can to achieve agreement."

Kosygin also made another Soviet appeal for the Russian proposal that an all-European security conference be called to tie up diplomatic and political loose ends left over from World War II. He said Canada would be welcome to participate.

"Canada has definite interests in Europe, for which reason her interest in a pan-European conference is natural," Kosygin said. "In the European conference, the task now stands for a fundamental change towards peace. As a result of the efforts over many years of the Soviet Union...the general situation in Western Europe has been made more hopeful and favorable to achieve changes for the better," he said.

The Soviets have already indicated they would welcome the United States and Canada to participate in such a conference.

Kosygin restated the standard Soviet positions on the Middle East and Indochina.

"The Soviet position is entirely clear," he said. "The aggressor must withdraw from foreign lands."

Harvard To Vote Against Proposal On South Africa

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)— The Harvard Corporation says it will vote its 288,160 shares of General Motors stock against a proposal asking the huge company to withdraw its operations in South Africa.

Nathan Pusey, president of Harvard University, said Monday the corporation would have backed the proposal "if we had thought it would make a significant contribution to the elimination of apartheid.

"But since we had no information that convinced us it would, and since it seems certain it would work a hardship on the employes affected, we decided to oppose this proposal," Pusey said in announcing how the corporation intends to vote its stock on eight proposals at GM's annual meeting in Detroit.

PROPERTY RELIEF

A $2 Billion Tax Package

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A $2 billion program to reduce each homeowner's property tax by $400 and assure that most wealthy people pay at least a minimum income tax has cleared its first legislative committee.

The Democratic author credits Gov. Ronald Reagan with a helpful "assist" for disclosing he owed no state income tax for 1970.

"I'd say that was a pretty good break for me and will help get this passed," said Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, citing the new clamor for state tax reform.

Disclosure Law Ruling Appeal Set

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A lower court ruling invalidating the financial disclosure law for ballot proposition campaigns will be appealed by Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr.

Brown announced Monday he will ask the Supreme Court today to overturn the lower court ruling two weeks ago which held the law was discriminatory and unconstitutional.

The controversy centers around Proposition 18, which was defeated by the voters last November. That proposition would have allowed the use of gas tax funds to develop rapid transit systems to fight air pollution.

Following the election, the secretary of state filed a suit in which fines totaling some $250,000 were sought against several major oil companies and individuals who contributed to the campaign to defeat the proposition.

The suit claimed that Standard Oil of California, Gulf Oil Co. and Mobil Oil Co. violated the law by failing to itemize their expenditures and contributions.

In seeking invalidation of the law, the oil companies charged the disclosure law dealing with ballot propositions was unconstitutional in that its provisions were much broader than a similar law dealing with candidates for public office.

$62,500 Bail In Death Threat

A 26-year-old Sausalito man was held in Marin County Jail today under $62,500 bail after he allegedly threatened to kill the occupant of a houseboat which he had allegedly burgled.

Ian Strider of 811 Spring Street was booked yesterday by sheriff's deputies on suspicion of burglary, possessing narcotics, narcotics paraphernalia and a hypodermic needle.

Sheriff's reports of the incident were incomplete today but indicated Strider, who also is known as Barry Ford, was wanted for questioning in connection with the theft Saturday of $1,500 from a houseboat at Gate 6½, Waldo Point, Saturday.

He was arrested by deputies near Gate 5 Road and Bridgeway, outside Sausalito. Deputies said that while in the patrol car on the way to be booked, Strider attempted to hid a silver pill obx behind the car seat.

The pill box contained a plastic container with a white substance, deputies said.

When Strider was searched at the jail, deputies found a hypodermic needle hidden in the collar of his coat and a gold spoon in a leather pouch in his pocket.

He was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Judge Peter Allen Smith, who set the bail, said he had been told by deputies that Strider had phoned his alleged burglary victim from the jail and told him, "When I get out of here I'm going to shoot you."

Political Arson Warning Given

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Firefighters now face a new enemy, the political or overt arsonist who takes credit for destruction.

Chief Emmet D. Condon, who heads San Francisco's arson squad, described the new foe Monday, noting that "present excessive arson fire losses are ascribed to civil and social unrest."

Condon told the National Fire Protection Association that the target of such arsonists are private companies and utilities and predicted that business and labor may consider fire safety an important job benefit.

As protection, he suggested bullet-proof glass, locks for sensitive areas, closed-circuit television and metal detectors.

Rail Compromise Is Sought In Senate

go beyond Nixon's July 1 date and also to include a pay raise in the plan.

Javits said one key reason why he proposed rejecting the administration proposal in favor of his own to extend negotiations until Oct. 1, was that he felt it a "good objective" to have all rail labor contracts expire at the same time. He said he believed his plan would be acceptable to the White House.

With the strike of the 13,000-member Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen in its second day, the major economic impact appeared to be in the auto industry.

American Motors said it would have to shut down all operations after today if the strike continued. General Motors, Ford and Chrysler said they could not last out the week without rail transportation.

Hodgson told the House committee if the strike continued, it would exert a growing "drastic impact on our economy and citizens."

The railroad industry did not object to extending a "freeze" until Oct. 1 but expressed doubt that any extension of time would solve the dispute with the signalmen.

The chief railroad negotiator, J. P. Hiltz Jr., testified that the industry favors legislation to deal with all such strike situations. The Nixon administration has proposed a form of binding arbitration for transportation disputes.

Hiltz said, "The railroad industry does not believe that a mere extension of time will resolve the dispute."

The signalmen, who were able to paralyze the nation's railroad system in spite of their small numbers by picketing which some 600,000 other rail workers observed, argued before the House committee that they were justified in halting the nation's rail traffic because its members were grossly underpaid for the work they do.

The signalmen, who install and maintain the complicated signal systems used on railroads, are paid an average of $3.78 an hour now. Their last raise was a 3 per cent hike July 1, 1969.

Also at issue is the question of out-of-town accommodations. The signalmen in many cases now must sleep in camp cars along the railroad tracks. The union stressed today it wanted expenses paid for hotel accommodations and meals when they are out of town.

The signalmen are asking for a wage increase amounting to 66 per cent over 36 months when compounded, compared with 42 per cent over 42 months, which has become the standard for other rail unions.

Although Nixon asked for action immediately when he submitted his antistrike proposal Monday, chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., of the House Commerce Committee did not call a hearing until this morning. Congressmen traditionally have been reluctant to impose settlements on unions, and many lawmakers grumbled at the prospect of ending the second rail strike in six months.

On Dec. 10, 1970, Congress ordered an end to an 18-hour nationwide strike by four unions representing operating employes, clerks, maintenance of way employes and dining car employes.

Hodgson said in his testimony today that Congress would not be imposing a settlement on the unions —only giving them time to bargain, which he said had worked in the case of the Dec. 10 strike.

"Time and again the history of collective bargaining disputes has shown us that additional bargaining time has been helpful in bringing about voluntary settlement," Hodgson said.

He noted that three of the four unions in the Dec. 10 strike subsequently reached voluntary settlement.

Republican congressional leaders met with President Nixon today, and later accused the Democratic controlled Congress of "foot dragging" for political reason on rail strike legislation.

GOP House leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said there was "no excuse whatsoever" for the one-day delay by Congress in considering Nixon's proposals.

For the second day in a row, hundreds of thousands of commuters had to find different ways to get to work in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other big cities that rely on rail commuter transportation.

The Post Office placed an embargo on all second, third and fourth class mail going beyond the third postal zone from point of origin —about 300 miles.

In addition to the auto industry, steel mills and coal mines were hard hit by a lack of raw materials and railroad cars to move them.

Grain and cereal manufacturers, as well as breweries and other industries that use bulk rail traffic, were threatened with slowdowns and even shutdowns before the week was out if the strike continued.

Buses and subways were jammed and traffic was heavier than usual on major arteries leading into New York. No major tieups were reported, however.

The strike of signalmen shut down the Penn Central, Erie Lackawanna and Jersey Central railroads which together bring more than 160,000 commuters into New York City daily from New York suburbs, New Jersey and Connecticut.

The Long Island Railroad, the nation's largest commuter line, continued operations for its 90,000 passengers but was forced to discharge Manhattan-bound riders in Queens because Pennsylvania Station was closed by the strike.

Commuters on the San Francisco Peninsula, the last place in the state with a heavy concentration of passenger trains, got to their jobs although only two of 22 morning trains operated between San Jose and San Francisco.

In the Central Valley, trucks handled much of the lettuce and other produce usually shipped from rail terminals.

Long distance passenger trains, now operated by the federal Amtrak agency, were halted and ticket holders offered alternate means of transportation.

Police said they noticed only moderate increase in highway traffic as 11,500 San Francisco commuters took to cars and buses as Southern Pacific Co. trains stopped. Additional buses were put in service.

A Santa Fe Railway spokesman in Los Angeles remarked that, "this not being harvest season, we don't have any whole train loaded with perishables to worry about."

He added that individual cars are being fueled by supervisory personnel and vegetables and fruit kept from spoiling by the cars' refrigeration systems.

A Union Pacific Railroad spokesman reported similar circumstances and said that where it is necessary, animals had been taken from trains for food and water.

Another Rash Of Vandalism

A second rash of window-smashings, apparently connected to the printers' strike against the Independent-Journal, has hit San Rafael businesses.

Police said one of the targets of pistol-wielding thugs, Lyons-Ryan Ford, was hit for the second time in four days. Agency manager Robert Young told the I-J he believed the vandalism definitely was linked to the long strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Lyons-Ryan, 619 Francisco Boulevard, had one window smashed by a bullet last night or early today. Other businesses hit were Brown Motors Inc., 933 Francisco Boulevard, and Don Collins Buick, 502 Francisco Boulevard.

The manager of Brown Motors said the agency had not been vandalized until it started advertising in the I-J.

Windows in seven Marin businesses — four in San Rafael and three in Strawberry — were smashed Thursday night or Friday morning. A piece of metal which appeared to be used in typesetting was found at one of the firms.

Meanwhile, three members of Local 21 last night began serving 90-day sentences in Marin County Jail, having pleaded guilty of conspiracy to smash windows of I-J advertisers last year.

The printers — Dennis J. Crowley, 41, of San Jose; James R. Brocato, 31, of Santa Rosa, and Grant W. Anders, 30, of Oakland — also have been ordered to make up to $2,500 each for window damage. They pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charge.

Sausalito Man Dies At Hospital

A 33-year-old Sausalito attorney died today at Marin General Hospital, apparently of a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the head, the Marin County Coroner's office reported.

William Burton Golden, of 202 South Street, was discovered about midnight in the bedroom of his home by his wife, Althea, according to Sausalito police, Officers said a .22-caliber revolver was found beside him.

He was taken by ambulance to the hospital where he died about 5 a.m. Police said an investigation of the shooting was continuing.

A native of Battle Creek, Mich., Golden had lived in California and Marin County four years. He was employed with the legal department of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Francisco.

In addition to his wife, Golden is survived by two daughters, Angela and Jennifer and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Golden of Battle Creek.

lutionary guerrillas" now in jail were released by 5 p.m. (11 a.m. EDT) Thursday.

The note was signed by "The Central Committee of the Turkish People's Liberation Army." This is a left-wing organization which has claimed responsibility for earlier abductions of foreigners, including five U.S. airmen in Ankara. The airmen later were released unharmed.

The Turkish government ignored the demands for $400,000 ransom for four of the American airmen kidnaped in March and it was ignoring this demand as well.

The government arrested about 200 alleged left-wing extremists last month after the civilian government was ousted and martial law proclaimed in the midst of increasing public disorders.

The Turkish cabinet met for five hours Monday night in emergency session. It ordered an all-out search for the kidnappers and threatened large-scale arrests.

The government also said it will pass a new, retroactive law setting the death penalty for the abductors and for anyone harboring them.

Five masked gunmen forced their way into Elrom's apartment building Monday morning, tied up three persons they found there and also bound and gagged nine other persons who entered the building while they waited 90 minutes for Elrom to come home.

Elrom, husky and fit, struggled until he was hit over the head with a pistol butt, authorities said. They quoted witnesses as saying he was carried out of the building unconscious and driven off in a car with Ankara license plates.

Elrom's wife was put under a physician's care, suffering from shock. The Elrom lost their only child, a son, in a plane accident three years ago.

Elrom was born Ephraim Hofstaedter in Poland. He took a Hebrew last name when he joined the foreign service three years ago.

He was the chief pretrial interrogator of Adolph Eichmann, the Nazi general who later was tried in Israel for the murder of millions of Jews during World War II. Eichmann was found guilty and was hanged May 31, 1962.

prison terms ranging from one to 10 years, Tass said.

"They said that one of the main extenuating circumstances was the fact that all the nine defendants had pleaded guilty of criminal offenses and felt repentance," Tass said.

The nine face charges that include conspiracy in the planning stage of an attempt to hijack a small Soviet airliner at Leningrad in June, 1970, and to flee abroad with it. They are also charged with spreading anti-Soviet propaganda and stealing printing equipment.

It appeared from earlier testimony that only eight of the nine were being linked with the hijack attempt and only two — Hillel Butman and Mikhail Korenblit —were singled out as ringleaders in that.

Last December and January, 12 Jews and Russian Zionist sympathizers were sentenced to prison terms of up to 15 years on charges of actually attempting to seize the plane.

Monday, after the conclusion of testimony by a battery of 46 witnesses that included some of the original hijack defendants, prosecutor Inessa Katukova asked for prison terms in this case.

She demanded 10 years for Butman, eight for Korenblit, six for Lassal Kaminsky, five for Lev Yagman, four for Vladimire Mogilever, three for Solomon Dreizner, Viktor Boguslavsky and Lev Korneblit and one year for Viktor Shitilbans.

Rush To Polls In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Voters balloted Tuesday at a record pace in the Democratic mayoralty primary in which "tough cop" Frank L. Rizzo faced the challenge of a black legislator and a Kennedy-style congressman.

The spirited contest between Rizzo, 50, former police commissioner, and his liberal foes— Rep. William J. Green III, and Hardy Williams, 40, a freshman legislator—has excited the electorate and captured national attention in the off-year Pennsylvania primary.

The turnout was twice the average for a state primary and predictions were that 350,000 of the 552,000 registered Democrats, 41 per cent of whom are black, would cast ballots before the polls closed at 8 p.m. EDT.

City Parade Law Is Struck Down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California's Supreme Court ruled Monday that the City of Seaside's parade ordinance is unconstitutional and "a barefaced example of uncontrolled discretion."

By a 6-1 vote, the court ruled the ordinance wrongly gives the city government "virtually unbridled and absolute power" to prohibit any demonstration it dislikes for any reason.

The court prohibited the prosecution of 19 members of antiwar groups who staged their own Independence Day parade last year after being refused permission to join a march sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and partly funded by the city.

$62,500 Bail In Death Threat

A 26-year-old Sausalito man was held in Marin County Jail today under $62,500 bail after he allegedly threatened to kill the occupant of a houseboat which he had allegedly burgled.

Ian Strider of 811 Spring Street was booked yesterday by sheriff's deputies on suspicion of burglary, possessing narcotics, narcotics paraphernalia and a hypodermic needle.

Sheriff's reports of the incident were incomplete today but indicated Strider, who also is known as Barry Ford, was wanted for questioning in connection with the theft Saturday of $1,500 from a houseboat at Gate 6½, Waldo Point, Saturday.

He was arrested by deputies near Gate 5 Road and Bridgeway, outside Sausalito. Deputies said that while in the patrol car on the way to be booked, Strider attempted to hid a silver pill obx behind the car seat.

The pill box contained a plastic container with a white substance, deputies said.

When Strider was searched at the jail, deputies found a hypodermic needle hidden in the collar of his coat and a gold spoon in a leather pouch in his pocket.

He was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Judge Peter Allen Smith, who set the bail, said he had been told by deputies that Strider had phoned his alleged burglary victim from the jail and told him, "When I get out of here I'm going to shoot you."

Political Arson Warning Given

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Firefighters now face a new enemy, the political or overt arsonist who takes credit for destruction.

Chief Emmet D. Condon, who heads San Francisco's arson squad, described the new foe Monday, noting that "present excessive arson fire losses are ascribed to civil and social unrest."

Condon told the National Fire Protection Association that the target of such arsonists are private companies and utilities and predicted that business and labor may consider fire safety an important job benefit.

As protection, he suggested bullet-proof glass, locks for sensitive areas, closed-circuit television and metal detectors.

go beyond Nixon's July 1 date and also to include a pay raise in the plan.

Javits said one key reason why he proposed rejecting the administration proposal in favor of his own to extend negotiations until Oct. 1, was that he felt it a "good objective" to have all rail labor contracts expire at the same time. He said he believed his plan would be acceptable to the White House.

With the strike of the 13,000-member Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen in its second day, the major economic impact appeared to be in the auto industry.

American Motors said it would have to shut down all operations after today if the strike continued. General Motors, Ford and Chrysler said they could not last out the week without rail transportation.

Hodgson told the House committee if the strike continued, it would exert a growing "drastic impact on our economy and citizens."

The railroad industry did not object to extending a "freeze" until Oct. 1 but expressed doubt that any extension of time would solve the dispute with the signalmen.

The chief railroad negotiator, J. P. Hiltz Jr., testified that the industry favors legislation to deal with all such strike situations. The Nixon administration has proposed a form of binding arbitration for transportation disputes.

Hiltz said, "The railroad industry does not believe that a mere extension of time will resolve the dispute."

The signalmen, who were able to paralyze the nation's railroad system in spite of their small numbers by picketing which some 600,000 other rail workers observed, argued before the House committee that they were justified in halting the nation's rail traffic because its members were grossly underpaid for the work they do.

The signalmen, who install and maintain the complicated signal systems used on railroads, are paid an average of $3.78 an hour now. Their last raise was a 3 per cent hike July 1, 1969.

Also at issue is the question of out-of-town accommodations. The signalmen in many cases now must sleep in camp cars along the railroad tracks. The union stressed today it wanted expenses paid for hotel accommodations and meals when they are out of town.

The signalmen are asking for a wage increase amounting to 66 per cent over 36 months when compounded, compared with 42 per cent over 42 months, which has become the standard for other rail unions.

Although Nixon asked for action immediately when he submitted his antistrike proposal Monday, chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., of the House Commerce Committee did not call a hearing until this morning. Congressmen traditionally have been reluctant to impose settlements on unions, and many lawmakers grumbled at the prospect of ending the second rail strike in six months.

On Dec. 10, 1970, Congress ordered an end to an 18-hour nationwide strike by four unions representing operating employes, clerks, maintenance of way employes and dining car employes.

Hodgson said in his testimony today that Congress would not be imposing a settlement on the unions —only giving them time to bargain, which he said had worked in the case of the Dec. 10 strike.

"Time and again the history of collective bargaining disputes has shown us that additional bargaining time has been helpful in bringing about voluntary settlement," Hodgson said.

He noted that three of the four unions in the Dec. 10 strike subsequently reached voluntary settlement.

Republican congressional leaders met with President Nixon today, and later accused the Democratic controlled Congress of "foot dragging" for political reason on rail strike legislation.

GOP House leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said there was "no excuse whatsoever" for the one-day delay by Congress in considering Nixon's proposals.

For the second day in a row, hundreds of thousands of commuters had to find different ways to get to work in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other big cities that rely on rail commuter transportation.

The Post Office placed an embargo on all second, third and fourth class mail going beyond the third postal zone from point of origin —about 300 miles.

In addition to the auto industry, steel mills and coal mines were hard hit by a lack of raw materials and railroad cars to move them.

Grain and cereal manufacturers, as well as breweries and other industries that use bulk rail traffic, were threatened with slowdowns and even shutdowns before the week was out if the strike continued.

Buses and subways were jammed and traffic was heavier than usual on major arteries leading into New York. No major tieups were reported, however.

The strike of signalmen shut down the Penn Central, Erie Lackawanna and Jersey Central railroads which together bring more than 160,000 commuters into New York City daily from New York suburbs, New Jersey and Connecticut.

The Long Island Railroad, the nation's largest commuter line, continued operations for its 90,000 passengers but was forced to discharge Manhattan-bound riders in Queens because Pennsylvania Station was closed by the strike.

Commuters on the San Francisco Peninsula, the last place in the state with a heavy concentration of passenger trains, got to their jobs although only two of 22 morning trains operated between San Jose and San Francisco.

In the Central Valley, trucks handled much of the lettuce and other produce usually shipped from rail terminals.

Long distance passenger trains, now operated by the federal Amtrak agency, were halted and ticket holders offered alternate means of transportation.

Police said they noticed only moderate increase in highway traffic as 11,500 San Francisco commuters took to cars and buses as Southern Pacific Co. trains stopped. Additional buses were put in service.

A Santa Fe Railway spokesman in Los Angeles remarked that, "this not being harvest season, we don't have any whole train loaded with perishables to worry about."

He added that individual cars are being fueled by supervisory personnel and vegetables and fruit kept from spoiling by the cars' refrigeration systems.

A Union Pacific Railroad spokesman reported similar circumstances and said that where it is necessary, animals had been taken from trains for food and water.

Another Rash Of Vandalism

A second rash of window-smashings, apparently connected to the printers' strike against the Independent-Journal, has hit San Rafael businesses.

Police said one of the targets of pistol-wielding thugs, Lyons-Ryan Ford, was hit for the second time in four days. Agency manager Robert Young told the I-J he believed the vandalism definitely was linked to the long strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Lyons-Ryan, 619 Francisco Boulevard, had one window smashed by a bullet last night or early today. Other businesses hit were Brown Motors Inc., 933 Francisco Boulevard, and Don Collins Buick, 502 Francisco Boulevard.

The manager of Brown Motors said the agency had not been vandalized until it started advertising in the I-J.

Windows in seven Marin businesses — four in San Rafael and three in Strawberry — were smashed Thursday night or Friday morning. A piece of metal which appeared to be used in typesetting was found at one of the firms.

Meanwhile, three members of Local 21 last night began serving 90-day sentences in Marin County Jail, having pleaded guilty of conspiracy to smash windows of I-J advertisers last year.

The printers — Dennis J. Crowley, 41, of San Jose; James R. Brocato, 31, of Santa Rosa, and Grant W. Anders, 30, of Oakland — also have been ordered to make up to $2,500 each for window damage. They pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charge.

Sausalito Man Dies At Hospital

A 33-year-old Sausalito attorney died today at Marin General Hospital, apparently of a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the head, the Marin County Coroner's office reported.

William Burton Golden, of 202 South Street, was discovered about midnight in the bedroom of his home by his wife, Althea, according to Sausalito police, Officers said a .22-caliber revolver was found beside him.

He was taken by ambulance to the hospital where he died about 5 a.m. Police said an investigation of the shooting was continuing.

A native of Battle Creek, Mich., Golden had lived in California and Marin County four years. He was employed with the legal department of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Francisco.

In addition to his wife, Golden is survived by two daughters, Angela and Jennifer and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Golden of Battle Creek.

lutionary guerrillas" now in jail were released by 5 p.m. (11 a.m. EDT) Thursday.

The note was signed by "The Central Committee of the Turkish People's Liberation Army." This is a left-wing organization which has claimed responsibility for earlier abductions of foreigners, including five U.S. airmen in Ankara. The airmen later were released unharmed.

The Turkish government ignored the demands for $400,000 ransom for four of the American airmen kidnaped in March and it was ignoring this demand as well.

The government arrested about 200 alleged left-wing extremists last month after the civilian government was ousted and martial law proclaimed in the midst of increasing public disorders.

The Turkish cabinet met for five hours Monday night in emergency session. It ordered an all-out search for the kidnappers and threatened large-scale arrests.

The government also said it will pass a new, retroactive law setting the death penalty for the abductors and for anyone harboring them.

Five masked gunmen forced their way into Elrom's apartment building Monday morning, tied up three persons they found there and also bound and gagged nine other persons who entered the building while they waited 90 minutes for Elrom to come home.

Elrom, husky and fit, struggled until he was hit over the head with a pistol butt, authorities said. They quoted witnesses as saying he was carried out of the building unconscious and driven off in a car with Ankara license plates.

Elrom's wife was put under a physician's care, suffering from shock. The Elrom lost their only child, a son, in a plane accident three years ago.

Elrom was born Ephraim Hofstaedter in Poland. He took a Hebrew last name when he joined the foreign service three years ago.

He was the chief pretrial interrogator of Adolph Eichmann, the Nazi general who later was tried in Israel for the murder of millions of Jews during World War II. Eichmann was found guilty and was hanged May 31, 1962.

prison terms ranging from one to 10 years, Tass said.

"They said that one of the main extenuating circumstances was the fact that all the nine defendants had pleaded guilty of criminal offenses and felt repentance," Tass said.

The nine face charges that include conspiracy in the planning stage of an attempt to hijack a small Soviet airliner at Leningrad in June, 1970, and to flee abroad with it. They are also charged with spreading anti-Soviet propaganda and stealing printing equipment.

It appeared from earlier testimony that only eight of the nine were being linked with the hijack attempt and only two — Hillel Butman and Mikhail Korenblit —were singled out as ringleaders in that.

Last December and January, 12 Jews and Russian Zionist sympathizers were sentenced to prison terms of up to 15 years on charges of actually attempting to seize the plane.

Monday, after the conclusion of testimony by a battery of 46 witnesses that included some of the original hijack defendants, prosecutor Inessa Katukova asked for prison terms in this case.

She demanded 10 years for Butman, eight for Korenblit, six for Lassal Kaminsky, five for Lev Yagman, four for Vladimire Mogilever, three for Solomon Dreizner, Viktor Boguslavsky and Lev Korneblit and one year for Viktor Shitilbans.

Rush To Polls In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Voters balloted Tuesday at a record pace in the Democratic mayoralty primary in which "tough cop" Frank L. Rizzo faced the challenge of a black legislator and a Kennedy-style congressman.

The spirited contest between Rizzo, 50, former police commissioner, and his liberal foes— Rep. William J. Green III, and Hardy Williams, 40, a freshman legislator—has excited the electorate and captured national attention in the off-year Pennsylvania primary.

The turnout was twice the average for a state primary and predictions were that 350,000 of the 552,000 registered Democrats, 41 per cent of whom are black, would cast ballots before the polls closed at 8 p.m. EDT.

City Parade Law Is Struck Down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California's Supreme Court ruled Monday that the City of Seaside's parade ordinance is unconstitutional and "a bare-faced example of uncontrolled discretion."

By a 6-1 vote, the court ruled the ordinance wrongly gives the city government "virtually unbridled and absolute power" to prohibit any demonstration it dislikes for any reason.

The court prohibited the prosecution of 19 members of anti-war groups who staged their own Independence Day parade last year after being refused permission to join a march sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and partly funded by the city.

Dixie Park Planning Halted; More Study

A plan for development of San Rafael park and recreation facilities on Dixie School District property came to an abrupt halt last night.

The San Rafael City Council, wondering if perhaps two blocks between Freitas Park and proposed tennis courts at Vallecito School wasn't too much, referred a proposed joint powers agreement with the school district back to the park and recreation commission for further discussion.

The agreement, already approved by the school district, called for the city to spend up to $24,000 for construction of two tennis courts at Vallecito School and walkways between Freitas Park and Don Timoteo School and the Vallecito tennis courts.

Under the agreement, the school district would have granted control of the tennis facilities to the city.

When councilman Fred E. Jensen questioned the two-block distance between the park and tennis court site, City Engineer Ely Caillouette Jr. said that Andrew J. Snyder Jr., parks and recreation director, had said in the past that eventual plans called for development of the area between the park and tennis courts.

Jensen asked that discussion of the projects be continued so that Snyder could be present to explain them, and the council rejected all bids, which were opened at its last meeting, for the projects.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

ABATEMENT — Ordered abatement proceedings to begin against a house at 33 Maywood Way when its owner, Richard Lynch of 105 Baltimore Avenue, Corte Madera, failed to present a work schedule for repairs, as had been requested by the council at its last meeting.

HIGHWAY — Passed a resolution requesting the state Division of Highways to proceed with landscaping of Highway 101 through San Rafael.

CAMPERS — Passed to print an ordinance making it a misdemeanor to live in a trailer, camper, station wagon, truck or other vehicle in San Rafael, with the exception of sleeping only in vehicles at the rear of certain residential building for no more than three successive nights in any 90-day period.

MAINTENANCE — Agreed to a landscaping maintenance agreement with Marin County for maintenance of completed phases of South San Pedro Road median areas. The agreement was estimated to cost the city $2,230 a year, and the county $4,620 a year.

HEARINGS — Set public hearings on a proposed increase in sanitary service fees and Yellow Cab Co. rates for June 7; on addition of a housing element to the city's general plan for June 21, and on a proposal to ban trucks on Lincoln Avenue from Highway 101 to Third Street for Aug. 2.

SIGNS — Directed City Atty. Fred J. Robbins Jr. to prepare an amendment to the sign ordinance which will require a $100 bond from candidates for city offices to ensure that campaign signs are taken down within 10 days after an election.

COMMISSION — At the request of the planning commission, set for July 12 a joint meeting with the commission to clarify council policies.

BIDS — Called for bids to be opened June 7 for a storm drainage replacement project at the intersection of Kerner Boulevard and Canal Sreet. Estimated cost of the project is $12,000.

APPEAL — Denied by a 4-0 vote (councilman John A. Miskimen was absent), an appeal of planning commission denial of resubdivision of two lots into three lots at 265-271 Clorinda Avenue. Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said the two lots were approved prior to adoption of the city's slope ordinance, and they do not meet the ordinance's requirements and three lots would be even worse.

Decision On Burton Is Delayed

The San Rafael City Council, which has dealt with resignations and unresignations from its parks and recreation commission before, was faced with another last night.

The council continued the matter to its next regular meeting, June 7.

At issue are an April 23 letter of resignation from commissioner George S. Burton and a May 10 letter from Burton withdrawing his resignation.

In his letters, Burton gave no reason for either of his moves.

The council faced a similar situation a year ago when then commissioner Roy R. Rhodes submitted his resignation and six days later asked that it be withdrawn.

The council escaped acting on Rhodes by accepting the opinion of then City Atty. David Menary Jr., who said the resignation was void because it had not been filed with the city clerk. Both of Burton's letters, however, were filed with City Clerk Marion A. Grady.

If the council does not accept Burton's resignation, he may not be entirely welcome back on the commission.

Commissioner Robert C. Schoen told the council last night that the four other members of the commission are working well together and the return of Burton would bring conflict back to the commission.

The council continued the matter so that councilman John A. Miskimen, who was absent last night, could be included in any decision.

Burton, 42, of 19 Hacienda Court, was an unsuccessful candidate in last month's election for the city council.

A Professional Negotiator Eyed

Novato Unified School District trustees last night cast an eye toward hiring a professional negotiator to handle negotiations with teachers in future years.

Trustees named .Supt. James G. Bunker and Asst. Supt. Paul C. Mobley as their representatives in present negotiations, but indicated they were looking toward a change in the future.

Trustee Ronald D. Schenck said "I still think the board should consider third party negotiation," but others felt it was too late to do it this year.

Chairman William G. Schneeflock, who felt he didn't like to put an educator in the role of negotiator, said "I'd like to see us employ the services of a professional negotiator."

Schenck commented: "It's not going to be cheap, but it may have substantial benefits."

Trustees also took issues with the report of a three-member fact finding committee, sponsored by the board and the Novato Teachers Association.

The committee proposed that 63.5 per cent of the current expense section of the budget be allocated to teachers salaries, and that if an impasse is reached in negotiations, a mediator be called in.

Trustee Dan H. Barber said the committee failed to report on how district salaries for teachers compare with those of similar districts. This question was asked and not answered, he said. "I don't think they have completed their job," Barber said.

Schenck said he was chagrined and angry that they didn't answer that question yet "chose to answer a number of others not put to them, and make recommendations not in their province."

Trustees accepted the report with the comment that they didn't feel "bound by these suggestions."

The committee also recommended giving priority to improvement of fringe benefits, and several of its recommendations have been included in the Novato Teachers Association negotiating platform for 1971-72.

Members of the fact finding committee were Supt. James L. Merrihew, Mount Diablo Unified School District; Edgar W. Case, executive director, Oakland Education Association, and Oscar E. Anderson, consultant in school finance and legislation.

Varying Views On Health Care 'Crisis'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Numerous witnesses told a Senate committee that the nation's health care system is breaking down, but a Stanford University professor said "consumer control" of the system would solve the nation's health care problems.

The witnesses testified Monday before the Senate Subcommittee on Health, presided over by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who afterward flew to Los Angeles to hold another hearing.

Kennedy has proposed a national health care plan and said at the hearing that even President Nixon "has recognized that there is a crisis" in the delivery of health care in the U.S.

However, Dr. Count Gibson of Stanford said, "I do not profoundly believe in central health administration in which Washington figures out the care for all of us."

"We are all too different," Gibson said. "I believe the solution is consumer control of health care where the consumer has a voice and controls the input."

Kennedy and Dr. Roberta Fenlon, president of the California Medical Association, disagreed over whether there was a health care crisis.

"We are not here to claim that our present health care system is perfect," Dr. Fenlon said. "It contains significant deficiencies ... but these factors do not constitute a health care crisis."

Her comment evoked loud laughter from many of the 200 persons present, some of whom had testified they had great difficulties in obtaining health care.

Kennedy told Dr. Fenlon that the President "has recognized that there is a crisis ...the medical profession and the insurance industry have brought us into this crisis."

Dr. Fenlon replied "Physicians do not believe the insurance industry has failed the American people.."

One of the witnesses, Richard Blackwell, a Palo Alto policeman, said he had incurred huge medical debts because of open heart surgery on one son and brain surgery on another.

Blackwell said he owed $200,000 in medical debts, of which 80 per cent was for hospitalization.

Sadat Begins Reshaping His Party

CAIRO (UPI)—President Anwar Sadat is reorganizing the Arab Socialist Union (ASU), Egypt's only political party, as part of a purge of government and party officials who opposed him, political sources said today.

They said Sadat began the ASU reorganization Monday night by issuing a decree setting up a new provisional secretariat composed of eight men faithful to him. The ASU was the base of opposition to Sadat.

In the purge the president fired Vice President Ali Sabry, seven cabinet ministers, three top ASU officials, and has had 110 government officials arrested. Another 300 persons were dismissed from their government or ASU posts.

Sadat in setting up the new ASU secretariat said he planned to reorganize the union "from top to bottom" by holding free elections in the near future. The sources said Sadat promised harsh action will be taken against any body trying to rig the elections.

Among the latest persons arrested were Mohammed Uruk, director of the Voice of the Arabs Radio, and other senior Cairo radio and television officials. They were suspected of complicity with Sadat's opponents, the semiofficial Middle East News Agency (MENA) said.

Cairo Radio said that for the fourth day in a row delegations called at the presidential palace to pledge their support to Sadat. In addition, it said, Sadat's office has been receiving a daily average of 10,000 cables of support.

Sadat is to address a special session of the National Assembly Thursday —a week after the crisis flared into the open with the resignation of six of the cabinet ministers opposed to Sadat.

Trustee's Retort To Vandalism, Repairs

Vandalism at Novato schools is costing money that could be going into the educational program, and that's "atrocious," trustee Carolyn M. Crabtree declared last night.

Mrs. Crabtree's comments came as the Novato Unified School District board received notice that glass breakage was $1,500 over budget and that reserve funds would have to be tapped.

Parents should realize that tax funds are spent to repair vandalism, she said. "Every dollar to repair a pane or glass or spray over obscenities," could be used in the ecuational program, Mrs. Crabtree said.

She suggested that "parents tell the kids where the land lays and how the tax dollars could be used," and that the "parents do a better job as parents; know where their kids are and what they are doing. I'm sure we have delinquent chidlren because of delinquent parents."

The Novato Unified School District Board Also

When school closes don't let your child's mind close with it.

We can help your child become a better student beginning in June. If your child does not show the interest in school that you would like to see or, if your child would like to take a step ahead; enroll him now in the Sullivan Reading Center Summer School. The Center offers accelerated learning programs in math and reading using the highly successful Sullivan programmed teaching methods.

Reading Your child will work at his own personal level of understanding. If he finds a difficult sound, the instructor comes immediately to his aid, and works with him until the material is fully understood. This immediate response to your child's questions eliminates any frustrating mental stumbling blocks toward learning. There is no regression in the Sullivan teaching method. Each page of text is an upward step in the child's learning curve.

Math Math-without-words. The basal mathematics course does not use a single word of English or any other language. The fact that the program does not rely on words means a student is never handicapped by a low reading level or other language problems. Each student progresses at his own pace offering advantages to gifted and slower students alike.

What Parents say about the Sullivan Program:
Mrs. Joseph Mell, Palo Alto, Ca.: Joe had two and a half sessions and the change is absolutely incredible. He has moved to a top reading group, he always gets 100 in his spelling tests, and can handle his social studies assignments which require reading with ease and confidence. But the best change of all is that he now enjoys reading. He even bought two books with his own money.
Mrs. William Weir, Novato, Ca.: Brad's attitude toward learning has greatly improved as a result of your program. He seems to respond favorably to the individual attention that is your specialty.

Here's a summer school that won't spoil your summer vacation plans.
Hours are scheduled for reading, math and if you wish, reading and math together. Your child can attend for one or two hour sessions on days convenient to the family schedule.

Dixie Park Planning Halted; More Study

A plan for development of San Rafael park and recreation facilities on Dixie School District property came to an abrupt halt last night.

The San Rafael City Council, wondering if perhaps two blocks between Freitas Park and proposed tennis courts at Vallecito School wasn't too much, referred a proposed joint powers agreement with the school district back to the park and recreation commission for further discussion.

The agreement, already approved by the school district, called for the city to spend up to $24,000 for construction of two tennis courts at Vallecito School and walkways between Freitas Park and Don Timoteo School and the Vallecito tennis courts.

Under the agreement, the school district would have granted control of the tennis facilities to the city.

When councilman Fred E. Jensen questioned the two-block distance between the park and tennis court site, City Engineer Ely Caillouette Jr. said that Andrew J. Snyder Jr., parks and recreation director, had said in the past that eventual plans called for development of the area between the park and tennis courts.

Jensen asked that discussion of the projects be continued so that Snyder could be present to explain them, and the council rejected all bids, which were opened at its last meeting, for the projects.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

ABATEMENT — Ordered abatement proceedings to begin against a house at 33 Maywood Way when its owner, Richard Lynch of 105 Baltimore Avenue, Corte Madera, failed to present a work schedule for repairs, as had been requested by the council at its last meeting.

HIGHWAY — Passed a resolution requesting the state Division of Highways to proceed with landscaping of Highway 101 through San Rafael.

CAMPERS — Passed to print an ordinance making it a misdemeanor to live in a trailer, camper, station wagon, truck or other vehicle in San Rafael, with the exception of sleeping only in vehicles at the rear of certain residential building for no more than three successive nights in any 90-day period.

MAINTENANCE — Agreed to a landscaping maintenance agreement with Marin County for maintenance of completed phases of South San Pedro Road median areas. The agreement was estimated to cost the city $2,230 a year, and the county $4,620 a year.

HEARINGS — Set public hearings on a proposed increase in sanitary service fees and Yellow Cab Co. rates for June 7; on addition of a housing element to the city's general plan for June 21, and on a proposal to ban trucks on Lincoln Avenue from Highway 101 to Third Street for Aug. 2.

SIGNS — Directed City Atty. Fred J. Robbins Jr. to prepare an amendment to the sign ordinance which will require a $100 bond from candidates for city offices to ensure that campaign signs are taken down within 10 days after an election.

COMMISSION — At the request of the planning commission, set for July 12 a joint meeting with the commission to clarify council policies.

BIDS — Called for bids to be opened June 7 for a storm drainage replacement project at the intersection of Kerner Boulevard and Canal Sreet. Estimated cost of the project is $12,000.

APPEAL — Denied by a 4-0 vote (councilman John A. Miskimen was absent), an appeal of planning commission denial of resubdivision of two lots into three lots at 265-271 Clorinda Avenue. Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said the two lots were approved prior to adoption of the city's slope ordinance, and they do not meet the ordinance's requirements and three lots would be even worse.

Decision On Burton Is Delayed

The San Rafael City Council, which has dealt with resignations and unresignations from its parks and recreation commission before, was faced with another last night.

The council continued the matter to its next regular meeting, June 7.

At issue are an April 23 letter of resignation from commissioner George S. Burton and a May 10 letter from Burton withdrawing his resignation.

In his letters, Burton gave no reason for either of his moves.

The council faced a similar situation a year ago when then commissioner Roy R. Rhodes submitted his resignation and six days later asked that it be withdrawn.

The council escaped acting on Rhodes by accepting the opinion of then City Atty. David Menary Jr., who said the resignation was void because it had not been filed with the city clerk. Both of Burton's letters, however, were filed with City Clerk Marion A. Grady.

If the council does not accept Burton's resignation, he may not be entirely welcome back on the commission.

Commissioner Robert C. Schoen told the council last night that the four other members of the commission are working well together and the return of Burton would bring conflict back to the commission.

The council continued the matter so that councilman John A. Miskimen, who was absent last night, could be included in any decision.

Burton, 42, of 19 Hacienda Court, was an unsuccessful candidate in last month's election for the city council.

Launch Scheduled

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says it will try between Wednesday and Sunday to launch a rocket it hopes will produce a giant barium cloud visible over much of the Western hemisphere.

Dellums in Blast At Congressmen

BERKELEY (UPI) —Congressman Ron Dellums returned to his constituancy Monday for the first time since his election and described his new colleagues in anything but glowing terms.

The Negro Democrat said congressmen are less concerned with "solving the questions in the country than with getting elected."

His fellow congressmen are "drawing $42,500 welfare checks" in pay, he added in a talk to 800 applauding students and supporters at the University of California's Sproul Plaza.

A Professional Negotiator Eyed

Novato Unified School District trustees last night cast an eye toward hiring a professional negotiator to handle negotiations with teachers in future years.

Trustees named .Supt. James G. Bunker and Asst. Supt. Paul C. Mobley as their representatives in present negotiations, but indicated they were looking toward a change in the future.

Trustee Ronald D. Schenck said "I still think the board should consider third party negotiation," but others felt it was too late to do it this year.

Chairman William G. Schneeflock, who felt he didn't like to put an educator in the role of negotiator, said "I'd like to see us employ the services of a professional negotiator."

Schenck commented: "It's not going to be cheap, but it may have substantial benefits."

Trustees also took issues with the report of a three-member fact finding committee, sponsored by the board and the Novato Teachers Association.

The committee proposed that 63.5 per cent of the current expense section of the budget be allocated to teachers salaries, and that if an impasse is reached in negotiations, a mediator be called in.

Trustee Dan H. Barber said the committee failed to report on how district salaries for teachers compare with those of similar districts. This question was asked and not answered, he said. "I don't think they have completed their job," Barber said.

Schenck said he was chagrined and angry that they didn't answer that question yet "chose to answer a number of others not put to them, and make recommendations not in their province."

Trustees accepted the report with the comment that they didn't feel "bound by these suggestions."

The committee also recommended giving priority to improvement of fringe benefits, and several of its recommendations have been included in the Novato Teachers Association negotiating platform for 1971-72.

Members of the fact finding committee were Supt. James L. Merrihew, Mount Diablo Unified School District; Edgar W. Case, executive director, Oakland Education Association, and Oscar E. Anderson, consultant in school finance and legislation.

Varying Views On Health Care 'Crisis'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Numerous witnesses told a Senate committee that the nation's health care system is breaking down, but a Stanford University professor said "consumer control" of the system would solve the nation's health care problems.

The witnesses testified Monday before the Senate Subcommittee on Health, presided over by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who afterward flew to Los Angeles to hold another hearing.

Kennedy has proposed a national health care plan and said at the hearing that even President Nixon "has recognized that there is a crisis" in the delivery of health care in the U.S.

However, Dr. Count Gibson of Stanford said, "I do not profoundly believe in central health administration in which Washington figures out the care for all of us."

"We are all too different," Gibson said. "I believe the solution is consumer control of health care where the consumer has a voice and controls the input."

Kennedy and Dr. Roberta Fenlon, president of the California Medical Association, disagreed over whether there was a health care crisis.

"We are not here to claim that our present health care system is perfect," Dr. Fenlon said. "It contains significant deficiencies ... but these factors do not constitute a health care crisis."

Her comment evoked loud laughter from many of the 200 persons present, some of whom had testified they had great difficulties in obtaining health care.

Kennedy told Dr. Fenlon that the President "has recognized that there is a crisis ...the medical profession and the insurance industry have brought us into this crisis."

Dr. Fenlon replied "Physicians do not believe the insurance industry has failed the American people.."

One of the witnesses, Richard Blackwell, a Palo Alto policeman, said he had incurred huge medical debts because of open heart surgery on one son and brain surgery on another.

Blackwell said he owed $200,000 in medical debts, of which 80 per cent was for hospitalization.

Vandals Hit Episcopal Church In Novato

Vandals broke two candles, pulled down cloth banners and threw pamphlets around at St. Francis Episcopal Church, 967 Fifth Street, Novato, between 4 and 7:15 p.m. yesterday, Novato police reported today.

Damage was estimated at $5. police said. There wasn't any forced entry since the church door was open.

Sadat Begins Reshaping His Party

CAIRO (UPI)—President Anwar Sadat is reorganizing the Arab Socialist Union (ASU), Egypt's only political party, as part of a purge of government and party officials who opposed him, political sources said today.

They said Sadat began the ASU reorganization Monday night by issuing a decree setting up a new provisional secretariat composed of eight men faithful to him. The ASU was the base of opposition to Sadat.

In the purge the president fired Vice President Ali Sabry, seven cabinet ministers, three top ASU officials, and has had 110 government officials arrested. Another 300 persons were dismissed from their government or ASU posts.

Sadat in setting up the new ASU secretariat said he planned to reorganize the union "from top to bottom" by holding free elections in the near future. The sources said Sadat promised harsh action will be taken against any body trying to rig the elections.

Among the latest persons arrested were Mohammed Uruk, director of the Voice of the Arabs Radio, and other senior Cairo radio and television officials. They were suspected of complicity with Sadat's opponents, the semiofficial Middle East News Agency (MENA) said.

Cairo Radio said that for the fourth day in a row delegations called at the presidential palace to pledge their support to Sadat. In addition, it said, Sadat's office has been receiving a daily average of 10,000 cables of support.

Sadat is to address a special session of the National Assembly Thursday —a week after the crisis flared into the open with the resignation of six of the cabinet ministers opposed to Sadat.

Trustee's Retort To Vandalism, Repairs

Vandalism at Novato schools is costing money that could be going into the educational program, and that's "atrocious," trustee Carolyn M. Crabtree declared last night.

Mrs. Crabtree's comments came as the Novato Unified School District board received notice that glass breakage was $1,500 over budget and that reserve funds would have to be tapped.

Parents should realize that tax funds are spent to repair vandalism, she said. "Every dollar to repair a pane or glass or spray over obscenities," could be used in the ecuational program, Mrs. Crabtree said.

She suggested that "parents tell the kids where the land lays and how the tax dollars could be used," and that the "parents do a better job as parents; know where their kids are and what they are doing. I'm sure we have delinquent chidlren because of delinquent parents."

The Novato Unified School District Board Also

Employee Pay Hike Plan Told To Council

Corte Madera Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels last night asked the town council to give all town employees 7 per cent salary increases as well as additional benefits next year.

Bartels said that he felt a 5 per cent increase would meet the rise in the cost of living and that an additional 2 per cent was necessary to bring Corte Madera employees up to salary levels in comparable cities.

Bartels said in a written memorandum given councilmen that "though Corte Madera kept pace with comparable salary jurisdictions in the past, it is presently behind in nearly all cases . . ."

In addition to the raises, Bartels recommended that town employees be given a dental plan, that the town pay all the cost of hospital insurance and that police uniform allowances be raised.

He did not estimate the cost of his proposals.

Councilmen last night did not discuss Bartels' recommendations but set a hearing for 7 p.m. next Monday to tackle salaries and benefits.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

JUSTICE — Voted 3 to 1 to endorse a four-county Regional Criminal Justice Planning Board which will set up priorities for distribution of state and federal funds. Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff voted against endorsing the board and Councilman Edward W. Colthurst was absent.

TAMALPAIS PROJECT — Set 2 p.m. June 4 for opening bids on Tamalpais Drive reconstruction. Estimated cost of the project varies from $140,799 up to $193,392 because of alternative materials under consideration for lighting and bricked crosswalks and the size of trees to be used for landscaping.

FLOOD CONTROL — Postponed for the second time discussion on the Ross Valley Flood Control District. Councilman Edward W. Colthurst was to have reported on efforts to obtain Corps of Engineers financing but was out of town.

ABBREVIATED AGENDA — Voted to try an abbreviated agenda grouping routine items for the next three months in order to speed up council meetings.

CARNIVALS — Ronald E. Bartels, town manager, reported he met with owners of Corte Madera Center and they agreed to limit the number of carnivals to be held each year.

COMMISSION TERMS — Voted to start terms on the various commissions Jan. 1 to insure that at least three of five members at all times have had some experience. Terms to expire during the year will be extended until Jan. 1 when a drawing will be held to determine when terms will end. Various commission terms now end in different months.

PLANNED DEVELOPMENT — Referred to the planning commission a recommendation that the 25-acre requirement for grouping housing units on tracts meeting per-square-foot requirements be applied to smaller tracts — perhaps as small as one acre.

HISTORIAN — Appointed John R. Vance town historian. Vance, of 117 Walnut Avenue, is a retired army colonel, and a former town finance officer. He will compile a history of Corte Madera under the honorary appointment.

BIKE LIABILITY — Referred to the bicycle committee for study the town's liability in case of accidents on bike paths to be constructed.

PLANNING COURSE — Authorized Chief Building Inspector and Zoning Administrator William (NMN) McBride to attend a planning course at the University of California at Berkeley from July 1971 through March 1972 at an estimated expense of $300.

REZONING DENIAL — Deneid the request of Sol Langsam, owner of 801 Meadowsweet apartments to rezone the site of his 19-unit project to a new classification meeting conforming usage.

HEARINGS SET — Scheduled public hearings for 8:30 p.m. June 21 on requests by D. A. Beacock, Earle and Solvason Inc., realtors of 645 Tamalpais Drive to rezone property at 626 Tamalpais Drive from single family residential to professional and administrative office zoning; for a request by the same firm to add realtors and real estate offices as a permitted use in the professional and administrative zones.

COMPLAINT — Told contractor Paul Potts that he is responsible for keeping Alta Way clear for fire engines to get by. Ian K. McDougall, 39 Alta Way, reported Potts' subcontractor on housing construction is blocking the road with lumber and vehicles and Councilman Wagstaff confirmed violations.

ASSESSMENT DISTRICT — Reconvened as the Sanitary Board of Sanitary District No. 2 and directed the district engineer Arthur N. Morrison to record notice of acceptance of completion of the Lucky Road Assessment District.

SANITARY SEWER — Accepted a deed of easement for a sanitary sewer to be constructed in the Madera Park subdivision.

Humphrey's Solution To Red Tape

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Addressing the California Legislature today, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., proposed creation of regional domestic White House ambassadors to help clear up federal red tape.

Humphrey said such ambassadors "would not make policy. They would facilitate action. They would give state and local representatives one-stop service."

Such domestic ambassadors were needed, he said, to help nonfederal governments "break through the maze of federal bureaucratic red tape and relieve the crisis in government."

Humphrey said the ambassador proposal was one of four suggestions he has for bringing "government at all levels into closer harmony to work for common objectives."

His other proposals, he said, are "opening the secrecy-shrouded federal budget process," regular meetings between the president and state and local governments and regular meetings between state and local legislative leaders and congressional leaders.

Humphrey said the United States is "the only industrialized nation that has no established, ascertainable, understandable goals, priorities or planning."

He said the budget makers only allocate national resources for a year or two instead of planning farther into the future.

"They should be looking —in consultation with federal, state and local representatives —at America's needs, 10, 20, or more years ahead," he said.

In his prepared remarks he asked the joint session, "have any of the budget makers come to you to talk about Caifornia's needs in the future?

"Have they asked you about how best to meet the needs of 20 million Californians now or the millions more you will have in the decades ahead?"

Headquarters To Angel Island

The state Parks and Recreation Department's Golden Gate Area headquarters has moved from its offices at Samuel P. Taylor State Park in Lagunitas to new offices on Angel Island.

The move, according to a department spokesman, was brought about by a reorganization which has consolidated San Francisco and Marin state parks under one headquarters.

About 12 employees were affected by the move which took place last week.

Cal Editors' Fate On Park To Board

BERKELEY (UPI) —The publishing board of the University of California student newspaper will decide if four editors should be fired for writing an editorial advocating the tearing down of the "People's Park" fence.

Chancellor Roger Heyns sent a personal representative to a meeting of the Daily Californian's publishing board Monday to ask for the dismissals.

The editorial last week urged students to tear down the chain fence surrounding the small plot of university-owned land in observance of the second anniversary of the 1969 riot over the park.

On Saturday, demonstrators tore down the fence and clashed with police following a rally celebrating the anniversary. Forty-one persons were arrested and at least seven policemen injured, none seriously.

Heyns' representative, Richard Hafner, called for the firing of the three editors who voted for the editorial as well as the dismissal of editor-in-chief, John Emshwiller, who did not vote for it.

Berkeley's three new radical councilmen skirted the issue of the editorial and called for the resignation of city manager William Hanley as well as removal of the fence.

They said police have not tried to solve the problem but wait until the situation reaches the confrontation stage.

In calling for the dismissal of Emshwiller, Hafner said the editor failed "to exert the leadership expected of his position to insure against irresponsible use of the newspaper."

Preceding Saturday's demonstration the Daily Cal strongly urged non-violence. Late Saturday it issued a statement deploring the confrontation.

Last Tuesday's controversial front-page editorial had urged readers to "take the park again."

"Nothing so flimsy as a fence can stand up to the will of the community," it said. "By pulling down the fence we are resisting violence, not encouraging it."

Nixon Backs House Plan On Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon gave enthusiastic endorsement today to the welfare-Social Security bill approved by the House Ways and Means Committee as "the most significant piece of social legislation to be considered by the Congress in decades."

In a statement issued by the White House, Nixon expressed hope that the measure — carrying a 5 per cent increase in Social Security benefits — would quickly pass the House and Senate.

The committee reversed itself Monday by including the higher benefits, which would go to 26 million Americans effective June 1, 1972.

In his statement, the President praised the committee chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and Rep. John Byrnes, R-Wis., the ranking Republican in the group.

Nixon said it was his "profound hope" that Congress now would "carry forward the momentum which has been generated, thus seizing an historic opportunity and meeting an historic obligation."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford Michigan told newsmen after he and other GOP legislative leaders met with the President this morning that "I will strongly support" the measure, including the boost in Social Security payments.

Population Of California Near 20,237,000

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's population should reach an estimated 20,237,000 by July 1, the state Department of Finance reported Monday.

If the population reaches that figure, the state would have experienced a 1.1 per cent growth rate increase over 1970 of 229,000, the department said.

By July 1972 California should have 20,472,000 inhabitants, an increase of 235,000 or 1.2 per cent.

Director of Finance Verne Orr explained that the April 1, 1970, census of 20,098,863 included 145,729 persons living abroad who claim California as their home state.

The slowness of growth was attributed by the department to a drop in out-of-state persons coming to California. From a peak of 356,000 in fiscal 1963, net civilian migration dropped to 27,000 for fiscal 1970.

Kaiser Nurses Sign Contract

Nurses at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael were among 4,000 nurses in the Bay Area who have signed a new three-year contract providing $55 to $65 per month in salary increases.

According to spokesmen for the California Nurses Association and three hospital associations including Kaiser, the new contract provides salary hikes from $55 to $65 per month the first year and $65 per month additional the following two years.

About 50 other changes were made in the work agreements including such items as improved pension and health and welfare benefits, longer rest periods between shifts and a joint reclassification study of hospital employees.

Schools Cited For Racial Imbalance

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Citizens Advisory Committee on Integration says that 83 of San Francisco's 100 elementary schools are racially out of balance by State Board of Education standards.

The report was made Monday by chairman Donald Kuhn of the committee which is drawing an integration plan for the Board of Education.

Hearing Due On Pay For Employees

The Novato City Council will have a special meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Novato Community House to discuss pay raises requested by city employees.

The Novato City Employees Association is seeking pay hikes in four jobs including police officer and 5 per cent pay raise for all employees.

The association recommended that effective July 1, the salary for a police officer be hiked 5 per cent, police clerk, 5 per cent; junior civil engineer, 2.5 per cent; and building inspectors, 2.5 per cent to bring them in line with salaries paid in other Bay Area cities used for comparison.

If these boosts are approved, "The association will only ask for a five per cent across-the-board cost-of-living increase," reported John Perry, president of the association.

The association also is seeking a disability insurance program for all employees, 11 paid holidays, an increase of one, and survival benefits made available on a voluntary basis.

$20,000 Chopped From Ross Budget

The Ross School District Board last night approved cutting approximately $20,000 from the proposed $569,672 budget, according to Supt. Thomas A. Anderson.

This was done by eliminating one teaching job and making many minor cuts, he said. The enrollment in the school has dropped from 517 students to 492, he said.

The board will resume budget discussion at its June 21 meeting, he said. The proposed budget is approximately $23,000 more than the current $526,641 budget. The board has not discussed the tax rate, Anderson said.

The Ross School District Board also:

COMMITTEE — Named Trustees H. Jack Wyman and Justin L. Williams, with A. Crawford Green Jr. as alternate, to a Parent-Teacher Association sponsored After School Citizens Recreation Program committee. it will go to the town council for financial support. Its organizer, Joan Smith, requested $7,500 for a full-time paid recreation director.

INSURANCE — Received notice that Blue Cross medical insurance rate will be increased from $18.83 this year to $22.41 for next fiscal year.

MATHEMATICS — Received notice that Joyce Ramacciotti, fourth grade teacher, and Mary Balough, third grade teacher, have been accpeted in the mathematics specialization program of the California State Department of Education and will attend special classes this summer in order to assist other teachers in the mathematics program next year.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignation from Judy H. Bloch, sixth grade teacher, and from Dorothy L. Hardy, fifth grade teacher who is retiring after 18 years with the district. One of these positions will not be filled, Anderson said.

GIFTS — Accepted $600 cash gift from an anonymous donor; books from Frank Fitzsimmons, James Schull, Dale Perry and John Bungen family, and a set of color prints from Rodney G. Roberts.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Increased the money for summer school from $650 to $800 for the PTA sponsored program that goes from June 21 through July 16.

CLOSED MEETING — Held a short closed meeting to discuss teacher negotiations with the superintendent.

Development Plan On Agenda

A report on an application for additional federal funds and more time to complete Marin City development will be presented to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency board at a special meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the agency office, 429 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

Executive Director Wallace K. Shepherd said the amendment to the agency's current federal loan and grant contract for development asks a two-year extension and $918,105. One-third of that sum must come from local courses, he said.

Shepherd said he wants to submit the application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development after the agency board approves it, probably later this week.

Charges Dropped In Drug Agent's Case

Marijuana charges against a San Francisco undercover narcotics agent were dropped today in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Robert A. Smallman dismissed the charges at the request of Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman, who said an investigation indicated the agent, Michael G. Edmond, 23, of Sausalito, was innocent.

Edmond surrendered himself to Marin authorities May 4 on a warrant charging him with possessing and cultivating marijuana and possessing narcotics paraphernalia.

The warrant stemmed from a visit to his apartment by Sausalito police May 2 when neighbors complained of loud music.

Edmond was not at the apartment when police arrived, but his two roommates, Daniel J. Miller, 25, and Thomas W. Villas, 24, were arrested.

A preliminary hearing for Miller and Villas was to have been held this afternoon before Judge Smallman.

Miller and Villas were not at the apartment May 2 when Sausalito police arrived, but they returned while police were still there.

The pair, according to police, said they knew nothing of the drugs in the apartment, which they said belonged to Edmond. They told police they did not smoke marijuana and said Edmond had hosted a party at the apartment the night before.

Fifteen growing marijuana plants, several packages of marijuana seeds and stems, seven ounces of the weed, a flour sifter, eight pipes, a scale and a brass waterpipe were found in the apartment, police said.

Herman said today an investigation had determined that Edmond had moved into Villas's apartment at 35 Rodeo Avenue April 6, and that Miller moved in shortly after that.

On April 17, Herman said, Edmond — a rookie on the San Francisco police force — told a fellow narcotics officer that he suspected his roommates were using drugs.

The other officer told Edmond to inform his superiors, which Edmond did on April 19, Herman said.

He was advised by his superiors to move from the apartment, and on April 20 Edmond contacted a San Francisco apartment rental agency, according to Herman.

A cancelled check, dated April 23, for a $100 deposit on another apartment indicated Edmond's preparation to move from the Sausalito residence, Herman said.

Edmond attended an Army Reserve training session at the San Francisco Presidio all day May 1 and 2, Herman said, and returned to the Sausalito apartment only "briefly" the night of May 1 — when according to his roommates, he was hosting a party — before spending the night at a friend's residence in San Francisco.

Debris Collection Set In Belvedere

The first in a quarterly series of free debris collections in Belvedere will be held Thursday and Friday in cooperation with Mill Valley Refuse Service.

Up to three cubic yards of debris —equal to 21 garbage cans — will be collected from each regular customer of the refuse firm. Refuse should be placed at curbside before 5 a.m. on the regular garbage collection day.

All rubbish should be placed in disposable boxes as no containers will be returned. Prunings and trimmings too large for boxes must be tied with strong cord and must not be longer than five feet.

No rocks, cement, appliances or dirt will be taken.

Equipment Stolen

A microphone and amplifier valued at $225 were taken between 10:15 a.m. and 5 p.m. Friday from Dominic's Restaurant at 507 Francisco Boulevard, Manager Mario J. Brenta reported yesterday to San Rafael police.

Expressway Extension Plans Near

Plans for the extension of the Rohnert Park Expressway westward across Highway 101 are nearly complete, the Rohnert Park City Council heard last night.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said engineering plans should be complete soon so that the council can call for construction bids on June 7. He said the work would include the new roadway from the freeway west to the city limits as well as extended sewer and water lines.

Callinan said the Sonoma County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on plan lines for extending the road into unincorporated areas in the future. No cost estimate has been made on the project, he said.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

INDUSTRY — Set a meeting for June 3 at noon at Chesney's Carriage House with industry representatives and businessmen to discuss ways of improving the appearance of the industrial park.

BOWLING — Heard councilman Arthur R. Roberts suggest the city build a bowling alley-recreation center to be operated similar to the municipal golf course.

CATS — Introduced an ordinance that would ban cats from running loose and set fines for their owners.

FIRE MEETING — Received invitation to meet with officers of the Cotati Fire District at 7 p.m. Friday at Chesney's Carriage House.

Restaurant Owner Is Found Dead

Tony Andresen, 56, owner of the Washoe House restaurant-bar near Petaluma, died today from an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound.

The Sonoma County Coroner's office reported that Andresen went into the bathroom of his Sebastopol home at 1 a.m. and shot himself in the chest with a .38 caliber revolver. He had reportedly been despondent over ill health. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Community Hospital of Sonoma County.

Andresen, a Petaluma native, had operated the restaurant at Stony Point and Roblar roads for 21 years. He had spent most of his life in Petaluma and had moved to Sebastopol recently.

Andresen was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose of Petaluma and the Santa Rosa Elks Lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Jessie, and a brother, Henry (Hank) Andresen of Petaluma.

Funeral will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma, followed by burial in Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

Youth Hurt In Bike-Car Mishap

A 17-year-old Kentfield youth was taken to Marin General Hospital yesterday for multiple injuries suffered when his bicycle rammed the rear of a slow-moving sheriff's patrol car.

Brian E. McLeran, of 700 Goodhill Road, Kentfield, was reported in fair condition today at the hospital with a dislocated left shoulder, a cut scalp and a fractured left leg.

The California Highway Patrol said McLeran was eastbound on Goodhill Road near Woodland Road when his bicycle collided with a patrol car driven by Deputy Joseph G. Kelly, 43, who was checking an illegally parked car.

Next Hearing Set In Davis-Magee Case

The sixth judge to enter the Davis-Magee case has set 9 a.m. Monday for hearing pretrial montions in a Marin Hall of Justice courtroom.

Judge Richard E. Arnason of Contra Costa County, a 49-year-old judge with a wide experience in criminal cases, was named to the case last week by the state Judicial Council.

He follows Judge Alan A. Lindsay of Alameda County, who withdrew reluctantly from the case when San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee was allowed to use his one peremptory challenge of a judge.

An earlier judge had voluntarily withdrawn when challenged by Magee as being prejudiced, and the Marin judges have said they will not hear further matters in the case because of their association with Judge Harold J. Haley.

Magee and Angela Davis are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy stemming from the August shoot-out at the Civic Center in which Judge Haley and three other persons died.

Miss Davis has been waiting for weeks to have pre-trial motions heard, but Magee has continously stalled the case by refusing to cooperate with court-appointed attorneys and by attempting to get rid of every judge assigned.

Magee's latest attorney, Ernest L. Graves of Los Angeles, has now filed documents saying that he is joining in Miss Davis's motions, including ones for dismissal and challenge of the grand jury which indicted the pair.

He also said that he plans to file additional motions on his own, although he acknowledged that he is acting without Magee's approval.

He said he agreed with Magee's demand for an additional hearing to determine if the convict is capable of acting as his own attorney as he wants to do.

Miss Davis, whose lawyers have also asked delays in the case several times and who unsuccessfully attempted to challenge Judge Lindsay as prejudiced, are also waiting to have a motion heard asking that she be released on bail.

She has been held in Marin County Jail since she was returned from New York in December.

Radio Stolen

A radio valued at $200 was taken sometime between Friday and yesterday from Redwood Radiotelephone Corp. at 1330 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, Daniel W. Cochran, owner, reported to police.

Three More Indicted In Big Pot Haul

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Three of 14 persons indicted by a federal grand jury here in connection with a record 5 1-2-ton marijuana seizure in San Francisco were arraigned Monday.

U. S. Magistrate Harry R. McCue set a June 10 omnibus hearing date for Richard M. King, 42, of San Diego; James Leo Olson, 36, of Captain Cook, Hawaii; and Robert C. Light, 30, of South Seattle, Wash.

Seven others were arraigned last week and authorities still were seeking four more persons in the case.

The indictments followed the arrests of King, Light, Olson and five others near San Francisco May 3. The marijuana was taken from the 58-foot converted shrimp boat Mercy Wiggins near the Golden Gate.

U. S. Attorney Harry D. Steward said the grand jury investigation is continuing and more indictments are expected. A hearing is scheduled Monday to hear a defense motion concerning use of electronic surveillance in the case.

Loma Verde Asked To Share Rec Costs

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night recommended that the Loma Verde share of the playground program costs at Loma Verde School remain at 50 per cent.

The recreation program at the school, operated by the city, serves both children from Loma Verde, who live outside the city, and children from within the city.

It was decided last year that Loma Verde share half the costs and this year City Mgr. Charles A. Brown has proposed a percentage.

Commissioner Renata Barton said commissioners favored keeping the cost split at 50-50 after a report that other school playgrounds were accommodating children from outside the city and there wasn't any cost sharing at these playgrounds.

Last year children from Loma Verde who participated in the recreational programs at the playground paid a fee, with the Loma Verde Parent-Teacher Association guaranteeing the area's 50 per cent share.

Food Stolen

Hams and steaks valued at $1,420 and $20 in cash were taken sometime Sunday or Sunday night from Colombo Meat Co. of 127 Verdi Street, San Rafael, according to police reports.

$350 In Cash Reported Taken

A bag containing $350 in cash was taken from a drawer between 10 and 10:05 p.m. yesterday at Swensen's See Us Freeze at 196 Northgate Center, San Rafael, police reported.

Owner Alfred M. Silberman said a young man, 20 to 21 years old, about five feet six inches weighing 150 to 160 pounds came in just at 10 p.m. The young man asked for change for a dollar and then made two telephone calls. Silberman discovered that the money was gone immediately afterwards, according to police.

Employee Pay Hike Plan Told To Council

Corte Madera Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels last night asked the town council to give all town employees 7 per cent salary increases as well as additional benefits next year.

Bartels said that he felt a 5 per cent increase would meet the rise in the cost of living and that an additional 2 per cent was necessary to bring Corte Madera employees up to salary levels in comparable cities.

Bartels said in a written memorandum given councilmen that "though Corte Madera kept pace with comparable salary jurisdictions in the past, it is presently behind in nearly all cases . . ."

In addition to the raises, Bartels recommended that town employees be given a dental plan, that the town pay all the cost of hospital insurance and that police uniform allowances be raised.

He did not estimate the cost of his proposals.

Councilmen last night did not discuss Bartels' recommendations but set a hearing for 7 p.m. next Monday to tackle salaries and benefits.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

JUSTICE — Voted 3 to 1 to endorse a four-county Regional Criminal Justice Planning Board which will set up priorities for distribution of state and federal funds. Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff voted against endorsing the board and Councilman Edward W. Colthurst was absent.

TAMALPAIS PROJECT — Set 2 p.m. June 4 for opening bids on Tamalpais Drive reconstruction. Estimated cost of the project varies from $140,799 up to $193,392 because of alternative materials under consideration for lighting and bricked crosswalks and the size of trees to be used for landscaping.

FLOOD CONTROL — Postponed for the second time discussion on the Ross Valley Flood Control District. Councilman Edward W. Colthurst was to have reported on efforts to obtain Corps of Engineers financing but was out of town.

ABBREVIATED AGENDA — Voted to try an abbreviated agenda grouping routine items for the next three months in order to speed up council meetings.

CARNIVALS — Ronald E. Bartels, town manager, reported he met with owners of Corte Madera Center and they agreed to limit the number of carnivals to be held each year.

COMMISSION TERMS — Voted to start terms on the various commissions Jan. 1 to insure that at least three of five members at all times have had some experience. Terms to expire during the year will be extended until Jan. 1 when a drawing will be held to determine when terms will end. Various commission terms now end in different months.

PLANNED DEVELOPMENT — Referred to the planning commission a recommendation that the 25-acre requirement for grouping housing units on tracts meeting per-square-foot requirements be applied to smaller tracts — perhaps as small as one acre.

HISTORIAN — Appointed John R. Vance town historian. Vance, of 117 Walnut Avenue, is a retired army colonel, and a former town finance officer. He will compile a history of Corte Madera under the honorary appointment.

BIKE LIABILITY — Referred to the bicycle committee for study the town's liability in case of accidents on bike paths to be constructed.

PLANNING COURSE — Authorized Chief Building Inspector and Zoning Administrator William (NMN) McBride to attend a planning course at the University of California at Berkeley from July 1971 through March 1972 at an estimated expense of $300.

REZONING DENIAL — Deneid the request of Sol Langsam, owner of 801 Meadowsweet apartments to rezone the site of his 19-unit project to a new classification meeting conforming usage.

HEARINGS SET — Scheduled public hearings for 8:30 p.m. June 21 on requests by D. A. Beacock, Earle and Solvason Inc., realtors of 645 Tamalpais Drive to rezone property at 626 Tamalpais Drive from single family residential to professional and administrative office zoning; for a request by the same firm to add realtors and real estate offices as a permitted use in the professional and administrative zones.

COMPLAINT — Told contractor Paul Potts that he is responsible for keeping Alta Way clear for fire engines to get by. Ian K. McDougall, 39 Alta Way, reported Potts' subcontractor on housing construction is blocking the road with lumber and vehicles and Councilman Wagstaff confirmed violations.

ASSESSMENT DISTRICT — Reconvened as the Sanitary Board of Sanitary District No. 2 and directed the district engineer Arthur N. Morrison to record notice of acceptance of completion of the Lucky Road Assessment District.

SANITARY SEWER — Accepted a deed of easement for a sanitary sewer to be constructed in the Madera Park subdivision.

Humphrey's Solution To Red Tape

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Addressing the California Legislature today, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., proposed creation of regional domestic White House ambassadors to help clear up federal red tape.

Humphrey said such ambassadors "would not make policy. They would facilitate action. They would give state and local representatives one-stop service."

Such domestic ambassadors were needed, he said, to help nonfederal governments "break through the maze of federal bureaucratic red tape and relieve the crisis in government."

Humphrey said the ambassador proposal was one of four suggestions he has for bringing "government at all levels into closer harmony to work for common objectives."

His other proposals, he said, are "opening the secrecy-shrouded federal budget process," regular meetings between the president and state and local governments and regular meetings between state and local legislative leaders and congressional leaders.

Humphrey said the United States is "the only industrialized nation that has no established, ascertainable, understandable goals, priorities or planning."

He said the budget makers only allocate national resources for a year or two instead of planning farther into the future.

"They should be looking —in consultation with federal, state and local representatives —at America's needs, 10, 20, or more years ahead," he said.

In his prepared remarks he asked the joint session, "have any of the budget makers come to you to talk about Caifornia's needs in the future?

"Have they asked you about how best to meet the needs of 20 million Californians now or the millions more you will have in the decades ahead?"

Headquarters To Angel Island

The state Parks and Recreation Department's Golden Gate Area headquarters has moved from its offices at Samuel P. Taylor State Park in Lagunitas to new offices on Angel Island.

The move, according to a department spokesman, was brought about by a reorganization which has consolidated San Francisco and Marin state parks under one headquarters.

About 12 employees were affected by the move which took place last week.

Cal Editors' Fate On Park To Board

BERKELEY (UPI) —The publishing board of the University of California student newspaper will decide if four editors should be fired for writing an editorial advocating the tearing down of the "People's Park" fence.

Chancellor Roger Heyns sent a personal representative to a meeting of the Daily Californian's publishing board Monday to ask for the dismissals.

The editorial last week urged students to tear down the chain fence surrounding the small plot of university-owned land in observance of the second anniversary of the 1969 riot over the park.

On Saturday, demonstrators tore down the fence and clashed with police following a rally celebrating the anniversary. Forty-one persons were arrested and at least seven policemen injured, none seriously.

Heyns' representative, Richard Hafner, called for the firing of the three editors who voted for the editorial as well as the dismissal of editor-in-chief, John Emshwiller, who did not vote for it.

Berkeley's three new radical councilmen skirted the issue of the editorial and called for the resignation of city manager William Hanley as well as removal of the fence.

They said police have not tried to solve the problem but wait until the situation reaches the confrontation stage.

In calling for the dismissal of Emshwiller, Hafner said the editor failed "to exert the leadership expected of his position to insure against irresponsible use of the newspaper."

Preceding Saturday's demonstration the Daily Cal strongly urged non-violence. Late Saturday it issued a statement deploring the confrontation.

Last Tuesday's controversial front-page editorial had urged readers to "take the park again."

"Nothing so flimsy as a fence can stand up to the will of the community," it said. "By pulling down the fence we are resisting violence, not encouraging it."

Nixon Backs House Plan On Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon gave enthusiastic endorsement today to the welfare-Social Security bill approved by the House Ways and Means Committee as "the most significant piece of social legislation to be considered by the Congress in decades."

In a statement issued by the White House, Nixon expressed hope that the measure — carrying a 5 per cent increase in Social Security benefits — would quickly pass the House and Senate.

The committee reversed itself Monday by including the higher benefits, which would go to 26 million Americans effective June 1, 1972.

In his statement, the President praised the committee chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and Rep. John Byrnes, R-Wis., the ranking Republican in the group.

Nixon said it was his "profound hope" that Congress now would "carry forward the momentum which has been generated, thus seizing an historic opportunity and meeting an historic obligation."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford Michigan told newsmen after he and other GOP legislative leaders met with the President this morning that "I will strongly support" the measure, including the boost in Social Security payments.

Population Of California Near 20,237,000

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's population should reach an estimated 20,237,000 by July 1, the state Department of Finance reported Monday.

If the population reaches that figure, the state would have experienced a 1.1 per cent growth rate increase over 1970 of 229,000, the department said.

By July 1972 California should have 20,472,000 inhabitants, an increase of 235,000 or 1.2 per cent.

Director of Finance Verne Orr explained that the April 1, 1970, census of 20,098,863 included 145,729 persons living abroad who claim California as their home state.

The slowness of growth was attributed by the department to a drop in out-of-state persons coming to California. From a peak of 356,000 in fiscal 1963, net civilian migration dropped to 27,000 for fiscal 1970.

Kaiser Nurses Sign Contract

Nurses at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael were among 4,000 nurses in the Bay Area who have signed a new three-year contract providing $55 to $65 per month in salary increases.

According to spokesmen for the California Nurses Association and three hospital associations including Kaiser, the new contract provides salary hikes from $55 to $65 per month the first year and $65 per month additional the following two years.

About 50 other changes were made in the work agreements including such items as improved pension and health and welfare benefits, longer rest periods between shifts and a joint reclassification study of hospital employees.

Schools Cited For Racial Imbalance

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Citizens Advisory Committee on Integration says that 83 of San Francisco's 100 elementary schools are racially out of balance by State Board of Education standards.

The report was made Monday by chairman Donald Kuhn of the committee which is drawing an integration plan for the Board of Education.

Hearing Due On Pay For Employees

The Novato City Council will have a special meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Novato Community House to discuss pay raises requested by city employees.

The Novato City Employees Association is seeking pay hikes in four jobs including police officer and 5 per cent pay raise for all employees.

The association recommended that effective July 1, the salary for a police officer be hiked 5 per cent, police clerk, 5 per cent; junior civil engineer, 2.5 per cent; and building inspectors, 2.5 per cent to bring them in line with salaries paid in other Bay Area cities used for comparison.

If these boosts are approved, "The association will only ask for a five per cent across-the-board cost-of-living increase," reported John Perry, president of the association.

The association also is seeking a disability insurance program for all employees, 11 paid holidays, an increase of one, and survival benefits made available on a voluntary basis.

Chaplin's Daughter Marries In France

DHUISON, France (UPI)— Victoria Chaplin, 19 year old daughter of Charlie Chaplin, married Jean-Baptiste Thierree, 33, in a small ceremony in this Loire village Saturday, family friends said today.

Miss Chaplins parents were not at the wedding, they said.

$20,000 Chopped From Ross Budget

The Ross School District Board last night approved cutting approximately $20,000 from the proposed $569,672 budget, according to Supt. Thomas A. Anderson.

This was done by eliminating one teaching job and making many minor cuts, he said. The enrollment in the school has dropped from 517 students to 492, he said.

The board will resume budget discussion at its June 21 meeting, he said. The proposed budget is approximately $23,000 more than the current $526,641 budget. The board has not discussed the tax rate, Anderson said.

The Ross School District Board also:

COMMITTEE — Named Trustees H. Jack Wyman and Justin L. Williams, with A. Crawford Green Jr. as alternate, to a Parent-Teacher Association sponsored After School Citizens Recreation Program committee. it will go to the town council for financial support. Its organizer, Joan Smith, requested $7,500 for a full-time paid recreation director.

INSURANCE — Received notice that Blue Cross medical insurance rate will be increased from $18.83 this year to $22.41 for next fiscal year.

MATHEMATICS — Received notice that Joyce Ramacciotti, fourth grade teacher, and Mary Balough, third grade teacher, have been accpeted in the mathematics specialization program of the California State Department of Education and will attend special classes this summer in order to assist other teachers in the mathematics program next year.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignation from Judy H. Bloch, sixth grade teacher, and from Dorothy L. Hardy, fifth grade teacher who is retiring after 18 years with the district. One of these positions will not be filled, Anderson said.

GIFTS — Accepted $600 cash gift from an anonymous donor; books from Frank Fitzsimmons, James Schull, Dale Perry and John Bungen family, and a set of color prints from Rodney G. Roberts.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Increased the money for summer school from $650 to $800 for the PTA sponsored program that goes from June 21 through July 16.

CLOSED MEETING — Held a short closed meeting to discuss teacher negotiations with the superintendent.

Development Plan On Agenda

A report on an application for additional federal funds and more time to complete Marin City development will be presented to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency board at a special meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the agency office, 429 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

Executive Director Wallace K. Shepherd said the amendment to the agency's current federal loan and grant contract for development asks a two-year extension and $918,105. One-third of that sum must come from local courses, he said.

Shepherd said he wants to submit the application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development after the agency board approves it, probably later this week.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

The Cats Were Hep In Granddad's Day

Much of the world's troubles these days are laid to lack of communication — in spite of the fact that we have faster and wider communication through both words and pictures than at any previous time in history.

The "generation gap," according to many of the letters received in the Independent-Journal's "Rap Session" contest, is largely a communications gap.

Adults, some of the letters say, don't understand youth because of the way youth talks.

Well, did they ever?

RUMMAGING AROUND in an old scrap book, we ran onto an item dating back to the 1920s which shows that "everything changes but everything remains the same."

It seems that Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale University had decried the decline of conversational English. Americans, he said, were losing the art of conversing (they didn't say "communicating" in those days. — it was not an "in" word). "Slang and a few adjectives do all the work," complained Professor Phelps.

Some youthful humorist leaped upon the professor's remarks to produce this bit of doggerel, which we clipped in that long-ago day from the Red and Black, school newspaper of West High School in Salt Lake City. (Where the Red and Black got it, we have no idea).

"Bo, you said it! Ain't you right!
Conversation is a fright.
How can people be the berries
With their punk vocabularies?
Hardly anybody lives
That can throw the adjectives,
And to hear the slang they spout,
You could pretty near pass out.
Here's our language, full of words
For these lazy-minded birds,
Yet the way they go and trim it
Down to nothing is the limit!
Hand it to them, Dr. Phelps!
Every little razzing helps.
If your movement doesn't crash,
You will be the cat's mustache."

THAT IS PROBABLY about as obscure to the "now generation" as the "now generation's" lingo is to their parents — but to anybody who grew up spouting the slang of the '20s, it is perfectly intelligible. And a few of its expressions have survived down to date, becoming parts of the common language.

Maybe we should get with it and cool it about this "communication gap" hangup. Why get uptight about how these cats talk? They haven't really split. Substitute bobbed hair for long tresses on the girls, hair slicked back with Brilliantine for ditto on the boys, wide-bottomed corduroys for patched dungarees, and a hip pocket flask for a package of joints, and they'd be right at home in the Flapper Era, driving Professor Phelps up the wall just as their grandparents did.

Or, with a few other superficial changes, they'd be equally at home with the younger generation of a decade later — the one that produced the Veterans of Future Wars, pledged to bring world peace by refusing ever to bear arms.

Generation gap? Communication gap? Adam probably said to Eve, "I don't understand that boy Seth at all."

'Little Hoover' Report Gives Fairs A Pat On The Back

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, is chortling over a Little Hoover Commission report praising the operation of the 76 district and county fairs throughout California.

Belotti, always a proponent of bigger and better fairs, a state expense of course, was disturbed when recommendations were made by the administration to cut the number of district and county fairs down to 38, by consolidations.

Customarily, each country and district fair is allotted $65,000 a year out of state funds to put on its show. A later law specifies the award "if they need it." Of course, most of them need it.

STUDIES OF THESE district and county fairs have been going on for a good many years, with the idea of bringing the operation within reason and compatible with the interests of the state taxpayers at large.

These interests would mean that the county or district which offered the public a fair would pay the costs and not come back on the taxpayers of the entire state for an appropriation.

The legislature has been unable to enact laws which would apply pure reason to the handling of these finances, primarily because of a ";ou scratch my back, I'll scratch your back" attitude among legislators. Virtually all legislative districts have either district or county fairs, in some instances both, which they need to look out for financially or risk the enmity of the voters in their districts.

NO ONE SERIOUSLY challenges the right of a county or district to put on a fair for its people. The practice of the state providing holidays for the people has been handed down since the days of the Romans, hence the name "Roman Holiday" which is what most of the district and county fairs are composed of.

Fair officials, who make their livings off the shows, have attempted to classify the fairs as educational. During World War II, a lot of fairs, including the state fair, were skipped, and no one seemed to know the difference. But the Little Hoover Commission, perhaps hypocritically, says of them:

"All local fairs, large or small, provide vital and needed services to the people and communities they serve. Local fairs are part of the culture and are comprised of human values not readily measurable in financial terms."

With such statements which con the people into believing fairs are a great necessity, officials and associations have been able to put the bite on the state treasury for a good many years, and from all indications, will continue, no matter how great the need for essentials.

Terrified Judges Dissipate Pity

In reading of the process of getting ready for the murder trial of the judge killer, one gets the feeling of dismay to see how easy it is to make fools out of the court in San Rafael.

This is an out-and-out cold-blooded murder and to find terrified judges for trying it is ridiculous. Realizing this fact causes one to feel no sympathy for the judge who was murdered in the court house.

No Longer Need For Hitch-Hiking

In regard to Don Briggs's letter to the I-J, May 12, entitled "Place Tg Pick Up Hitch Hikers Needed," we do want to tell you that there is at the present time a local Marin County bus service operated by the Golden Gate Transit. Perhaps you have noticed the blue and gold buses, Marin Transit Systems, running this service . . .

At the present time, we do run buses from San Marin, Novak Square, Novato, Sunset Parkway, Hamilton AFB, Lucas Valley, Northgate, Santa Venetia, Civic Center, San Rafael, Marin General Hospital, and College of Marin. Our buses arrive at College of Marin in time for students to make early classes.

Perhaps you could stop in at Nave's or stores in Novato and pick up copies of our schedules. Then the next time you pick up students going to College of Marin, you could inform them of our service . . .

Experts Disagree On Welfare Costs

My recent letter suggesting that you publish an anlysis of the effect locally of Governor Reagan's proposed welfare "reform" program was prompted by a front-page news item in one of your issues last week.

In this item, as I recall, it was stated that the estimated 1971-72 county tax rate would rise by at least 66.5 cents per $100 becuase of various cost increases, of which approximately 16 or 17 cents for increased welfare costs due to proposed shifts in cost from state to local government. You quoted the county administrator and the county auditor as the sources for your news item.

If Mr. (Alan) Bruce and Mr. (Michael) Mitchell are correct, and the item did not indicate any question regarding this, it is small wonder that the "analysis" furnished by the governor's office showing a decrease in county costs for welfare has been "subject to challenge."

Because of these markedly disparate estimates, it would appear all the more worthwhile for the Independent-Journal to clarify this subject for its readers.

MARY M. LeHANE

San Anselmo.

(No two experts seem to agree on the effect of the complicated welfare reform program proposed by Gov. Ronald Reagan. Although the governor's figures show a saving to Marin County of $679,454 from the proposed changes, figures worked up by County Auditor-Conler Michael Mitchell show additional cost to the county of $1,176,000 from the same changes. It appears that no one can be sure just what the impact on the county would be until the program goes into effect. — Editor.)

School Authorities Overlook Children

I find the actions taken by the school authorities regarding the dismissal of Mr. James Toliver difficult to comprehend. I have attended Martin Luther King School two or three days a week as a volunteer aide during this past year as well as last year. I do not support the man solely on my observations alone, but also from what the children say and how they express their feelings concerning him.

It would seem to me that those in control of our schools are not honestly concerned about the most important segment of the district — the school children themselves!

'Earth Day' Program Outrages Parent

There was a time, not long ago, when parents could feel confident in sending their childrec to their schools, alone, to attend a function taking place there, and feel it was something harmless, beneficial or just fun.

On May 1 I attended "Earth Day" at Isabel Cook School. I had heard from a friend of mine what was presented in San Mateo County for their "Earth Day" functions, but I couldn't believe that San Anselmo schools or the City of San Anselmo would permit such presentations in our area, so I went to see for myself. . .

There were a few booths with "home made goodies" for sale; the Sierra Club had a very small area, with excellent material; but the remainder were booths of varied pamphlets, booklets and stickers.

At the "Planned Parenthood" booth, while I was there, one woman impressed me as being a barker at a circus, calling out all their services "so there won't be so many babies" — with children of all ages present to observe. She told of all the services available for both male and female, in detail, to prevent conception, and of their referral service for abortions, adding, "We also service teenagers, in fact we encourage them to come in, as it is against the law of the county to service them and we are the only agency in the county to service teenage girls—and we do it without parents knowledge or consent."

I very strongly oppose the public schools' using taxpayers' property and encouraging the school-age children to attend such activities. It is my understanding some children even brought home notices from the school.

I am of the opinion that if more parents were aware of what the schools are sponsoring for our children, they would also oppose such activities . . .

Contrasts In Middle East, But Both Sides Want Peace

TEL AVIV — The contrasts between the two sides in the Middle East conflict are very great. But there is one similarity that may swing the balance for peace.

The longing for an end to the bloodshed is as strong here as it is in Egypt. During the war of attrition the casualties reported from day to day, numerically small yet large in proportion to Israel's population, were the cause of nationwide anguish. These were the ablest young men, the pilots, the vanguard of the army.

With the truce in its tenth month, the drone of helicopters overhead no longer suggests the return of the wounded and the dead from the fighting zone along the Suez Canal. Although there has been no real change in the tangle of claims and counterclaims from both sides, the assumption is that the truce will continue into the indefinite future.

Events in an unstable and unpredictable part of the world may shatter this assumption tomorrow. Nevertheless, among the Americans acting as midwife to a peace settlement still a long way from birth, it has produced something like euphoria. Shuttling back and forth and listening to the contentions of each side has had, they assume, a curative effect.

MOVING FROM ONE side to the other, the contrasts are overpowering. Israel is a nation intensely organized from top to bottom, with a discipline owing much both to a sense of common nationhood and to controls applied by a government operation under wartime restraints.

The Israelis are a westernized people, with the governing-professional class of the older generation, at any rate, educated in Europe or the United States. This means a technology exceeding all but the most-advanced nations.

As propagandists, even granting their built-in advantage in the West and particularly in the United States, they are unrivaled. They know how to seize every opening. Their understanding of the media is all-embracing. A constant stream of visitors, many of them guests of the government, get the full treatment.

THE CONTRAST with Cairo could not be greater. On the other side of the Middle East divide, the inquiring reporter goes through an exercise in frustration, with intrigue an internal division blocking all channels. The very absence of information from one side, with an abundance from the other, produces an imbalance no matter how objective the visitor may want to be.

In a speech this week, President Anwar El-Sadat proclaimed that "our forces are fully prepared to fight the liberation battle." From what this reporter could learn from non-Egyptian sources in Cairo, the Sadat rhetoric falls considerably short of the facts.

The army has been greatly beefed up with an estimated seven divisions between Cairo and the canal. There have been improvements in training and morale, thanks in no small part to the numbers who have gone to Moscow for special courses. But it is not essentially different from the army that was routed in the six-day war in 1967.

The decisive factor is the Israeli Air Force. Despite all the Soviet Union has poured in in advanced fighter planes, the MIG-21s, and advanced missile defenses, the SAM 111s, the Israelis are rated incontestably superior in the air today. That could be the genuine deterrent to a new outbreak of the fighting.

THE ENIGMA, the unknown X in the equation, is the Russian presence. How pervasive is it throughout the Mediterranean? Certainly, as the United States has championed Israel, the Soviet Union greatly increased its influence in the Arab world. The 13,000 Russian technicians and military men in Egypt are only the tip of the iceberg. So much is hidden from even the most-penetrating intelligence.

In an atmosphere of intrigue and suspicion it takes on a legendary quality. The top secret MIG-23s, never before deployed outside Russia, are said to be flying over the west bank of the canal. At three times the speed of sound at an altitude of 70,000 to 80,000 feet, the 23s excel any U.S. plane. Their radar and missile-firing apparatus are positioned on planes at a lower altitude.

Are there actually such mystery planes, as reported, flying over the desert? Would the Soviet Union risk the remote chance that this weapon, with all its secrets, might fall into enemy hands?

In the gloomiest possible view, this interval corresponds with the Spanish Civil War in the late '30s when the Nazis were testing their new weapons. But the professional gloomsters are not always right.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

Russian 'Foot In Door' Gives Pause To Ceylon

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In the English-language Ceylon Daily Mirror a recent editorial gained significance because it was cleared by government censors. "A toehold through temporary military aid could tempt the donor to attempt a foothold, if not a permanent stranglehold," the editorial said without naming names.

It was of further significance that the same newspaper also published prominently an article from an Italian weekly discussing "the dangers of Russian penetration into the Indian Ocean."

CEYLON, LYING OFF the tip of India in the Indian Ocean, is outside the main stream of international events and is no more used to worldwide notice than she is to the insurrection among her educated youth currently threatening the Ceylonese government.

Presumably the leftwing government of Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike will survive the insurrection which is cast in a mold even farther to the left, but not without changes.

When the Bandaranaike government took over about a year ago it moved to the left with the naming of Communists to the cabinet and recognition of North Korea, North Vietnam, the Viet Cong of South Vietnam and Communist East Germany.

Since then the government has expelled North Korean diplomats, apparently in the belief North Korea is a source of support for the young insurgents.

AT THE OUTSET of the outbreak by the "Che Guevarists" in April, Mrs. Bandaranaike sent out a general appeal for arms to help put it down.

India, Pakistan and Britain were among the non-Communist nations to respond directly. The United States supplied helicopters indirectly but held up on other requested aid pending Pentagon "study" of surplus weapons.

Most generous of all was the Soviet Union.

It sent five Mig 17 fighters, and a Mig 15 trainer along with technicians and crews to train Ceylonese pilots.

Later shipments reportedly included armored cars and additional helicopters. Other aid came from East Germany and Yugoslavia.

The airplanes were stationed at Katanayake airfield, a former British installation 20 miles north of the capital of Colombo.

WHILE THE AID extended the Bandaranaike government has been international in character, it is the extent of the Soviet effort that now causes concern.

The withdrawal of Britain from east of Suez has left the Indian Ocean a military vacuum which the Russians have been moving to fill. The fear is that Ceylon might provide the next permanent base for the Soviets to add to footholds already established in Yemen at the Indian Ocean's western gateway and in Mauritius off Madagascar.

It is the route by which both Japan and the western nations obtain their mideast oil.

The fact of Ceylon's desirability as a Russian base, already noted by the Ceylon Daily Mirror, suggests the Ceylonese government may now be having second thoughts about its hasty recognition of such as North Korea and that it may now seek to move closer to the political center.

Three More Indicted In Big Pot Haul

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Three of 14 persons indicted by a federal grand jury here in connection with a record 5 1-2-ton marijuana seizure in San Francisco were arraigned Monday.

U. S. Magistrate Harry R. McCue set a June 10 omnibus hearing date for Richard M. King, 42, of San Diego; James Leo Olson, 36, of Captain Cook, Hawaii; and Robert C. Light, 30, of South Seattle, Wash.

Seven others were arraigned last week and authorities still were seeking four more persons in the case.

The indictments followed the arrests of King, Light, Olson and five others near San Francisco May 3. The marijuana was taken from the 58-foot converted shrimp boat Mercy Wiggins near the Golden Gate.

U. S. Attorney Harry D. Steward said the grand jury investigation is continuing and more indictments are expected. A hearing is scheduled Monday to hear a defense motion concerning use of electronic surveillance in the case.

Loma Verde Asked To Share Rec Costs

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night recommended that the Loma Verde share of the playground program costs at Loma Verde School remain at 50 per cent.

The recreation program at the school, operated by the city, serves both children from Loma Verde, who live outside the city, and children from within the city.

It was decided last year that Loma Verde share half the costs and this year City Mgr. Charles A. Brown has proposed a percentage.

Commissioner Renata Barton said commissioners favored keeping the cost split at 50-50 after a report that other school playgrounds were accommodating children from outside the city and there wasn't any cost sharing at these playgrounds.

Last year children from Loma Verde who participated in the recreational programs at the playground paid a fee, with the Loma Verde Parent-Teacher Association guaranteeing the area's 50 per cent share.

$350 In Cash Reported Taken

A bag containing $350 in cash was taken from a drawer between 10 and 10:05 p.m. yesterday at Swensen's See Us Freeze at 196 Northgate Center, San Rafael, police reported.

Owner Alfred M. Silberman said a young man, 20 to 21 years old, about five feet six inches weighing 150 to 160 pounds came in just at 10 p.m. The young man asked for change for a dollar and then made two telephone calls. Silberman discovered that the money was gone immediately afterwards, according to police.

Food Stolen

Hams and steaks valued at $1,420 and $20 in cash were taken sometime Sunday or Sunday night from Colombo Meat Co. of 127 Verdi Street, San Rafael, according to police reports.

Charges Dropped In Drug Agent's Case

Marijuana charges against a San Francisco undercover narcotics agent were dropped today in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Robert A. Smallman dismissed the charges at the request of Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman, who said an investigation indicated the agent, Michael G. Edmond, 23, of Sausalito, was innocent.

Edmond surrendered himself to Marin authorities May 4 on a warrant charging him with possessing and cultivating marijuana and possessing narcotics paraphernalia.

The warrant stemmed from a visit to his apartment by Sausalito police May 2 when neighbors complained of loud music.

Edmond was not at the apartment when police arrived, but his two roommates, Daniel J. Miller, 25, and Thomas W. Villas, 24, were arrested.

A preliminary hearing for Miller and Villas was to have been held this afternoon before Judge Smallman.

Miller and Villas were not at the apartment May 2 when Sausalito police arrived, but they returned while police were still there.

The pair, according to police, said they knew nothing of the drugs in the apartment, which they said belonged to Edmond. They told police they did not smoke marijuana and said Edmond had hosted a party at the apartment the night before.

Fifteen growing marijuana plants, several packages of marijuana seeds and stems, seven ounces of the weed, a flour sifter, eight pipes, a scale and a brass waterpipe were found in the apartment, police said.

Herman said today an investigation had determined that Edmond had moved into Villas's apartment at 35 Rodeo Avenue April 6, and that Miller moved in shortly after that.

On April 17, Herman said, Edmond — a rookie on the San Francisco police force — told a fellow narcotics officer that he suspected his roommates were using drugs.

The other officer told Edmond to inform his superiors, which Edmond did on April 19, Herman said.

He was advised by his superiors to move from the apartment, and on April 20 Edmond contacted a San Francisco apartment rental agency, according to Herman.

A cancelled check, dated April 23, for a $100 deposit on another apartment indicated Edmond's preparation to move from the Sausalito residence, Herman said.

Edmond attended an Army Reserve training session at the San Francisco Presidio all day May 1 and 2, Herman said, and returned to the Sausalito apartment only "briefly" the night of May 1 — when according to his roommates, he was hosting a party — before spending the night at a friend's residence in San Francisco.

Debris Collection Set In Belvedere

The first in a quarterly series of free debris collections in Belvedere will be held Thursday and Friday in cooperation with Mill Valley Refuse Service.

Up to three cubic yards of debris —equal to 21 garbage cans — will be collected from each regular customer of the refuse firm. Refuse should be placed at curbside before 5 a.m. on the regular garbage collection day.

All rubbish should be placed in disposable boxes as no containers will be returned. Prunings and trimmings too large for boxes must be tied with strong cord and must not be longer than five feet.

No rocks, cement, appliances or dirt will be taken.

Equipment Stolen

A microphone and amplifier valued at $225 were taken between 10:15 a.m. and 5 p.m. Friday from Dominic's Restaurant at 507 Francisco Boulevard, Manager Mario J. Brenta reported yesterday to San Rafael police.

Expressway Extension Plans Near

Plans for the extension of the Rohnert Park Expressway westward across Highway 101 are nearly complete, the Rohnert Park City Council heard last night.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said engineering plans should be complete soon so that the council can call for construction bids on June 7. He said the work would include the new roadway from the freeway west to the city limits as well as extended sewer and water lines.

Callinan said the Sonoma County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on plan lines for extending the road into unincorporated areas in the future. No cost estimate has been made on the project, he said.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

INDUSTRY — Set a meeting for June 3 at noon at Chesney's Carriage House with industry representatives and businessmen to discuss ways of improving the appearance of the industrial park.

BOWLING — Heard councilman Arthur R. Roberts suggest the city build a bowling alley-recreation center to be operated similar to the municipal golf course.

CATS — Introduced an ordinance that would ban cats from running loose and set fines for their owners.

FIRE MEETING — Received invitation to meet with officers of the Cotati Fire District at 7 p.m. Friday at Chesney's Carriage House.

Restaurant Owner Is Found Dead

Tony Andresen, 56, owner of the Washoe House restaurant-bar near Petaluma, died today from an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound.

The Sonoma County Coroner's office reported that Andresen went into the bathroom of his Sebastopol home at 1 a.m. and shot himself in the chest with a .38 caliber revolver. He had reportedly been despondent over ill health. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Community Hospital of Sonoma County.

Andresen, a Petaluma native, had operated the restaurant at Stony Point and Roblar roads for 21 years. He had spent most of his life in Petaluma and had moved to Sebastopol recently.

Andresen was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose of Petaluma and the Santa Rosa Elks Lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Jessie, and a brother, Henry (Hank) Andresen of Petaluma.

Funeral will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma, followed by burial in Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

Youth Hurt In Bike-Car Mishap

A 17-year-old Kentfield youth was taken to Marin General Hospital yesterday for multiple injuries suffered when his bicycle rammed the rear of a slow-moving sheriff's patrol car.

Brian E. McLeran, of 700 Goodhill Road, Kentfield, was reported in fair condition today at the hospital with a dislocated left shoulder, a cut scalp and a fractured left leg.

The California Highway Patrol said McLeran was eastbound on Goodhill Road near Woodland Road when his bicycle collided with a patrol car driven by Deputy Joseph G. Kelly, 43, who was checking an illegally parked car.

Next Hearing Set In Davis-Magee Case

The sixth judge to enter the Davis-Magee case has set 9 a.m. Monday for hearing pretrial montions in a Marin Hall of Justice courtroom.

Judge Richard E. Arnason of Contra Costa County, a 49-year-old judge with a wide experience in criminal cases, was named to the case last week by the state Judicial Council.

He follows Judge Alan A. Lindsay of Alameda County, who withdrew reluctantly from the case when San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee was allowed to use his one peremptory challenge of a judge.

An earlier judge had voluntarily withdrawn when challenged by Magee as being prejudiced, and the Marin judges have said they will not hear further matters in the case because of their association with Judge Harold J. Haley.

Magee and Angela Davis are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy stemming from the August shoot-out at the Civic Center in which Judge Haley and three other persons died.

Miss Davis has been waiting for weeks to have pre-trial motions heard, but Magee has continously stalled the case by refusing to cooperate with court-appointed attorneys and by attempting to get rid of every judge assigned.

Magee's latest attorney, Ernest L. Graves of Los Angeles, has now filed documents saying that he is joining in Miss Davis's motions, including ones for dismissal and challenge of the grand jury which indicted the pair.

He also said that he plans to file additional motions on his own, although he acknowledged that he is acting without Magee's approval.

He said he agreed with Magee's demand for an additional hearing to determine if the convict is capable of acting as his own attorney as he wants to do.

Miss Davis, whose lawyers have also asked delays in the case several times and who unsuccessfully attempted to challenge Judge Lindsay as prejudiced, are also waiting to have a motion heard asking that she be released on bail.

She has been held in Marin County Jail since she was returned from New York in December.

The China Expert: Detente With Peking Good And Bad

WASHINGTON — Now that the euphoria is over about our Ping-Pong match with Red China, people are starting to think about the significance of a real detente between the United States and the People's Republic of China.

I hadn't given it much thought until I talked to my friend Cutaway at the State Department.

"Well," he said, "it looks like we've made a breakthrough with the People's Republic of China."

"That's good," I said.

"NO, THAT'S BAD. The Soviets are very mad at us because we're playing table tennis with Chou En-lai."

"That's bad," I said.

"It could be good," Cutaway said. "If the Soviets are afraid of us making a deal with China they might be more accommodating about the SALT talks on nuclear weapons."

"That's good," I said.

"It could be bad. If the Soviets decide that an America-China pact was a threat to their security, they might insist they need larger nuclear weapons to protect them from the Chinese."

"That's bad."

"IT COULD BE good. We might risk the Soviet wrath in order to open up trade with a country of 800 million people. The Chinese need everything, and there is no reason why we shouldn't consider them our largest potential customer. It's a very significant market."

"That would be good," I agreed.

Cutaway shook his head. "Bad. In order to sell them stuff, we'd have to buy things from them."

"Is that bad?"

"In a sense it is because the Chinese might undersell the Japanese to get our business. If we bought things cheaper from the Chinese than we did from the Japanese, we could cause an economic disaster in Japan."

"We'd have to put Pearl Harbor on full alert again," I said.

"IT WOULD BE good, though, if the Japanese realized that they could no longer flood the American market. Then we'd manage to have better trade relations with them."

"That's good."

"Of course, it wouldn't help our employment situation here, because if the Chinese undersold the Japanese — and we can't compete with the Japanese now — there would be less jobs than ever in this country."

"That's bad," I said.

"It's good in this sense: Once we build up a strong trade relationship with China, we could encourage Chinese tourism to this country. You get 50 million Chinese tourists here at one time, and all the airlines and hotels would show a profit."

"That would be good."

"THE ONLY THING bad about it is that there aren't enough Chinese restaurants to handle them all."

"I was afraid of that," I said. "What else do you see coming out of the detente?"

"The reason Secretary Laird said we had to build an ABM system was to protect us from the Red Chinese. If we eventually become their friends, we won't need the system."

"That's good," I said.

"But it will already have been built by then and cost the country $50 billion."

"That's bad."

"DON'T BE TOO sure. If we take up with the Red Chinese, we might need the ABM system to protect us from Chiang Kai-shek's missiles."

"Which we sold him," I pointed out.

Cutaway sighed. "Ping-Pong sure screwed up this country's diplomatic game plan."

Petaluma's Own 'Major Sport' Fits A City That's Different

Petaluma usually is considered to be a quiet, average American city, but once a year it comes to life with a unique event all of its own — the world's wristwrestling championship.

Men have been wristwrestling in local bars for years, but it first became an organized sports event 10 years ago and gained national prominence a few years later when "Snoopy" of "Peanuts" fame decided to enter.

Though neither Snoopy nor his creator, Charles Schulz, may actually attend the rousing event, they're there in spirit. The crowd of more than 1,000 is always in a festive mood and while some may find the prospect of two muscle-bound men grunting at each other dull, they still attend each year because of pride in their hometown.

Colorful entrants from around the world add spice to the event, as do area television coverage and the ABC "Wide World of Sports" crew in their powder blue berets and flowing scarves.

WRISTWRESTLING — As shown in last week end's event — is an interesting spectator sport because muscle power is not always an indication of the winning contestant. While most sport healthy biceps, they'll be the first to tell you that grip, thumb placement, and courage have a lot to do with it. Timing and getting the jump on your opponent is also important, but successful wrestlers also seem able to stare their opponent dead in the eye, hoping perhaps to sap his strength that way.

Contestants — with wide ranges of "methods" — are from all types of backgrounds. Local ranch boys are normally in abundance, but attorneys, teachers, salesmen, and even football players are represented.

WRISTWRESTLING may be as unique as Petaluma itself. While it may be classed as a suburb, Petaluma has retained its own character and perhaps is more like "middle America" than other suburbs.

Anti-war demonstrators usually find little opposition at most high schools, but in Petaluma the other side is equally vocal. The city couldn't be considered hawkish on the war, but it certainly is one of the few in the country to have a war memorial to the Vietnam dead.

People may joke about Petaluma being the egg basket of the world or that sleepy little community (26,000) out in the sticks even beyond Novato, but the city enjoys its character and celebrates it annually with the wristwrestling festivities.

Cash Is Taken

Cash totaling $250 or $300 was taken from a Yellow Cab Co. office near the Marin heliport, north of Sausalito, last Tuesday, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Petaluma City Manager Denies Disinterest In Police Problems

Petaluma City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer today denied that he is not interested in promoting professionalism in the city's police department.

The Petaluma Police Officers Association had complained Friday that salary negotiations have been going badly and said city management is not interested in bettering the department by increasing wages.

Meyer said he was "disappointed" that the association had made the charge and said he couldn't agree that raising salaries would bring more professionalism to the department.

The officers complained that the Petaluma force is a training ground for other departments and that 13 of 18 patrolmen have been on the force less than a year. The association said that half the patrol force had quit since last year's bitter salary negotiations which nearly led to a strike.

Meyer said that, according to his figures, only three officers have resigned from the department since last August.

Meyer also rejected the association's claim that starting salaries in neighboring departments are higher than the top Petaluma wage. Patrolmen currently receive $702 to $852 per month while starting salaries in neighboring departments are San Rafael, $812; Novato, $794; Santa Rosa, $742; and Napa, $704, Meyer said.

Meyer said he had not intended to slight the association by not attending Two of the negotiations sessions, saying other city officers had attended to gather information for him. "I can't attend every meeting," Meyer said. "It takes a tremendous amount of time."

He said six other employee groups must also be considered and police salaries must be kept in line with budgetary limitations. "It depends on what the people of Petaluma can afford," Meyer said.

The association has requested a 15 per cent pay increase.

Innocent Plea In Theft Case

Aubrey Kenneth Rattan, 18, of 138 Ash Way, San Rafael, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglary.

A preliminary hearing was set for tomorrow.

Rattan was arrested May 6 on suspicion of stealing a $1,500 video tape outfit from a room at the Tiburon Lodge March 9.

The arrest of Rattan and a companion who was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall ended a two-month investigation by the Tiburon sheriff's substation.

Center To Fete Malcolm X Day

The Marin City Learning Center will observe Malcolm X's birthday tomorrow from 10 a.m. to noon in the Manzanita Center.

The program will include films of the life of the black leader, who was assassinated Feb. 21, 1965 in New York City, and speakers from the community who will discuss Malcolm X's contributions to black people in America.

The Marin City Learning Center is a Saturday school for elementary school students, sponsored by a group of Marin City parents.

Innocent Plea By Marinite To Court Brawl

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A plea of innocent has been entered in San Francisco Superior Court for a Mill Valley man arrested last month on suspicion of felony assault during a free-for-all at a pretrial hearing for the Soledad Brothers.

John Turner, 25, of 55 South Knoll Avenue, stood mute in court Friday refusing to answer the court's questions.

A jury trial for Turner and two co-defendants has been set for June 28.

The three were arrested April 6 after a courtroom brawl in the Hall of Justice in which they battled bailiffs.

The Soledad Brothers, George Jackson, Fleeta Drumgo and John Cluchette, are scheduled to stand trial in August in connection with the murder of a guard at Soledad Prison last January.

Fate Of Wooded Area On Agenda

A proposal to preserve a two-third acre wooded area of Cazneau Avenue as an open space park will be discussed by the Sausalito City Council at 8 p.m. today in city hall, City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr reported.

A group of residents, headed by Dr. Stephen L. Cavis, 55 Cazneau Avenue, is seeking city assistance in purchasing the area, known as "The Glen," which is slated for development.

The council will also hear a report on the Sausalito police department's handcuffing procedures in making arrests, the city manager said.

Pay For Nonteachers Is Due Discussion

Shoreline Unified School District trustees will consider 1971-72 salary schedule for nonteaching employees at 8 p.m. Thursday at the district office in Tomales.

Trustees last week granted teachers and administrators a 4 per cent pay raise. There hasn't been a proposal yet from nonteaching personnel, according to Supt. Charles A. McCully.

A Security Pacific Bank combined Check and Charge card isn't very big, but it could be as handy as having a little bank in your pocket.

It gives you the convenience of Master Charge, guarantees your personal checks up to 100 dollars each and has a Ready ReservAccount feature that lets you write checks for more than you have in your account.

It's the kind of card that's made for vacations.

Say you'd like to fly to Puerto Rico but your checkbook tells you Pittsburgh's the limit. Ready ReservAccount can cover the difference.

A difference you can pay back in easy instalments.

Then there's the room at the hotel, the rental car you'll need to poke around town and at least two or three wild shirts to bring back to Uncle Willard.

You shouldn't carry cash around for things like that. Not when you can write a personal check.

How do you get a card that will let you do all those things? Approved credit is all you need. Better come in and see us about it.

The Cats Were Hep In Granddad's Day

Much of the world's troubles these days are laid to lack of communication — in spite of the fact that we have faster and wider communication through both words and pictures than at any previous time in history.

The "generation gap," according to many of the letters received in the Independent-Journal's "Rap Session" contest, is largely a communications gap.

Adults, some of the letters say, don't understand youth because of the way youth talks.

Well, did they ever?

RUMMAGING AROUND in an old scrap book, we ran onto an item dating back to the 1920s which shows that "everything changes but everything remains the same."

It seems that Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale University had decried the decline of conversational English. Americans, he said, were losing the art of conversing (they didn't say "communicating" in those days. — it was not an ''in'' word). "Slang and a few adjectives do all the work," complained Professor Phelps.

Some youthful humorist leaped upon the professor's remarks to produce this bit of doggerel, which we clipped in that long-ago day from the Red and Black, school newspaper of West High School in Salt Lake City. (Where the Red and Black got it, we have no idea).

"Bo, you said it! Ain't you right!
Conversation is a fright.
How can people be the berries
With their punk vocabularies?
Hardly anybody lives
That can throw the adjectives,
And to hear the slang they spout,
You could pretty near pass out.
Here's our language, full of words
For these lazy-minded birds,
Yet the way they go and trim it
Down to nothing is the limit!
Hand it to them, Dr. Phelps!
Every little razzing helps.
If your movement doesn't crash,
You will be the cat's mustache."

THAT IS PROBABLY about as obscure to the "now generation'' as the "now generation's" lingo is to their parents — but to anybody who grew up spouting the slang of the '20s, it is perfectly intelligible. And a few of its expressions have survived down to date, becoming parts of the common language.

Maybe we should get with it and cool it about this "communication gap" hangup. Why get uptight about how these cats talk? They haven't really split. Substitute bobbed hair for long tresses on the girls, hair slicked back with Brilliantine for ditto on the boys, wide-bottomed corduroys for patched dungarees, and a hip pocket flask for a package of joints, and they'd be right at home in the Flapper Era, driving Professor Phelps up the wall just as their grandparents did.

Or, with a few other superficial changes, they'd be equally at home with the younger generation of a decade later — the one that produced the Veterans of Future Wars, pledged to bring world peace by refusing ever to bear arms.

Generation gap? Communication gap? Adam probably said to Eve, "I don't understand that boy Seth at all."

'Little Hoover' Report Gives Fairs A Pat On The Back

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, is chortling over a Little Hoover Commission report praising the operation of the 76 district and county fairs throughout California.

Belotti, always a proponent of bigger and better fairs, a state expense of course, was disturbed when recommendations were made by the administration to cut the number of district and county fairs down to 38, by consolidations.

Customarily, each country and district fair is allotted $65,000 a year out of state funds to put on its show. A later law specifies the award "if they need it." Of course, most of them need it.

STUDIES OF THESE district and county fairs have been going on for a good many years, with the idea of bringing the operation within reason and compatible with the interests of the state taxpayers at large.

These interests would mean that the county or district which offered the public a fair would pay the costs and not come back on the taxpayers of the entire state for an appropriation.

The legislature has been unable to enact laws which would apply pure reason, to the handling of these finances, primarily because of a ";ou scratch my back, I'll scratch your back" attitude among legislators. Virtually all legislative districts have either district or county fairs, in some instances both, which they need, to look out for financially or risk the enmity of the voters in their districts.

NO ONE SERIOUSLY challenges the right of a county or district to put on a fair for its people. The practice of the state providing holidays for the people has been handed down since the days of the Romans, hence the name "Roman Holiday" which is what most of the district and county fairs are composed of.

Fair officials, who make their livings off the shows, have attempted to classify the fairs as educational. During World War II, a lot of fairs, including the state fair, were skipped, and no one seemed to know the difference. But the Little Hoover Commission, perhaps hypocritically, says of them:

"All local fairs, large or small, provide vital and needed services to the people and communities they serve. Local fairs are part of the culture and are comprised of human values not readily measurable in financial terms."

With such statements which con the people into believing fairs are a great necessity, officials and associations have been able to put the bite on the state treasury for a good many years, and from all indications, will continue, no matter how great the need for essentials.

Terrified Judges Dissipate Pity

In reading of the process of getting ready for the murder trial of the judge killer, one gets the feeling of dismay to see how easy it is to make fools out of the court in San Rafael.

This is an out-and-out cold-blooded murder and to find terrified judges for trying it is ridiculous. Realizing this fact causes one to feel no sympathy for the judge who was murdered in the court house.

No Longer Need For Hitch-Hiking

In regard to Don Briggs's letter to the I-J, May 12, entitled "Place Tg Pick Up Hitch Hikers Needed," we do want to tell you that there is at the present time a local Marin County bus service operated by the Golden Gate Transit. Perhaps you have noticed the blue and gold buses, Marin Transit Systems, running this service . . .

At the present time, we do run buses from San Marin, Novak Square, Novato, Sunset Parkway, Hamilton AFB, Lucas Valley, Northgate, Santa Venetia, Civic Center, San Rafael, Marin General Hospital, and College of Marin. Our buses arrive at College of Marin in time for students to make early classes.

Perhaps you could stop in at Nave's or stores in Novato and pick up copies of our schedules. Then the next time you pick up students going to College of Marin, you could inform them of our service . . .

Experts Disagree On Welfare Costs

My recent letter suggesting that you publish an anlysis of the effect locally of Governor Reagan's proposed welfare "reform" program was prompted by a front-page news item in one of your issues last week.

In this item, as I recall, it was stated that the estimated 1971-72 county tax rate would rise by at least 66.5 cents per $100 becuase of various cost increases, of which approximately 16 or 17 cents for increased welfare costs due to proposed shifts in cost from state to local government. You quoted the county administrator and the county auditor as the sources for your news item.

If Mr. (Alan) Bruce and Mr. (Michael) Mitchell are correct, and the item did not indicate any question regarding this, it is small wonder that the "analysis" furnished by the governor's office showing a decrease in county costs for welfare has been "subject to challenge."

Because of these markedly disparate estimates, it would appear all the more worthwhile for the Independent-Journal to clarify this subject for its readers.

MARY M. LeHANE

San Anselmo.

(No two experts seem to agree on the effect of the complicated welfare reform program proposed by Gov. Ronald Reagan. Although the governor's figures show a saving to Marin County of $679,454 from the proposed changes, figures worked up by County Auditor-Conler Michael Mitchell show additional cost to the county of $1,176,000 from the same changes. It appears that no one can be sure just what the impact on the county would be until the program goes into effect. — Editor.)

School Authorities Overlook Children

I find the actions taken by the school authorities regarding the dismissal of Mr. James Toliver difficult to comprehend. I have attended Martin Luther King School two or three days a week as a volunteer aIde during this past year as well as last year. I do not support the man solely on my observations alone, but also from what the children say and how they express their feelings concerning him.

It would seem to me that those in control of our schools are not honestly concerned about the most important segment of the district — the school children themselves!

'Earth Day' Program Outrages Parent

There was a time, not long ago, when parents could feel confident in sending their childrec to their schools, alone, to attend a function taking place there, and feel it was something harmless, beneficial or just fun.

On May 1 I attended "Earth Day" at Isabel Cook School. I had heard from a friend of mine what was presented in San Mateo County for their "Earth Day" functions, but I couldn't believe that San Anselmo schools or the City of San Anselmo would permit such presentations in our area, so I went to see for myself. . .

There were a few booths with "home made goodies" for sale; the Sierra Club had a very small area, with excellent material; but the remainder were booths of varied pamphlets, booklets and stickers.

At the "Planned Parenthood" booth, while I was there, one woman impressed me as being a barker at a circus, calling out all their services "so there won't be so many babies" — with children of all ages present to observe. She told of all the services available for both male and female, in detail, to prevent conception, and of their referral service for abortions, adding, "We also service teenagers, in fact we encourage them to come in, as it is against the law of the county to service them and we are the only agency in the county to service teenage girls—and we do it without parents knowledge or consent."

I very strongly oppose the public schools' using taxpayers' property and encouraging the school-age children to attend such activities. It is my understanding some children even brought home notices from the school.

I am of the opinion that if more parents were aware of what the schools are sponsoring for our children, they would also oppose such activities . . .

Contrasts In Middle East, But Both Sides Want Peace

TEL AVIV — The contrasts between the two sides in the Middle East conflict are very great. But there is one similarity that may swing the balance for peace.

The longing for an end to the bloodshed is as strong here as it is in Egypt. During the war of attrition the casualties reported from day to day, numerically small yet large in proportion to Israel's population, were the cause of nationwide anguish. These were the ablest young men, the pilots, the vanguard of the army.

With the truce in its tenth month, the drone of helicopters overhead no longer suggests the return of the wounded and the dead from the fighting zone along the Suez Canal. Although there has been no real change in the tangle of claims and counterclaims from both sides, the assumption is that the truce will continue into the indefinite future.

Events in an unstable and unpredictable part of the world may shatter this assumption tomorrow. Nevertheless, among the Americans acting as midwife to a peace settlement still a long way from birth, it has produced something like euphoria. Shuttling back and forth and listening to the contentions of each side has had, they assume, a curative effect.

MOVING FROM ONE side to the other, the contrasts are overpowering. Israel is a nation intensely organized from top to bottom, with a discipline owing much both to a sense of common nationhood and to controls applied by a government operation under wartime restraints.

The Israelis are a westernized people, with the governing-professional class of the older generation, at any rate, educated in Europe or the United States. This means a technology exceeding all but the most-advanced nations.

As propagandists, even granting their built-in advantage in the West and particularly in the United States, they are unrivaled. They know how to seize every opening. Their understanding of the media is all-embracing. A constant stream of visitors, many of them guests of the government, get the full treatment.

THE CONTRAST with Cairo could not be greater. On the other side of the Middle East divide, the inquiring reporter goes through an exercise in frustration, with intrigue an internal division blocking all channels. The very absence of information from one side, with an abundance from the other, produces an imbalance no matter how objective the visitor may want to be.

In a speech this week, President Anwar El-Sadat proclaimed that "our forces are fully prepared to fight the liberation battle." From what this reporter could learn from non-Egyptian sources in Cairo, the Sadat rhetoric falls considerably short of the facts.

The army has been greatly beefed up with an estimated seven divisions between Cairo and the canal. There have been improvements in training and morale, thanks in no small part to the numbers who have gone to Moscow for special courses. But it is not essentially different from the army that was routed in the six-day war in 1967.

The decisive factor is the Israeli Air Force. Despite all the Soviet Union has poured in in advanced fighter planes, the MIG-21s, and advanced missile defenses, the SAM 111s, the Israelis are rated incontestably superior in the air today. That could be the genuine deterrent to a new outbreak of the fighting.

THE ENIGMA, the unknown X in the equation, is the Russian presence. How pervasive is it throughout the Mediterranean? Certainly, as the United States has championed Israel, the Soviet Union greatly increased its influence in the Arab world. The 13,000 Russian technicians and military men in Egypt are only the tip of the iceberg. So much is hidden from even the most-penetrating intelligence.

In an atmosphere of intrigue and suspicion it takes on a legendary quality. The top secret MIG-23s, never before deployed outside Russia, are said to be flying over the west bank of the canal. At three times the speed of sound at an altitude of 70,000 to 80,000 feet, the 23s excel any U.S. plane. Their radar and missile-firing apparatus are positioned on planes at a lower altitude.

Are there actually such mystery planes, as reported, flying over the desert? Would the Soviet Union risk the remote chance that this weapon, with all its secrets, might fall into enemy hands?

In the gloomiest possible view, this interval corresponds with the Spanish Civil War in the late '30s when the Nazis were testing their new weapons. But the professional gloomsters are not always right.

Russian 'Foot In Door' Gives Pause To Ceylon

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In the English-language Ceylon Daily Mirror a recent editorial gained significance because it was cleared by government censors. "A toehold through temporary military aid could tempt the donor to attempt a foothold, if not a permanent stranglehold," the editorial said without naming names.

It was of further significance that the same newspaper also published prominently an article from an Italian weekly discussing "the dangers of Russian penetration into the Indian Ocean."

CEYLON, LYING OFF the tip of India in the Indian Ocean, is outside the main stream of international events and is no more used to worldwide notice than she is to the insurrection among her educated youth currently threatening the Ceylonese government.

Presumably the leftwing government of Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike will survive the insurrection which is cast in a mold even farther to the left, but not without changes.

When the Bandaranaike government took over about a year ago it moved to the left with the naming of Communists to the cabinet and recognition of North Korea, North Vietnam, the Viet Cong of South Vietnam and Communist East Germany.

Since then the government has expelled North Korean diplomats, apparently in the belief North Korea is a source of support for the young insurgents.

AT THE OUTSET of the outbreak by the "Che Guevarists" in April, Mrs. Bandaranaike sent out a general appeal for arms to help put it down.

India, Pakistan and Britain were among the non-Communist nations to respond directly. The United States supplied helicopters indirectly but held up on other requested aid pending Pentagon "study" of surplus weapons.

Most generous of all was the Soviet Union.

It sent five Mig 17 fighters, and a Mig 15 trainer along with technicians and crews to train Ceylonese pilots.

Later shipments reportedly included armored cars and additional helicopters. Other aid came from East Germany and Yugoslavia.

The airplanes were stationed at Katanayake airfield, a former British installation 20 miles north of the capital of Colombo.

WHILE THE AID extended the Bandaranaike government has been international in character, it is the extent of the Soviet effort that now causes concern.

The withdrawal of Britain from east of Suez has left the Indian Ocean a military vacuum which the Russians have been moving to fill. The fear is that Ceylon might provide the next permanent base for the Soviets to add to footholds already established in Yemen at the Indian Ocean's western gateway and in Mauritius off Madagascar.

It is the route by which both Japan and the western nations obtain their mideast oil.

The fact of Ceylon's desirability as a Russian base, already noted by the Ceylon Daily Mirror, suggests the Ceylonese government may now be having second thoughts about its hasty recognition of such as North Korea and that it may now seek to move closer to the political center.

3 Sewer Projects Get Funds

The federal government's Environmental Protection Agency has awarded $3.2 million to three sewer projects in Marin County.

The amount will be divided among the Novato Sanitary District, the Stinson Beach County Water District and the Bolinas Public Utility District.

Novato will receive $1.5 million towards its $3.5 million project to improve treatment plants in Novato and Ignacio and extension of an outfall line in San Pablo Bay.

Voters approved $3.5 million in bonds for the project last December and were promised in campaign literature the district would only sell the amount of bonds needed after receiving state and federal grants.

The Bolinas district also received a grant totaling about $1.5 million toward construction of the district's proposed $5.3 million waste disposal system.

The Stinson Beach district was awarded a $200,000 grant for construction of sewer facilities estimated to cost about $238,000.

Arrested Man Ordered To Court

A 30-year-old San Rafael man, arrested Saturday by Novato police on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs and resisting arrest, was ordered to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Charles Willis Patterson of 1517 A Fifth Avenue, was released later on $625 bail.

Patterson was stopped by police at 1:15 a.m. in front of 10 Joan Avenue because of a faulty headlight. He gave his name at first as Robert G. Benz to whom the car was registered, according to police, who arrested him for giving false information.

Police reported subsequently finding a plastic bag with pills and capsules in his coat pocket.

$1,000 Commercial Saw Reported Taken

A commercial saw, valued at $1,000, was taken from a construction site at 199 Evergreen Avenue, Homestead Valley, May 9, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

The saw was owned by the Edward Burger Construction Co. of San Rafael, deputies said.

Auto Is Looted

An Airplane ticket, travelers checks and cash, valued at a total of $1,200, were taken from a car owned by Nancy J. Bovee of San Francisco while it was parked at Muir Beach May 8, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Hamilton Base Use May Match Travis

By BENJAMIN SHORE
(I-J correspondent)

WASHINGTON — When Marin County officials confer with Federal officials here next week on civilian commercial flight use of Hamilton Air Force Base, they will find the way smoothed by just-completed negotiations for similar use of Travis Air Force Base in Fairfield.

Golden Pacific Airlines has been given permission to operate six scheduled flights a day in and out of the giant base. Solano County has agreed to a 20-year lease of 5.5 acres on the base for a small terminal to serve such commuter flights.

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, has set up appointments on May 27 and 28 for the Marin County delegation to meet with Air Force and Federal Aviation Administration officials.

"The deputy assistant secretary for installations believes such joint use at Hamilton can be worked out," Calusen said in an interview.

He was referring to Lewis E. Turner, who negotiated the Travis arrangement with Solano County and Golden Pacific. The only other joint use is at Eglund Air Force Base in Florida.

Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Fourth District, who played a major role in securing Air Force permission at Travis, says the Air Force is not eager to see widespread civilian use of its active facilities, despite a 1969 Defense Department policy allowing it.

"But I think if Golden Pacific's experience at Travis is good — accident-free and no inconvenience to the Air Force — then chances would be good for a similar arrangement at Hamilton," Leggett said.

Clausen said any civilian use would have to be "compatible with Hamilton's operations and security."

Solano County has agreed to pay the Air Force $1,700 a year to lease the 5.5 acres, which are in two parcels, for a small passenger terminal and light maintenance facilities. Financing of the construction would be through a joint agreement between the county and Golden Pacific.

The Air Force has stipulated that general aviation (privately owned and operated aircraft) and nonscheduled commercial flights would not be allowed under the agreement with Solano County.

Furthermore, military aircraft always would have priority over Golden Pacific, and the Air Force could suspend civilian flights in a national emergency.

In a May 7 memo to his staff, Turner recommended changes in Air Force procedure as a result of months of bureaucratic ping-pong in which Solano County's application was spunted back and forth between Air Force officials in California and Washington.

"In future cases involivng joint use," Turner's memo reads in part, "the joint use agreements should be prepared at base level and submitted to this office for approval.

"Any lease of land and/or facilities supporting such joint use agreement should also be prepared at such level and submitted with the joint use agreement."

Droped Lines In Honor Report

A line dropped from yesterday's Independent-Journal report on the honoring of 12 top Marin high school seniors resulted in a mistaken listing of two students.

Nancy Thelen of San Rafael was incorrectly shown as attending San Marin High School in Novato, whereas she actually attends San Rafael High School.

The name of San Marin High School senior Philip W. Adams was omitted.

Details of the school careers of both students were correctly reported.

Arraignment In Dollars Theft

Ross Sheffield Murphy, 20, of Ross, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of burglary. He is to plead Friday.

Murphy was arrested last Tuesday after he attempted to sell 90 silver dollars to a local merchant, San Rafael police said.

Murphy's fingerprints matched prints taken at the home of Wilbur F. Mathewson of 47 Bret Harte Lane, where a coin collection was taken May 9, police said.

The China Expert: Detente With Peking Good And Bad

WASHINGTON — Now that the euphoria is over about our Ping-Pong match with Red China, people are starting to think about the significance of a real detente between the United States and the People's Republic of China.

I hadn't given it much thought until I talked to my friend Cutaway at the State Department.

"Well," he said, "it looks like we've made a breakthrough with the People's Republic of China."

"That's good," I said.

"NO, THAT'S BAD. The Soviets are very mad at us because we're playing table tennis with Chou En-lai."

"That's bad," I said.

"It could be good," Cutaway said. "If the Soviets are afraid of us making a deal with China they might be more accommodating about the SALT talks on nuclear weapons."

"That's good," I said.

"It could be bad. If the Soviets decide that an America-China pact was a threat to their security, they might insist they need larger nuclear weapons to protect them from the Chinese."

"That's bad."

"IT COULD BE good. We might risk the Soviet wrath in order to open up trade with a country of 800 million people. The Chinese need everything, and there is no reason why we shouldn't consider them our largest potential customer. It's a very significant market."

"That would be good," I agreed.

Cutaway shook his head. "Bad. In order to sell them stuff, we'd have to buy things from them."

"Is that bad?"

"In a sense it is because the Chinese might undersell the Japanese to get our business. If we bought things cheaper from the Chinese than we did from the Japanese, we could cause an economic disaster in Japan."

"We'd have to put Pearl Harbor on full alert again," I said.

"IT WOULD BE good, though, if the Japanese realized that they could no longer flood the American market. Then we'd manage to have better trade relations with them."

"That's good."

"Of course, it wouldn't help our employment situation here, because if the Chinese undersold the Japanese — and we can't compete with the Japanese now — there would be less jobs than ever in this country."

"That's bad," I said.

"It's good in this sense: Once we build up a strong trade relationship with China, we could encourage Chinese tourism to this country. You get 50 million Chinese tourists here at one time, and all the airlines and hotels would show a profit."

"That would be good."

"THE ONLY THING bad about it is that there aren't enough Chinese restaurants to handle them all."

"I was afraid of that," I said. "What else do you see coming out of the detente?"

"The reason Secretary Laird said we had to build an ABM system was to protect us from the Red Chinese. If we eventually become their friends, we won't need the system."

"That's good," I said.

"But it will already have been built by then and cost the country $50 billion."

"That's bad."

"DON'T BE TOO sure. If we take up with the Red Chinese, we might need the ABM system to protect us from Chiang Kai-shek's missiles."

"Which we sold him," I pointed out.

Cutaway sighed. "Ping-Pong sure screwed up this country's diplomatic game plan."

Innocent Plea By Marinite To Court Brawl

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A plea of innocent has been entered in San Francisco Superior Court for a Mill Valley man arrested last month on suspicion of felony assault during a free-for-all at a pretrial hearing for the Soledad Brothers.

John Turner, 25, of 55 South Knoll Avenue, stood mute in court Friday refusing to answer the court's questions.

A jury trial for Turner and two co-defendants has been set for June 28.

The three were arrested April 6 after a courtroom brawl in the Hall of Justice in which they battled bailiffs.

The Soledad Brothers, George Jackson, Fleeta Drumgo and John Cluchette, are scheduled to stand trial in August in connection with the murder of a guard at Soledad Prison last January.

Fate Of Wooded Area On Agenda

A proposal to preserve a two-third acre wooded area of Cazneau Avenue as an open space park will be discussed by the Sausalito City Council at 8 p.m. today in city hall, City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr reported.

A group of residents, headed by Dr. Stephen L. Cavis, 55 Cazneau Avenue, is seeking city assistance in purchasing the area, known as "The Glen," which is slated for development.

The council will also hear a report on the Sausalito police department's handcuffing procedures in making arrests, the city manager said.

Pay For Nonteachers Is Due Discussion

Shoreline Unified School District trustees will consider 1971-72 salary schedule for nonteaching employees at 8 p.m. Thursday at the district office in Tomales.

Trustees last week granted teachers and administrators a 4 per cent pay raise. There hasn't been a proposal yet from nonteaching personnel, according to Supt. Charles A. McCully.

Petaluma's Own 'Major Sport' Fits A City That's Different

Petaluma usually is considered to be a quiet, average American city, but once a year it comes to life with a unique event all of its own — the world's wristwrestling championship.

Men have been wristwrestling in local bars for years, but it first became an organized sports event 10 years ago and gained national prominence a few years later when "Snoopy" of "Peanuts" fame decided to enter.

Though neither Snoopy nor his creator, Charles Schulz, may actually attend the rousing event, they're there in spirit. The crowd of more than 1,000 is always in a festive mood and while some may find the prospect of two muscle-bound men grunting at each other dull, they still attend each year because of pride in their hometown.

Colorful entrants from around the world add spice to the event, as do area television coverage and the ABC "Wide World of Sports" crew in their powder blue berets and flowing scarves.

WRISTWRESTLING — As shown in last week end's event — is an interesting spectator sport because muscle power is not always an indication of the winning contestant. While most sport healthy bicep's, they'll be the first to tell you that grip, thumb placement, and courage have a lot to do with it. Timing and getting the jump on your opponent is also important, but successful wrestlers also seem able to stare their opponent dead in the eye, hoping perhaps to sap his strength that way.

Contestants — with wide ranges of "methods" — are from all types of backgrounds. Local ranch boys are normally in abundance, but attorneys, teachers, salesmen, and even football players are represented.

WRISTWRESTLING may be as unique as Petaluma itself. While it may be classed as a suburb, Petaluma has retained its own character and perhaps is more like "middle America" than other suburbs.

Anti-war demonstrators usually find little opposition at most high schools, but in Petaluma the other side is equally vocal. The city couldn't be considered hawkish on the war, but it certainly is one of the few in the country to have a war memorial to the Vietnam dead.

People may joke about Petaluma being the egg basket of the world or that sleepy little community (26,000) out in the sticks even beyond Novato, but the city enjoys its character and celebrates it annually with the wristwrestling festivities.

Cash Is Taken

Cash totaling $250 or $300 was taken from a Yellow Cab Co. office near the Marin heliport, north of Sausalito, last Tuesday, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Petaluma City Manager Denies Disinterest In Police Problems

Petaluma City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer today denied that he is not interested in promoting professionalism in the city's police department.

The Petaluma Police Officers Association had complained Friday that salary negotiations have been going badly and said city management is not interested in bettering the department by increasing wages.

Meyer said he was "disappointed" that the association had made the charge and said he couldn't agree that raising salaries would bring more professionalism to the department.

The officers complained that the Petaluma force is a training ground for other departments and that 13 of 18 patrolmen have been on the force less than a year. The association said that half the patrol force had quit since last year's bitter salary negotiations which nearly led to a strike.

Meyer said that, according to his figures, only three officers have resigned from the department since last August.

Meyer also rejected the association's claim that starting salaries in neighboring departments are higher than the top Petaluma wage. Patrolmen currently receive $702 to $852 per month while starting salaries in neighboring departments are San Rafael, $812; Novato, $794; Santa Rosa, $742; and Napa, $704, Meyer said.

Meyer said he had not intended to slight the association by not attending Two of the negotiations sessions, saying other city officers had attended to gather information for him. "I can't attend every meeting," Meyer said. "It takes a tremendous amount of time."

He said six other employee groups must also be considered and police salaries must be kept in line with budgetary limitations. "It depends on what the people of Petaluma can afford," Meyer said.

The association has requested a 15 per cent pay increase.

Innocent Plea In Theft Case

Aubrey Kenneth Rattan, 18, of 138 Ash Way, San Rafael, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglary.

A preliminary hearing was set for tomorrow.

Rattan was arrested May 6 on suspicion of stealing a $1,500 video tape outfit from a room at the Tiburon Lodge March 9.

The arrest of Rattan and a companion who was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall ended a two-month investigation by the Tiburon sheriff's substation.

Center To Fete Malcolm X Day

The Marin City Learning Center will observe Malcolm X's birthday tomorrow from 10 a.m. to noon in the Manzanita Center.

The program will include films of the life of the black leader, who was assassinated Feb. 21, 1965 in New York City, and speakers from the community who will discuss Malcolm X's contributions to black people in America.

The Marin City Learning Center is a Saturday school for elementary school students, sponsored by a group of Marin City parents.

New AAUW Leader Boosts Education

"I wish I could wrap up the joy of learning, tie it with a big red ribbon, and give it to everyone," says Dr. Edith Pewitt, president of the Novato Branch, American Association of University Women. "It's strange," she said, "but it (learning) is something we can't give people."

Dr. Pewitt, who was graduated from Texas Women's University and received a doctorate in education at North Texas University, is consultant for the Novato Unified School District goals committee and also a consultant for Silver Burdett Publishers, for a junior high school science program. The bachelor's degree was in home economics but she taught science, biology and chemistry in high school.

"I MOST enjoy working with the staff at the schools and helping teachers implement the science programs," Dr. Pewitt said.

A resident of Marin County for only one year, she spends a great deal of her time as a tourist and is a very big booster of the Bay Area.

"There are few back roads in Marin County that I haven't traveled," she said.

She and her husband, Col. Edgar L. Pewitt, director of materiel for the Western Air Force Reserve Region at Hamilton Air Force Base, have three children. Their daughter, Mrs. Timothy W. Chatagnier of Reese Air Force Base in Texas, is the mother of the Pewitt's only grandchild, Leigh Marie, born in January; Robert is a student at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos, "President Johnson country," and Edgar is a senior at San Marin High School.

SHE SAYS her hobbies are gardening, reading for enlightenment necessary in her business, cooking and eating.

Dr. Pewitt will be the Novato Branch delegate to the National AAUW convention in Dallas, Tex., in June.

"There's no place I'd rather go," she said, looking forward to seeing her granddaughter.

The Pewitts moved here from Grapevine, Tex., and while her family was growing up she was involved in social, service and religious activities. She is a former worthy matron of the Order of Eastern Star.

"Women need to be interested and concerned," Dr. Pewitt said. "I classify myself as a doer," she added. "I guess my role in life is to improve education so people can enjoy it more."

SHE WILL serve as president of the Novato branch for two years. Other officers to serve the two-year term are Mrs. Roland B. Karste, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Michael D. Thieme, recording secretary.

New topics to be studied for two years are "We, the People," "This Beleaguered Earth," "The Crisis in Public Education," and "A Dollar's Worth."

"We, the People" is a reappraisal of the role of the citizen in relation to the government and courts; "This Beleaguered Earth" is concerned with ecology with emphasis on population problems; "The Crisis in Public Education" will be a re-evaluation of the American educational system, redefining goals and values, and restructing and re-organizing the system for relevance, quality and equality of our changing society; and "A Dollar's Worth" will be consideration of value judgments toward public interests in terms of available revenue and citizen influence in establishing economic priorities.

New Leader Of Sorority Is Elected

A 29-year member of Beta Sigma Phi, Mrs. Richard L. Schau of San Rafael has been elected president of Preceptor Alpha Lambda Chapter for the coming year.

Formerly Lorraine Schau has served as vice president, secretary and treasurer, and she was president of the Marin Inter-City Council of Beta Sigma Phi, as well as Xi Alpha Xi and Gamma Omicron chapters in previous years.

She says that membership is by invitation for the cultural and social organization, or by transfer from another chapter.

A native of Marin County, Lorraine Schau was graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended the College of Marin. She and her husband, an accountant, are parents of a daughter, Lynn Marie Schau, who is teaching in Santa Barbara, and a son, Richard, who is a senior at Oregon State University.

Mrs. Schau is secretary with the Golden Gate Bridge staff. Her sparetime enjoyments include swimming and playing bridge.

MEET BELLA ABZUG

Mows Down Demo Chieftains

BY DONALD LAMBRO

"A WOMAN'S place is in the House — the House of Representatives" was one of Bella Abzug's campaign slogans last fall. And now that she's New York's newest congresswoman her plain talk in a loud voice is echoing through the halls of Congress and has made her one of the most sought-after political speakers in the country.

(UPI Telephoto)

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Whether she's addressing a women's liberation meeting in Los Angeles or an anti-war rally in Rhode Island, New York's newest congresswoman isn't surprised anymore to hear shouts of "Bella for President!"

"At first I thought it was sort of funny but I'm used to it now," said Bella Abzug, the irrepressibly articulate Manhattan Democrat who has been called the House's answer to Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

"Not that I would make such a terrible president," she mused. "But, you know, it isn't reality.

"Women come up to me and say 'run for president. We believe in you.' What can I say?"

Throwing her hands in the air and adjusting the broad-brimmed hat which has become her trademark, she added:

"I usually tell them, 'My mother agrees with you.'"

RACING ABOUT her cramped congressional office, her arms cutting the air in sweeping gestures, Mrs. Abzug during an interview with UPI gave her views on virtually everything from Congress' institutional paralysis to the man who can beat President Nixon.

Since taking her seat in January the 50-year-old freshman lawmaker has been one of the most sought-after political speakers in the country, appearing on college campuses and before women's liberation, antiwar, and Democratic party groups from coast-to-coast.

PEOPLE ARE starved for plain talk," said the blunt-talking congresswoman who is noted for her militant tongue-lashing of Democratic leaders. "They want someone who expresses their feelings and Ithink they identify with me. I've been getting standing ovations all over the country. I know I sound like an egomaniac but it's the truth."

House veterans knew little about the gravel-voiced, broad-shouldered New Yorker when she first appeared on Capitol Hill.

Cracked one House member: "When I first heard her name I thought she was an Algerian terrorist."

But it wasn't long before the cloakrooms were buzzing with stories of her latest clashes with House leaders.

When Democratic chieftains at a recent party caucus succeeded in winning approval of a resolution calling for total U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam by the end of 1972, instead of Dec. 31, 1971 as supported by more dovish members, Mrs. Abzug was livid. In language that isn't printable, she accused Speaker Carl Albert and Majority Leader Hale Boggs of "copping out."

"NO ONE HAD ever talked to them like that before," one observer noted at the time, "at least no lady ever had."

She fought to win assignment to a vacancy on the Armed Services Committee but was stymied by its chairman, Rep. F. Edward Hebert, (D-La.) She was given, instead, seats on Public Works and Government Operations. "The conservation subcommittee isn't terribly relevant to the lower East Side of Manhattan," she noted bitterly.

"People are dying in Indochina and we're playing games here," she complained. "Nothing's ever decisive. It doesn't get down to being relevant.

"But it hasn't been all frustration," she added quickly. "I've created a lot of pressure on some issues."

AMONG OTHER things, Mrs. Abzug has called for a congressional probe of the FBI, urged repeal of the draft, vigorously backed the equal rights for women amendment, and pushed hard for a massive increase in anti-poverty funds.

For her, Congress is "a big piece of machinery —it can mow you down."

Speaking to a House Democratic leader on the phone recently, she explained, "I intend to get up, make my speech, offer my resolution, and then they'll clobber me."

But she refuses to be clobbered. She sees her role in Congress as "challenging the power structure. I'm not going to be cowed by the machinery of the club."

SHE WAS irate about a recent television news show which contrasted her with Rep. Louise Day Hicks, D-Mass. Mrs. Hicks was said to be more concerned with home district problems while Mrs. Abzug was portrayed as being primarily concerned with national issues.

"ARE YOU KIDDING?" she roared. "I make myself as available to constituents as anyone. I go out on the picket lines, join rent strikes, squatters' strikes, antiwar marches. What are they talking about? I'm an activist."

Great Antique Fair To Open

Called "the greatest antiques fair in the world," with 79 British dealers offering exhibits valued at a total of 10 million pounds, the Grosvenor House Antiques Fair in London will open June 10 and continue through June 24.

An outstanding cultural and social event of the London summer season, it will be opened by the British Prime Minister, Mr. Edward Heath.

All exhibits must have been made before 1830, says the fair staff.

3 Sewer Projects Get Funds

The federal government's Environmental Protection Agency has awarded $3.2 million to three sewer projects in Marin County.

The amount will be divided among the Novato Sanitary District, the Stinson Beach County Water District and the Bolinas Public Utility District.

Novato will receive $1.5 million towards its $3.5 million project to improve treatment plants in Novato and Ignacio and extension of an outfall line in San Pablo Bay.

Voters approved $3.5 million in bonds for the project last December and were promised in campaign literature the district would only sell the amount of bonds needed after receiving state and federal grants.

The Bolinas district also received a grant totaling about $1.5 million toward construction of the district's proposed $5.3 million waste disposal system.

The Stinson Beach district was awarded a $200,000 grant for construction of sewer facilities estimated to cost about $238,000.

Arrested Man Ordered To Court

A 30-year-old San Rafael man, arrested Saturday by Novato police on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs and resisting arrest, was ordered to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Charles Willis Patterson of 1517 A Fifth Avenue, was released later on $625 bail.

Patterson was stopped by police at 1:15 a.m. in front of 10 Joan Avenue because of a faulty headlight. He gave his name at first as Robert G. Benz to whom the car was registered, according to police, who arrested him for giving false information.

Police reported subsequently finding a plastic bag with pills and capsules in his coat pocket.

Hamilton Base Use May Match Travis

By BENJAMIN SHORE
(I-J correspondent)

WASHINGTON — When Marin County officials confer with Federal officials here next week on civilian commercial flight use of Hamilton Air Force Base, they will find the way smoothed by just-completed negotiations for similar use of Travis Air Force Base in Fairfield.

Golden Pacific Airlines has been given permission to operate six scheduled flights a day in and out of the giant base. Solano County has agreed to a 20-year lease of 5.5 acres on the base for a small terminal to serve such commuter flights.

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, has set up appointments on May 27 and 28 for the Marin County delegation to meet with Air Force and Federal Aviation Administration officials.

"The deputy assistant secretary for installations believes such joint use at Hamilton can be worked out," Calusen said in an interview.

He was referring to Lewis E. Turner, who negotiated the Travis arrangement with Solano County and Golden Pacific. The only other joint use is at Eglund Air Force Base in Florida.

Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Fourth District, who played a major role in securing Air Force permission at Travis, says the Air Force is not eager to see widespread civilian use of its active facilities, despite a 1969 Defense Department policy allowing it.

"But I think if Golden Pacific's experience at Travis is good — accident-free and no inconvenience to the Air Force — then chances would be good for a similar arrangement at Hamilton," Leggett said.

Clausen said any civilian use would have to be "compatible with Hamilton's operations and security."

Solano County has agreed to pay the Air Force $1,700 a year to lease the 5.5 acres, which are in two parcels, for a small passenger terminal and light maintenance facilities. Financing of the construction would be through a joint agreement between the county and Golden Pacific.

The Air Force has stipulated that general aviation (privately owned and operated aircraft) and nonscheduled commercial flights would not be allowed under the agreement with Solano County.

Furthermore, military aircraft always would have priority over Golden Pacific, and the Air Force could suspend civilian flights in a national emergency.

In a May 7 memo to his staff, Turner recommended changes in Air Force procedure as a result of months of bureaucratic ping-pong in which Solano County's application was spunted back and forth between Air Force officials in California and Washington.

"In future cases involivng joint use," Turner's memo reads in part, "the joint use agreements should be prepared at base level and submitted to this office for approval.

"Any lease of land and/or facilities supporting such joint use agreement should also be prepared at such level and submitted with the joint use agreement."

Droped Lines In Honor Report

A line dropped from yesterday's Independent-Journal report on the honoring of 12 top Marin high school seniors resulted in a mistaken listing of two students.

Nancy Thelen of San Rafael was incorrectly shown as attending San Marin High School in Novato, whereas she actually attends San Rafael High School.

The name of San Marin High School senior Philip W. Adams was omitted.

Details of the school careers of both students were correctly reported.

Arraignment In Dollars Theft

Ross Sheffield Murphy, 20, of Ross, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of burglary. He is to plead Friday.

Murphy was arrested last Tuesday after he attempted to sell 90 silver dollars to a local merchant, San Rafael police said.

Murphy's fingerprints matched prints taken at the home of Wilbur F. Mathewson of 47 Bret Harte Lane, where a coin collection was taken May 9, police said.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

You're Right, That Modern Underwear Correct, Not Immoral

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teen-age questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! the Independent-Journal.

THE TROUBLE WITH PARENTS, CONTINUED . . .

DEAR HELEN:

Today my mother walked into my room, opened my dresser drawer and took out the only four pairs of bikini underpants I own. In their place she put some heavy old cotton numbers that look like training pants yet.

Helen, all my 13- and 14-year-old friends wear bikini panties because they're comfortable and, besides, the tops don't show above hip hugger jeans. But my mother now says they are too "sexy" for my age.

I asked what made her change her mind and she wouldn't answer me. Could you make her understand? — FRUSTRATED LOSER

DEAR LOSER:

My IGAP (I'm Guessing Again Perception) says your mother got the kaffee-klatch jitters. Wanta bet she'd huddled with other mothers that day, discussing the terrible hassles in store for parents who "let their children grow up too soon"?

So she reacted, because when does something basic and illogical, just to make her feel more secure.

If your briefies aren't back by this time, let me know and I'll try to persuade her that modern underwear isn't immoral. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My father is always saying to my brother, "Don't do the dishes — you want to act like a girl?" But it's okay if my sisters and I rake leaves, mow the lawn, take out the garbage, etc.

Another of his favortie expressions, "You'll get perverted if you . . ." He mentions things we wouldn't even think of and it makes me feel crawly.

He insists I keep my bedroom door open at all times, even when I'm sleeping so he can check on me.

When my older sister went to Florida he called her every dirty name in the book, because her boy friend paid her way. It was a college weekend and she stayed in a dorm with the other girls who visited their boy friends.

He always criticizes but never compliments and doesn't know us until we do something wrong, then jumps all over us. By "wrong," I mean getting a "C" in school or being sick when he doesn't think so and says we're goldbricking.

My sister was in an accident last summer and needs plastic surgery on her face. He says she has to earn the money herself though she's still in school. He can afford to pay the bill. No wonder we hate him.

My mother keeps saying maybe he'll change. He gets away with whatever he wants because he says she doesn't have the guts to get a divorce.

Every day he does something more to make us wish we could leave home. Please tell us how to stand this misery until we can. — T.L.F.

DEAR T.:

You can stand almost any situation if you know it has a time limit. However, some of your problems might dissolve sooner if you'd stop building an endless case against your father.

Granted, he's far from perfect. But you're so locked into hatred that you see only the bad and probably magnify it . . . which is dangerous because, if bitterness and resentment become habit, they can louse up your whole future.

Instead, learn to accept or sidestep what you can't change, apply as much understanding as possible, and remember that even now, three-fourths of your life goes on outside the home. Don't get so tied up with injustices that you stop enjoying it. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Cancer Warning In Oral Contraceptive

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Women with premalignant breast lesions and a "high risk" tendency for breast cancer should avoid long term use of oral contraceptives, the second National Conference on Breast Cancer was told yesterday.

Dr. Edward F. Lewison of Johns Hopkins University said there was ample evidence to indicate a close relationship between estrogenic hormones and birth control pills and the breat.

"...It seems quite clear that estrogenic hormones and the pill which may contain an estrogen can cause epithelial cell changes within both normal and abnormal breast tissue," he said.

Lewison said that it has been demonstrated that extracts from the ovary (estrogenic hormones) were remarkably potent growth stimulants for the epithelial cells of the female genital tract including the breast.

"Cancer," he said, "is the uncontrolled growth of these epithelial cells."

Lewison also told the American Cancer Society meeting that another example of what he called the close relationship between breast cancer in humans and estrogenic hormones could be demonstrated by other clinical results.

"Women with advanced breast cancer who have a therapeutic removal of the primary source of estrogenic hormones, the ovary, show a remarkable improvement of their metastatic breast cancer in about one-third of the cases," he said.

"Also, I have observed that estrogens taken in small doses may aggravate a pre-existing breast cancer."

He said the "development of newer and more satisfactory contraceptive agents without the possible harmful effects of long-term estrogen administration would be highly desirable."

He added, however, that the clinical evidence indicating a close relationship between estrogenic hormones, the breast and breast cancer" is strongly persuasive. Yet, there is no known clinical evidence at the present time indicating that estrogens or the pill will definitely cause breast cancer in human beings."

In another report to the group, Dr. Martin P. Vessey, of the department of medicine, Radcliffe Infirmary, Oxford, England, disagreed on the effects of oral contraceptives.

"In a case-controlled study in progress at five London teaching hospitals, 220 women aged 16-39 with breast lumps, together with 216 matched controls, had been interviewed between Dec. 1, 1968 and Dec. 31, 1970," Vessey said.

"No evidence has been found so far that oral contraceptives are associated with an increased risk of breast neoplasia; indeed these preliminary data suggest that the preparations tend to protect against the development of benign lesions."

A wiglet is a flat-base hairpiece that comes in many different sizes and shapes and is usually machine made, according to a definition in "The Complete Guide to Synthetic Hairpieces and Wigs" by Rebecca Hyman.

Miss Hyman says wiglets are used to add height in the crown, depth to thin hair, and for curls of all types.

Marin Women

New AAUW Leader Boosts Education

"I wish I could wrap up the joy of learning, tie it with a big red ribbon, and give it to everyone," says Dr. Edith Pewitt, president of the Novato Branch, American Association of University Women. "It's strange," she said, "but it (learning) is something we can't give people."

Dr. Pewitt, who was graduated from Texas Women's University and received a doctorate in education at North Texas University, is consultant for the Novato Unified School District goals committee and also a consultant for Silver Burdett Publishers, for a junior high school science program. The bachelor's degree was in home economics but she taught science, biology and chemistry in high school.

"I MOST enjoy working with the staff at the schools and helping teachers implement the science programs," Dr. Pewitt said.

A resident of Marin County for only one year, she spends a great deal of her time as a tourist and is a very big booster of the Bay Area.

"There are few back roads in Marin County that I haven't traveled," she said.

She and her husband, Col. Edgar L. Pewitt, director of materiel for the Western Air Force Reserve Region at Hamilton Air Force Base, have three children. Their daughter, Mrs. Timothy W. Chatagnier of Reese Air Force Base in Texas, is the mother of the Pewitt's only grandchild, Leigh Marie, born in January; Robert is a student at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos, "President Johnson country," and Edgar is a senior at San Marin High School.

SHE SAYS her hobbies are gardening, reading for enlightenment necessary in her business, cooking and eating.

Dr. Pewitt will be the Novato Branch delegate to the National AAUW convention in Dallas, Tex., in June.

"There's no place I'd rather go," she said, looking forward to seeing her granddaughter.

The Pewitts moved here from Grapevine, Tex., and while her family was growing up she was involved in social, service and religious activities. She is a former worthy matron of the Order of Eastern Star.

"Women need to be interested and concerned," Dr. Pewitt said. "I classify myself as a doer," she added. "I guess my role in life is to improve education so people can enjoy it more."

SHE WILL serve as president of the Novato branch for two years. Other officers to serve the two-year term are Mrs. Roland B. Karste, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Michael D. Thieme, recording secretary.

New topics to be studied for two years are "We, the People," "This Beleaguered Earth," "The Crisis in Public Education," and "A Dollar's Worth."

"We, the People" is a reappraisal of the role of the citizen in relation to the government and courts; "This Beleaguered Earth" is concerned with ecology with emphasis on population problems; "The Crisis in Public Education" will be a re-evaluation of the American educational system, redefining goals and values, and restructing and re-organizing the system for relevance, quality and equality of our changing society; and "A Dollar's Worth" will be consideration of value judgments toward public interests in terms of available revenue and citizen influence in establishing economic priorities.

MEET BELLA ABZUG

Mows Down Demo Chieftains

BY DONALD LAMBRO

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Whether she's addressing a women's liberation meeting in Los Angeles or an anti-war rally in Rhode Island, New York's newest congresswoman isn't surprised anymore to hear shouts of "Bella for President!"

"At first I thought it was sort of funny but I'm used to it now," said Bella Abzug, the irrepressibly articulate Manhattan Democrat who has been called the House's answer to Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

"Not that I would make such a terrible president," she mused. "But, you know, it isn't reality.

"Women come up to me and say 'run for president. We believe in you.' What can I say?"

Throwing her hands in the air and adjusting the broad-brimmed hat which has become her trademark, she added:

"I usually tell them, 'My mother agrees with you.'"

RACING ABOUT her cramped congressional office, her arms cutting the air in sweeping gestures, Mrs. Abzug during an interview with UPI gave her views on virtually everything from Congress' institutional paralysis to the man who can beat President Nixon.

Since taking her seat in January the 50-year-old freshman lawmaker has been one of the most sought-after political speakers in the country, appearing on college campuses and before women's liberation, antiwar, and Democratic party groups from coast-to-coast.

PEOPLE ARE starved for plain talk," said the blunt-talking congresswoman who is noted for her militant tongue-lashing of Democratic leaders. "They want someone who expresses their feelings and Ithink they identify with me. I've been getting standing ovations all over the country. I know I sound like an egomaniac but it's the truth."

House veterans knew little about the gravel-voiced, broad-shouldered New Yorker when she first appeared on Capitol Hill.

Cracked one House member: "When I first heard her name I thought she was an Algerian terrorist."

But it wasn't long before the cloakrooms were buzzing with stories of her latest clashes with House leaders.

When Democratic chieftains at a recent party caucus succeeded in winning approval of a resolution calling for total U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam by the end of 1972, instead of Dec. 31, 1971 as supported by more dovish members, Mrs. Abzug was livid. In language that isn't printable, she accused Speaker Carl Albert and Majority Leader Hale Boggs of "copping out."

"NO ONE HAD ever talked to them like that before," one observer noted at the time, "at least no lady ever had."

She fought to win assignment to a vacancy on the Armed Services Committee but was stymied by its chairman, Rep. F. Edward Hebert, (D-La.) She was given, instead, seats on Public Works and Government Operations. "The conservation subcommittee isn't terribly relevant to the lower East Side of Manhattan," she noted bitterly.

"People are dying in Indochina and we're playing games here," she complained. "Nothing's ever decisive. It doesn't get down to being relevant.

"But it hasn't been all frustration," she added quickly. "I've created a lot of pressure on some issues."

AMONG OTHER things, Mrs. Abzug has called for a congressional probe of the FBI, urged repeal of the draft, vigorously backed the equal rights for women amendment, and pushed hard for a massive increase in anti-poverty funds.

For her, Congress is "a big piece of machinery —it can mow you down."

Speaking to a House Democratic leader on the phone recently, she explained, "I intend to get up, make my speech, offer my resolution, and then they'll clobber me."

But she refuses to be clobbered. She sees her role in Congress as "challenging the power structure. I'm not going to be cowed by the machinery of the club."

SHE WAS irate about a recent television news show which contrasted her with Rep. Louise Day Hicks, D-Mass. Mrs. Hicks was said to be more concerned with home district problems while Mrs. Abzug was portrayed as being primarily concerned with national issues.

"ARE YOU KIDDING?" she roared. "I make myself as available to constituents as anyone. I go out on the picket lines, join rent strikes, squatters' strikes, antiwar marches. What are they talking about? I'm an activist."

"A WOMAN'S place is in the House — the House of Representatives" was one of Bella Abzug's campaign slogans last fall. And now that she's New York's newest congresswoman her plain talk in a loud voice is echoing through the halls of Congress and has made her one of the most sought-after political speakers in the country.

Great Antique Fair To Open

Called "the greatest antiques fair in the world," with 79 British dealers offering exhibits valued at a total of 10 million pounds, the Grosvenor House Antiques Fair in London will open June 10 and continue through June 24.

An outstanding cultural and social event of the London summer season, it will be opened by the British Prime Minister, Mr. Edward Heath.

All exhibits must have been made before 1830, says the fair staff.

Cheese Topping

Economy and calorie wise cooks have discovered that cottage cheese makes a delicious topping for baked potatoes. If time allows, the cottage cheese can bewhipped smooth — it will look like sour cream, say Dairy Council of California nutritionists.

Dock Permits Up For Waldo Point

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission will vote Thursday on permits to improve docking facilities for Waldo Point's houseboat colony to bring the boats up to Marin County standards.

Before the commission are permits to allow George Kappas, Donlon J. Arques and Miriam M. Tellis to fill a total of 2.91 acres of San Francisco Bay, replace old docks with new ones, add berths for 77 new houseboats, construct new parking and access facilities and make minor shoreline adjustments.

Voting also is slated on a Marin County application to fill approximately one acre of the bay for widening of San Pedro Road from Lochnivar Road to Riviera Drive.

Also on the commission agenda is a further public hearing and possible commission action on amendments to the body's bay plan which would allow replacement of existing fill — principally pilings — with an equal amount of new fill for water-oriented commercial recreation projects.

The commission, in a series of informal "straw votes," has indicated approval of such a swap policy.

The meeting will be at 2 p.m. in room 1194 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

Mill Valley To Drain Cascade Reservoir

Cascade Reservoir and Dam, once a seemingly unsurmountable barrier to civic harmony in Mill Valley, was hurdled with relative ease last night by the Mill Valley City Council.

After a brief discussion, councilmen voted unanimously to drain the reservoir, preserve the historic dam structure for the time being and maintain a no trespassing zone in the surrounding park.

The reservoir issue has been a bitter source of dissension in past years because of misuse, accidents, nudity, litter and fire danger, with some residents demanding the lake's removal and others its maintenance.

Councilmen voted last spring to close the reservoir and park to public use from May 1 to Nov. 1. That ban will continue.

In voting to drain the lake, the council accepted a recommendation by the city park and recreation commission, an ad hoc committee for reservoir preservation and the Marin Conservation League.

Councilmen did not, however, address themselves to the question of what to do with the reservoir ultimately.

The ad hoc committee wants Cascade Reservoir developed into a safe swimming hole, though it admitted the city has no funds at present to do so. The conservation league wants a walk-in park there.

Draining the reservoir will give the city time to study how it will be used in the future, councilmen said.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

LEASE — Agreed to maintain bus parking areas at the city-owned Lytton Square Bus Depot and to extend to the end of 1972 a lease for the interior of the building to Janice Aronoff for $250 per month.

REVENUE SHARING — Asked the U. S. Congress to enact a revenue sharing plan.

BOARD — Appointed John De Becker to a vacancy on the Mill Valley Flood Control Zone Advisory Board.

VARIANCE — Upheld an appeal from a planning commission decision and denied a variance to allow Edmond C. Kagi to build a house to within three feet of the front property line at 94 Elinor Avenue.

APPEAL — Upheld an appeal of a planning commission decision and denied a variance for the old city library at 52 Lovell Avenue. Owner William E. Cullen had proposed to widen Lovell Avenue four feet in lieu of providing five off-street parking spaces at the library, which he wants to convert to three apartments.

RESTAURANT — Denied a parking variance to allow expansion of Pat and Joe's Restaurant, 71 Throckmorton Avenue, from 75 to 135 seats. Councilmen encouraged owner Pat Trujillo to reapply for a variance after a planning commission subcommittee comes up with a fee to be levied against applicants wishing variances from parking requirements.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned today at 8 p.m. at city hall to take up items from last night's agenda.

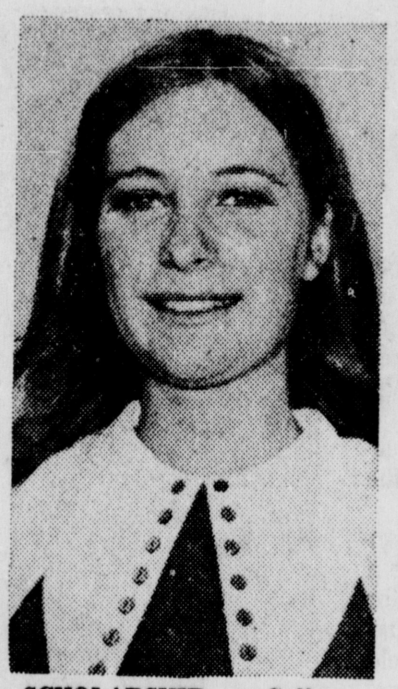
Favorable Report On Lottery Bill

BOSTON (UPI)—The state legislative committee on governmental regulations gave a favorable report Monday to a bill establishing a Massachusetts lottery which would sell for 50 cents a ticket and would award weekly prizes.

The House was expected to begin debate on the bill next week. Under the bill, 33 per cent of the money raised would go to the state for the Department of Mental Health.

Mine Blast Kills 21

KARACHI (UPI)—A coal mine explosion at Sinjadi, 27 miles northeast of the Baluchistan provincial capital of Quetta, killed at least 21 persons and injured two others Sunday, reports reaching here said. Eleven other miners were missing and presumed dead.



SCHOLARSHIP — Colleen Mary Coleman, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman of 114 Hawthorne Way, Santa Venetia, today was awarded the annual $500 Archie Culpepper scholarship of the Marin County Board of Realtors. She will attend Chico State College.

City Hall Project Gets Council Nod

Construction of an addition to the Petaluma City Hall for Sonoma County and city offices was approved last night by the Petaluma City Council.

In doing so, the council concurred with the decision of the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to award the project to Rapp Construction of Santa Rosa at a basic cost of $436,900.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said a parking lot addition and site work would increase the overall price to $461,800 with the city's share being $167,564 and the county's share $294,236.

The 12,468-square-foot building to run parallel to the present city hall will house the Southern Sonoma Municipal Court, county and city offices. When the portion of the city hall now being used by the county is vacated, it will be remodeled as added space for the city engineering department.

Meyer said that only $5,000 need be drawn from the general fund to meet the city's share of the cost since funds have been set aside annually for seven years for the project.

The Petaluma City Council also:

WATER TANK — Approved plans for a new two million gallon water storage tank on East Washington Street. Cost was estimated at $197,200.

NEW REGION — Agreed to request County Supervisor Henry Spomer to attend a council meeting in the near future to explain plans for the North Coastal Regional Association, the planned alternative to membership in the Association of Bay Area Governments. Councilmen complaiend about a lack of information and said that perhaps a representative should attend planning sessions.

LIGHTS — Approved the replacement of 15 aging lights in Walnut, Wickersham and Kenilworth parks at a total cost of $2,044.

CONTRACT — Approved an agreement with the American Federation of Slate, County and Municipal Employees Local No. 956 to grant a salary increase of 20 cents per hour on July 1. The union representing water department and maintenance employees had originally requested a 35-cent per hour hike.

Disciplinary Plan Advances

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation to restrict a school teacher's power to discipline unruly students gained a slim approval vote in the Assembly Monday and sent to the Senate. The bill by Assemblyman John Burton, D-San Francisco, advanced on a 41-22 vote, the bare margin needed for passage.

Under Burton's bill, a teacher could suspend such students only from his classroom and send them to the principal for "appropriate" action. Currently, a teacher has authority to suspend troublemakers for almost two days from school.

UFWOC Pickets At Strawberry Fields

SALINAS (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm union started organizational picketing Monday at strawberry fields in the Salinas and Pajaro valleys.

The main target of the AFLCIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee was a dozen small and medium-sized growers who belong to the Driscoll Strawberry Association.

Fired Health Unit Typist Wins Exoneration, Reinstatement

Frances I. Jennings, senior typist in the Marin County Health Department who was fired on March 19, will be reinstated with full pay and privileges.

That was the 4 to 0 decision of the Marin County Personnel Commission, which met yesterday at the Civic Center. Commissioner Bella H. Aaron didn't vote, explaining she had been on the commission about two years ago when another hearing was held on Mrs. Jennings' job classification. Mrs. Aaron said she did not want the information from the previous hearing to interfere with the current case.

Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer who dismissed Mrs. Jennings, must reinstate her as senior typist in the health department tuberculosis unit at $590 per month. Mrs. Jennings will also get all back pay and benefits lost since her dismissal on March 19.

The health officer accused Mrs. Jennings of insubordination, quarreling with other employees, and disrupting the office.

Mrs. Jennings, represented by attorney Richard H. Breiner, countered that Dr. Albrecht's administrative assistant, Frank E. Kirby and other aides harassed her.

After exonerating and reinstating Mrs. Jennings, the personnel commissioners decided to hold another closed meeting at 9:30 a.m. on May 28 at the Civic Center to decide what action if any they should take on allegations that Kirby had used recording devices to tape conversations without alerting the person at the other end of the phone.

The Marin County Personnel Commission also:

SOCIAL WORKERS — Approved the transfer of six home-maker positions in the department of public social services from the Marin County Employees Association bargaining unit to the Social Workers Union bargaining unit.

ELIGIBILITY — Denied a separate bargaining unit for 47 eligibility workers in the department of public social services. They will remain a part of the Social Workers Union bargaining unit.

AFSCME — Put off until May 28 a request by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) for the right to represent about 200 employees now represented by the Marin County Employees Association.

Scheel, Wife Hurt In Wreck

BONN (UPI)—West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel and his wife suffered minor injuries when the official car they were riding in collided with a taxi Monday.

The driver of the taxi died in the crash and his passenger suffered serious injuries.

Scheel and his wife were traveling on the Autobahn from Bonn to the Bonn-Cologne airport to board a plane for Bucharest when the crash occurred.

Bill Advances On Airplane Hunting

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House has passed and sent to the Senate legislation that would provide a $5,000 fine, a year in prison, or both, for anyone caught hunting from an airplane.

Persons licensed by state or federal governments to protect livestock or crops from predators by hunting from the air would be exempt. The government also would be given authority to revoke or suspend the license of any pilot convicted of airborne hunting.

Record Budget Of $547 Million Wins City Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Board of Supervisors approved a record $547.5 million budget Monday after Controller Nathan B. Cooper indicated there might not be a tax hike.

The spending program, to go into effect July 1, is $33 million more than the current budget but $53 million less than requested by city departments. It is also $9 million less than recommended by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

Cooper told the board that there was "an outside possibility" the budget could be financed without boosting the current tax rate of $12.82 per $100 assessed valuation.

"Much depends on actions of the state legislature and on our estimates of revenue," he said. "The picture won't be clear until August."

You're Right, That Modern Underwear Correct, Not Immoral

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teen-age questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! the Independent-Journal.

DEAR HELEN:

Today my mother walked into my room, opened my dresser drawer and took out the only four pairs of bikini underpants I own. In their place she put some heavy old cotton numbers that look like training pants yet.

Helen, all my 13- and 14-year-old friends wear bikini panties because they're comfortable and, besides, the tops don't show above hip hugger jeans. But my mother now says they are too "sexy" for my age.

I asked what made her change her mind and she wouldn't answer me. Could you make her understand? — FRUSTRATED LOSER

DEAR LOSER:

My IGAP (I'm Guessing Again Perception) says your mother got the kaffee-klatch jitters. Wanta bet she'd huddled with other mothers that day, discussing the terrible hassles in store for parents who "let their children grow up too soon"?

So she reacted, because when does something basic and illogical, just to make her feel more secure.

If your briefies aren't back by this time, let me know and I'll try to persuade her that modern underwear isn't immoral. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My father is always saying to my brother, "Don't do the dishes — you want to act like a girl?" But it's okay if my sisters and I rake leaves, mow the lawn, take out the garbage, etc.

Another of his favortie expressions, "You'll get perverted if you . . ." He mentions things we wouldn't even think of and it makes me feel crawly.

He insists I keep my bedroom door open at all times, even when I'm sleeping so he can check on me.

When my older sister went to Florida he called her every dirty name in the book, because her boy friend paid her way. It was a college weekend and she stayed in a dorm with the other girls who visited their boy friends.

He always criticizes but never compliments and doesn't know us until we do something wrong, then jumps all over us. By "wrong," I mean getting a "C" in school or being sick when he doesn't think so and says we're goldbricking.

My sister was in an accident last summer and needs plastic surgery on her face. He says she has to earn the money herself though she's still in school. He can afford to pay the bill. No wonder we hate him.

My mother keeps saying maybe he'll change. He gets away with whatever he wants because he says she doesn't have the guts to get a divorce.

Every day he does something more to make us wish we could leave home. Please tell us how to stand this misery until we can. — T.L.F.

DEAR T.:

You can stand almost any situation if you know it has a time limit. However, some of your problems might dissolve sooner if you'd stop building an endless case against your father.

Granted, he's far from perfect. But you're so locked into hatred that you see only the bad and probably magnify it . . . which is dangerous because, if bitterness and resentment become habit, they can louse up your whole future.

Instead, learn to accept or sidestep what you can't change, apply as much understanding as possible, and remember that even now, three-fourths of your life goes on outside the home. Don't get so tied up with injustices that you stop enjoying it. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Cancer Warning In Oral Contraceptive

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Women with premalignant breast lesions and a "high risk" tendency for breast cancer should avoid long term use of oral contraceptives, the second National Conference on Breast Cancer was told yesterday.

Dr. Edward F. Lewison of Johns Hopkins University said there was ample evidence to indicate a close relationship between estrogenic hormones and birth control pills and the breat.

"...It seems quite clear that estrogenic hormones and the pill which may contain an estrogen can cause epithelial cell changes within both normal and abnormal breast tissue," he said.

Lewison said that it has been demonstrated that extracts from the ovary (estrogenic hormones) were remarkably potent growth stimulants for the epithelial cells of the female genital tract including the breast.

"Cancer," he said, "is the uncontrolled growth of these epithelial cells."

Lewison also told the American Cancer Society meeting that another example of what he called the close relationship between breast cancer in humans and estrogenic hormones could be demonstrated by other clinical results.

"Women with advanced breast cancer who have a therapeutic removal of the primary source of estrogenic hormones, the ovary, show a remarkable improvement of their metastatic breast cancer in about one-third of the cases," he said.

"Also, I have observed that estrogens taken in small doses may aggravate a pre-existing breast cancer."

He said the "development of newer and more satisfactory contraceptive agents without the possible harmful effects of long-term estrogen administration would be highly desirable."

He added, however, that the clinical evidence indicating a close relationship between estrogenic hormones, the breast and breast cancer" is strongly persuasive. Yet, there is no known clinical evidence at the present time indicating that estrogens or the pill will definitely cause breast cancer in human beings."

In another report to the group, Dr. Martin P. Vessey, of the department of medicine, Radcliffe Infirmary, Oxford, England, disagreed on the effects of oral contraceptives.

"In a case-controlled study in progress at five London teaching hospitals, 220 women aged 16-39 with breast lumps, together with 216 matched controls, had been interviewed between Dec. 1, 1968 and Dec. 31, 1970," Vessey said.

"No evidence has been found so far that oral contraceptives are associated with an increased risk of breast neoplasia; indeed these preliminary data suggest that the preparations tend to protect against the development of benign lesions."

A wiglet is a flat-base hairpiece that comes in many different sizes and shapes and is usually machine made, according to a definition in "The Complete Guide to Synthetic Hairpieces and Wigs" by Rebecca Hyman.

Miss Hyman says wiglets are used to add height in the crown, depth to thin hair, and for curls of all types.

Symphony Concert Is A Sellout

The San Francisco Symphony Orchestra's Saturday Marin County performance of "Four Views of Romeo and Juliet" is a sellout, the orchestra's publicity office announced.

The musical exploration of the famous star-crossed lovers' tale, directed by Seiji Ozawa, will be performed at 8:15 p.m. at the Terra Linda High School gymnasium. It is the last in the orchestra's second annual four-concert series in Marin County.

It features four musical interpretations of Shakespeare's famous love story, beginning with Berlioz's love music from "Romeo and Juliet," and ending with Leonard Bernstein's symphony dances from his "West Side Story," the modern-day Romeo and Juliet. Between these two extremes are Tschaikowsky's overture-fantasy, "Romeo and Juliet," and selections from Suites 1 and 2 of Prokofieff's ballet, "Romeo and Juliet."

The performance is also a sellout this week at the Opera House in San Francisco where standing room only is available.

Container Ban Urged In Mill Valley

Mill Valley should take the lead in banning the sale of nonreturnable beverage containers in hopes that Marin County and the state will follow suit, the president of the Homestead Valley Community Association has urged.

In a letter to Mill Valley Mayor George E. Wickham, Paul I. Peyrat supported the council's May 3 action in urging a uniform countywide ordinance, but said Mill Valley should act independently as well.

While admitting "it is . . . difficult for one jurisdiction to take on the responsibility of such an ordinance," Peyrate said "we do not feel we can wait for statewide legislation . . . we do not wish any further delaying action in the search for this ordinance which would offer some protection to our deteriorating environment."

The fourth and fifth grades of Homestead School appeared before the council May 3 and presented 1,350 signatures urging a ban on non-recyclable beverage cans and non-returnable glass bottles.

Pops Concert Set Under Trees In Ross

"Cabaret Concert — Sous les Arbres" is the French theme of the Marin Symphony Orchestra's annual pops concert and picnic dinner set for May 30 at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

The concert, at 4:30 p.m., will find the crowd seated at tables under the trees to hear Sandor Salgo conduct Offenbach's "Orpheus in the Underworld" and Dukas's "Sorcerer's Apprentice."

As soprano chanteuse, Marin's Gwen Curatilo — who has performed with the San Francisco Opera and Symphony — will sing a group of French songs and Chants d 'Auvergne.

Novelty entertainment will be Can Can dancing by a group of Stanford coeds that includes Jackie Benington, 1969 America's Junior Miss, and a gag appearance as a conductor of the orchestra in one number by Donald Beacock, this year's "Realtor of the Year" in Marin.

Beacock, who made the high bid to conduct the orchestra in the guild's auction last November, will arrive in a limousine in white tie and tails to conduct a march with an honorary baton presented to him by a coterie of music lovers.

A hot dinner of French cuisine will be served following the concert by guild members, with the pieces de resistance consisting of pastries baked by members of the guild's auxiliary. French and domestic wines will be available along with the usual beverages.

During dinner strolling musicians will entertain under the direction of Eddy Walter.

General admission to the concert is free, but there will be a charge for dinner. Tables for from four to 12 may be reserved through Mrs. Harold Schnurer, 176 Riviera Drive, Larkspur.

Additional information may be obtained by telephoning the Marin Symphony Guild office in San Anselmo.

Miss Bierman studies voice with Rudolphine Radil in Oakland and coaches with Adolph Baller at Dominican.

She will present a lieder recital as one of the programs in the Dominican college summer concert series at 3 p.m., on June 27, in Angelico Hall on the campus.

Dock Permits Up For Waldo Point

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission will vote Thursday on permits to improve docking facilities for Waldo Point's houseboat colony to bring the boats up to Marin County standards.

Before the commission are permits to allow George Kappas, Donlon J. Arques and Miriam M. Tellis to fill a total of 2.91 acres of San Francisco Bay, replace old docks with new ones, add berths for 77 new houseboats, construct new parking and access facilities and make minor shoreline adjustments.

Voting also is slated on a Marin County application to fill approximately one acre of the bay for widening of San Pedro Road from Lochnivar Road to Riviera Drive.

Also on the commission agenda is a further public hearing and possible commission action on amendments to the body's bay plan which would allow replacement of existing fill — principally pilings — with an equal amount of new fill for water-oriented commercial recreation projects.

The commission, in a series of informal "straw votes," has indicated approval of such a swap policy.

The meeting will be at 2 p.m. in room 1194 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

Mill Valley To Drain Cascade Reservoir

Cascade Reservoir and Dam, once a seemingly unsurmountable barrier to civic harmony in Mill Valley, was hurdled with relative ease last night by the Mill Valley City Council.

After a brief discussion, councilmen voted unanimously to drain the reservoir, preserve the historic dam structure for the time being and maintain a no trespassing zone in the surrounding park.

The reservoir issue has been a bitter source of dissension in past years because of misuse, accidents, nudity, litter and fire danger, with some residents demanding the lake's removal and others its maintenance.

Councilmen voted last spring to close the reservoir and park to public use from May 1 to Nov. 1. That ban will continue.

In voting to drain the lake, the council accepted a recommendation by the city park and recreation commission, an ad hoc committee for reservoir preservation and the Marin Conservation League.

Councilmen did not, however, address themselves to the question of what to do with the reservoir ultimately.

The ad hoc committee wants Cascade Reservoir developed into a safe swimming hole, though it admitted the city has no funds at present to do so. The conservation league wants a walk-in park there.

Draining the reservoir will give the city time to study how it will be used in the future, councilmen said.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

LEASE — Agreed to maintain bus parking areas at the city-owned Lytton Square Bus Depot and to extend to the end of 1972 a lease for the interior of the building to Janice Aronoff for $250 per month.

REVENUE SHARING — Asked the U. S. Congress to enact a revenue sharing plan.

BOARD — Appointed John De Becker to a vacancy on the Mill Valley Flood Control Zone Advisory Board.

VARIANCE — Upheld an appeal from a planning commission decision and denied a variance to allow Edmond C. Kagi to build a house to within three feet of the front property line at 94 Elinor Avenue.

APPEAL — Upheld an appeal of a planning commission decision and denied a variance for the old city library at 52 Lovell Avenue. Owner William E. Cullen had proposed to widen Lovell Avenue four feet in lieu of providing five off-street parking spaces at the library, which he wants to convert to three apartments.

RESTAURANT — Denied a parking variance to allow expansion of Pat and Joe's Restaurant, 71 Throckmorton Avenue, from 75 to 135 seats. Councilmen encouraged owner Pat Trujillo to reapply for a variance after a planning commission subcommittee comes up with a fee to be levied against applicants wishing variances from parking requirements.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned today at 8 p.m. at city hall to take up items from last night's agenda.

Favorable Report On Lottery Bill

BOSTON (UPI)—The state legislative committee on governmental regulations gave a favorable report Monday to a bill establishing a Massachusetts lottery which would sell for 50 cents a ticket and would award weekly prizes.

The House was expected to begin debate on the bill next week. Under the bill, 33 per cent of the money raised would go to the state for the Department of Mental Health.

Mine Blast Kills 21

KARACHI (UPI)—A coal mine explosion at Sinjadi, 27 miles northeast of the Baluchistan provincial capital of Quetta, killed at least 21 persons and injured two others Sunday, reports reaching here said. Eleven other miners were missing and presumed dead.

SCHOLARSHIP — Colleen Mary Coleman, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman of 114 Hawthorne Way, Santa Venetia, today was awarded the annual $500 Archie Culpepper scholarship of the Marin County Board of Realtors. She will attend Chico State College.

Disciplinary Plan Advances

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation to restrict a school teacher's power to discipline unruly students gained a slim approval vote in the Assembly Monday and sent to the Senate. The bill by Assemblyman John Burton, D-San Francisco, advanced on a 41-22 vote, the bare margin needed for passage.

Under Burton's bill, a teacher could suspend such students only from his classroom and send them to the principal for "appropriate" action. Currently, a teacher has authority to suspend troublemakers for almost two days from school.

UFWOC Pickets At Strawberry Fields

SALINAS (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm union started organizational picketing Monday at strawberry fields in the Salinas and Pajaro valleys.

The main target of the AFLCIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee was a dozen small and medium-sized growers who belong to the Driscoll Strawberry Association.

City Hall Project Gets Council Nod

Construction of an addition to the Petaluma City Hall for Sonoma County and city offices was approved last night by the Petaluma City Council.

In doing so, the council concurred with the decision of the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to award the project to Rapp Construction of Santa Rosa at a basic cost of $436,900.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said a parking lot addition and site work would increase the overall price to $461,800 with the city's share being $167,564 and the county's share $294,236.

The 12,468-square-foot building to run parallel to the present city hall will house the Southern Sonoma Municipal Court, county and city offices. When the portion of the city hall now being used by the county is vacated, it will be remodeled as added space for the city engineering department.

Meyer said that only $5,000 need be drawn from the general fund to meet the city's share of the cost since funds have been set aside annually for seven years for the project.

The Petaluma City Council also:

WATER TANK — Approved plans for a new two million gallon water storage tank on East Washington Street. Cost was estimated at $197,200.

NEW REGION — Agreed to request County Supervisor Henry Spomer to attend a council meeting in the near future to explain plans for the North Coastal Regional Association, the planned alternative to membership in the Association of Bay Area Governments. Councilmen complaiend about a lack of information and said that perhaps a representative should attend planning sessions.

LIGHTS — Approved the replacement of 15 aging lights in Walnut, Wickersham and Kenilworth parks at a total cost of $2,044.

CONTRACT — Approved an agreement with the American Federation of Slate, County and Municipal Employees Local No. 956 to grant a salary increase of 20 cents per hour on July 1. The union representing water department and maintenance employees had originally requested a 35-cent per hour hike.

Fired Health Unit Typist Wins Exoneration, Reinstatement

Frances I. Jennings, senior typist in the Marin County Health Department who was fired on March 19, will be reinstated with full pay and privileges.

That was the 4 to 0 decision of the Marin County Personnel Commission, which met yesterday at the Civic Center. Commissioner Bella H. Aaron didn't vote, explaining she had been on the commission about two years ago when another hearing was held on Mrs. Jennings' job classification. Mrs. Aaron said she did not want the information from the previous hearing to interfere with the current case.

Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer who dismissed Mrs. Jennings, must reinstate her as senior typist in the health department tuberculosis unit at $590 per month. Mrs. Jennings will also get all back pay and benefits lost since her dismissal on March 19.

The health officer accused Mrs. Jennings of insubordination, quarreling with other employees, and disrupting the office.

Mrs. Jennings, represented by attorney Richard H. Breiner, countered that Dr. Albrecht's administrative assistant, Frank E. Kirby and other aides harassed her.

After exonerating and reinstating Mrs. Jennings, the personnel commissioners decided to hold another closed meeting at 9:30 a.m. on May 28 at the Civic Center to decide what action if any they should take on allegations that Kirby had used recording devices to tape conversations without alerting the person at the other end of the phone.

The Marin County Personnel Commission also:

SOCIAL WORKERS — Approved the transfer of six home-maker positions in the department of public social services from the Marin County Employees Association bargaining unit to the Social Workers Union bargaining unit.

ELIGIBILITY — Denied a separate bargaining unit for 47 eligibility workers in the department of public social services. They will remain a part of the Social Workers Union bargaining unit.

AFSCME — Put off until May 28 a request by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) for the right to represent about 200 employees now represented by the Marin County Employees Association.

Scheel, Wife Hurt In Wreck

BONN (UPI)—West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel and his wife suffered minor injuries when the official car they were riding in collided with a taxi Monday.

The driver of the taxi died in the crash and his passenger suffered serious injuries.

Scheel and his wife were traveling on the Autobahn from Bonn to the Bonn-Cologne airport to board a plane for Bucharest when the crash occurred.

Bill Advances On Airplane Hunting

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House has passed and sent to the Senate legislation that would provide a $5,000 fine, a year in prison, or both, for anyone caught hunting from an airplane.

Persons licensed by state or federal governments to protect livestock or crops from predators by hunting from the air would be exempt. The government also would be given authority to revoke or suspend the license of any pilot convicted of airborne hunting.

Record Budget Of $547 Million Wins City Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Board of Supervisors approved a record $547.5 million budget Monday after Controller Nathan B. Cooper indicated there might not be a tax hike.

The spending program, to go into effect July 1, is $33 million more than the current budget but $53 million less than requested by city departments. It is also $9 million less than recommended by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

Cooper told the board that there was "an outside possibility" the budget could be financed without boosting the current tax rate of $12.82 per $100 assessed valuation.

"Much depends on actions of the state legislature and on our estimates of revenue," he said. "The picture won't be clear until August."

Harry Williams To Head State Indian Aid Agency

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan formally announced yesterday the appointment of Harry D. (Timm) Williams, a Marinite and Yurok Indian, as director of an experimental Indian aid program.

Although Williams has been on the job about two months, the official announcement was not made until yesterday.

Williams will head the new California Indian Assistance Project, designed to insure that Indians in the state receive all government services to which they are entitled.

HARRY D. WILLIAMS
Aid project

Williams, 47, who will receive $18,000 annually in the new post, is official spokesman for the Klamath River Yurok Indians and is the longtime Stanford football mascot, "Prince Lightfoot."

He moved recently to Sacramento from his Fairfax home and received a leave of absence from the Matson Navigation Co. in San Francisco, his full-time employer, to take the state post.

Joe Carillo Jr. of Davis, a member of the Wickchumni Tribe of the Tule River Indian Reservation, was named deputy director by Reagan at a salary of $12,000. He has been an employee of the state Department of Public Health.

The federal Department of Housing and Urban Development has provided $38,000 for the project, with the state contributing $20,000. The project will operate on an experimental basis for a year.

Williams and Carillo will report to Reagan through Robert J. Keyes, special assistant to the governor for community affairs. Keyes said the project might be continued for a second year if successful.

Williams, who long has deplored governmental neglect of Indian needs, told the Independent-Journal today:

"We're hoping to strengthen state capabilities to understand and identify all needs of Indians in the state, especially those off reservations . . . and to improve delivery of state services and federal resources to Indians in all areas."

He also hoped the project would create greater opportunity for Indians to work more closely with state officials.

Application For Model Homes Is Turned Down

The Novato Planning Commission last night denied an application by McKeon Construction Co. to construct two model homes at the northwest corner of South Novato Boulevard and Highway 101 where it plans to build 528 townhouse and condominium units.

The firm sought a variance to construct the model homes before a precise development plan was approved, saying it would help to speed up sales.

The planning staff recommended denial and said soils analysis indicated potential problems in building on the mud flat portion of the 50.5-acre site. The soils matter must be resolved before any building takes place, staff reported. Staff members also opposed any building without an approved precise development plan.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

PIZZA RESTAURANT — Granted Jay M. Lofthouse a permit for a Straw Hat Pizza restaurant, adjacent to the Copper Penny restaurant, 7089 Redwood Highway.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Granted Nicole Love a permit to operate a private summer school in a single-family home at 1144 Ferris Drive.

REZONING — Approved rezoning 13.5 acres on the east side of South Novato Boulevard, opposite Stone Drive, from limited agriculture to planned residential single-family, as requested by L. B. Fleischman and John E. Peterson.

APARTMENTS Approved rezoning lots at 1129 Third Street and 1128, 1124, 1104 and 1100 Fourth Street from single-family to multiple-family as requested by Alfred Bellucci.

DOUGHERTY PARCEL — Approved rezoning 6.44 acres at the northeast corner of Simmons and Leese lanes from limited agriculture to planned residential as requested by Allan and Helga Dougherty.

MACHINE SHOP — Referred to the plan review committee an application by William W. Hints for a variance to build a machine shop and office on the north side of Vallejo Avenue between Highway 101 and the Northwestern Pacific Jailroad tracks.

DIABLE TRIANGLE — Agreed to consider rezoning of the Diable Triangle land form multiple-family units at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House.

MENDOCINO GARDENS — Scheduled a hearing on the master plan by Norman T. Gilroy and Associates for Mendocino Gardens, an 8.1 acre site at the southwest corner of Novato Boulevard and Eucalyptus Avenue.

RAP SESSION

Enlightened Generation Blocked, Dentist Finds

By ERIK M. INGRAM
(20th in a series of 24 raps)

This country for 30 years has stressed a high level of education for its younger generation but now has turned a deaf ear to that generation's enlightened demands for change.

That, according to Dr. Daniel A. Collins of Mill Valley, is at the heart of the so-called generation gap.

"We have a younger generation today that is not going to allow itself to be exploited economically or politically," Collins said the other day at his San Francisco Dental office.

"The political and economic institutions of this country are based on the need for a semi-illiterate population . . . But, generally speaking, all of a sudden we're all educated."

Thus come demands for change, demands for a piece of the action, demands for an equitable share of the system, he continued.

"The days of capitalism are numbered," he said. "We have to find a system where all people have a share."

DANIEL A. COLLINS
'All . . . have a share'

Seeking a share is nothing new to Collins, who at 54 is a board member of the National Urban League, a founding member of the league's San Francisco branch, a board member of the San Francisco branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and executive director and board member of Harcourt Brace Jovanovich publishing firm.

He also is on the governing boards of three colleges including Golden Gate College of San Francisco and has been a member of the State Board of Education and the State Board of Public Health.

Over the years, Collins has been described by some as a man of honest good will. A man of cares. A man of devotions.

He can also be described as an angry man.

"We are asking millions of people to protect a system in which they have no stake," Collins said. "Rare is the person seeking to change the system who has a stake in it."

Citing welfare as an example, he maintains it is simply a means of keeping people "out of the action."

"Labor is as guilty as anyone else," he continued. "Congress has given them superficial laws which have allowed it to be selective."

Ten years ago, he said, a black man couldn't get into apprentice programs. Even today a city may have 40 black doctors and lawyers but no black plumbers. "There's something wrong with the system, I'd say," he added.

Such are the flaws youth is demanding be changed. Vietnam is another.

Himself an outspoken critic of the war, Collins said he can understand the younger generation's concerns.

"Young people are less afraid of changes which must be made than the older generation which seems to resist," he said. "You can't be honest with yourself and support this war. Are we prepared to deny our own progeny to save face?

"If we don't consider change fast, we are going to have a revolution on our hands," he said.

While he doesn't condone violence, Collins said he has some compassion for those that do.

"It's hard to work in the system . . . it's slow, but that is where I work for change," he said. "I can't buy violence but I share a feeling of guilt for the burden Angela (Davis), Huey (Newton) and Bobby (Seal) carry."

Assuming the charges against Miss Davis are true, he said, "What drove her to this? What drove a bright girl to put her life on the line? What forced her to take this alternative?"

It's everybody's burden, he concluded.

No Position On Juvenile Hall Plan

The Marin County Board of Education last night declined, for lack of information, to take a position on the county administrator's proposal to scrap the preplacement unit at Juvenile Hall.

The matter stems from a request by the Marin Juvenile Justice Commission for board support for the unit which provides a short-term education program for youngsters 13 to 18 years of age.

According to Robert E. Spain, director of administrative services for the county schools office, the board said it could not take a position since it was not clear what reasons the county administrator used in recommending the $160,000 per year program be cut.

Spain said the board also requested information on the probation department's evaluation of the program's success before taking a position.

Members of the justice commission are approaching all Marin school board members seeking support against what they term county administrator's "arbitrary cuts."

The Marin County Board of Education also:

FOREST MEADOWS — Met a Forest Meadows Development Center to hear a report on the center's operation. The center is charged with educating mentally retarded children.

SAN QUENTIN — Approved a contract with San Quentin Prison to provide occupational placement services for inmates. The contract totals $15,482 and is for employment of one person. A second contract totaling $14,695 for music instruction and the hiring of one teacher also was approved.

POLICY MANUAL — Accepted three installments of the proposed nine-part policy manual for the district. Those sections accepted included personnel, internal operation and board by-laws. Still to be completed are sections dealing with community relations, administration, business operation, students, construction and facilities. The manual has been in committee for about a year.

JOB DESCRIPTIONS — Accepted classified employee job descriptions from the schools office's personnel commission. The board will approve the recommendations and return them to the commission which will set salaries.

CLOSED SESSION — Entered closed session to instruct its negotiators on the board's position on teacher's salaries.

PROJECTS — Heard a status report on funding for four district projects showing the county will receive no state funds for improving kindergarten programs and development of new educational management systems. The board also was told the staff will resubmit a request for funds for an environmental education center and was told the fund raising firm of Miller and Kramer of San Francisco has been working to raise funds for an environmental education study.

Fairfax Cuts Police Calls To Oak Manor

The Fairfax City Council last night voted to discontinue emergency police and fire services to Oak Manor as long as residents of the area refuse to annex to the city.

"They don't want us; so we're going to show them," Councilman Frank J. O'Connell said.

Fairfax has in the past provided emergency help to Oak Manor residents when requested to do so by the sheriff's department or county fire department.

The vote was not unanimous last night.

Councilman Lee Nelder said, "We as councilman will be sorry the day we cut them off." He suggested solving the problem by supporting the sheriff's department's request for more officers and cars.

Councilman Robert R. Souza also voted against discontinuing first call aid, saying, "Unilateral action to cut off services is not the answer."

Councilmen Cornelis Van Vliet, Frank J. Egger and O'Connell voted the end to emergency help, with Van Vliet saying, "by giving them those services, they'll never want to be annexed."

The Fairfax City Council also:

GARBAGE — Put off decision on raising Fairfax garbage collections rates by 25 cents until its next meeting.

UNDERGROUND — Created an underground utility district along Broadway from Pacheco Avenue to Merwin Avenue with overhead structures to be removed by Feb. 1, 1972.

TOPICS — Assigned $16,000 in federal highway funds to the City of San Anselmo so that city may synchronize its traffic lights. San Anselmo will pay back $11,000 out of its gas tax fund.

REVENUE — Adopted a resolution, to be sent to all California senators and representatives saying that cities need revenue-sharing funds.

RESIGNATION — Accepted David R. Seyler's resignation as chairman of the park and recreation commission.

PROPERTY — Approved the sale of city property on Live Oak Avenue and earmarked the funds for improving city facilities.

OVERTIME — Changed the period municipal employees may hold compensatory time on the books from 60 days to one year.

POLICE — Authorized an additional sergeant position on the force, making four all together. The increase will cost, according to the police chief's report, an additional $576 for the 1971-72 fiscal year.

CREEK — Adopted the Watercourse Ordinance which will block construction of structures, or tree removals, in and around the Fairfax creek. Egger said it would protect the creek environmentally, esthetically and ecologically.

PG&E — Agreed to pay PG&E $228 covering the city's share of trenching a fire alarm system on Broadway. Fairfax will own the system.

CONSTRUCTION — Voted to spend $9,000 to alter and modify the city hall, which would include a police department confidential interview room, and evidence storage area. The total improvements, including architect Donald Keith Olsen's fee, will be no more than $35,000. The missing $26,000 will come from selling the city property on Live Oak and the building improvement fund. The Design Review Board will be consulted on the plans.

BUDGET — Set a discussion of 1971-72 budget for June 7.

Creek Maintenance Irks Fairfax Council On Tax

The Fairfax City Council, angered at a 5-cent maintenance tax, last night voted 4-1 to consider the feasibility of withdrawing from an agreement with Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project.

Fairfax and San Anselmo, who never have joined the project, agreed in 1965 to pay part of the cost of maintenance. San Anselmo councilmen are also now trying to get out of the agreement.

Fairfax Councilman Robert R. Souza said last night that he had voted for the joint powers agreement because he didn't want to torpedo the entire flood project but that he thought it was never clear where the 5-cent tax would go.

Charles E. Murphy, Marin County flood control engineer, replied to Souza that it was "clearly pointed out and stated several times." He said that Fairfax and San Anselmo comprise about 20 per cent of the watershed for the Corte Madera Creek and that most of the maintenance work will be done in areas downstream where their dirt and silt was washed.

City Atty. Wallace S. Myers told the council that "not in every case are we free from taking care of the flow of water."

Councilman Frank J. Egger had said that Fairfax shouldn't be responsible for water downstream.

Councilman Frank J. O'Connell, who cast the only dissenting vote, attacked what he called the attitude: "as long as we're high and dry why should we be part of the problem?" attitude.

In a related matter, the council voted to include four recently annexed areas in the flood control agreement district.

Zunino Request For Dissolution

The wife of Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest C. Zunino filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court for dissolution of the couple's 14-year marriage.

Sally Louise Zunino cited irreconcilable differences in her petition for dissolution.

Zunino, 40, joined the district attorney's office in 1964. He ran unsuccessfully for Municipal Court judge last June.

They were married July 22, 1956, in Nevada, according to Mrs. Zunino's petition, and have two children, Ernest M., 10, and Laura L., 6.

The family home is at 131 Marinda Drive, Fairfax.

Mrs. Zunino seeks custody of the children, $350 monthly support for the children and $450 a month support for herself.

Innocent Plea To Grand Theft Charge

Stephen L. Brusell, 18, of Petaluma, pleaded innocent yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court to charges of grand theft and possession of stolen property.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon released him on his own recognizance and set a preliminary hearing for June 4 at 2 p.m. Brusell was arrested Friday along with three juveniles on suspicion of taking a boat from its storage place at 743 Paula Lane, Petaluma.

GE Warning On Light Defect

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The General Electric Co. has recalled all its outdoor floodlight and holder kits sold since August because of a possible wiring defect that could cause severe shock.

The GE Lamp Division here announced Monday an investigation showed only about 40 of the units already sold may be affected, but the recall was made as a precautionary measure.

Owners of such units purchased during or after August were asked to return them to GE offices here. The company also requested dealer and distributor stocks to be returned for inspection.

Arrests In Attempted Burglary

Three 19-year-old San Rafael youths were booked into Marin County Jail today on suspicion of attempted burglary of the Gemini clothing store in Sausalito.

Johnny Lin Motta, of 141 Auburn Street, Michael Mario Colombo, of 267 Mountain View Avenue and Kenneth Kay Kuhl, of 103 Orange Street were arrested by Sausalito police about 2:45 a.m. They were apprehended after an officer, who received a report of a burglary in progress, noticed their auto leaving the vicinity of the store.

Police, who stopped the car in the 1000 block of Bridgeway, said they noticed two tire irons and two pairs of gloves in the auto. One iron bore traces of paint similar to that on the store's door which showed signs of being forced, officers noted. The store was not entered, according to police.

Apartment Rezone Plea Is Rejected

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night denied a Fairfax man's request that his Sycamore Avenue property be rezoned for apartment use.

In denying George Surovtsov's request for property at 122 Sycamore, the commission said that to grant it "would have the effect of condemning the entire Sycamore Area to R-3 (high density) zoning."

According to the commission secretary, Surovtsov pleaded that the old home on the property has been vacant for 3 months and no longer is an income property.

Sycamore Avenue is currently zoned and developed as a single-family residential area.

What Surovtsov planned for his property if rezoned was not disclosed last night, the secretary said.

Stiff Boat Rules For Bass Lake

BASS LAKE (UPI) —Rules affecting boat operation and water skiing as well as stiff fines for littering go into effect at this Sierra resort starting Friday.

Madera County Sheriff's Sgt. Ovonual Berkley said all boats must be registered, carry fire extinguishers and provide a life preserver for each passenger.

There will be a mandatory $25 fine for littering the lake or the shore as required under a new state law, Berkley said.

He said boat operators pulling skiers must be at least 16 years of age and the observer, also required, just be at least 12.

Berkley said officers will patrol the lake during daylight hours and the lakeshore will be patrolled 24 hours a day.

Benches Taken

Picnic tables and benches valued at $400 were taken between 5 p.m. Saturday and 8:45 a.m. Monday from the Sub Hut restaurant at 4380 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, owner Jeffrey Synder reported to police.

Symphony Concert Is A Sellout

The San Francisco Symphony Orchestra's Saturday Marin County performance of "Four Views of Romeo and Juliet" is a sellout, the orchestra's publicity office announced.

The musical exploration of the famous star-crossed lovers' tale, directed by Seiji Ozawa, will be performed at 8:15 p.m. at the Terra Linda High School gymnasium. It is the last in the orchestra's second annual four-concert series in Marin County.

It features four musical interpretations of Shakespeare's famous love story, beginning with Berlioz's love music from "Romeo and Juliet," and ending with Leonard Bernstein's symphony dances from his "West Side Story," the modern-day Romeo and Juliet. Between these two extremes are Tschaikowsky's overture-fantasy, "Romeo and Juliet," and selections from Suites 1 and 2 of Prokofieff's ballet, "Romeo and Juliet."

The performance is also a sellout this week at the Opera House in San Francisco where standing room only is available.

Container Ban Urged In Mill Valley

Mill Valley should take the lead in banning the sale of non-returnable beverage containers in hopes that Marin County and the state will follow suit, the president of the Homestead Valley Community Association has urged.

In a letter to Mill Valley Mayor George E. Wickham, Paul I. Peyrat supported the council's May 3 action in urging a uniform countywide ordinance, but said Mill Valley should act independently as well.

While admitting "it is . . . difficult for one jurisdiction to take on the responsibility of such an ordinance," Peyrate said "we do not feel we can wait for statewide legislation . . . we do not wish any further delaying action in the search for this ordinance which would offer some protection to our deteriorating environment."

The fourth and fifth grades of Homestead School appeared before the council May 3 and presented 1,350 signatures urging a ban on non-recyclable beverage cans and non-returnable glass bottles.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, May 18, the 138th day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. There is no evening star.

Those born on ths day are under the sign of Taurus.

On this day in history:

In 1852 Massachusetts became the first state to pass a law making school attendance compulsory for children between the ages of 8 and 14.

In 1860 Abraham Lincoln was nominated for president by the Republican party at a Chicago convention.

In 1941 throughout the nation, the first "I Am an American Day" was held, honoring 300,000 aliens who had become U.S. citizens the past year.

In 1969 Apollo 10, with three American astronauts aboard, blasted off for the moon in a rehearsal flight for a lunar landing.

A thought for today: Spanish novelist Miguel de Cervantes said, ''That's the nature of women, not to love when we love them and to love when we love them not."

Vandals Scratch Eight Used Cars

Vandals scratched the hoods of eight used cars sometime Friday night or early Saturday morning at Annex Motors Sales at 535 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

Mgr. William H. Beeble said that he thought it was the work of someone walking by with a sharp instrument. He estimated $200 damage to the cars.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If You Hate Deceit Just Forget Today's Real Gem

Capturing an opponent's king with your ace is the best normal way to promote the value of a minor honor (such as a ten or jack) held by your side. In some hands, however, you must be cunning rather than normal. If you would rather lose than practice deception on your opponents, you have my permission to forget today's article as soon as you have read it.

QUEEN OF HEARTS

West opened the queen of hearts, a very normal card, against the normal contract of four spades. After all, this is not going to be a tale of unrelieved villainy.

Declarer won in dummy with the ace of hearts and led a low trump. East played low, and South put up the king. If West had been a normal, virtuous taxpayer, he would have captured the trick with the ace of spades and you would now be reading about some other hand. South would eventually get to dummy to lead the ten of spades for a finesse; and East's jack of spades would never win the setting trick.

CASUAL PLAY

As it happened, West was a devious character. When South led a trump to the king, West casually played his low trump as though he were just normally following suit.

South led a diamond to dummy and returned the ten of spades just to see what East would do. East naturally played low, and South stopped for thought. South was clever enough to know that West might be giving him the business, but the odds are always against skullduggery: first, West must have the ace of spades and, second, he must think of playing low without giving himself away.

QUEEN OF SPADES

South therefore put up the queen of spades in the hope that East had started with A-x-x of spades. West promptly produced the ace, remarking: "Very careless of me. I forgot to take this last time."

East eventually took the setting trick with the jack of spades, and South realized that West was an unreliable character.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠- J 5 3
♥- K 9 8 4 2
♦- Q J 6
♣- 5 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

You would bid one heart if partner opened with one club or one diamond, but the hand is not strong enough for a response of two hearts over an opening bid of one spade.

Furniture Taken

Outdoor furniture valued at $352 was taken between 5 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday from the Rafael Racquet Club at 95 Racquet Club Drive, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

Harry Williams To Head State Indian Aid Agency

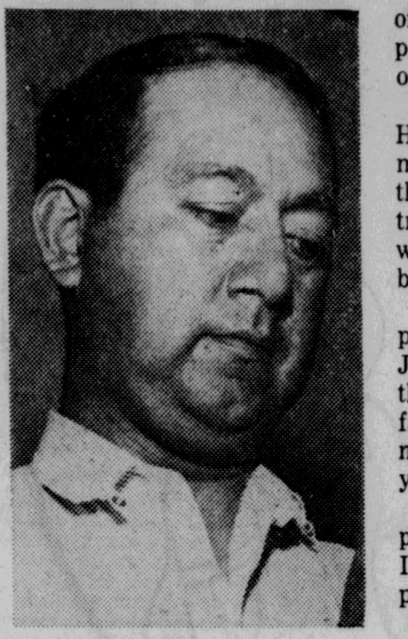
I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan formally announced yesterday the appointment of Harry D. (Timm) Williams, a Marinite and Yurok Indian, as director of an experimental Indian aid program.

Although Williams has been on the job about two months, the official announcement was not made until yesterday.

Williams will head the new California Indian Assistance Project, designed to insure that Indians in the state receive all government services to which they are entitled.

Williams, 47, who will receive $18,000 annually in the new post, is official spokesman for the Klamath River Yurok Indians and is the longtime Stanford football mascot, "Prince Lightfoot."



HARRY D. WILLIAMS
Aid project

He moved recently to Sacramento from his Fairfax home and received a leave of absence from the Matson Navigation Co. in San Francisco, his full-time employer, to take the state post.

Joe Carillo Jr. of Davis, a member of the Wickchumni Tribe of the Tule River Indian Reservation, was named deputy director by Reagan at a salary of $12,000. He has been an employee of the state Department of Public Health.

The federal Department of Housing and Urban Development has provided $38,000 for the project, with the state contributing $20,000. The project will operate on an experimental basis for a year.

Williams and Carillo will report to Reagan through Robert J. Keyes, special assistant to the governor for community affairs. Keyes said the project might be continued for a second year if successful.

Williams, who long has deplored governmental neglect of Indian needs, told the Independent-Journal today:

"We're hoping to strengthen state capabilities to understand and identify all needs of Indians in the state, especially those off reservations . . . and to improve delivery of state services and federal resources to Indians in all areas."

He also hoped the project would create greater opportunity for Indians to work more closely with state officials.

Application For Model Homes Is Turned Down

The Novato Planning Commission last night denied an application by McKeon Construction Co. to construct two model homes at the northwest corner of South Novato Boulevard and Highway 101 where it plans to build 528 townhouse and condominium units.

The firm sought a variance to construct the model homes before a precise development plan was approved, saying it would help to speed up sales.

The planning staff recommended denial and said soils analysis indicated potential problems in building on the mud flat portion of the 50.5-acre site. The soils matter must be resolved before any building takes place, staff reported. Staff members also opposed any building without an approved precise development plan.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

PIZZA RESTAURANT — Granted Jay M. Lofthouse a permit for a Straw Hat Pizza restaurant, adjacent to the Copper Penny restaurant, 7089 Redwood Highway.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Granted Nicole Love a permit to operate a private summer school in a single-family home at 1144 Ferris Drive.

REZONING — Approved rezoning 13.5 acres on the east side of South Novato Boulevard, opposite Stone Drive, from limited agriculture to planned residential single-family, as requested by L. B. Fleischman and John E. Peterson.

APARTMENTS Approved rezoning lots at 1129 Third Street and 1128, 1124, 1104 and 1100 Fourth Street from single-family to multiple-family as requested by Alfred Bellucci.

DOUGHERTY PARCEL — Approved rezoning 6.44 acres at the northeast corner of Simmons and Leese lanes from limited agriculture to planned residential as requested by Allan and Helga Dougherty.

MACHINE SHOP — Referred to the plan review committee an application by William W. Hints for a variance to build a machine shop and office on the north side of Vallejo Avenue between Highway 101 and the Northwestern Pacific Jailroad tracks.

DIABLE TRIANGLE — Agreed to consider rezoning of the Diable Triangle land form multiple-family units at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House.

MENDOCINO GARDENS — Scheduled a hearing on the master plan by Norman T. Gilroy and Associates for Mendocino Gardens, an 8.1 acre site at the southwest corner of Novato Boulevard and Eucalyptus Avenue.

RAP SESSION

Enlightened Generation Blocked, Dentist Finds

By ERIK M. INGRAM
(20th in a series of 24 raps)

This country for 30 years has stressed a high level of education for its younger generation but now has turned a deaf ear to that generation's enlightened demands for change.

That, according to Dr. Daniel A. Collins of Mill Valley, is at the heart of the so-called generation gap.

"We have a younger generation today that is not going to allow itself to be exploited economically or politically," Collins said the other day at his San Francisco Dental office.

"The political and economic institutions of this country are based on the need for a semi-illiterate population . . . But, generally speaking, all of a sudden we're all educated."

Thus come demands for change, demands for a piece of the action, demands for an equitable share of the system, he continued.

"The days of capitalism are numbered," he said. "We have to find a system where all people have a share."

Seeking a share is nothing new to Collins, who at 54 is a board member of the National Urban League, a founding member of the league's San Francisco branch, a board member of the San Francisco branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and executive director and board member of Harcourt Brace Jovanovich publishing firm.

He also is on the governing boards of three colleges including Golden Gate College of San Francisco and has been a member of the State Board of Education and the State Board of Public Health.

Over the years, Collins has been described by some as a man of honest good will. A man of cares. A man of devotions.

He can also be described as an angry man.

"We are asking millions of people to protect a system in which they have no stake," Collins said. "Rare is the person seeking to change the system who has a stake in it."

DANIEL A. COLLINS
'All . . . have a share'

Citing welfare as an example, he maintains it is simply a means of keeping people "out of the action."

"Labor is as guilty as anyone else," he continued. "Congress has given them superficial laws which have allowed it to be selective."

Ten years ago, he said, a black man couldn't get into apprentice programs. Even today a city may have 40 black doctors and lawyers but no black plumbers. "There's something wrong with the system, I'd say," he added.

Such are the flaws youth is demanding be changed. Vietnam is another.

Himself an outspoken critic of the war, Collins said he can understand the younger generation's concerns.

"Young people are less afraid of changes which must be made than the older generation which seems to resist," he said. "You can't be honest with yourself and support this war. Are we prepared to deny our own progeny to save face?

"If we don't consider change fast, we are going to have a revolution on our hands," he said.

While he doesn't condone violence, Collins said he has some compassion for those that do.

"It's hard to work in the system . . . it's slow, but that is where I work for change," he said. "I can't buy violence but I share a feeling of guilt for the burden Angela (Davis), Huey (Newton) and Bobby (Seal) carry."

Assuming the charges against Miss Davis are true, he said, "What drove her to this? What drove a bright girl to put her life on the line? What forced her to take this alternative?"

It's everybody's burden, he concluded.

Stiff Boat Rules For Bass Lake

BASS LAKE (UPI) —Rules affecting boat operation and water skiing as well as stiff fines for littering go into effect at this Sierra resort starting Friday.

Madera County Sheriff's Sgt. Ovonual Berkley said all boats must be registered, carry fire extinguishers and provide a life preserver for each passenger.

There will be a mandatory $25 fine for littering the lake or the shore as required under a new state law, Berkley said.

He said boat operators pulling skiers must be at least 16 years of age and the observer, also required, just be at least 12.

Berkley said officers will patrol the lake during daylight hours and the lakeshore will be patrolled 24 hours a day.

Benches Taken

Picnic tables and benches valued at $400 were taken between 5 p.m. Saturday and 8:45 a.m. Monday from the Sub Hut restaurant at 4380 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, owner Jeffrey Synder reported to police.

No Position On Juvenile Hall Plan

The Marin County Board of Education last night declined, for lack of information, to take a position on the county administrator's proposal to scrap the preplacement unit at Juvenile Hall.

The matter stems from a request by the Marin Juvenile Justice Commission for board support for the unit which provides a short-term education program for youngsters 13 to 18 years of age.

According to Robert E. Spain, director of administrative services for the county schools office, the board said it could not take a position since it was not clear what reasons the county administrator used in recommending the $160,000 per year program be cut.

Spain said the board also requested information on the probation department's evaluation of the program's success before taking a position.

Members of the justice commission are approaching all Marin school board members seeking support against what they term county administrator's "arbitrary cuts."

The Marin County Board of Education also:

FOREST MEADOWS — Met a Forest Meadows Development Center to hear a report on the center's operation. The center is charged with educating mentally retarded children.

SAN QUENTIN — Approved a contract with San Quentin Prison to provide occupational placement services for inmates. The contract totals $15,482 and is for employment of one person. A second contract totaling $14,695 for music instruction and the hiring of one teacher also was approved.

POLICY MANUAL — Accepted three installments of the proposed nine-part policy manual for the district. Those sections accepted included personnel, internal operation and board by-laws. Still to be completed are sections dealing with community relations, administration, business operation, students, construction and facilities. The manual has been in committee for about a year.

JOB DESCRIPTIONS — Accepted classified employee job descriptions from the schools office's personnel commission. The board will approve the recommendations and return them to the commission which will set salaries.

CLOSED SESSION — Entered closed session to instruct its negotiators on the board's position on teacher's salaries.

PROJECTS — Heard a status report on funding for four district projects showing the county will receive no state funds for improving kindergarten programs and development of new educational management systems. The board also was told the staff will resubmit a request for funds for an environmental education center and was told the fund raising firm of Miller and Kramer of San Francisco has been working to raise funds for an environmental education study.

Fairfax Cuts Police Calls To Oak Manor

The Fairfax City Council last night voted to discontinue emergency police and fire services to Oak Manor as long as residents of the area refuse to annex to the city.

"They don't want us; so we're going to show them," Councilman Frank J. O'Connell said.

Fairfax has in the past provided emergency help to Oak Manor residents when requested to do so by the sheriff's department or county fire department.

The vote was not unanimous last night.

Councilman Lee Nelder said, "We as councilman will be sorry the day we cut them off." He suggested solving the problem by supporting the sheriff's department's request for more officers and cars.

Councilman Robert R. Souza also voted against discontinuing first call aid, saying, "Unilateral action to cut off services is not the answer."

Councilmen Cornelis Van Vliet, Frank J. Egger and O'Connell voted the end to emergency help, with Van Vliet saying, "by giving them those services, they'll never want to be annexed."

The Fairfax City Council also:

GARBAGE — Put off decision on raising Fairfax garbage collections rates by 25 cents until its next meeting.

UNDERGROUND — Created an underground utility district along Broadway from Pacheco Avenue to Merwin Avenue with overhead structures to be removed by Feb. 1, 1972.

TOPICS — Assigned $16,000 in federal highway funds to the City of San Anselmo so that city may synchronize its traffic lights. San Anselmo will pay back $11,000 out of its gas tax fund.

REVENUE — Adopted a resolution, to be sent to all California senators and representatives saying that cities need revenue-sharing funds.

RESIGNATION — Accepted David R. Seyler's resignation as chairman of the park and recreation commission.

PROPERTY — Approved the sale of city property on Live Oak Avenue and earmarked the funds for improving city facilities.

OVERTIME — Changed the period municipal employees may hold compensatory time on the books from 60 days to one year.

POLICE — Authorized an additional sergeant position on the force, making four all together. The increase will cost, according to the police chief's report, an additional $576 for the 1971-72 fiscal year.

CREEK — Adopted the Watercourse Ordinance which will block construction of structures, or tree removals, in and around the Fairfax creek. Egger said it would protect the creek environmentally, esthetically and ecologically.

PG&E — Agreed to pay PG&E $228 covering the city's share of trenching a fire alarm system on Broadway. Fairfax will own the system.

CONSTRUCTION — Voted to spend $9,000 to alter and modify the city hall, which would include a police department confidential interview room, and evidence storage area. The total improvements, including architect Donald Keith Olsen's fee, will be no more than $35,000. The missing $26,000 will come from selling the city property on Live Oak and the building improvement fund. The Design Review Board will be consulted on the plans.

BUDGET — Set a discussion of 1971-72 budget for June 7.

Creek Maintenance Irks Fairfax Council On Tax

The Fairfax City Council, angered at a 5-cent maintenance tax, last night voted 4-1 to consider the feasibility of withdrawing from an agreement with Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project.

Fairfax and San Anselmo, who never have joined the project, agreed in 1965 to pay part of the cost of maintenance. San Anselmo councilmen are also now trying to get out of the agreement.

Fairfax Councilman Robert R. Souza said last night that he had voted for the joint powers agreement because he didn't want to torpedo the entire flood project but that he thought it was never clear where the 5-cent tax would go.

Charles E. Murphy, Marin County flood control engineer, replied to Souza that it was "clearly pointed out and stated several times." He said that Fairfax and San Anselmo comprise about 20 per cent of the watershed for the Corte Madera Creek and that most of the maintenance work will be done in areas downstream where their dirt and silt was washed.

City Atty. Wallace S. Myers told the council that "not in every case are we free from taking care of the flow of water."

Councilman Frank J. Egger had said that Fairfax shouldn't be responsible for water downstream.

Councilman Frank J. O'Connell, who cast the only dissenting vote, attacked what he called the attitude: "as long as we're high and dry why should we be part of the problem?" attitude.

In a related matter, the council voted to include four recently annexed areas in the flood control agreement district.

Zunino Request For Dissolution

The wife of Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest C. Zunino filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court for dissolution of the couple's 14-year marriage.

Sally Louise Zunino cited irreconcilable differences in her petition for dissolution.

Zunino, 40, joined the district attorney's office in 1964. He ran unsuccessfully for Municipal Court judge last June.

They were married July 22, 1956, in Nevada, according to Mrs. Zunino's petition, and have two children, Ernest M., 10, and Laura L., 6.

The family home is at 131 Marinda Drive, Fairfax.

Mrs. Zunino seeks custody of the children, $350 monthly support for the children and $450 a month support for herself.

GE Warning On Light Defect

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The General Electric Co. has recalled all its outdoor floodlight and holder kits sold since August because of a possible wiring defect that could cause severe shock.

The GE Lamp Division here announced Monday an investigation showed only about 40 of the units already sold may be affected, but the recall was made as a precautionary measure.

Owners of such units purchased during or after August were asked to return them to GE offices here. The company also requested dealer and distributor stocks to be returned for inspection.

Innocent Plea To Grand Theft Charge

Stephen L. Brusell, 18, of Petaluma, pleaded innocent yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court to charges of grand theft and possession of stolen property.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon released him on his own recognizance and set a preliminary hearing for June 4 at 2 p.m. Brusell was arrested Friday along with three juveniles on suspicion of taking a boat from its storage place at 743 Paula Lane, Petaluma.

Arrests In Attempted Burglary

Three 19-year-old San Rafael youths were booked into Marin County Jail today on suspicion of attempted burglary of the Gemini clothing store in Sausalito.

Johnny Lin Motta, of 141 Auburn Street, Michael Mario Colombo, of 267 Mountain View Avenue and Kenneth Kay Kuhl, of 103 Orange Street were arrested by Sausalito police about 2:45 a.m. They were apprehended after an officer, who received a report of a burglary in progress, noticed their auto leaving the vicinity of the store.

Police, who stopped the car in the 1000 block of Bridgeway, said they noticed two tire irons and two pairs of gloves in the auto. One iron bore traces of paint similar to that on the store's door which showed signs of being forced, officers noted. The store was not entered, according to police.

Apartment Rezone Plea Is Rejected

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night denied a Fairfax man's request that his Sycamore Avenue property be rezoned for apartment use.

In denying George Surovtsov's request for property at 122 Sycamore, the commission said that to grant it "would have the effect of condemning the entire Sycamore Area to R-3 (high density) zoning."

According to the commission secretary, Surovtsov pleaded that the old home on the property has been vacant for 3 months and no longer is an income property.

Sycamore Avenue is currently zoned and developed as a single-family residential area.

What Surovtsov planned for his property if rezoned was not disclosed last night, the secretary said.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If You Hate Deceit Just Forget Today's Real Gem

Capturing an opponent's king with your ace is the best normal way to promote the value of a minor honor (such as a ten or jack) held by your side. In some hands, however, you must be cunning rather than normal. If you would rather lose than practice deception on your opponents, you have my permission to forget today's article as soon as you have read it.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

QUEEN OF HEARTS

West opened the queen of hearts, a very normal card, against the normal contract of four spades. After all, this is not going to be a tale of unrelieved villainy.

Declarer won in dummy with the ace of hearts and led a low trump. East played low, and South put up the king. If West had been a normal, virtuous taxpayer, he would have captured the trick with the ace of spades and you would now be reading about some other hand. South would eventually get to dummy to lead the ten of spades for a finesse; and East's jack of spades would never win the setting trick.

CASUAL PLAY

As it happened, West was a devious character. When South led a trump to the king, West casually played his low trump as though he were just normally following suit.

South led a diamond to dummy and returned the ten of spades just to see what East would do. East naturally played low, and South stopped for thought. South was clever enough to know that West might be giving him the business, but the odds are always against skullduggery: first, West must have the ace of spades and, second, he must think of playing low without giving himself away.

QUEEN OF SPADES

South therefore put up the queen of spades in the hope that East had started with A-x-x of spades. West promptly produced the ace, remarking: "Very careless of me. I forgot to take this last time."

East eventually took the setting trick with the jack of spades, and South realized that West was an unreliable character.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠- J 5 3
♥- K 9 8 4 2
♦- Q J 6
♣- 5 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

You would bid one heart if partner opened with one club or one diamond, but the hand is not strong enough for a response of two hearts over an opening bid of one spade.

Furniture Taken

Outdoor furniture valued at $352 was taken between 5 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday from the Rafael Racquet Club at 95 Racquet Club Drive, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, May 18, the 138th day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. There is no evening star.

Those born on ths day are under the sign of Taurus.

On this day in history:

In 1852 Massachusetts became the first state to pass a law making school attendance compulsory for children between the ages of 8 and 14.

In 1860 Abraham Lincoln was nominated for president by the Republican party at a Chicago convention.

In 1941 throughout the nation, the first "I Am an American Day" was held, honoring 300,000 aliens who had become U.S. citizens the past year.

In 1969 Apollo 10, with three American astronauts aboard, blasted off for the moon in a rehearsal flight for a lunar landing.

A thought for today: Spanish novelist Miguel de Cervantes said, "That's the nature of women, not to love when we love them and to love when we love them not."

Vandals Scratch Eight Used Cars

Vandals scratched the hoods of eight used cars sometime Friday night or early Saturday morning at Annex Motors Sales at 535 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

Mgr. William H. Beeble said that he thought it was the work of someone walking by with a sharp instrument. He estimated $200 damage to the cars.

334 To Graduate At Drake

Red roses and the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" will contribute to the traditional nature of Sir Francis Drake High School's 20th graduation ceremony, to be held June 11 at 8:30 p.m. in the boys' gymnasium.

The 334-member graduating class will hear speeches from seniors Jim Phelps, Rick Jones and Heidi Looper, and receive their diplomas from retiring Principal Harold Allison.

Music will be provided by the A Cappella choir, which will sing "Halls of Ivy" and "We've Only Just Begun."

The graduates (girls in white gowns and carrying red roses, boys in black gowns), will march down the aisle to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" and exit to "Sine Nomine", both played by the school orchestra.

Admission to the graduation is by ticket only. Each graduate has been given 4 tickets to give to relatives and friends.

Candidates for graduation are:

New Policy Working To Curb 'Fast-Buck, Shady Operator'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —California has begun the first state regulation of the franchising industry which has made a buck for some and lost a bundle for others in everything from fried chicken to dry cleaners.

State officials hope it will save gullible investors from the "suede-shoe" operator who preys on the financially ignorant.

The law was passed by the 1970 Legislature and went into effect the first of this year. Its provisions are manifold and complex but are geared toward informing the potential investor of what he's getting into.

Richard Gilbert, deputy state attorney general, said the law "does a lot" to curb what he called the "fast-buck, shady operator" from bilking unsuspecting investors.

"First, it discourages fraudulent operators from thinking of selling franchises, and, second, it gives necessary information to persons who are thinking of investing," Gilbert said.

A key provision of the new law requires the franchisor to file a current financial statement with the State Department of Corporations and make it available to the prospective franchisee.

Another section gives the potential investor 48 hours to scan—with the help of an attorney and accountant—the financial stability of the franchising concern.

James L. Kelly, deputy state corporations commissioner, said he is "very confident" the information will be a prime consideration in a person's decision whether to buy a franchise.

"I don't think people are as unsophisticated as some persons believe," Kelly said. "Give them the facts and they can discern where the problem areas are and what they want or don't want to get into."

Kelly said the losses suffered by earlier investors during the franchise boom of the 1960s were partially brought on by two factors.

One, he said, was the "lack of information" a franchise would get on a business. The other was the "undercapitalization" of a franchising firm.

Under the new law, in addition to financial disclosure, the franchisor must provide a statement showing conditions under which the franchise can be canceled. He must provide information concerning the formula on which the franchise fee is based.

The franchise salesman must also disclose the extent to which the franchisee must purchase his supplies, products, fixtures and other goods from the franchisor.

Gilbert, who said "franchise fraud" is "among the biggest problems" the attorney general's office must deal with, said the new law provides "a general shakeout" of dishonest operators who have given the franchising business a black eye in some areas of the business community.

"The new law serves to discourage them from coming into California," he said.

Kelly agreed, saying he expects some franchisors who have been operating in California to pack up and leave, without bothering to even file an application for doing business.

Kelly said 140 franchisors so far have filed applications with his office to sell in California. Under the law, the corporations commissioner can deny permits to firms he considers financially unstable.

Kelly said there was no way to determine the number of franchises sold in the state, since no registration of them had ever been made before.

With the law in effect less than five months, already one lawsuit has resulted from its antifraud provisions.

The attorney general's office has filed a complaint against a company proposing to train persons under a franchise to learn how to fill out income tax returns.

Merger Aids Both Producers, The Consumers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Both producers and consumers will be the beneficiaries of the recent merger of two inspection programs of the state Department of Agriculture, director Jerry W. Fielder announced Monday.

Ha said the merger went into effect May 3 and combined the bureaus of Fruit and Vegetable Standardization and Shipping Point Inspection into a new Fruit and Vegetable Quality Control bureau.

Fielder said the change was designed to more effectively coordinate produce inspection and certification in California.

John T. Miller, presently chief of the department's Fruit and Vegetable Standardization program, will be assigned as assistant to Dr. Laland Bartlet, assistant director for inspection services, in whose division the new bureau will operate.

Classroom At School Entered

Someone entered a classroom at West Novato School this past weekend, threw items around the room and wrote obscenities on the blackboard, Novato police reported today.

Officers said the entry was between 8 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. yesterday.

Miscellaneous unidentified items were taken and the loss was estimated at $10.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Symptoms Similar In Childrens' Strokes — But Causes Different

Strokes may develop in infants, children and adolescents. Although the symptoms are much the same as seen in adults, the causes vary considerably.. I was called by the mother of a 7-month-old child who was having convulsions. During the examination, I found that the infant was not using his right arm or moving his right leg. The tyke was hospitalized and we found that one of the vessels in the brain was ruptured. He had been born with several weakened cerebral arteries that had ballooned out like an old inner tube. It was just a matter of time before one of these vessels would break and cause fatal brain hemorrhage.

INFECTION IS A more common cause of childhood stroke. A 10-year-old boy developed a sore throat with tonsilitis and nasal congestion. He had a high fever and felt miserable. After antibiotics were given, he began to improve. Two weeks later the lad developed convulsions involving the muscles of the right side of his face and right arm. He could barely move his right leg and became stuporous. Tests showed he had meningitis. A different antibiotic was prescribed and the boy gradually improved.

IN HIS CASE, the respiratory infection had spread to the brain via veins that travel in that direction. The blood that clotted in the veins led to phlebitis in the brain. Fortunately the condition was recognized and treated promptly. Any process that blocks or ruptures cerebral vessels can culminate in a strokelike disorder.

HEAD INJURIES may do the same, if the end result is hemorrhage. Youngsters with bleeding tendencies also run the risk of stroke. When a blood clot breaks loose and races to the brain, there may be sudden and severe damage to the nervous system. Stroke is serious at any age but in children the outcome depends upon the cause.

RETURN OF THE PERIOD

Mrs. B. W. writes: Is it possible for a woman not to have a monthly period for a year after childbirth? This is her fourth baby. P.S. It was a spontaneous delivery.

REPLY

This is not the usual aftermath to childbirth but if it happened to the woman, we must assume it is possible. I hope this is not a sign that No. 5 is on the way.

NOT IN HARMONY

W. A. writes: What is hormonal imbalance?

REPLY

This term implies that the glands in the body are not working in harmony. One or more of these structures is sluggish and in need of rejuvenation. Frequently the thyroid gland is the culprit. When it becomes lazy or too active, the other glands are affected secondarily.

ALLERGY AND CARROTS

B. T. writes: What is there in carrots that causes canker sores on the tongue?

REPLY

Nothing, to my knowledge, unless your cankers stem from an allergy to carrots. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on canker sores.

CRAMPS AFTER TEA

W. A. writes: When I drink tea at work, I get stomach cramps. Why?

REPLY

The caffeine in tea may increase the acids and churning movements of the stomach. Are you relaxed at teatime or is it an occasion for bickering?

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Shopping Center Is A Mixed Bag

A big shopping center is a mixed bag. It is private property, yet it takes on many of the qualities of a public area. The Supreme Court has referred to the shopping center as the "modern analogue to the town center."

Recently Harry Hippie went to the shopping center and bought a coke. He sat on a bench there, drinking it and talking to a friend. A store security officer told Harry and his bearded friend to move on. After some heated words the security officer ordered Harry off the premises. When he failed to leave, the officer made a citizen's arrest. Harry was charged with breaking the city anti-loitering law.

Harry's lawyer argued that the city ordinance was unconstitutional. The court ruled that the shopping center does not have absolute power to arbitrarily eject Harry, a would-be customer. But the shopping center could remove him for good reasons. The city ordinance gives the merchant power to arrest and remove the customer who might injure or disrupt his business. But that must be proved. Looks alone are not enough.

For example, no merchant can remove a person because of his color, race, religion or ancestry. Even back in the early days of the common law, certain kinds of business were "affected with a public interest." The laws imposed on them a common law duty to serve all customers on reasonable terms. Discrimination was ruled out.

The more the premises are affected with a public interest — the more the place takes on the qualities of a public premise — the less power the owner has to remove people.

In one case the manager of a race track tried to expel a patron who had a "reputation" as a bookie: He sued to prevent his ouster. The court ruled that the person could not be kept away without some better grounds than "reputation." The person must be involved in some kind of illegal activity.

In another case the bar owner tried to keep "homosexuals" out of his bar and restaurant. The courts said that homosexuals had the right to food and drink as long as they were acting properly. If they were committing illegal or immoral acts then they could be removed. (Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.)

Span Decision Now In Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation that would leave it up to San Francisco Bay Area voters to decide the question whether a southern crossing bridge should be built was in the hands of the Senate today.

The bill by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, was approved by the Senate Transportation Committee Monday without opposition and sent to the full Senate.

Crown submitted the measure after Gov. Ronald Reagan vetoed legislation prohibiting construction of the span without legislative approval. Reagan said the populace of the area should decide the issue.

Under the measure, voters in San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties would decide in the June 1972 primary election whether the bridge should be constructed.

No Invitation To The Wedding

GRASS VALLEY, Calif. (UPI)—Tricia Nixon's wedding invitation list failed to include the name of at least one of President Nixon's two cousins living in rural Nevada County.

Oliver Milhous, who operated the 700-acre Milhous Boys Ranch, said Monday he has not received an invitation to the June 12 White House wedding of Nixon's eldest daughter.

"No comment," was the response from the other cousin, Phillip Milhous, when asked if he had been invited. He created a nationwide stir in February when he revealed his family was on welfare.

Both cousins were invited to Nixon's inauguration in 1969 but neither attended.

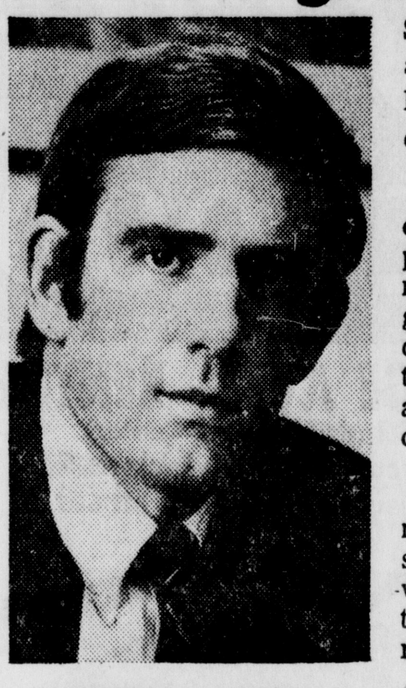
San Jose Professor To Guide Drake High Plan

The Tamalpais High School district board last night unanimously appointed a 34-year-old associate professor of English at San Jose State College to the position of assistant superintendent at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo.

Dr. Thomas Mayer Lorch was named to the $24,000 per year job which had been sought by 130 others.

Lorch, who is married and resides in San Francisco, graduated Phi Beta Kappa and summa cum laude from Yale University in 1958 with a bachelors' degree in history.

In 1959, he received his master's degree in English from the University of Chicago and in 1965 his doctorate in English krom Yale. He also has studied at Northwestern, Harvard and Stanford universities.



THOMAS A. LORCH
To head Drake High

His teaching experience includes positions at Groton School in Massachusetts, Yale and the University of Norte Dame where he was an associate professor.

His administrative experience at Notre Dame included positions of director of freshman English, director of undergraduate studies in English, director of the program for the training of teaching assistants and memberships on several committees.

Lorch, who will assume his new duties at the end of this school year, will be charged with guiding Drake High School through a test of controversial reorganization.

If successful at Drake next year, reorganization to decentralize the district will be undertaken at the district's other two schools.

Students Critical Of Athletic Recommendations; Seek Study

A committee studying whether athletic programs are wanted or needed in the Tamalpais High School District was criticized last night by student representatives who called for a study of the study committee.

Addressing their comments to the district board, students Joe Franaszek and David Bonfield of Redwood High School charged the athletic study committee, which has no student representative, "is heavily weighted against change in the athletic program."

The purpose of the committee when formed was to determine what part, if any, athletics should play in education, young Franaszek told the board. "Now we find the committee making recommendations."

The staff committee was formed in August to deal with the question of whether athletics is an integral part of education and if so, to what extent, and if not what to do with it.

The main issue arises from student demands that their funds not be used to support school teams. Currently, athletic programs operate on a $120,000 per year budget of which $12,000 comes directly from student body coffers.

The question was raised a year ago when student officers at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo tried to withhold funds from the athletic department.

Franaszek said students "didn't push" for membership on the committee when it was formed because they felt it would not make recommendations but limit itself to analysis of the role of athletics. However, he said, now it is supplying the district's budget committee with information for next year's budget.

Drake principal Harold Allison, who heads the committee said he was unaware of the students' disenchantment with his group.

He said the committee had agreed to accept one student as an observer and that the student's suggestions were considered. However, he said, the student has no committee vote.

In giving an oral report on the committee, Allison said it has been inactive since March and indicated it probably would not complete its work by the end of the school year.

Student Bonfield asked that before the committee proceeds further, Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins outline how the athletics program will fit in a decentralized district as proposed, the student advisory committee be directed to study the study committee, the study committee hold its meetings in public and a student be given full membership.

Board president David R. Ring, following some board discussion, told the students the board at this point couldn't be concerned with the mechanics of committee operation.

A mistake was made by the board when the committee was formed by not specificing voting membership, he acknowledged. However, he assured student concerns would be given a full hearing when the question of athletics came before the trustees.

Report Is Set Aside, Pending A Closed Probe

A consultant's report on Tamalpais High School District's controversial education program for mentally retarded students was set aside last night by the district board in favor of a closed session Monday to hear charges against two of the program's three teachers.

The program erupted into controversy last year when parents charged their children were being "treated as outcasts" by some teachers and students at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley where the program is held.

The board responded to their charges by hiring a consultant to study the program and come up with recommended changes.

"The consultant concluded that the program was an excellent one," Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins told the board. But, he added, parents have lodged formal complaints against faculty members.

Board president David D. Ring said he felt discussion of the program would be useless until a closed session on the charges could be held.

"There's no feasible way to discuss it without getting into names and specifics," he said.

E. Allen Arnold, a parent and head of a parent protest group, told the Independent-Journal parents of 10 children have filed the charges against the teachers.

Arnold, who lives at 212 Cascade Drive, Mill Valley, said the document stating their position and charges.

In letters filed earlier with the district, the parents charged some teachers are inept at their jobs, show little concern for their students and frequently leave students unattended.

The board's closed session is scheduled for Monday at 8 p.m. at the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

A second controversial issue was contained last night when Dr. Hawkins told the board he was not yet ready to recommend it rescind its 1969 policy on hair.

He said the recommendation would come before the board again at its next meeting.

Elephant Jam In Lincoln Tunnel

NEW YORK (UPI)—Traffic jams are nothing new to the New York metropolitan area, but Manhattan-bound drivers from New Jersey experienced their first elephant jam Monday night.

A caravan of 18 elephants lumbered through the busy Lincoln Tunnel under the Hudson River when the nationwide rail strike forced their 30-car train to stop in South Kearny, N.J.

Most of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus equipment was transferred from the train to vans which drove through the busy tunnel, but the elephants walked through one section of the tunnel.

334 To Graduate At Drake

Red roses and the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" will contribute to the traditional nature of Sir Francis Drake High School's 20th graduation ceremony, to be held June 11 at 8:30 p.m. in the boys' gymnasium.

The 334-member graduating class will hear speeches from seniors Jim Phelps, Rick Jones and Heidi Looper, and receive their diplomas from retiring Principal Harold Allison.

Music will be provided by the A Cappella choir, which will sing "Halls of Ivy" and "We've Only Just Begun."

The graduates (girls in white gowns and carrying red roses, boys in black gowns), will march down the aisle to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" and exit to "Sine Nomine", both played by the school orchestra.

Admission to the graduation is by ticket only. Each graduate has been given 4 tickets to give to relatives and friends.

Candidates for graduation are:

New Policy Working To Curb 'Fast-Buck, Shady Operator'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —California has begun the first state regulation of the franchising industry which has made a buck for some and lost a bundle for others in everything from fried chicken to dry cleaners.

State officials hope it will save gullible investors from the "suede-shoe" operator who preys on the financially ignorant.

The law was passed by the 1970 Legislature and went into effect the first of this year. Its provisions are manifold and complex but are geared toward informing the potential investor of what he's getting into.

Richard Gilbert, deputy state attorney general, said the law "does a lot" to curb what he called the "fast-buck, shady operator" from bilking unsuspecting investors.

"First, it discourages fraudulent operators from thinking of selling franchises, and, second, it gives necessary information to persons who are thinking of investing," Gilbert said.

A key provision of the new law requires the franchisor to file a current financial statement with the State Department of Corporations and make it available to the prospective franchisee.

Another section gives the potential investor 48 hours to scan—with the help of an attorney and accountant—the financial stability of the franchising concern.

James L. Kelly, deputy state corporations commissioner, said he is "very confident" the information will be a prime consideration in a person's decision whether to buy a franchise.

"I don't think people are as unsophisticated as some persons believe," Kelly said. "Give them the facts and they can discern where the problem areas are and what they want or don't want to get into."

Kelly said the losses suffered by earlier investors during the franchise boom of the 1960s were partially brought on by two factors.

One, he said, was the "lack of information" a franchise would get on a business. The other was the "undercapitalization" of a franchising firm.

Under the new law, in addition to financial disclosure, the franchisor must provide a statement showing conditions under which the franchise can be canceled. He must provide information concerning the formula on which the franchise fee is based.

The franchise salesman must also disclose the extent to which the franchisee must purchase his supplies, products, fixtures and other goods from the franchisor.

Gilbert, who said "franchise fraud" is "among the biggest problems" the attorney general's office must deal with, said the new law provides "a general shakeout" of dishonest operators who have given the franchising business a black eye in some areas of the business community.

"The new law serves to discourage them from coming into California," he said.

Kelly agreed, saying he expects some franchisors who have been operating in California to pack up and leave, without bothering to even file an application for doing business.

Kelly said 140 franchisors so far have filed applications with his office to sell in California. Under the law, the corporations commissioner can deny permits to firms he considers financially unstable.

Kelly said there was no way to determine the number of franchises sold in the state, since no registration of them had ever been made before.

With the law in effect less than five months, already one lawsuit has resulted from its antifraud provisions.

The attorney general's office has filed a complaint against a company proposing to train persons under a franchise to learn how to fill out income tax returns.

Merger Aids Both Producers, The Consumers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Both producers and consumers will be the beneficiaries of the recent merger of two inspection programs of the state Department of Agriculture, director Jerry W. Fielder announced Monday.

Ha said the merger went into effect May 3 and combined the bureaus of Fruit and Vegetable Standardization and Shipping Point Inspection into a new Fruit and Vegetable Quality Control bureau.

Fielder said the change was designed to more effectively coordinate produce inspection and certification in California.

John T. Miller, presently chief of the department's Fruit and Vegetable Standardization program, will be assigned as assistant to Dr. Laland Bartlet, assistant director for inspection services, in whose division the new bureau will operate.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Symptoms Similar In Childrens' Strokes — But Causes Different

Strokes may develop in infants, children and adolescents. Although the symptoms are much the same as seen in adults, the causes vary considerably.. I was called by the mother of a 7-month-old child who was having convulsions. During the examination, I found that the infant was not using his right arm or moving his right leg. The tyke was hospitalized and we found that one of the vessels in the brain was ruptured. He had been born with several weakened cerebral arteries that had ballooned out like an old inner tube. It was just a matter of time before one of these vessels would break and cause fatal brain hemorrhage.

INFECTION IS A more common cause of childhood stroke. A 10-year-old boy developed a sore throat with tonsilitis and nasal congestion. He had a high fever and felt miserable. After antibiotics were given, he began to improve. Two weeks later the lad developed convulsions involving the muscles of the right side of his face and right arm. He could barely move his right leg and became stuporous. Tests showed he had meningitis. A different antibiotic was prescribed and the boy gradually improved.

IN HIS CASE, the respiratory infection had spread to the brain via veins that travel in that direction. The blood that clotted in the veins led to phlebitis in the brain. Fortunately the condition was recognized and treated promptly. Any process that blocks or ruptures cerebral vessels can culminate in a strokelike disorder.

HEAD INJURIES may do the same, if the end result is hemorrhage. Youngsters with bleeding tendencies also run the risk of stroke. When a blood clot breaks loose and races to the brain, there may be sudden and severe damage to the nervous system. Stroke is serious at any age but in children the outcome depends upon the cause.

RETURN OF THE PERIOD

Mrs. B. W. writes: Is it possible for a woman not to have a monthly period for a year after childbirth? This is her fourth baby. P.S. It was a spontaneous delivery.

REPLY

This is not the usual aftermath to childbirth but if it happened to the woman, we must assume it is possible. I hope this is not a sign that No. 5 is on the way.

NOT IN HARMONY

W. A. writes: What is hormonal imbalance?

REPLY

This term implies that the glands in the body are not working in harmony. One or more of these structures is sluggish and in need of rejuvenation. Frequently the thyroid gland is the culprit. When it becomes lazy or too active, the other glands are affected secondarily.

ALLERGY AND CARROTS

B. T. writes: What is there in carrots that causes canker sores on the tongue?

REPLY

Nothing, to my knowledge, unless your cankers stem from an allergy to carrots. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on canker sores.

CRAMPS AFTER TEA

W. A. writes: When I drink tea at work, I get stomach cramps. Why?

REPLY

The caffeine in tea may increase the acids and churning movements of the stomach. Are you relaxed at teatime or is it an occasion for bickering?

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Shopping Center Is A Mixed Bag

A big shopping center is a mixed bag. It is private property, yet it takes on many of the qualities of a public area. The Supreme Court has referred to the shopping center as the "modern analogue to the town center."

Recently Harry Hippie went to the shopping center and bought a coke. He sat on a bench there, drinking it and talking to a friend. A store security officer told Harry and his bearded friend to move on. After some heated words the security officer ordered Harry off the premises. When he failed to leave, the officer made a citizen's arrest. Harry was charged with breaking the city anti-loitering law.

Harry's lawyer argued that the city ordinance was unconstitutional. The court ruled that the shopping center does not have absolute power to arbitrarily eject Harry, a would-be customer. But the shopping center could remove him for good reasons. The city ordinance gives the merchant power to arrest and remove the customer who might injure or disrupt his business. But that must be proved. Looks alone are not enough.

For example, no merchant can remove a person because of his color, race, religion or ancestry. Even back in the early days of the common law, certain kinds of business were "affected with a public interest." The laws imposed on them a common law duty to serve all customers on reasonable terms. Discrimination was ruled out.

The more the premises are affected with a public interest — the more the place takes on the qualities of a public premise — the less power the owner has to remove people.

In one case the manager of a race track tried to expel a patron who had a "reputation" as a bookie: He sued to prevent his ouster. The court ruled that the person could not be kept away without some better grounds than "reputation." The person must be involved in some kind of illegal activity.

In another case the bar owner tried to keep "homosexuals" out of his bar and restaurant. The courts said that homosexuals had the right to food and drink as long as they were acting properly. If they were committing illegal or immoral acts then they could be removed. (Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.)

Span Decision Now In Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation that would leave it up to San Francisco Bay Area voters to decide the question whether a southern crossing bridge should be built was in the hands of the Senate today.

The bill by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, was approved by the Senate Transportation Committee Monday without opposition and sent to the full Senate.

Crown submitted the measure after Gov. Ronald Reagan vetoed legislation prohibiting construction of the span without legislative approval. Reagan said the populace of the area should decide the issue.

Under the measure, voters in San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties would decide in the June 1972 primary election whether the bridge should be constructed.

No Invitation To The Wedding

GRASS VALLEY, Calif. (UPI)—Tricia Nixon's wedding invitation list failed to include the name of at least one of President Nixon's two cousins living in rural Nevada County.

Oliver Milhous, who operated the 700-acre Milhous Boys Ranch, said Monday he has not received an invitation to the June 12 White House wedding of Nixon's eldest daughter.

"No comment," was the response from the other cousin, Phillip Milhous, when asked if he had been invited. He created a nationwide stir in February when he revealed his family was on welfare.

Both cousins were invited to Nixon's inauguration in 1969 but neither attended.

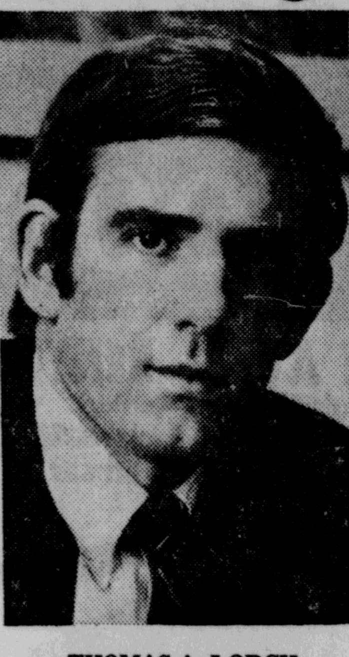
San Jose Professor To Guide Drake High Plan



THOMAS A. LORCH
To head Drake High

The Tamalpais High School district board last night unanimously appointed a 34-year-old associate professor of English at San Jose State College to the position of assistant superintendent at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo.

Dr. Thomas Mayer Lorch was named to the $24,000 per year job which had been sought by 130 others.

Lorch, who is married and resides in San Francisco, graduated Phi Beta Kappa and summa cum laude from Yale University in 1958 with a bachelors' degree in history.

In 1959, he received his master's degree in English from the University of Chicago and in 1965 his doctorate in English krom Yale. He also has studied at Northwestern, Harvard and Stanford universities.

His teaching experience includes positions at Groton School in Massachusetts, Yale and the University of Norte Dame where he was an associate professor.

His administrative experience at Notre Dame included positions of director of freshman English, director of undergraduate studies in English, director of the program for the training of teaching assistants and memberships on several committees.

Lorch, who will assume his new duties at the end of this school year, will be charged with guiding Drake High School through a test of controversial reorganization.

If successful at Drake next year, reorganization to decentralize the district will be undertaken at the district's other two schools.

Students Critical Of Athletic Recommendations; Seek Study

A committee studying whether athletic programs are wanted or needed in the Tamalpais High School District was criticized last night by student representatives who called for a study of the study committee.

Addressing their comments to the district board, students Joe Franaszek and David Bonfield of Redwood High School charged the athletic study committee, which has no student representative, "is heavily weighted against change in the athletic program."

The purpose of the committee when formed was to determine what part, if any, athletics should play in education, young Franaszek told the board. "Now we find the committee making recommendations."

The staff committee was formed in August to deal with the question of whether athletics is an integral part of education and if so, to what extent, and if not what to do with it.

The main issue arises from student demands that their funds not be used to support school teams. Currently, athletic programs operate on a $120,000 per year budget of which $12,000 comes directly from student body coffers.

The question was raised a year ago when student officers at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo tried to withhold funds from the athletic department.

Franaszek said students "didn't push" for membership on the committee when it was formed because they felt it would not make recommendations but limit itself to analysis of the role of athletics. However, he said, now it is supplying the district's budget committee with information for next year's budget.

Drake principal Harold Allison, who heads the committee said he was unaware of the students' disenchantment with his group.

He said the committee had agreed to accept one student as an observer and that the student's suggestions were considered. However, he said, the student has no committee vote.

In giving an oral report on the committee, Allison said it has been inactive since March and indicated it probably would not complete its work by the end of the school year.

Student Bonfield asked that before the committee proceeds further, Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins outline how the athletics program will fit in a decentralized district as proposed, the student advisory committee be directed to study the study committee, the study committee hold its meetings in public and a student be given full membership.

Board president David R. Ring, following some board discussion, told the students the board at this point couldn't be concerned with the mechanics of committee operation.

A mistake was made by the board when the committee was formed by not specificing voting membership, he acknowledged. However, he assured student concerns would be given a full hearing when the question of athletics came before the trustees.

Elephant Jam In Lincoln Tunnel

NEW YORK (UPI)—Traffic jams are nothing new to the New York metropolitan area, but Manhattan-bound drivers from New Jersey experienced their first elephant jam Monday night.

A caravan of 18 elephants lumbered through the busy Lincoln Tunnel under the Hudson River when the nationwide rail strike forced their 30-car train to stop in South Kearny, N.J.

Most of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus equipment was transferred from the train to vans which drove through the busy tunnel, but the elephants walked through one section of the tunnel.

Tar Paper Stolen

Twenty rolls of black tar paper, valued at $300, were taken from the Tamalpais Lumber Yard warehouse at 241 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, between May 7 and 10, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Report Is Set Aside, Pending A Closed Probe

A consultant's report on Tamalpais High School District's controversial education program for mentally retarded students was set aside last night by the district board in favor of a closed session Monday to hear charges against two of the program's three teachers.

The program erupted into controversy last year when parents charged their children were being "treated as outcasts" by some teachers and students at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley where the program is held.

The board responded to their charges by hiring a consultant to study the program and come up with recommended changes.

"The consultant concluded that the program was an excellent one,'' Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins told the board. But, he added, parents have lodged formal complaints against faculty members.

Board president David D. Ring said he felt discussion of the program would be useless until a closed session on the charges could be held.

"There's no feasible way to discuss it without getting into names and specifics," he said.

E. Allen Arnold, a parent and head of a parent protest group, told the Independent-Journal parents of 10 children have filed the charges against the teachers.

Arnold, who lives at 212 Cascade Drive, Mill Valley, said the document stating their position and charges.

In letters filed earlier with the district, the parents charged some teachers are inept at their jobs, show little concern for their students and frequently leave students unattended.

The board's closed session is scheduled for Monday at 8 p.m. at the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

A second controversial issue was contained last night when Dr. Hawkins told the board he was not yet ready to recommend it rescind its 1969 policy on hair.

He said the recommendation would come before the board again at its next meeting.

JIM GILMARTIN

An Incubator For Champions

As I keep reminding you, Marin County is an incubator for champions. Spirited champs, too.

Last week at Moraga, St. Mary's College honored its outstanding athletes with a number of trophies, including the "Tom Nelson Award" to the "most spirited" ball player. This is quite an honor named for the former Terra Linda High School star, a St. Mary's graduate now serving with the United States Marine Corps at Parris Island, South Carolina.

When he starred for the St. Mary's baseball team all four years of his college career, Tom Nelson won the "most spirited" award three times so the athletic department decided to permanently name the trophy after him. And that is quite an honor for another local boy who makes good.

ALLAN MURRAY of Marin got quite a writeup in the May 15 issue of the St. Louis Sporting News for his work as president of the San Francisco Giants Boosters Club. The article noted that the club if unofficially known as "Murray's Roadrunners" for his energetic travel itinerary to follow the Giants. Also, the author made quite a bit to do about the Boosters' alcoholic beverage consumption on their safaris, and that's the truth, pfffzzz.

MY OH MY, but Petaluma was a hub of activity last Friday night. Not only did the well-publicized World's Wristwrestling Tournament pack 'em into Veterans Memorial Building, but Petaluma Speedway had its usual Friday night throng out for the NASCAR races in which San Rafael's Gary Ramsier finished second in the sportsman division main event.

ANOTHER "LOCAL boy makes good" item: Gino Marco, a student at College of Marin, scored a goal for the Scots in their 2-2 tie with the San Francisco Athletic Club in Sunday's exhibition soccer matches at Kentfield, attended by more than 850 persons. San Rafael barkeep Henry Landauer, the noted international referee, was scheduled to officiate the two games but had to miss it because of a business trip.

WHEN WILLIE MAYS hit his 600th career home run last year, the company that manufactures his bats rewarded him with one share of its stock for each foot the ball travelled — well over 300.

Now, I just learned that when Atlanta's Hank Aaron hit his 600th homer earlier this year, General Mills presented him with— are you ready? — 600 boxes of WHEATIES! (Aaron has been featured in Wheaties television commercials.)

I like Wheaties, but I think Mays got the best of the deal.

REDWOOD HIGH School has booked an intersectional basketball game next Dec. 28 when the Giants of Larkspur entertain Cottage Grove, Ore. High. That's because former Redwood and College of Marin star Jim Halm is head coach at Cottage Grove. He and Coach Dick Hart of Redwood had to obtain permission for the game from the California Interscholastic Federation which usually frowns on intersectionals.

Hawks, Canadiens At End Of The Line

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens come to the end of the road tonight. The team that wins the game wins the National Hockey League Stanley Cup.

The Hawks and the Habs are tied three-all in the best-of-seven match for pro hockey's highest honor and, if the first six are any indication, the seventh will be a thriller.

Only one of the six contests has been decided by more than a two-goal margin and the home team has won every time.

The Hawks got first crack at home ice and cashed in, whipping the Canadiens 2-1 in overtime and 5-3. In Montreal, the Habs evened things with 4-2 and 5-2 triumphs. Back in the Windy City, they dropped a 2-0 decision, then forced the seventh game with a come-from-behind 4-3 win on Montreal Forum ice.

The Hawks, even though they let their foes off the hook, seemed more relaxed than the Canadiens after the sixth tilt. As their plane back to Chicago waited for take off, they engaged in a pillow fight.

Montreal, meanwhile, has been under tension from a verbal blast at Coach Al McNeil by Henri Richard and a threat on McNeil's life.

The series already has produced a bumper crop of candidates for the Conn Smythe Trophy, awarded to the most valuable player in the playoffs.

The Canadiens' Frank Mahovlich has 14 playoff goals, breaking Phil Esposito's record, and 27 points, tying Esposito's mark. Other prime candidates include the goaltenders —Ken Dryden for Montreal and Tony Esposito for Chicago.

Esposito, in 17 playoff games, has a goals-against average of 2.14. Dryden's mark is 3.05 in 19 games.

Whichever way the series goes, it will enter the record books as the longest season in the 54-year history of the NHL. The Canadiens have played 107 games in regular-season and Stanley Cup play; the Hawks have played 105. May 18 is the limit set by the NHL for play.

Should Chicago win, it would be the Hawks' fourth Cup since they entered the NHL in 1927. The Habs, a charter member of the loop, have won the Stanley Cup 15 times.

Ridgle Signs Pact With The Cavaliers

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Jackie Ridgle, a 6-5 forward who finished as the third highest scorer in University of California history, has signed a contract with the Cleveland Cavaliers of the National Basketball Association.

The second team all-Pacific 8 Conference forward in all three of his collegiate seasons was one of two third-round picks by the Cavaliers.

SIGHTLESS SKIER

Frenchman Who Can't Be Stopped — That's Eymere

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Try to imagine putting on a blindfold, then a pair of skis, and heading down a slope through the trees with only the voice of a buddy guiding you along.

For 34-year-old John Eymere, that's normal skiing. John Eymere is totally blind.

A frenchman by birth and now resident of Aspen, Colo., Eymere doesn't have time for self-pity. He's too busy getting ready to open a summer-winter sports resort for the blind in Aspen. He's now in his last week of schooling at Guide Dogs for the Blind in Sn Rafael.

Sitting there with his golden retriever, Chianti, in the lounge at the school for the blind, talking with such enthusiasm and his non-seeing eyes looking squarely in the direction of the interviewer's voice, one has to remind himself this man is blind.

And being blind is a new experience for Eymere. He lost his eyesight due to diabetes. He began losing it three years ago — first one eye, then finally the other. By last September he was totally blind. But three months later he was already back on skis.

Born in Monte Carlo but reared in the Alps, Eymere was skiing as soon as he was walking. He moved to the United States from France in 1959 and shortly had his own engraving business in New York City. Five years ago he moved to Aspen and bought his own lodge, the Coachlight Chalet. So he switched from the engraving trade to ski instructor.

Brian Webber, an 18-year-old who was working at the chalet when Eyemere lost his eyesight suggested the two of them go skiing. Eymere, blind only three months, said, "sure."

"We had to try different methods to find which one worked best" said Eymere. "First I tried following him down the slope, listening for his commands, but I couldn't hear them well. Then we tried it with him beside me. That didn't work either. Finally I tried skiing behind him, and that seemed to work fine."

Three times since his blindness Eymere has smacked into trees during his skiing. "They were simple mistakes, like turning right when the guide said left," he said.

Since Eymere could still ski while blind, why couldn't others? he thought. With full cooperation of his fellow Lions Club members in Aspen, he is now in the process of starting a resort for the blind.

In addition to skiing, there will be ice skating, dancing, snow picnics, ice fishing and sleighriding during the winter. The summer program will include hiking, fishing, rock climbing, overnight camping and horseback riding.

'I'm learning how to ice skate now," said Eymere. "I hadn't tried it before I became blind, but I want to be able to do any of the things that we'll be offering for the blind people in our program."

Married and the father of two sons, 1 and 3, Eymere wants to take up mountain climbing when he returns to Aspen later this month.

"I'm anxious to try out new things, especially with Chianti," he said. "Maybe she can keep up with me skiing, maybe the snow will hurt her feet, who knows."

Eymere said he has found that 80 per cent of blind persons are on welfare. He recalls going to a get-together with some others who were blind and they "sat around listening to some accordion music."

"'This couldn't be like it is being blind,' I said to myself. That's when I got the idea to have a vacation spot for blind people . . . a place where they can do things."

After his graduation from the Guide Gods for the Blind Saturday, he'll be trying to do something about it. He'll give blind people something to do. If they can keep up with him.

Giants Try To Stop Hot Cubs

CHICAGO (UPI) —If there's a hotter team than the San Francisco Giants these days in the National League, it might be the Chicago Cubs.

With Billy Williams, Ron Santo and Jim Hickman blasting the ball and Ferguson Jenkins and Ken Holtzman striking out a lot of batters and winning a lot of games, the Cubs have strung together six wins in a row.

Meanwhile, the Giants posted an 8-4 record during the last homestand at Candlestick Park to currently nestle nine comfortable games atop the National League West with a 27-10 record.

The Cubs (18-17) have closed to within 4 1-2 games of the New York Mets in the NL's East.

San Francisco came to town today to match pitches and swings with the Cubs. Lefty Ron Bryant of the Giants went after his fourth win and was opposed by righthander Milt Pappas (4-4).

The teams also play Wednesday and Thursday afternoon at arcless Wrigley Field.

Manager Charlie Fox of the Giants said he may rest shotstop Chris Speier for awhile. The smooth-fielding rookie injured his left ankle on a play in the second inning Sunday against the Los Angeles Dodgers and then aggravated it while pivoting on a double play in the third but stayed in the game.

Outside of Willie McCovey's aching knees, the rest of the Giants are in fairly fine shape to begin the nine-game road trip which also takes them to Houston and Los Angeles.

The next double by Willie Mays will set an alltime Giants record. Mays is now tied with Mel Ott with 488 two-baggers.

Athletics To Open Homestand Tonight

Jim Hunter Gets Call Vs. Brewers

OAKLAND (UPI) —Righthander Jim Hunter of the Oakland A's chases his seventh straight victory of the season tonight in a "welcome home" game for the local white shoes.

The Milwaukee Brewers open the A's eight-game homestand with three night games. Marty Pattin, now 3-3, will oppose Hunter.

After losing two games to start off the season, Hunter has rebounded with six straight wins. Coupled with Vida Blue's eight victories, the two pitchers have produced 14 of Oakland's 25 wins.

In fact, Oakland manager Dick Williams is now faced with a surplus of starting pitchers.

Chuck Dobson and John Odom have overcome early season elbow problems and appear as healthy as ever. This was evidenced by their performances Sunday against the Kansas City Royals.

This means that Williams can call upon Hunter, Dobson, Blue, Rollie Fingers, Diego Segui and Odom as starters. But then each pitcher would probably get too much rest between starts and idleness sometimes breeds ineffectiveness.

To cure the problem, Williams has dropped Segui, the defending earned-run champion of the American League, from the rotation. Williams will use a five-pitcher rotation until situations demand otherwise.

The Athletics enjoyed an off day Monday after flying back from Kansas City and completing their last road trip with a 7-4 record. The A's are 17-6 on the road and 8-8 in the Oakland Coliseum.

Minnesota follows the Brewers into the Coliseum this weekend and the California Angels make their first appearance at the Coliseum next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Nicklaus Still No. 1 On List

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus topped golf's money winners for the fourth straight week Monday despite taking a vacation from the professional golf association's tour.

Nicklaus, who has won three of nine tournaments this year, has earned $131,788, leading Arnold Palmer, $106,796, and Miller Barber $99,037.

Gary Player is fourth on the list with $94,775 and Tom Shaw fifth with $81,845. Rounding out the top ten are Lee Trevino with $78,835, Frank Beard $72,658, George Archer $69,779, Billy Casper $64,820 and J. C. Snead $64,465.

NEW 49ER CONTRACT

Nolan In A Hurry To Get Started

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Rewarded with a new five-year contract, coach Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers turned today with zest to the 1971 season.

His old five-year pact, still with two years to run, was torn up by club president Lou Spadia Monday and he was given a new contract as an expression of appreciation and confidence by team owners.

"It would be a good guess he got a raise," Spaida told newsmen.

The 10-3 record forged last year by the 49ers under the 39-year-old Nolan was the team's best since joining the National Football League in 1950. The 49ers also won the Western Division title for the first time in history.

Nolan, a soft-spoken native of Pittsburgh who starred as a defensive back for the New York Giants, said he was happy with the new contract but was more interested in planning for the new season.

"Naturally, I'm pleased," he said. "Coaching is my life. I want to coach and that's what I'm doing. I'm grateful for the opportunity I have been given to coach that much longer."

In the same breath, Nolan said he anticipated another fine season for San Francisco. "We have to be a better ball club ... look at the competition in this league," he said.

He said he planned to install a multiple formation offense with the 49ers after seeing what success it had at Kansas City and Dallas where Nolan was an assistant coach before coming to San Francisco in 1968.

"I believe it is going to catch hold in the program. It's becoming more and more popular."

Nolan, near unanimous choice for NFC coach of the year in 1970, said he was looking forward to getting started on the new season.

"I want to see what our new players can do. We think we have the personnel to do a lot of things this year and we want to get started working with it."

Today quarterbacks John Brodie, Steve Spurrier and Buster O'Brien and six linebackers opened a six-day camp at the club's Redwood City training base.

The linebackers are Dave Wilcox, recovered from an off-season knee operation; Carter Campbell, a taxi squad member whose weight has shot from 213 to 238 pounds under a special exercise program; and veterans Skip Vanderbundt, Frank Nunley, Ed Beard and Jim Sniadecki.

3-Way Track Chase

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It will be USC, UCLA and Oregon dominating the Pacific Eight track championships, according to the coaches of Stanford and California's cinder teams.

Stanford's Payton Jordan and California's Dave Maggard agreed the three cinder powers would score heavily at the meet Friday and Saturday at Seattle, but they would not choose a winner among them.

Jordan said Oregon coach Bill Bowerman was a master at disguising his plans by entering runners in all possible events as a decoy to other coaches and then just having them go where they can pick up the most points.

Jordan pointed out that while his Indians are longshots, they still include five school record holders —Randy White in the intermediate hurdles (50.7), Don Kardong in the three mile (13:28), Rick Tipton in the high hurdles (13.7), Al Meredith in the triple jump (52'3-) and Duncan MacDonald in the mile (3:59.6).

Maggard said that freshman Rick Brown, fresh from setting an American record in the 600 meters, and jumper Jim Frazier would head the Bears' contingent, but that sprinters Eddie Hart and Isaac Curtis are doubtful.

Yanks Whip Orioles

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The New York Yankees are finally beginning to make believers out of themselves with their new-found confidence coming at the expense of the Baltimore Orioles.

The Yankees took advantage of three Baltimore errors and three stolen bases to defeat the Orioles, 6-3, behind the combined seven-hit pitching of Mel Stottlemyre and Jack Aker.

Roy White, who almost sat out the game because of a wisdom tooth extraction, hit a two-run homer in the first inning and Jerry Kenney "stole" two runs to lead the Yankee attack.

"We played an outstanding game," Stottlemyre (4-1), said of the Yanks' performance. "We took advantage of their mistakes."

The Yankees capitalized on the Baltimore miscues to score three unearned runs. In the second inning Kenney was safe at first on shortstop Mark Belanger's throwing error. After executing the first of his two steals, Keney scored on Gene Michael's single.

In the eighth inning, Bobby Murcer and Danny Cater hit back-to-back singles. Felipe Alou then hit a routine grounder to third baseman Brooks Robinson. Robinson's peg was in time to get Murcer at the plate but catcher Elrod Hendricks dropped the ball allowing Murcer to score. Kenney's sacrifice fly scored Cater to wrap up the New York scoring.

Kenney also scored in the fourth inning when he singled, stole second and scored on Michaels' single.

In other American League action Boston defeated Detroit 3-2, Cleveland whipped Washington 6-3, and Minnesota edged California, 3-2.

Homers by John Lowenstein and Ken Harrelson gave the Cleveland Indians enough edge for their victory over Washington. The Indians survived an outfield collision that resulted in three of their players being knocked out in a bizarre 110-foot homer.

Lowenstein was involved in the fourth inning accident. He and shortstop Jack Heidemann were hospitalized for observation of leg injuries and Vada Pinson was treated for face cuts that needed nine stitches.

All three slammed together converging for a pop hit to shallow left by Tom McCraw and as they lay stunned he ran around the bases for his freak inside-the-park homer.

George Scott's two-run double in the fifth inning enabled Ray Culp to pick up his fourth victory of the season for Boston. Scott's drive down the left field line off losing starter Dean Chance came after a single by Luis Aparicio and a walk to Reggie Smith and overcame a 2-1 Detroit lead stemming from Willie Horton's two-run homer in the fourth.

Tom Hall came in for Bert Blyleven with two on and none out in the ninth inning and struck out three California pinch-hitters as the Twins edged the Angels. After Ken McMullen and John Stephenson opened with singles, Hall relieved and struck out Billy Cowan, Ken Berry and Jim Fregosi to preserve Blyleven's fourth win in eight decisions. The Twins scored all their runs in the fifth. George Mitterwald's two-run homer, his first of the season, highlighted the Minnesota scoring.

.295 Not Exactly A Slump, But Clemente Isn't Happy

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Roberto Clemente, the Pittsburgh Pirates' four-time National League batting champion, is considered most dangerous when he's complaining.

"I felt a little down because I'm not playing the way I'm supposed to play," said the 36-year old outfielder Monday night and then even speculated on possible retirement. "They always say, retire in your own time, retire when you're on top. I'll quit when I should quit. No one will tell me when to quit."

Clemente must be going pretty bad this year? Wrong. He's batting .295, has driven in 17 runs and Monday night delivered in the clutch with a two-run triple with two out in the ninth inning to give the Pirates a 6-5 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Bob Bailey, batting .164 going into the game, hit a three-run homer in the first inning and a run-scoring single in the third to pace the Expos to an early 5-0 lead. But the Pirates again got excellent pitching from their bullpen, nicked Carl Morton for two runs in the third and closed the gap to 5-4 on homers by Clemente and Bob Robertson in the eighth.

Clemente, who had been retired in two previous crucial situations, came through with the game-winning blow off reliever Mike Marshall after singles by Gene Alley and Dave Cash. The victory enabled the Pirates to move to within one game of first place in the National League East.

Starter Luke Walker was tagged for five runs and five hits in three innings but Jim Nelson, Nelson Briles and Mudcat Grant shut out the Expos on two hits in the last six innings enabling the Pirates to "get even."

The Atlanta Braves scored a 4-3 victory in 12 innings over the New York Mets, the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, and the Houston Astros downed the San Diego Padres, 2-0, in the only other scheduled National League games.

Ralph Garr, whose .404 batting average leads the NL, tied the score with a 10th inning homer and won it for the Braves with another homer in the 12th. Donn Clendenon drove in all three New York runs with a two-run homer in the first inning and a homer in the top of the 10th. Homers by Clete Boyer and Orlando Cepeda accounted for the Braves' early runs off Tom Seaver, who went 9 2-3 innings for the Mets.

Bob Priddy, who allowed the Mets three hits and two walks but no runs in two innings, won his second game for the Braves. Ron Taylor, who threw the second gopher ball to Garr, was the loser.

Pitcher Jim Bunning and batterymate Mike Ryan homered for the Phillies, who dealt Jim Merritt, a 20-game winner for the Reds in 1970, his fifth straight loss of the season. The victory snapped a six-game losing streak for Bunning and was his second of the season. Johnny Bench hit his 13th homer and Pete Rose his third for the Reds.

Don Wilson pitched a six-hitter and struck out six to win his fourth game for the Astros. Jack Hiatt singled in the Astros' first run in the second inning and Jim Wynn singled in an unearned run in the eighth. It was the fourth straight loss for the Padres, who didn't move a baserunner beyond second base.

Dates Announced For Crosby Pro-Am

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI)—Tournament manager Larry Crosby announced Monday the 31st Bing Crosby National Pro-Am will be played Jan. 13-16.

The tournament pairs the tour's best professionals with low handicap celebrity amateurs over the Pebble Beach, Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point courses. Tom Shaw was last year's pro winner.

Palmer To Take Brief Rest From PGA Tour

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI)—Golf's top attraction, Arnold Palmer, said Monday he is going to bow out of the professional golf tour for about three weeks in order to prepare for the U.S. Open June 17-20 at Ardmore, Pa.

Palmer was in the Pacific Northwest along with San Francisco 49er quarterback John Brodie and fellow pros Rod Funseth and Pat Welch, both of Spokane, to play an exhibition match at the Spokane Country Club.

"I'm just not driving as well as I should be," Palmer said, "and that upsets me because I figure that the driving is one of the steadier parts of my game."

Palmer said he would play one more exhibition while he's resting, but would not play competitive golf until the Charlotte (N.C.) tournament which is a week before the U.S. Open.

In the exhibition round, Palmer toured the 6,761, par-72 course with a four-under 68. Welch was next at 73 and Funseth and Brodie had 74s.

Happy Ending In Track

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Although in many ways it was a chaotic disaster, the North Coast Section, Division III track and field meet Saturday at College of Marin had a happy ending. Tamalpais High of Mill Valley became only the second Marin County school ever to win the thing.

The Marin County Athletic League champion Indians edged Santa Rosa in the final team standings, 33-27, and qualified six individuals for the NCS finals Saturday at Santa Rosa Junior College. Redwood of Larkspur is the only other Marin school to have won the division meet. They turned the trick in 1969.

Except for Tam's triumph, the meet Saturday was a flop. Poorly organized and handled by host team San Rafael, it meandered aimlessly until after sundown when the final events were run. By that time, no one had the patience to tabulate the final team scoring, the results of which finally were announced yesterday.

In individual scoring, Tam was led by Gerald Robertson, Al Schlette and the dynamic distance duo of Vian Collier and Mike Arago. Robertson, fully recovered from a bad ankle that sidelined him toward the end of the MCAL campaign, was a triple qualifier. He took thirds in the triple jump and high jump, and fifth in the high hurdles.

Schlette gave an inspired performance to nail down berths in the 100-yard dash and long jump. He finished second in both, upsetting rival Paul Crovo in the dash.

Collier and Arago won their specialties as expected,. At the two mile distance, Arago breezed in 9:35.8, while Collier jogged to a 4:25.9 in the mile without really trying.

The most outstanding individual performance of the day for an MCAL runner was recorded by San Marin's middle-distance star, Chakra Chappell. Competing in the most difficult "double" in track, Chappell won the 880 and took second in the 440.

IT'S UNFORTUNATE that fielding records aren't kept in MCAL baseball, because Terra Linda is one of the finest defensive outfits to hit the league in a long time. In five of their last seven games, the Trojans have gone errorless, and all told they have only 17 miscues in 12 games. The more notable fielders on the club include first baseman Larry Kerr, who has not made an error in league play, and third baseman Jim Codington, who has played the entire season with a bandaged broken thumb.

Several MCAL players besides Codington have suffered broken bones this year. Novato's Bill Busher became the latest casulaty when he busted an ankle last week while playing basketball. Busher was the league's third leading hitter. Two Drake stars, Steve Hale and John Billings are out with broken hands, and Tamalpais centerfielder Clifford Hall is playing with crecked ribs.

Petty Leads Race Drivers

DAYONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—With three more Grand National races to go before the first $25,000 of the $100,000 NASCAR Winston Cup prize money is handed out June 2, Richard Petty holds a 77-point lead in the standings.

James Hylton gained 93 points on the pace-setter Sunday with a seventh-place finish in his Ford at the Winston 500 in Talladega, Ala., to revive his hopes of overtaking Petty. Petty smacked the wall with his Plymouth early in the race and finished 38th.

Petty, of Randelman, N.C., now has 1,505 points to 1,428 for Hylton, of Inman, S.C. Petty also has a commanding lead in winnings with $114,775.

An Incubator For Champions

As I keep reminding you, Marin County is an incubator for champions. Spirited champs, too.

Last week at Moraga, St. Mary's College honored its outstanding athletes with a number of trophies, including the "Tom Nelson Award" to the "most spirited" ball player. This is quite an honor named for the former Terra Linda High School star, a St. Mary's graduate now serving with the United States Marine Corps at Parris Island, South Carolina.

When he starred for the St. Mary's baseball team all four years of his college career, Tom Nelson won the "most spirited" award three times so the athletic department decided to permanently name the trophy after him. And that is quite an honor for another local boy who makes good.

ALLAN MURRAY of Marin got quite a writeup in the May 15 issue of the St. Louis Sporting News for his work as president of the San Francisco Giants Boosters Club. The article noted that the club if unofficially known as "Murray's Roadrunners" for his energetic travel itinerary to follow the Giants. Also, the author made quite a bit to do about the Boosters' alcoholic beverage consumption on their safaris, and that's the truth, pfffzzz.

MY OH MY, but Petaluma was a hub of activity last Friday night. Not only did the well-publicized World's Wristwrestling Tournament pack 'em into Veterans Memorial Building, but Petaluma Speedway had its usual Friday night throng out for the NASCAR races in which San Rafael's Gary Ramsier finished second in the sportsman division main event.

ANOTHER "LOCAL boy makes good" item: Gino Marco, a student at College of Marin, scored a goal for the Scots in their 2-2 tie with the San Francisco Athletic Club in Sunday's exhibition soccer matches at Kentfield, attended by more than 850 persons. San Rafael barkeep Henry Landauer, the noted international referee, was scheduled to officiate the two games but had to miss it because of a business trip.

WHEN WILLIE MAYS hit his 600th career home run last year, the company that manufactures his bats rewarded him with one share of its stock for each foot the ball travelled — well over 300.

Now, I just learned that when Atlanta's Hank Aaron hit his 600th homer earlier this year, General Mills presented him with— are you ready? — 600 boxes of WHEATIES! (Aaron has been featured in Wheaties television commercials.)

I like Wheaties, but I think Mays got the best of the deal.

REDWOOD HIGH School has booked an intersectional basketball game next Dec. 28 when the Giants of Larkspur entertain Cottage Grove, Ore. High. That's because former Redwood and College of Marin star Jim Halm is head coach at Cottage Grove. He and Coach Dick Hart of Redwood had to obtain permission for the game from the California Interscholastic Federation which usually frowns on intersectionals.

Hawks, Canadiens At End Of The Line

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens come to the end of the road tonight. The team that wins the game wins the National Hockey League Stanley Cup.

The Hawks and the Habs are tied three-all in the best-of-seven match for pro hockey's highest honor and, if the first six are any indication, the seventh will be a thriller.

Only one of the six contests has been decided by more than a two-goal margin and the home team has won every time.

The Hawks got first crack at home ice and cashed in, whipping the Canadiens 2-1 in overtime and 5-3. In Montreal, the Habs evened things with 4-2 and 5-2 triumphs. Back in the Windy City, they dropped a 2-0 decision, then forced the seventh game with a come-from-behind 4-3 win on Montreal Forum ice.

The Hawks, even though they let their foes off the hook, seemed more relaxed than the Canadiens after the sixth tilt. As their plane back to Chicago waited for take off, they engaged in a pillow fight.

Montreal, meanwhile, has been under tension from a verbal blast at Coach Al McNeil by Henri Richard and a threat on McNeil's life.

The series already has produced a bumper crop of candidates for the Conn Smythe Trophy, awarded to the most valuable player in the playoffs.

The Canadiens' Frank Mahovlich has 14 playoff goals, breaking Phil Esposito's record, and 27 points, tying Esposito's mark. Other prime candidates include the goaltenders —Ken Dryden for Montreal and Tony Esposito for Chicago.

Esposito, in 17 playoff games, has a goals-against average of 2.14. Dryden's mark is 3.05 in 19 games.

Whichever way the series goes, it will enter the record books as the longest season in the 54-year history of the NHL. The Canadiens have played 107 games in regular-season and Stanley Cup play; the Hawks have played 105. May 18 is the limit set by the NHL for play.

Should Chicago win, it would be the Hawks' fourth Cup since they entered the NHL in 1927. The Habs, a charter member of the loop, have won the Stanley Cup 15 times.

SIGHTLESS SKIER

Frenchman Who Can't Be Stopped — That's Eymere

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Try to imagine putting on a blindfold, then a pair of skis, and heading down a slope through the trees with only the voice of a buddy guiding you along.

For 34-year-old John Eymere, that's normal skiing. John Eymere is totally blind.

A frenchman by birth and now resident of Aspen, Colo., Eymere doesn't have time for self-pity. He's too busy getting ready to open a summer-winter sports resort for the blind in Aspen. He's now in his last week of schooling at Guide Dogs for the Blind in Sn Rafael.

Sitting there with his golden retriever, Chianti, in the lounge at the school for the blind, talking with such enthusiasm and his non-seeing eyes looking squarely in the direction of the interviewer's voice, one has to remind himself this man is blind.

And being blind is a new experience for Eymere. He lost his eyesight due to diabetes. He began losing it three years ago — first one eye, then finally the other. By last September he was totally blind. But three months later he was already back on skis.

Born in Monte Carlo but reared in the Alps, Eymere was skiing as soon as he was walking. He moved to the United States from France in 1959 and shortly had his own engraving business in New York City. Five years ago he moved to Aspen and bought his own lodge, the Coachlight Chalet. So he switched from the engraving trade to ski instructor.

Brian Webber, an 18-year-old who was working at the chalet when Eyemere lost his eyesight suggested the two of them go skiing. Eymere, blind only three months, said, "sure."

"We had to try different methods to find which one worked best" said Eymere. "First I tried following him down the slope, listening for his commands, but I couldn't hear them well. Then we tried it with him beside me. That didn't work either. Finally I tried skiing behind him, and that seemed to work fine."

Three times since his blindness Eymere has smacked into trees during his skiing. "They were simple mistakes, like turning right when the guide said left," he said.

Since Eymere could still ski while blind, why couldn't others? he thought. With full cooperation of his fellow Lions Club members in Aspen, he is now in the process of starting a resort for the blind.

In addition to skiing, there will be ice skating, dancing, snow picnics, ice fishing and sleighriding during the winter. The summer program will include hiking, fishing, rock climbing, overnight camping and horseback riding.

'I'm learning how to ice skate now," said Eymere. "I hadn't tried it before I became blind, but I want to be able to do any of the things that we'll be offering for the blind people in our program."

Married and the father of two sons, 1 and 3, Eymere wants to take up mountain climbing when he returns to Aspen later this month.

"I'm anxious to try out new things, especially with Chianti," he said. "Maybe she can keep up with me skiing, maybe the snow will hurt her feet, who knows."

Eymere said he has found that 80 per cent of blind persons are on welfare. He recalls going to a get-together with some others who were blind and they "sat around listening to some accordion music."

"'This couldn't be like it is being blind,' I said to myself. That's when I got the idea to have a vacation spot for blind people . . . a place where they can do things."

After his graduation from the Guide Gods for the Blind Saturday, he'll be trying to do something about it. He'll give blind people something to do. If they can keep up with him.

Athletics To Open Homestand Tonight

Jim Hunter Gets Call Vs. Brewers

OAKLAND (UPI) —Righthander Jim Hunter of the Oakland A's chases his seventh straight victory of the season tonight in a "welcome home" game for the local white shoes.

The Milwaukee Brewers open the A's eight-game homestand with three night games. Marty Pattin, now 3-3, will oppose Hunter.

After losing two games to start off the season, Hunter has rebounded with six straight wins. Coupled with Vida Blue's eight victories, the two pitchers have produced 14 of Oakland's 25 wins.

In fact, Oakland manager Dick Williams is now faced with a surplus of starting pitchers.

Chuck Dobson and John Odom have overcome early season elbow problems and appear as healthy as ever. This was evidenced by their performances Sunday against the Kansas City Royals.

This means that Williams can call upon Hunter, Dobson, Blue, Rollie Fingers, Diego Segui and Odom as starters. But then each pitcher would probably get too much rest between starts and idleness sometimes breeds ineffectiveness.

To cure the problem, Williams has dropped Segui, the defending earned-run champion of the American League, from the rotation. Williams will use a five-pitcher rotation until situations demand otherwise.

The Athletics enjoyed an off day Monday after flying back from Kansas City and completing their last road trip with a 7-4 record. The A's are 17-6 on the road and 8-8 in the Oakland Coliseum.

Minnesota follows the Brewers into the Coliseum this weekend and the California Angels make their first appearance at the Coliseum next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Nicklaus Still No. 1 On List

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus topped golf's money winners for the fourth straight week Monday despite taking a vacation from the professional golf association's tour.

Nicklaus, who has won three of nine tournaments this year, has earned $131,788, leading Arnold Palmer, $106,796, and Miller Barber $99,037.

Gary Player is fourth on the list with $94,775 and Tom Shaw fifth with $81,845. Rounding out the top ten are Lee Trevino with $78,835, Frank Beard $72,658, George Archer $69,779, Billy Casper $64,820 and J. C. Snead $64,465.

Giants Try To Stop Hot Cubs

CHICAGO (UPI) —If there's a hotter team than the San Francisco Giants these days in the National League, it might be the Chicago Cubs.

With Billy Williams, Ron Santo and Jim Hickman blasting the ball and Ferguson Jenkins and Ken Holtzman striking out a lot of batters and winning a lot of games, the Cubs have strung together six wins in a row.

Meanwhile, the Giants posted an 8-4 record during the last homestand at Candlestick Park to currently nestle nine comfortable games atop the National League West with a 27-10 record.

The Cubs (18-17) have closed to within 4 1-2 games of the New York Mets in the NL's East.

San Francisco came to town today to match pitches and swings with the Cubs. Lefty Ron Bryant of the Giants went after his fourth win and was opposed by righthander Milt Pappas (4-4).

The teams also play Wednesday and Thursday afternoon at arcless Wrigley Field.

Manager Charlie Fox of the Giants said he may rest shotstop Chris Speier for awhile. The smooth-fielding rookie injured his left ankle on a play in the second inning Sunday against the Los Angeles Dodgers and then aggravated it while pivoting on a double play in the third but stayed in the game.

Outside of Willie McCovey's aching knees, the rest of the Giants are in fairly fine shape to begin the nine-game road trip which also takes them to Houston and Los Angeles.

The next double by Willie Mays will set an alltime Giants record. Mays is now tied with Mel Ott with 488 two-baggers.

NEW 49ER CONTRACT

Nolan In A Hurry To Get Started

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Rewarded with a new five-year contract, coach Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers turned today with zest to the 1971 season.

His old five-year pact, still with two years to run, was torn up by club president Lou Spadia Monday and he was given a new contract as an expression of appreciation and confidence by team owners.

"It would be a good guess he got a raise," Spaida told newsmen.

The 10-3 record forged last year by the 49ers under the 39-year-old Nolan was the team's best since joining the National Football League in 1950. The 49ers also won the Western Division title for the first time in history.

Nolan, a soft-spoken native of Pittsburgh who starred as a defensive back for the New York Giants, said he was happy with the new contract but was more interested in planning for the new season.

"Naturally, I'm pleased," he said. "Coaching is my life. I want to coach and that's what I'm doing. I'm grateful for the opportunity I have been given to coach that much longer."

In the same breath, Nolan said he anticipated another fine season for San Francisco. "We have to be a better ball club ... look at the competition in this league," he said.

He said he planned to install a multiple formation offense with the 49ers after seeing what success it had at Kansas City and Dallas where Nolan was an assistant coach before coming to San Francisco in 1968.

"I believe it is going to catch hold in the program. It's becoming more and more popular."

Nolan, near unanimous choice for NFC coach of the year in 1970, said he was looking forward to getting started on the new season.

"I want to see what our new players can do. We think we have the personnel to do a lot of things this year and we want to get started working with it."

Today quarterbacks John Brodie, Steve Spurrier and Buster O'Brien and six linebackers opened a six-day camp at the club's Redwood City training base.

The linebackers are Dave Wilcox, recovered from an off-season knee operation; Carter Campbell, a taxi squad member whose weight has shot from 213 to 238 pounds under a special exercise program; and veterans Skip Vanderbundt, Frank Nunley, Ed Beard and Jim Sniadecki.

3-Way Track Chase

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It will be USC, UCLA and Oregon dominating the Pacific Eight track championships, according to the coaches of Stanford and California's cinder teams.

Stanford's Payton Jordan and California's Dave Maggard agreed the three cinder powers would score heavily at the meet Friday and Saturday at Seattle, but they would not choose a winner among them.

Jordan said Oregon coach Bill Bowerman was a master at disguising his plans by entering runners in all possible events as a decoy to other coaches and then just having them go where they can pick up the most points.

Jordan pointed out that while his Indians are longshots, they still include five school record holders —Randy White in the intermediate hurdles (50.7), Don Kardong in the three mile (13:28), Rick Tipton in the high hurdles (13.7), Al Meredith in the triple jump (52'3-) and Duncan MacDonald in the mile (3:59.6).

Maggard said that freshman Rick Brown, fresh from setting an American record in the 600 meters, and jumper Jim Frazier would head the Bears' contingent, but that sprinters Eddie Hart and Isaac Curtis are doubtful.

Commercial Fishing In Tomales Bay

By AL GIDDINGS

There is legislative action possible this year to close Tomales Bay to certain types of commercial fishing. I used the words "certain types" because closing the commercial oyster beds is not contemplated.

The closure would include the net fishing probably more so than anything else. There are about three commercial groups of net fishermen operating in Tomales Bay at the present time. I sent for and received the commercial fish catch figures for Tomales Bay from 1965 through 1970.

The commercial catches for this six-year period were: Herring —38,000 pounds, all by nets; smelt —28,000 pounds, all by nets; angel shark —22,000 pounds, all by nets; leopard shark —18,500 pounds, all by nets; halibut — 979 pounds by nets; perch —20,872 pounds, by nets. (This includes all types with sea, black and silver perch predominating. Red tails are rare throughout the catches.)

Also included in the catches were rockfish: 290 pounds; one seven gill shark; 154 pounds and one or two soupfin sharks; 104 pounds. The average catch over the six-year period was approximately 20,000 pounds per year of the above fish. In 1970, the catches were: herring, 5,308 pounds; smelt, 2,500 pounds; perch, 3,000 pounds; sharks, 800 pounds for a total of 11,722 pounds.

The wholesale price paid for these types of fish would probably average about 25 cents per pound — a little more for halibut, but less for sharks and angelfish. This puts a total commercial value of about $5,000 per year on each of the six-year catches. This year at 25 cents per pound, the 11,722 pounds were worth $2,900. By these figures, commercial fishing in Tomales Bay is a very small enterprise. Then what's it all about? Why do the sportfishermen want the nets out of the bay?

In talking to different sportsmen, most of them feel that the commercial catch figures are not exactly true. A commercial fisherman who sells his fish is supposed to get a Fish and Game receipt from the buyer of his fish. By law, a copy from the F. & G. receipt book goes to the Fish and Game Department for analysis and logging.

From these figures, the department is able to compile the statewide commercial fish catches. This gives year by year comparisons, gives reasons for law changes and, in general, shows the trends of the fish populations.

If the buyer does not give a receipt to the fisherman, then that catch is never logged, making the statistics incorrect. It is possible that some buyers don't issue receipts for tax evasion purposes. Some fishermen fail to make out receipts if they sell their fish to other than a commercial buyer, or for fish that they might eat themselves, such as a halibut; or for a fish kept, that is illegal to take commercially in nets such as stripers, steelhead or salmon. The sportsmen feel that these things happen, and they do happen at times.

For instance, I see no figures on ghost shrimp commercial sales, yet I'm sure that Tomales Bay ghost shrimp were sold! This might also be true of rock crabs. For a commercial fisherman to keep a striper, salmon or a steelhead is not an improbability.

In talking to commercial fishermen, they feel that they are only making a living and that most of the fish they catch wouldn't be utilized by the sportsmen anyway. One case in point is the 20,000 pounds of sharks and rays caught in the sportsman's two-day shark derby. The fish were sent to the reduction plant last year.

They say also that the smelt, herring and perch are here in great numbers, enough so that there are more than enough for both types of fishermen. Years ago, when herring sold for $30 per ton, 1,700 tons or 3,500,000 were netted. The processed canned herring would not sell, so the price dropped to $10 per ton, and the market now has a total call for about 5,000 to 15,000 pounds only for the season.

The fishery is still here, there is just no market for the fish! This applies to the perch, smelt and shark fisheries also. It does seem a little hard to stop commercial fishing in lieu of the facts that the total yearly catch is only worth from $3,000 to $5,000, split among three fishermen. The fish in general are fish not sought after by sports fishermen, except for the perch and they are plentiful!

Of course if the 11,000-pound figure is low because of failure to make out receipts, and the figure should be doubled or even trebled to be correct, then the commercial fishermen have created a problem for themselves in that they have made the bay a place insignificant for commercial fishing according to their own statistics. (Things can sure backfire!)

But really, the only significant problem as I see it, is that a commercial fisherman could net a run of bass, salmon or steelhead and failing to release them, hurt the local runs of these type fish. And commercial ghost shrimping in Tomales Bay should be illegal.

On Wednesday, at 10 p.m. on Channel 9 there will be a study of the California Water Plan and the Peripheral Canal. You should watch it! It may make or break the San Francisco Bay.

Utah Gets Home Court Advantage

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)— "The winner is going to be the team with the hot hand and no other single factor will make that much difference."

That's the way former Boston Celtics great Bill Sharman sizes up the game tonight between his Utah Stars and former teammate Frank Ramsey's Kentucky Colonels for the championship of the American Basketball Association.

The Stars and Colonels have battled through six rugged games with each team winning three times on its home floor.

But for the Colonels to emerge as ABA champs, they must break a season-long jinx in never being able to win at Utah's Salt Palace. In fact, the Utah triumphs have usually been by wide margins.

On the line tonight in addition to the prestige of being ABA champions is $8,000 in prize money to each player.

Yanks Whip Orioles

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The New York Yankees are finally beginning to make believers out of themselves with their new-found confidence coming at the expense of the Baltimore Orioles.

The Yankees took advantage of three Baltimore errors and three stolen bases to defeat the Orioles, 6-3, behind the combined seven-hit pitching of Mel Stottlemyre and Jack Aker.

Roy White, who almost sat out the game because of a wisdom tooth extraction, hit a two-run homer in the first inning and Jerry Kenney "stole" two runs to lead the Yankee attack.

"We played an outstanding game," Stottlemyre (4-1), said of the Yanks' performance. "We took advantage of their mistakes."

The Yankees capitalized on the Baltimore miscues to score three unearned runs. In the second inning Kenney was safe at first on shortstop Mark Belanger's throwing error. After executing the first of his two steals, Keney scored on Gene Michael's single.

In the eighth inning, Bobby Murcer and Danny Cater hit back-to-back singles. Felipe Alou then hit a routine grounder to third baseman Brooks Robinson. Robinson's peg was in time to get Murcer at the plate but catcher Elrod Hendricks dropped the ball allowing Murcer to score. Kenney's sacrifice fly scored Cater to wrap up the New York scoring.

Kenney also scored in the fourth inning when he singled, stole second and scored on Michaels' single.

In other American League action Boston defeated Detroit 3-2, Cleveland whipped Washington 6-3, and Minnesota edged California, 3-2.

Homers by John Lowenstein and Ken Harrelson gave the Cleveland Indians enough edge for their victory over Washington. The Indians survived an outfield collision that resulted in three of their players being knocked out in a bizarre 110-foot homer.

Lowenstein was involved in the fourth inning accident. He and shortstop Jack Heidemann were hospitalized for observation of leg injuries and Vada Pinson was treated for face cuts that needed nine stitches.

All three slammed together converging for a pop hit to shallow left by Tom McCraw and as they lay stunned he ran around the bases for his freak inside-the-park homer.

George Scott's two-run double in the fifth inning enabled Ray Culp to pick up his fourth victory of the season for Boston. Scott's drive down the left field line off losing starter Dean Chance came after a single by Luis Aparicio and a walk to Reggie Smith and overcame a 2-1 Detroit lead stemming from Willie Horton's two-run homer in the fourth.

Tom Hall came in for Bert Blyleven with two on and none out in the ninth inning and struck out three California pinch-hitters as the Twins edged the Angels. After Ken McMullen and John Stephenson opened with singles, Hall relieved and struck out Billy Cowan, Ken Berry and Jim Fregosi to preserve Blyleven's fourth win in eight decisions. The Twins scored all their runs in the fifth. George Mitterwald's two-run homer, his first of the season, highlighted the Minnesota scoring.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

.295 Not Exactly A Slump, But Clemente Isn't Happy

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Roberto Clemente, the Pittsburgh Pirates' four-time National League batting champion, is considered most dangerous when he's complaining.

"I felt a little down because I'm not playing the way I'm supposed to play," said the 36-year old outfielder Monday night and then even speculated on possible retirement. "They always say, retire in your own time, retire when you're on top. I'll quit when I should quit. No one will tell me when to quit."

Clemente must be going pretty bad this year? Wrong. He's batting .295, has driven in 17 runs and Monday night delivered in the clutch with a two-run triple with two out in the ninth inning to give the Pirates a 6-5 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Bob Bailey, batting .164 going into the game, hit a three-run homer in the first inning and a run-scoring single in the third to pace the Expos to an early 5-0 lead. But the Pirates again got excellent pitching from their bullpen, nicked Carl Morton for two runs in the third and closed the gap to 5-4 on homers by Clemente and Bob Robertson in the eighth.

Clemente, who had been retired in two previous crucial situations, came through with the game-winning blow off reliever Mike Marshall after singles by Gene Alley and Dave Cash. The victory enabled the Pirates to move to within one game of first place in the National League East.

Starter Luke Walker was tagged for five runs and five hits in three innings but Jim Nelson, Nelson Briles and Mudcat Grant shut out the Expos on two hits in the last six innings enabling the Pirates to "get even."

The Atlanta Braves scored a 4-3 victory in 12 innings over the New York Mets, the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, and the Houston Astros downed the San Diego Padres, 2-0, in the only other scheduled National League games.

Ralph Garr, whose .404 batting average leads the NL, tied the score with a 10th inning homer and won it for the Braves with another homer in the 12th. Donn Clendenon drove in all three New York runs with a two-run homer in the first inning and a homer in the top of the 10th. Homers by Clete Boyer and Orlando Cepeda accounted for the Braves' early runs off Tom Seaver, who went 9 2-3 innings for the Mets.

Bob Priddy, who allowed the Mets three hits and two walks but no runs in two innings, won his second game for the Braves. Ron Taylor, who threw the second gopher ball to Garr, was the loser.

Pitcher Jim Bunning and batterymate Mike Ryan homered for the Phillies, who dealt Jim Merritt, a 20-game winner for the Reds in 1970, his fifth straight loss of the season. The victory snapped a six-game losing streak for Bunning and was his second of the season. Johnny Bench hit his 13th homer and Pete Rose his third for the Reds.

Don Wilson pitched a six-hitter and struck out six to win his fourth game for the Astros. Jack Hiatt singled in the Astros' first run in the second inning and Jim Wynn singled in an unearned run in the eighth. It was the fourth straight loss for the Padres, who didn't move a baserunner beyond second base.

Dates Announced For Crosby Pro-Am

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI)—Tournament manager Larry Crosby announced Monday the 31st Bing Crosby National Pro-Am will be played Jan. 13-16.

The tournament pairs the tour's best professionals with low handicap celebrity amateurs over the Pebble Beach, Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point courses. Tom Shaw was last year's pro winner.

Palmer To Take Brief Rest From PGA Tour

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI)—Golf's top attraction, Arnold Palmer, said Monday he is going to bow out of the professional golf tour for about three weeks in order to prepare for the U.S. Open June 17-20 at Ardmore, Pa.

Palmer was in the Pacific Northwest along with San Francisco 49er quarterback John Brodie and fellow pros Rod Funseth and Pat Welch, both of Spokane, to play an exhibition match at the Spokane Country Club.

"I'm just not driving as well as I should be," Palmer said, "and that upsets me because I figure that the driving is one of the steadier parts of my game."

Palmer said he would play one more exhibition while he's resting, but would not play competitive golf until the Charlotte (N.C.) tournament which is a week before the U.S. Open.

In the exhibition round, Palmer toured the 6,761, par-72 course with a four-under 68. Welch was next at 73 and Funseth and Brodie had 74s.

PREP NOTEBOOK

Happy Ending In Track

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Although in many ways it was a chaotic disaster, the North Coast Section, Division III track and field meet Saturday at College of Marin had a happy ending. Tamalpais High of Mill Valley became only the second Marin County school ever to win the thing.

The Marin County Athletic League champion Indians edged Santa Rosa in the final team standings, 33-27, and qualified six individuals for the NCS finals Saturday at Santa Rosa Junior College. Redwood of Larkspur is the only other Marin school to have won the division meet. They turned the trick in 1969.

Except for Tam's triumph, the meet Saturday was a flop. Poorly organized and handled by host team San Rafael, it meandered aimlessly until after sundown when the final events were run. By that time, no one had the patience to tabulate the final team scoring, the results of which finally were announced yesterday.

In individual scoring, Tam was led by Gerald Robertson, Al Schlette and the dynamic distance duo of Vian Collier and Mike Arago. Robertson, fully recovered from a bad ankle that sidelined him toward the end of the MCAL campaign, was a triple qualifier. He took thirds in the triple jump and high jump, and fifth in the high hurdles.

Schlette gave an inspired performance to nail down berths in the 100-yard dash and long jump. He finished second in both, upsetting rival Paul Crovo in the dash.

Collier and Arago won their specialties as expected,. At the two mile distance, Arago breezed in 9:35.8, while Collier jogged to a 4:25.9 in the mile without really trying.

The most outstanding individual performance of the day for an MCAL runner was recorded by San Marin's middle-distance star, Chakra Chappell. Competing in the most difficult "double" in track, Chappell won the 880 and took second in the 440.

IT'S UNFORTUNATE that fielding records aren't kept in MCAL baseball, because Terra Linda is one of the finest defensive outfits to hit the league in a long time. In five of their last seven games, the Trojans have gone errorless, and all told they have only 17 miscues in 12 games. The more notable fielders on the club include first baseman Larry Kerr, who has not made an error in league play, and third baseman Jim Codington, who has played the entire season with a bandaged broken thumb.

Several MCAL players besides Codington have suffered broken bones this year. Novato's Bill Busher became the latest casulaty when he busted an ankle last week while playing basketball. Busher was the league's third leading hitter. Two Drake stars, Steve Hale and John Billings are out with broken hands, and Tamalpais centerfielder Clifford Hall is playing with crecked ribs.

Petty Leads Race Drivers

DAYONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—With three more Grand National races to go before the first $25,000 of the $100,000 NASCAR Winston Cup prize money is handed out June 2, Richard Petty holds a 77-point lead in the standings.

James Hylton gained 93 points on the pace-setter Sunday with a seventh-place finish in his Ford at the Winston 500 in Talladega, Ala., to revive his hopes of overtaking Petty. Petty smacked the wall with his Plymouth early in the race and finished 38th.

Petty, of Randelman, N.C., now has 1,505 points to 1,428 for Hylton, of Inman, S.C. Petty also has a commanding lead in winnings with $114,775.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Publishing Field Is Good Investment

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am a mother in my 30s with $1,000 to invest. What investment would you suggest for me? — J.B.

A. The publishing industry, long in the doldrums, is expected to enjoy renewed growth as federal aid to education increases and the economy improves. And, it is an area which I feel you may find of interest, being a young parent. There are a number of stocks suitable for purchase in this group, including Western Publishing. Company creates and publishes juvenile books (Golden Books), comic books and texts, and sells toys, games and commercial and educational printing.

Profits rebounded sharply in 1970 as sales reached a new high at $171.4 million; and earnings climbed a hefty 51 per cent to 98 cents from 57 cents a share. First quarter 1971 net was also significantly improved.

A big plus for Western is its acquisition of the license to manufacture and publish material under the well-publicized "Sesame Street" label. While the full effects of this newly-acquired "plum" may not be felt in 1971, it should provide a sginificant push to 1972 earnings. Shares have considerable appeal for appreciation over the long term.

Q. I would like your opinion on the possibility of price appreciation for Plessey Co., Ltd. — G.S. & I.G.

A. A British concern, Plessey Co., Ltd. is a highly diversified enterprise, active in the fields of telecommunications and electronics, engineering and aerospace. Through the July, 1971 acquisition of Alloys Unlimited, Plessey strengthened its operations in electronics, aerospace and other technology-based industries in the U.S.

Sales (excluding Alloys Unlimited) for the six months ended December 1970, increased 11 per cent year-to-year, while net income advanced 8.9 per cent. On a greater number of shares outstanding, earnings per share fell to 8 from 10 cents in fiscal 1970.

Although anticipated growth for the telecommunications sector enhances the long-term potential of the ordinary ADRs, near-term prospects are clouded by the reduced demand for aerospace and defense electronic equipment.

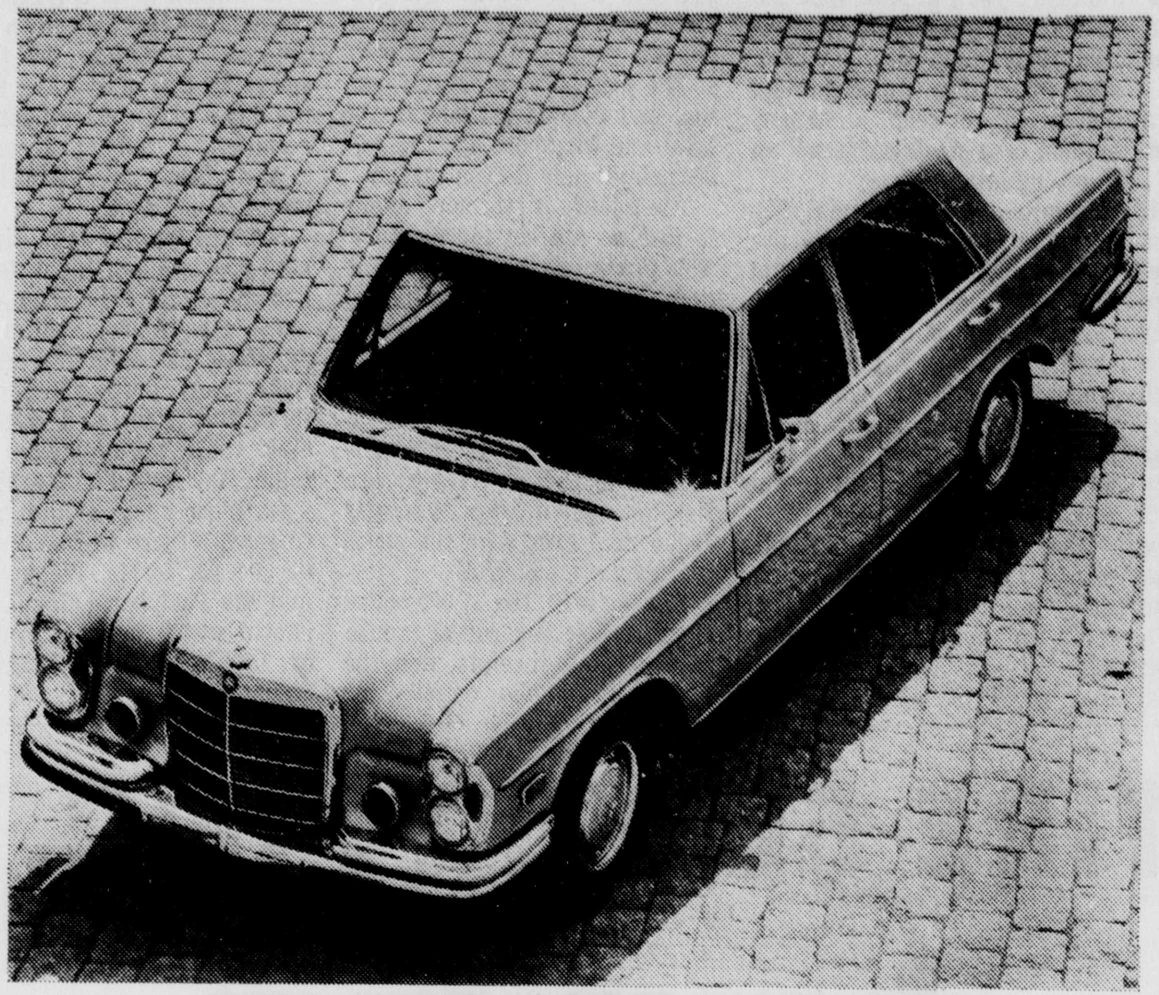
Liquor Tax Hike Syndrome Raked

LAS VEGAS (UPI) —An official of the alcoholic beverage industries contends that states which regularly increase taxes on liquor defeat their purpose.

Charles Bryant of the tax council of alcoholic beverage industries Monday told the directors of the National Liquor Stores Association that legislatures which hike taxes excessively on the industry soon reach the point of diminishing returns.

Bryant says overtaxed but thirsty customers go to adjoining states to buy liquor when taxes get out of hand.

As a result, he said small business operators were faced with adverse sales and cut payrolls and purchases to the detriment of the state's economy.



WILL HAVE LARGER V-8 ENGINE

A new 4.5-liter V-8 engine designed to run on low-lead or no-lead fuel will be available in three 1972 Mercedes-Benz sedans in September. The engine will be standard equipment in the 280-SEL and the 300-SEL models and as an option on the 280-SE, which will keep the 2.8-liter six as its basic power plant. Cars will be offered in Marin by Mercedes-Benz of Marin, San Rafael.

Signs Of Recovery On Market

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks showed signs of recovering near noon today, although declines still held a commanding lead over advances.

A Senate committee approved legislation to stop the nationwide rail strike, which would order striking signalmen back to work until at least Oct. 1. The Senate action came as the House Commerce Committee considered similar legislation.

The strike already was being felt in the automobile industry where thousands of workers were laid off or put on half days. Barring an end to the walkout, the industry could be shut down completely by the end of the week.

Prices were lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Of the 1,006 issues on the tape, 472 declined while 270 advanced.

On the Big Board, heavily traded Shell Oil, Gulf Oil, and General Foods all surrendered fractions.

Less active Bausch & Lomb, however, gained about 3 after sliding 8 1-2 the previous session. Also higher were Dentsply International up 2 3-8, Federal National Mortgage and Natomas 1 3-8 each, and IBMN Control Data, and Memorex up a point each.

General Motors was off about a point in the otherwise fractionally mixed automotive group. Steels and airlines also traded in mixed fashion.

Commercial Fishing In Tomales Bay

By AL GIDDINGS

There is legislative action possible this year to close Tomales Bay to certain types of commercial fishing. I used the words "certain types" because closing the commercial oyster beds is not contemplated.

The closure would include the net fishing probably more so than anything else. There are about three commercial groups of net fishermen operating in Tomales Bay at the present time. I sent for and received the commercial fish catch figures for Tomales Bay from 1965 through 1970.

The commercial catches for this six-year period were: Herring —38,000 pounds, all by nets; smelt —28,000 pounds, all by nets; angel shark —22,000 pounds, all by nets; leopard shark —18,500 pounds, all by nets; halibut — 979 pounds by nets; perch —20,872 pounds, by nets. (This includes all types with sea, black and silver perch predominating. Red tails are rare throughout the catches.)

Also included in the catches were rockfish: 290 pounds; one seven gill shark; 154 pounds and one or two soupfin sharks; 104 pounds. The average catch over the six-year period was approximately 20,000 pounds per year of the above fish. In 1970, the catches were: herring, 5,308 pounds; smelt, 2,500 pounds; perch, 3,000 pounds; sharks, 800 pounds for a total of 11,722 pounds.

The wholesale price paid for these types of fish would probably average about 25 cents per pound — a little more for halibut, but less for sharks and angelfish. This puts a total commercial value of about $5,000 per year on each of the six-year catches. This year at 25 cents per pound, the 11,722 pounds were worth $2,900. By these figures, commercial fishing in Tomales Bay is a very small enterprise. Then what's it all about? Why do the sportfishermen want the nets out of the bay?

In talking to different sportsmen, most of them feel that the commercial catch figures are not exactly true. A commercial fisherman who sells his fish is supposed to get a Fish and Game receipt from the buyer of his fish. By law, a copy from the F. & G. receipt book goes to the Fish and Game Department for analysis and logging.

From these figures, the department is able to compile the statewide commercial fish catches. This gives year by year comparisons, gives reasons for law changes and, in general, shows the trends of the fish populations.

If the buyer does not give a receipt to the fisherman, then that catch is never logged, making the statistics incorrect. It is possible that some buyers don't issue receipts for tax evasion purposes. Some fishermen fail to make out receipts if they sell their fish to other than a commercial buyer, or for fish that they might eat themselves, such as a halibut; or for a fish kept, that is illegal to take commercially in nets such as stripers, steelhead or salmon. The sportsmen feel that these things happen, and they do happen at times.

For instance, I see no figures on ghost shrimp commercial sales, yet I'm sure that Tomales Bay ghost shrimp were sold! This might also be true of rock crabs. For a commercial fisherman to keep a striper, salmon or a steelhead is not an improbability.

In talking to commercial fishermen, they feel that they are only making a living and that most of the fish they catch wouldn't be utilized by the sportsmen anyway. One case in point is the 20,000 pounds of sharks and rays caught in the sportsman's two-day shark derby. The fish were sent to the reduction plant last year.

They say also that the smelt, herring and perch are here in great numbers, enough so that there are more than enough for both types of fishermen. Years ago, when herring sold for $30 per ton, 1,700 tons or 3,500,000 were netted. The processed canned herring would not sell, so the price dropped to $10 per ton, and the market now has a total call for about 5,000 to 15,000 pounds only for the season.

The fishery is still here, there is just no market for the fish! This applies to the perch, smelt and shark fisheries also. It does seem a little hard to stop commercial fishing in lieu of the facts that the total yearly catch is only worth from $3,000 to $5,000, split among three fishermen. The fish in general are fish not sought after by sports fishermen, except for the perch and they are plentiful!

Of course if the 11,000-pound figure is low because of failure to make out receipts, and the figure should be doubled or even trebled to be correct, then the commercial fishermen have created a problem for themselves in that they have made the bay a place insignificant for commercial fishing according to their own statistics. (Things can sure backfire!)

But really, the only significant problem as I see it, is that a commercial fisherman could net a run of bass, salmon or steelhead and failing to release them, hurt the local runs of these type fish. And commercial ghost shrimping in Tomales Bay should be illegal.

On Wednesday, at 10 p.m. on Channel 9 there will be a study of the California Water Plan and the Peripheral Canal. You should watch it! It may make or break the San Francisco Bay.

Utah Gets Home Court Advantage

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)— "The winner is going to be the team with the hot hand and no other single factor will make that much difference."

That's the way former Boston Celtics great Bill Sharman sizes up the game tonight between his Utah Stars and former teammate Frank Ramsey's Kentucky Colonels for the championship of the American Basketball Association.

The Stars and Colonels have battled through six rugged games with each team winning three times on its home floor.

But for the Colonels to emerge as ABA champs, they must break a season-long jinx in never being able to win at Utah's Salt Palace. In fact, the Utah triumphs have usually been by wide margins.

On the line tonight in addition to the prestige of being ABA champions is $8,000 in prize money to each player.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Publishing Field Is Good Investment

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am a mother in my 30s with $1,000 to invest. What investment would you suggest for me? — J.B.

A. The publishing industry, long in the doldrums, is expected to enjoy renewed growth as federal aid to education increases and the economy improves. And, it is an area which I feel you may find of interest, being a young parent. There are a number of stocks suitable for purchase in this group, including Western Publishing. Company creates and publishes juvenile books (Golden Books), comic books and texts, and sells toys, games and commercial and educational printing.

Profits rebounded sharply in 1970 as sales reached a new high at $171.4 million; and earnings climbed a hefty 51 per cent to 98 cents from 57 cents a share. First quarter 1971 net was also significantly improved.

A big plus for Western is its acquisition of the license to manufacture and publish material under the well-publicized "Sesame Street" label. While the full effects of this newly-acquired "plum" may not be felt in 1971, it should provide a sginificant push to 1972 earnings. Shares have considerable appeal for appreciation over the long term.

Q. I would like your opinion on the possibility of price appreciation for Plessey Co., Ltd. — G.S. & I.G.

A. A British concern, Plessey Co., Ltd. is a highly diversified enterprise, active in the fields of telecommunications and electronics, engineering and aerospace. Through the July, 1971 acquisition of Alloys Unlimited, Plessey strengthened its operations in electronics, aerospace and other technology-based industries in the U.S.

Sales (excluding Alloys Unlimited) for the six months ended December 1970, increased 11 per cent year-to-year, while net income advanced 8.9 per cent. On a greater number of shares outstanding, earnings per share fell to 8 from 10 cents in fiscal 1970.

Although anticipated growth for the telecommunications sector enhances the long-term potential of the ordinary ADRs, near-term prospects are clouded by the reduced demand for aerospace and defense electronic equipment.

Liquor Tax Hike Syndrome Raked

LAS VEGAS (UPI) —An official of the alcoholic beverage industries contends that states which regularly increase taxes on liquor defeat their purpose.

Charles Bryant of the tax council of alcoholic beverage industries Monday told the directors of the National Liquor Stores Association that legislatures which hike taxes excessively on the industry soon reach the point of diminishing returns.

Bryant says overtaxed but thirsty customers go to adjoining states to buy liquor when taxes get out of hand.

As a result, he said small business operators were faced with adverse sales and cut payrolls and purchases to the detriment of the state's economy.

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees Riverside passenger car tires (to the original purchaser) against (1) defects in material and workmanship and (2) road hazards as follows:

If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.

Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.

For service under this guarantee return tire with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance
40,000 miles	Prorated on Miles Driven
40 month	$10.00
39 month	8.00
36 month	6.00
33 month	5.00
30 month	4.00
24 month	3.00
18 month	2.00

Tread Wear Expectancy offer does not apply to tires used commercially.

Senate Bid To End Strike In Hopper

Nixon Nod To Pay Hike For Railmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Senate committee approved legislation today to stop the nationwide rails strike. The resolution would order striking signalmen back to work until at least Oct. 1, while giving them an interim pay increase of 17.5 per cent.

The legislation, which was moved to the Senate floor for quick action, went far beyond legislation requested by President Nixon who asked only that the strikers be ordered back to work until July 1 while negotiations resumed.

The White House said the Senate plan was "acceptable to us." Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon would go along with both the later deadline and an interim pay increase because it would "get the rails moving again."

The proposed legislation approved by the Senate Labor Committee was in line with a similar settlement imposed by Congress in another nationwide rail strike almost six months ago when four other unions were given pay increases of 13 per cent.

The wage increase recommended by the Senate group would come out to about 67 cents additionally an hour to highest-paid signalmen.

The Senate action came as the House Commerce Committee considered similar legislation, with congressmen making it clear they did not like the idea of being strike breakers.

"We're getting fed up with it," Rep. Samuel Devine, R-Ohio, told Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson during the hearing.

Rep. John Moss, D-Cal., asked Hodgson whether the intervention of Congress was not "an impairment of collective bargaining."

Congress gave reluctant priority to the strike-stopping legislation proposed by Nixon Monday a few hours after the signalmen tied up the nation's rail passenger and freight service by setting up picket lines that members of other rail unions refused to cross.

Hodgson warned, in testimony before the House committee today, of "drastic effects" on the nation's economy if the strike continued.

The vote was 13 to 1. Sen. Robert O. Packwood, R-Ore., said he cast the lone vote against the proposal because he felt Congress had no business settling rail strikes.

A Republican, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N. Y., was one of the sponsors of the revised proposal that cleared the committee to

JUST RING TO KEEP HEALTHY

Arizona Ratifies Vote Amendment

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Arizona became the 30th state to ratify the constitutional amendment lowering the voting age to 18 Monday.

A resolution passed by the state legislature ratifying the proposed amendment was signed by Gov. Jack Williams. Thirty-seven state legislatures must vote for the proposal to make it the 26th amendment to the Constitution.

A Cautious Greeting To Health Plan

Marin health and medical officials today expressed cautious approval of consolidating all health and medical services under one department, but warned that the propsoed new alignment has flaws.

Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella outlined a plan to form a new department of health care services with Dr. Donovan O. Cooke as department head.

This department would combine the departments of public health, medical, community mental health services, county service officer, conservatorships, coroner, public administrator, public guardian and comprehensive health planning.

Campanella recommended that under Dr. Cooke would be two assistants, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht as health officer and Dr. John Guerrant as mental health program chief.

Campanella recommended that sanitarians, building inspectors and the zoning administrator should be realigned under a new department of inspections. Dr. Albrecht should concentrate on public health planning, said Campanella.

This did not sit well with Dr. Albrecht and several other speakers. Dr. Albrecht said she is opposed to having her department of environmental health under a new department of inspections. She said her sanitarians do more than just inspect, playing valuable roles in consultation and education.

She also opposed Campanella's proposal to put health education, nutrition and rabies control under a chief of special services, that post to be filled by the present county service officer, James V. Burdick.

Dr. Stephen Kent, representing the Marin Medical Society, expressed similar concern.

He said such services as venereal disease control and rabies control cannot be divorced from the health officer because during an epidemic, the health officer is vitally concerned with such outbreaks.

"I don't see how you can provide better service if you remove environmental health from public health," said Dr. Kent.

Dr. Cooke, Burdick and representatives of the mental health advisory board, Easter Seal Society, and comprehensive health planning council also agreed in general with the reorganization idea but asked for careful study to see that services are aligned in proper categories.

Supervisors asked Campanella to consult with the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council and come back with any changes that the council might propose on the reorganization plan.

Campanella said the reorganization proposal is not his idea alone, and he is open to any changes that might be suggested.

Mass Arrests Over Abduction

ISTANBUL (UPI)—The Turkish government arrested scores of dissidents, professors and politicians today in a race to find kidnapped Israeli Consul Ephraim Elrom before his abductors can execute him as threatened.

The leftist extremists who kidnapped Elrom, 59, from his home Monday said they would kill him in two days if the government did not release "all revolutionary guerillas" now in jail. Instead there were mass arrests.

Army units and security police halted traffic at roadblocks throughout Turkey in a search for what government sources said were more than 300 known leftwings, student extremists, intellectuals, unionists, professors and politicians thought to be connected in some way with the organization that seized Elrom.

Elrom, who helped send Nazi mass murderer Adolf Eichmann to the gallows a decade ago, was captured by men calling themselves the Turkish Liberation Army, a leftwing organization that claimed responsibility for previous kidnappings of Americans.

Many of those arrested were taken to a security headquarters building that Florence Nightingale once used as a hospital during the Crimean War.

At the top of the wanted list were 49 persons the government said were "guilty of inciting innocent youths" to the kidnapping.

(In Jerusalem the Israeli cabinet met in emergency session to discuss the kidnapping and the possible involvement of Arab guerrilas. A statement issued afterward expressed Israel's "disgust" with the kidnapping. Prime Minister Golda Meir sent a message of encouragement to the wife of the abducted diplomat.)

Elrom, a policeman-turned diplomat, was seized by four or five armed and masked men when he came home for lunch. He struggled but was subdued with a pistol blow to the head.

Five hours later a typewritten note delivered to the Turkish news agency said Elrom would be shot unless all "revo-

Elderly Housing Plan Gets Tentative Nod

Catholic Social Service of Marin will get a use permit to build 102 units of housing for the elderly at 217 Laurel Grove Avenue in Kentfield, now occupied by a Dominican priory.

Ralph D. Cairns, Deputy County Zoning Administrator, announced yesterday he would issue the permit, barring a legal obstacle.

The legal question was raised by Louis F. Hawkins of 4 Hanken Drive, who protested the apartment development. Hawkins said Article 34 of the state Constitution provides that no low rent housing can be built by any state public body without prior approval in a referendum election.

William Parnow, representing Catholic Social Service, replied that the housing will be relatively expensive units, not low cost housing. He assured residents that the apartments will not become a ghetto.

Architect James McDonald said the priory building will be remodeled into 26 units, and six new buildings will house 76 more units. Parking will be provided for 47 cars. He said construction will be rustic, and exterior colors will be earthy stain to blend with the residential neighborhood.

The property, at the corner of Lauren Grove Avenue and Hanken Drive, comprises 10.5 acres. Only one half will be used for the apartments, and the rear half will be sold for private development of one-family homes.

Hawkins and Dudley F. Miller, president of the Del Mesa Property Owners Association, led the opposition. They said 102 units on five acres would destroy the character of their neighborhood of one-family homes, create congestion, and lower values. 70 per cent of Del Mesa residents are opposed to the dense apartment development, said Miller.

Speakers, both for and against the development, were about equally divided.

Those who backed the apartments included T. C. Wellman, a Del Mesa Property Owners Association director; Rebecca Watkin, representing the Marin Council for Civic Affairs; and other individuals. They argued that the housing policy just approved by the county calls for integrating housing for the elderly with one-family homes.

Hawkins replied that there are other properties in San Rafael or in unincorporated areas close to shopping centers. If apartments must go in, then the entire 10.5 acres should be used, not just five acres, argued Hawkins.

Cairns, the deputy zoning administrator, said he believes the housing for the elderly will generate less traffic than single family homes. He said he will approve the use permit, after checking with the county counsel on the legal point raised by Hawkins.

Last year, Katharine Branson School tried to open a boys school on the same property but withdrew in the face of mass protest by the Del Mesa residents.

Two Film Panels Hit The Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Catholic and Protestant film boards withdrew their support from the Mition Picture Association of America's (MPAA) voluntary rating system today, charging it had failed to protect the young from sex and violence on the screen.

The church groups blamed "pressures from motion picture companies" and said it appeared "the spectre of governmental regulation is too remote, for the industry as a whole to take seriously its task of self-regulation at present."

The Broadcasting and Film Commission of the National Council of Churches and the National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures said in a joint statement the industry's ratings of films had proved unreliable and that the public was losing confidence in the system.

"The basic criterion for evaluating the rating program is whether it protects the young from material beyond their ability to cope," the boards said. "We believe that the ratings at present do not take into account sufficiently the total context of a given film, that they place too much weight on overt sex and not enough on the implicit exploitation of sex and the over-all impact of violence and other anti-social aspects of the film on the child.

"In addition," they said, "overt visual sex is now finding its way into the 'GP' (All Ages Admitted, Parental Guidance Suggested) films. This pivotal rating thus has become worse than useless because a parent, having once been misled, has no way of knowing whether other 'GP' rated films contain similar material."

In addition to "GP," film ratings are "G"—all ages admitted, general audience; "R"—restricted, under 17 must be accompanied by a parent or adult guardian, and "X"—no one under 17 admitted.

The boards said that while the reliability of the ratings were "at the heart of the matter," it also was necessary that "more local theaters seriously enforce the ratings, and advertising reflect more concern with informing the public and less with exploiting sex and violence." The boards also have complained in the past about the practice of showing "R" and "X-rated trailers with "G" and "GP" films.

"It is essential," they said, "that the motion picture industry itself realize that it must develop a workable, dependable and credible system of self-regulation as an alternative to governmental censorship."

Defense Asks Court Mercy

MOSCOW (UPI) —Defense attorneys pleaded today for mercy for nine Jews on trial in Leningrad, saying the defendants had been used as "pawns" by the Zionists, the Soviet news agency Tass said.

Tass said the lawyers expressed the repentance of their clients and defended the legality of the trial, in an apparent effort to rebut foreign critics.

(In Jerusalem, Israeli Premier Golda Meir denounced the trial Monday as "Stalinist terror.")

Tass said attorney Yuri Buzinier, representing defendant Mikhail Korenblit, "described all the other members of the group as helpers of the evil will of the Israeli Zionist circles."

"They were pawns in the speculative political gamble played by these circles," it quoted Buzinier as saying.

"The defense lawyers of the nine defendants requested the jury to mitigate the sentences demanded by the state prosecutor," who asked Monday for

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Fund Freeze Denial

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Caspar Weinberger, deputy director of the budget, Monday denounced as "completely demagogic and political" claims that the Nixon administration was seizing power from Congress by impounding funds.

Weinberger told a Capitol Hill news conference that $12 billion in funds frozen by the administration were well below the average of previous years under Democratic administrations. He said the figure represented 5.6 per cent of total authorized outlays, compared with an average of 6.8 per cent during the past decade.

Weinberger contended that holding funds in reserve was necessary to fight inflation and to comply with a spending ceiling imposed by Congress.

Deodorant Warning

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Repeated use of some commercial underarm aerosol deodorants can lead to clinical lung disease in certain persons, an Army doctor warned Monday in a report to a medical conference.

Lt. Col. George W. Ward Jr. of the Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver, told the American Thoracic Society that two brands of deodorant figured in the cases of five men and two women whose lungs were affected.

He refused to name them because of the preliminary nature of his investigation and the uncertainty of the chemicals involved.

Ward told the society, which is meeting here as a division of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Assocation conference, that the seven persons were affected by sarcoidosis—formation of fibrous tissue in the lungs.

Jubilee's Mayhem

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (UPI)—Many residents of this Sierra community in Calaveras county wish Mark Twain's story never made their annual frog jumping contest a famous international jubilee.

About 70,000 people jammed the old gold rush town for the weekend event. One person was killed, at least 141 injured and 60 arrested on various charges in the resulting mayhem.

"And that's probably about 1 per cent of the ones that should have been arrested," said Sheriff Russell Leach.

Leach said fences were cut and a barn burned near the county fairgrounds, where 2,000 frogs leaped for prizes in the contest held annually since 1928.

Sputnik Launched

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union announced today it had launched another in its series of unmanned Cosmos sputniks and indicated it was travelling close to the track of the Salute earth satellite.

The official Tass news agency said Cosmos 420 was fired into earth orbit on an undisclosed date "for the exploration of outer space."

Laos Evacuation

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Wives and children of Americans and other employes of the U.S. government were evacuated today from Pakse in southern Laos where a new North Vietnamese offensive has carved out huge new areas.

The official Laotian military spokesman said the situation "is getting worse."

The evacuation of about 100 dependents followed the virtual leveling of the town of Dong Hene Monday night in a rocket attack by advancing Communist troops. Laotian government spokesmen said about 75 per cent of the town's homes were destroyed by rockets.

The big Communist offensive in the south coincided with renewed peace efforts by the Communist Pathet Lao and their demands that Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma halt U.S. bombing attacks in Laos. B52s have hit the Ho Chi Minh Trail almost daily for months and U.S. planes have supported Laotian ground operations.

Hijack Foiled

MALMOE, Sweden (UPI)—Police arrested a U.S. Army deserter Monday night after he tried to hijack a Scandinavian Airlines System (SAS) airliner by threatening to kill his Swedish girlfriend.

Authorities said the man, identified only as a 21-year-old Negro, was persuaded by his friends and by police to give up after 45 minutes. He was taken into custody by scores of policemen that surrounded the Stockholm-bound DC9. No one was hurt.

The police said the deserter quarreled with three friends at Malmoe harbor, then forced his 21-year-old girl friend to accompany him to Bultofta Airport in a taxi.

Refugee Request

NEW DELHI (UPI) —India, already burdened with 2.8 million refugees from the civil war in East Pakistan, is bracing itself for another 3 million. It wants foreign countries to help pay the staggering cost of feeding and sheltering them.

A United Nations panel that studied the refugee situation said Monday India has a "monumental" problem that might continue for another three to six months. India has asked the world organization for $266 million for a six-month refugee program.

U.N. Deputy High Commissioner Charles Mace, head of the refugee study group, told a news conference Monday his panel would return to Geneva Wednesday and submit its findings "in a matter of days." It will be up to his commission and other U.N. agencies whether India gets the money.

No Complaint In Pot Possession

No complaint has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against Joseph Michael Hildreth, 20, of San Rafael, who was arrested last Wednesday on suspicion of possessing marijuana and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The Marin district attorney's office reported there was insufficient evidence to prosecute the case.

Brothers Share War Duty

YARMOUTH, Maine (UPI)—Wesley Storer, 22, was never in the Army and he had no combat training. But when his younger brother Glenn came home from Vietnam disillusioned with the war, Wesley decided to take his place on the front line.

"We're not sure what happened or how it happened," the boy's father, Carleton R. Storer, a Yarmouth contractor, said Monday. "But Wesley decided that since he was not likely to be drafted, he ought to share Glenn's service."

So Wesley put on his brother's uniform and went to Vietnam in April in his place. The hoax was discovered when someone in his battalion reported a civilian in their midst.

Meanwhile, Glenn turned himself in April as absent without leave. He was sent to Ft. Devens, Mass., and kept in a maximum security cell. He was told he would be sent back to Vietnam.

"It was a brotherly gesture," he boys' mother said. "Wesley told me he was willing to give his life for his brother and was willing to come home with a leg blown off for his brother."

Spec. 4 Glenn Storer, 21, came home early last month after five months' service for a two-week furlough.

"He was a wreck when he came home but he straightened out after a while," his father said. "I guess Glenn summed it up best. He said they're playing games with his life over there."

The brothers left April 18, saying they were going to Connecticut, where Glenn was to return to Vietnam and Wesley, who was unable to join the Army because he broke his knee skiing, was to take a cruise to Bermuda.

Instead, Wesley, wearing Glenn's uniform, reported April 22 to the Americal Division in the Chu Lai section of Vietnam and was ordered into combat. He had learned how to "break down" his M16 rifle, but he had never carried one.

"They had agreed that when Wes came home on the next scheduled leave, Glenn would take over as the soldier again," their father said.

Wesley has been keeping himself busy with minor carpentry chores at Chu Lai while awaiting a return to the United States.

"He is not in custody," a military spokesman said. "He has the freedom of the Chu Lai base. He has received enough money from home to book a civilian flight back to the United States. But there are political problems."

As a civilian who arrived without passport and visa, Wesley is in Vietnam illegally.

DEEP SEA SUB LAUNCHED AGAIN

A diver at the Woods Hole, Mass., Oceanographic Institution assists (top) during the launching of the deep-submergence submarine Alvin Monday. The research mini-submarine sank in 5,000 feet of water in the Atlantic in 1968 after a cable snapped. The three-man vessel was recovered and rebuilt. Divers are testing it before it resumes fulltime service.

Viet Troops Begin Closing In On Red Bastion In A Shau Valley

SAIGON (UPI) —South Vietnamese troops along the summit of mile-high peaks at both ends of the A Shau valley started moving down into the valley today in a pincers movement against Communist forces on the valley floor.

As they started down, the multi-battalion force encountered only sporadic contact with the communists, military sources said.

But heavy fighting was expected in the five-week-old Operation Lam Son 720, which is aimed at breaking Communist control of the 35-mile long valley 375 miles north of Saigon.

U.S. forces six miles east of the valley's northern end, supported by B52 bombardments, began blowing up a vast six-mile square Communist base area so well built it even has running water, field spokesmen said.

So far in the A Shau campaign, the Army of the Republic of (South) Vietnam (ARVN) has claimed killing nearly 400 Communists at a loss of about 75 dead of its own.

But ARVN Brig. Gen. Vau Van Giai, commander of the operation, has predicted that heavy fighting lies ahead.

U.S. B52 Stratofortresses dropped 90 tons of bombs early today on the Communist bunker complex.

Other Thailand-based B52's put another 90 tons of bombs into the Ho Chi Minh Trail complex three miles south of the Demilitarized Zone and a mile east of the Laos border. B52's also bombarded Communist targets in Cambodia and the main corridor of the Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos.

RICHMOND (UPI)—A billow of black smoke floated over San Francisco Bay on Monday as the result of a fire in a large pile of old tires on mudflats at Point Isabelle.

Radiation Peril Linked To SSTs

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Exhaust gas from supersonic transport (SST) jets could break up the ozone shield surrounding the Earth and let in "blinding and even lethal" ultraviolet radiation from the sun, a University of California scientist said Monday.

A layer of ozone molecules surrounds the Earth, protecting it from dangerous radiation from the sun. Dr. Harold S. Johnston, a former dean of the University of California College of Cehmistry, said gas released by exhausts of high-flying SSTs would speed up the reactions that destroy the ozone molecules.

The result, Johnston said, would be the opening of a "window through the ozone in the stratosphere and which would allow "harsh" radiation to reach the surface of the Earth.

Johnston said his findings have been presented to President Nixon's Science Advisory Committee in Washington.

The first report on his research was published in the Newhall, Calif., Signal — a thrice-weekly paper—and his findings will be published in Science Magazine.

Johnston said he began his investigation into the exhaust problem in March, 1970, after a meeting of experts in the field had been called by the SST research panel in Boulder, Colo.

He said his calculations depicted "a serious potential hazard that has been largely overlooked until now in both sides of the continuing SST controversy."

"And the magnitude of the new problem is far greater than the questions raised earlier by some scientists about the effect of added water vapor in the ozone region."

The scientist said the essence of his findings was that oxides of nitrogen discharged in exhaust gas from SST aircraft would provide a powerful catalytic or speedup effect on reactions that destroy ozone molecules."

Johnston said research showed that 500 SSTs in worldwide service for two years could reduce by half the total field of stratosphere ozone.

"Ozone destruction by this amount, other calculations have indicated, would expose the surface of the Earth with a type of ultraviolet radiation that is totally absent at present," he said.

Nixon Issue Dies At Whittier

WHITTIER, Calif. (UPI) — The Whittier College faculty has decided not to consider a proposal that President Nixon's honorary law degree be revoked by his alma mater.

The faculty Monday ignored the issue because the old student senate, which last month passed a resolution saying Nixon did not deserve the degree because of his Vietnam war policies, had been dissolved.

The new student senate last week put the question before the school's 1,900 students for a vote.

The vote was 3-to-1 to let the President keep the degree which was awarded in 1959.

Poll Shows Senate Will Defeat SST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The once-dead supersonic transport (SST), revived in the House last week, seems doomed to sink a third time at the hands of a still-hostile U.S. Senate.

A UPI check Monday showed SST foes in the Senate should have an eight or nine-vote margin when the vote comes late Wednesday on whether to join the House in rescuing the controversial project.

The senate rejected the SST by 11 votes in December, but was forced to give in to the House and approve continued development of the jetline until spring. In March, however, the House narrowly approved scrapping the project, and the Senate concurred, 51-46.

But the House reversed itself again last week, converting a $85.3 million item in a supplemental appropriations bill for SST contract termination costs into an appropriation to continue the program. The Senate Appropriations Committee quickly concurred.

Sometime Wednesday night, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., leader of the anti-SST forces, will move to strip the money from the bill. Barring last-minute switches or heavy absenteeism, the tally should be 54 to 45 in his favor.

Customs Boss Sees No Slowing In Marijuana, Hash Smuggling

WASHINGTON (UPI) —U.S. Customs Commissioner Myles J. Ambrose said today marijuana and hashish continue to be smuggled into the United States at an unprecedented rate, despite intensified surveillance.

MYLES J. AMBROSE
'No simple solution'

Customs agents are employing dogs, composite profiles of potential smugglers and the latest electronic devices, Ambrose told the National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse, but "We realize ... there is no simple solution to the complex problem of marijuana and hashish abuse."

For one thing, he said, more people than the entire population of the United States —225.6 million —passed through customs into the country last year alone and "each one of these persons is a potential smuggler."

And smugglers employ the latest technology available, including "trash smashers" meant for compacting garbage which smugglers are using to compress marijuana and hashish into 25 and 30 pound blocks. He also said hashish, more potent than marijuana, has been found pressed and baked and shipped commercially as dishes.

"Our seizure statistics for the past several years indicate that marijuana and hashish smuggling is continuing at an unprecedented rate despite all efforts to stop this illicit trade," Ambrose said in a statement prepared for the commission, created by Congress last year to study the pot problem.

Marijuana seizures during fiscal 1970 totaled a then-record 104,303 pounds, but in the first nine months of this fiscal year seizures have hit 126,965 pounds. In fiscal 1965, he said, only 11,000 pounds was taken.

"As long as the threat of marijuana and hashish smuggling remains, we feel it is our mission and duty to protect our young people through vigorous enforcement efforts centered around our nation's borders," Ambrose said.

Another witness, John Kaplan, author of "Marijauna — The New Prohibition," told the commission in his prepared testimony that marijuana should be "sold legally with taxation, age limits and quality control ... as alcohol has been since the repeal of Prohibition."

He said it would be a "very healthy thing for America when marijuana is sold in the same stores as alcohol. It will be valuable for those who use alcohol to be confronted once and for all —and every time they enter a liquor store —with the fact that they are using a drug."

He said the current laws against marijuana are "propelling us to a national crisis of confidence of major dimensions."

Soviet Support For Mutual Troop Cuts

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said today the Soviet Union "will do all we can to achieve agreement" on reducing troops and armaments deployed in Europe if Western powers show themselves willing to do the same.

Kosygin spoke at a Kremlin luncheon in honor of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada, furthering the direct and indirect dialogue between Moscow and Washington on possible negotiations for a European troop cut that began last weekend.

Communist party secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev renewed the Soviet proposal for such negotiations in a speech delivered last Friday in Tbilisi. U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam asked for clarifications on the Soviet proposal on Monday.

"In connection with the European situation, much attention is now being paid to the reduction of troops and armaments," Kosygin said.

"In several countries there is much discussion on this question, especially with regard to a possible reduction of foreign troops.

"If the West shows a readiness to undertake practical measures towards reducing foreign troops, we will do all we can to achieve agreement."

Kosygin also made another Soviet appeal for the Russian proposal that an all-European security conference be called to tie up diplomatic and political loose ends left over from World War II. He said Canada would be welcome to participate.

"Canada has definite interests in Europe, for which reason her interest in a pan-European conference is natural," Kosygin said. "In the European conference, the task now stands for a fundamental change towards peace. As a result of the efforts over many years of the Soviet Union...the general situation in Western Europe has been made more hopeful and favorable to achieve changes for the better," he said.

The Soviets have already indicated they would welcome the United States and Canada to participate in such a conference.

Kosygin restated the standard Soviet positions on the Middle East and Indochina.

"The Soviet position is entirely clear," he said. "The aggressor must withdraw from foreign lands."

Harvard To Vote Against Proposal On South Africa

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)— The Harvard Corporation says it will vote its 288,160 shares of General Motors stock against a proposal asking the huge company to withdraw its operations in South Africa.

Nathan Pusey, president of Harvard University, said Monday the corporation would have backed the proposal "if we had thought it would make a significant contribution to the elimination of apartheid.

"But since we had no information that convinced us it would, and since it seems certain it would work a hardship on the employes affected, we decided to oppose this proposal," Pusey said in announcing how the corporation intends to vote its stock on eight proposals at GM's annual meeting in Detroit.

Disclosure Law Ruling Appeal Set

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A lower court ruling invalidating the financial disclosure law for ballot proposition campaigns will be appealed by Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr.

Brown announced Monday he will ask the Supreme Court today to overturn the lower court ruling two weeks ago which held the law was discriminatory and unconstitutional.

The controversy centers around Proposition 18, which was defeated by the voters last November. That proposition would have allowed the use of gas tax funds to develop rapid transit systems to fight air pollution.

Following the election, the secretary of state filed a suit in which fines totaling some $250,000 were sought against several major oil companies and individuals who contributed to the campaign to defeat the proposition.

The suit claimed that Standard Oil of California, Gulf Oil Co. and Mobil Oil Co. violated the law by failing to itemize their expenditures and contributions.

In seeking invalidation of the law, the oil companies charged the disclosure law dealing with ballot propositions was unconstitutional in that its provisions were much broader than a similar law dealing with candidates for public office.

PROPERTY RELIEF

A $2 Billion Tax Package

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A $2 billion program to reduce each homeowner's property tax by $400 and assure that most wealthy people pay at least a minimum income tax has cleared its first legislative committee.

The Democratic author credits Gov. Ronald Reagan with a helpful "assist" for disclosing he owed no state income tax for 1970.

"I'd say that was a pretty good break for me and will help get this passed," said Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, citing the new clamor for state tax reform.

The program, which is the 1971 legislative session's chief property tax relief package, was sent on a voice vote Monday from the Revenue and Taxation Committee which Gonsalves chairs to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Its major feature amended into the program Monday is a provision to eliminate property taxes on owner-occupied homes valued at up to $16,000. Higher priced homes also would have their taxes sharply reduced on a proportionately declining scale as the market value increased.

Under the proposal, the first $4,000 of a owner-occupied home's assessed value generally pegged at 25 per cent of market value would be exempt from property taxation. Gonsalves estimated this would lower taxes by about $400 on every owner-occupied home in the state.

Another feature amended into the legislation Monday would impose a minimum tax of 5 per cent on all so-called prefarential income over $30,000. Preferential income includes capital gains, oil depletion, depreciation and excess interest.

Gonsalves said he did not know whether Reagan would have owed a state income tax for last year had his proposal been in effect. But he noted his measure would require most wealthy people now exempt from state taxes to pay at least some levy.

Reagan, whose salary as governor was $44,100, did not owe a state income tax because of investment losses.

Other "relief" elements of the program are these:

An additional $242 million in state school aid this year and $305 million the next, a $3,400 state income tax reduction plus a $35 tax credit for couples who rent, a lowering of from 65 to 55 the age at which a person can quality for senior citizen's property tax benefits, a reduction in business inventory taxes and the state takeover of substantial county welfare costs next year.

Here's how the program would be financed:

The payroll withholding of state income taxes starting next January, an increase in the sales tax from 5 to 6 cents on the dollar, an increase of from 10 to 15 per cent in the maximum state income tax, the closing of income tax loopholes, increased bank and corporation taxes, a sharp reduction in the oil depletion allowance, higher insurance taxes and bigger auto registration fees.

The committee deleted a provision which called for exempting all owner-occupied homes from property taxation and taxing only the land on which the structures sat. The $4,000 assessed value exemption was substituted in its place.

The amendment was agreed to beforehand by Gonsalves and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, the leading co-author. The formal motion was put by Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Napa, who argued the land-only taxation proposal would provide proportionately more relief for owners of luxury homes than for less expensive homes.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, cautioned Gonsalves the six-bill package may be killed on the Assembly floor if a "compromise accommodation" is not reached with Republicans and the governor.

Poll Claims Nixon Losing Majority

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — President Nixon's Vietnam policies find minority agreement among Californians, the California Poll said today.

President Nixon has called for a gradual withdrawal of U.S. troops with substantial forces in Vietnam through 1972. The President has said a faster pullout would be construed as a military and political defeat.

But pollster Mervin D. Field said today his poll showed that 59 per cent of the state's residents feel "we should pull out of ... Southeast Asia even if this step is seen by the rest of the world as a political and military defeat." A year ago only 46 per cent supported this position.

And 7 out of 10 Californians want all U.S. troops out of Vietnam by the end of the year.

The poll also showed that the so-called credibility gap is still in the minds of the people. Sixty-nine per cent agreed that "there have been so many shifts in our government's statements about the Vietnam war in the past that I find it hard to believe the President is giving us the whole story now." In May of 1970, 64 per cent supported this assertion.

On the statement that "losing the war in Vietnam is something this country should avoid at all costs," only 26 per cent agreed as compared to 37 per cent a year ago.

But despite their dovisn stand, Californians still hope that the Communists won't gain control of the South Vietnamese people and government.

On the question of whether this would cause concern with respect to the security of the United States, 71 per cent said it would, a drop of 3 per cent from a year ago.

'Gargoyle' To Be Closed By Quake Threat

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— "The gargoyle," the 96-year-old main building at the fashionable Town School, is being shut down because it is "prone to earthquake damage," it was announced Monday.

School officials said the three-story building, affectionately known as "the gargoyle" by students and alumni of the private school, would be replaced by a new structure.

The two second-grade glasses now housed in the old building will be moved next door while the cafeteria, auditorium, gymnasium and kitchen will simply be closed down.

The officials said the school's 365 students are being asked to bring their lunches for the rest of the year.

Bid To Straddle Fence On NATO

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A bipartisan drive has developed in the Senate to head off a showdown on the issue of whether President Nixon should be forced to cut U.S. troops strength in Europe by 150,000 men.

The move is against the apparent wishes of both the President, who strongly opposes the cutback, and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, prime backer of the troop reduction.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., and Charles Mathias, R-Md., fearing the troop cutback legislation might pass, have drafted a "compromise" designed to stave off a showdown.

Their substitute proposal would simply urge the President to negotiate a troop reduction with the Soviet Union and NATO allies, reporting back to the Senate every six months on the progress. If it passes, the Mansfield amendment would be killed.

But Javits and Mathias said the White House wanted no part of any compromise arrangement and was pushing for a direct vote against the Mansfield measure to leave no doubt among NATO allies where the U.S. stands. Mansfield said he also wanted an up-or-down vote on his proposal requiring a 50 per cent cutback by the end of the year.

The issue is to be resolved Wednesday in one manner or another.

A UPI survey indicated the vote may be close if, indeed, the Mansfield amendment is put to the test.

The poll showed 42 opposed to the measure, 38 for it, 17 undecided, two unknown and one absent.

The Nixon administration, continuing its campaign against the Mansfield amendment, revealed Monday that the Soviet Union had "reconfirmed" its willingness to talk about "mutual troop reductions in Europe."

State Department officials said the reconfirmation came Monday in Moscow in a meeting between U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Officials also reported the Kremlin was willing to talk about the troop reductions outside the framework of a general European security conference — a provision it always had previousl insisted on.

"This is clearly not the time to throw away our one negotiating card by unilaterally withdrawing American troops from Europe," a State Department official said.

The rhetoric for and against the amendment continued to escalate as the Senate resumed debate today.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said an immediate pullout of half the U.S. force in Europe would result in "a collapse of confidence in American "assurances." He contended it would signal to the Soviet Union "a failure of our will and invite the conclusion that we will not stand firm in a crisis."

But Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said the United States must disengage to save its own economy.

"Unless we manage to bring under some kind of public control the enormous military bureaucracy abroad, we will end up as did the Roman empire, which became so much a slave to its foreign commitments that it died at home."

Found Guilty In Assassination Try

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 33-year-old Taiwanese airchitect, Tzu-Tai cheng, was found guilty Monday of the attempted assassination of Chiang Ching-kuo, a deputy premier of nationist China, and the son of Chiang Kai-shek, on the steps of New York's Plaza Hotel in April 1970.

A second defendant, Cheng's brother-in-law, Peter Huang, 33, of Ithaca, N.Y., pleaded guilty when the trial began, April 28. Both men face up to 25 years in prison for attempted murder and up to seven years for possession of a gun. Sentencing was set for July 6.

On January 1, 1971 Medicare again raised the deductibles and other amounts that you must pay for medical care. But Blue Cross/65 has again expanded benefits to cover these cost increases—at no increase in cost to you. Blue Cross/65 remains just $4 a month, payable quarterly.

For new members who apply before their 65th birthday or within 90 days after, Blue Cross/65 is available the year around.

But, for those who are more than 90 days past 65, the Plan will be open for a limited time only—from now through June 1. Don't miss out.

Remember, for only $4 a month Blue Cross/65 not only fills gaps in the Medicare program when hospitalized, but also provides benefits not covered by Medicare, including hospital and surgical care outside the United States.

Now, before June 1, complete and mail the coupon.

$62,500 Bail In Death Threat

A 26-year-old Sausalito man was held in Marin County Jail today under $62,500 bail after he allegedly threatened to kill the occupant of a houseboat which he had allegedly burgled.

Ian Strider of 811 Spring Street was booked yesterday by sheriff's deputies on suspicion of burglary, possessing narcotics, narcotics paraphernalia and a hypodermic needle.

Sheriff's reports of the incident were incomplete today but indicated Strider, who also is known as Barry Ford, was wanted for questioning in connection with the theft Saturday of $1,500 from a houseboat at Gate 6½, Waldo Point, Saturday.

He was arrested by deputies near Gate 5 Road and Bridgeway, outside Sausalito. Deputies said that while in the patrol car on the way to be booked, Strider attempted to hid a silver pill obx behind the car seat.

The pill box contained a plastic container with a white substance, deputies said.

When Strider was searched at the jail, deputies found a hypodermic needle hidden in the collar of his coat and a gold spoon in a leather pouch in his pocket.

He was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Judge Peter Allen Smith, who set the bail, said he had been told by deputies that Strider had phoned his alleged burglary victim from the jail and told him, "When I get out of here I'm going to shoot you."

Political Arson Warning Given

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Firefighters now face a new enemy, the political or overt arsonist who takes credit for destruction.

Chief Emmet D. Condon, who heads San Francisco's arson squad, described the new foe Monday, noting that "present excessive arson fire losses are ascribed to civil and social unrest."

Condon told the National Fire Protection Association that the target of such arsonists are private companies and utilities and predicted that business and labor may consider fire safety an important job benefit.

As protection, he suggested bullet-proof glass, locks for sensitive areas, closed-circuit television and metal detectors.

Rail Compromise Is Sought In Senate

go beyond Nixon's July 1 date and also to include a pay raise in the plan.

Javits said one key reason why he proposed rejecting the administration proposal in favor of his own to extend negotiations until Oct. 1, was that he felt it a "good objective" to have all rail labor contracts expire at the same time. He said he believed his plan would be acceptable to the White House.

With the strike of the 13,000-member Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen in its second day, the major economic impact appeared to be in the auto industry.

American Motors said it would have to shut down all operations after today if the strike continued. General Motors, Ford and Chrysler said they could not last out the week without rail transportation.

Hodgson told the House committee if the strike continued, it would exert a growing "drastic impact on our economy and citizens."

The railroad industry did not object to extending a "freeze" until Oct. 1 but expressed doubt that any extension of time would solve the dispute with the signalmen.

The chief railroad negotiator, J. P. Hiltz Jr., testified that the industry favors legislation to deal with all such strike situations. The Nixon administration has proposed a form of binding arbitration for transportation disputes.

Hiltz said, "The railroad industry does not believe that a mere extension of time will resolve the dispute."

The signalmen, who were able to paral yze the nation's railroad system in spite of their small numbers by picketing which some 600,000 other rail workers observed, argued before the House committee that they were justified in halting the nation's rail traffic because its members were grossly underpaid for the work they do.

The signalmen, who install and maintain the complicated signal systems used on railroads, are paid an average of $3.78 an hour now. Their last raise was a 3 per cent hike July 1, 1969.

Also at issue is the question of out-of-town accommodations. The signalmen in many cases now must sleep in camp cars along the railroad tracks. The union stressed today it wanted expenses paid for hotel accommodations and meals when they are out of town.

The signalmen are asking for a wage increase amounting to 66 per cent over 36 months when compounded, compared with 42 per cent over 42 months, which has become the standard for other rail unions.

Although Nixon asked for action immediately when he submitted his antistrike proposal Monday, chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., of the House Commerce Committee did not call a hearing until this morning. Congressmen traditionally have been reluctant to impose settlements on unions, and many lawmakers grumbled at the prospect of ending the second rail strike in six months.

On Dec. 10, 1970, Congress ordered an end to an 18-hour nationwide strike by four unions representing operating employes, clerks, maintenance of way employes and dining car employes.

Hodgson said in his testimony today that Congress would not be imposing a settlement on the unions —only giving them time to bargain, which he said had worked in the case of the Dec. 10 strike.

"Time and again the history of collective bargaining disputes has shown us that additional bargaining time has been helpful in bringing about voluntary settlement," Hodgson said.

He noted that three of the four unions in the Dec. 10 strike subsequently reached voluntary settlement.

Republican congressional leaders met with President Nixon today, and later accused the Democratic controlled Congress of "foot dragging" for political reason on rail strike legislation.

GOP House leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said there was "no excuse whatsoever" for the one-day delay by Congress in considering Nixon's proposals.

For the second day in a row, hundreds of thousands of commuters had to find different ways to get to work in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other big cities that rely on rail commuter transportation.

The Post Office placed an embargo on all second, third and fourth class mail going beyond the third postal zone from point of origin —about 300 miles.

In addition to the auto industry, steel mills and coal mines were hard hit by a lack of raw materials and railroad cars to move them.

Grain and cereal manufacturers, as well as breweries and other industries that use bulk rail traffic, were threatened with slowdowns and even shutdowns before the week was out if the strike continued.

Buses and subways were jammed and traffic was heavier than usual on major arteries leading into New York. No major tieups were reported, however.

The strike of signalmen shut down the Penn Central, Erie Lackawanna and Jersey Central railroads which together bring more than 160,000 commuters into New York City daily from New York suburbs, New Jersey and Connecticut.

The Long Island Railroad, the nation's largest commuter line, continued operations for its 90,000 passengers but was forced to discharge Manhattan-bound riders in Queens because Pennsylvania Station was closed by the strike.

Commuters on the San Francisco Peninsula, the last place in the state with a heavy concentration of passenger trains, got to their jobs although only two of 22 morning trains operated between San Jose and San Francisco.

In the Central Valley, trucks handled much of the lettuce and other produce usually shipped from rail terminals.

Long distance passenger trains, now operated by the federal Amtrak agency, were halted and ticket holders offered alternate means of transportation.

Police said they noticed only moderate increase in highway traffic as 11,500 San Francisco commuters took to cars and buses as Southern Pacific Co. trains stopped. Additional buses were put in service.

A Santa Fe Railway spokesman in Los Angeles remarked that, "this not being harvest season, we don't have any whole train loaded with perishables to worry about."

He added that individual cars are being fueled by supervisory personnel and vegetables and fruit kept from spoiling by the cars' refrigeration systems.

A Union Pacific Railroad spokesman reported similar circumstances and said that where it is necessary, animals had been taken from trains for food and water.

Another Rash Of Vandalism

A second rash of window-smashings, apparently connected to the printers' strike against the Independent-Journal, has hit San Rafael businesses.

Police said one of the targets of pistol-wielding thugs, Lyons-Ryan Ford, was hit for the second time in four days. Agency manager Robert Young told the I-J he believed the vandalism definitely was linked to the long strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Lyons-Ryan, 619 Francisco Boulevard, had one window smashed by a bullet last night or early today. Other businesses hit were Brown Motors Inc., 933 Francisco Boulevard, and Don Collins Buick, 502 Francisco Boulevard.

The manager of Brown Motors said the agency had not been vandalized until it started advertising in the I-J.

Windows in seven Marin businesses — four in San Rafael and three in Strawberry — were smashed Thursday night or Friday morning. A piece of metal which appeared to be used in typesetting was found at one of the firms.

Meanwhile, three members of Local 21 last night began serving 90-day sentences in Marin County Jail, having pleaded guilty of conspiracy to smash windows of I-J advertisers last year.

The printers — Dennis J. Crowley, 41, of San Jose; James R. Brocato, 31, of Santa Rosa, and Grant W. Anders, 30, of Oakland — also have been ordered to make up to $2,500 each for window damage. They pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charge.

Sausalito Man Dies At Hospital

A 33-year-old Sausalito attorney died today at Marin General Hospital, apparently of a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the head, the Marin County Coroner's office reported.

William Burton Golden, of 202 South Street, was discovered about midnight in the bedroom of his home by his wife, Althea, according to Sausalito police, Officers said a .22-caliber revolver was found beside him.

He was taken by ambulance to the hospital where he died about 5 a.m. Police said an investigation of the shooting was continuing.

A native of Battle Creek, Mich., Golden had lived in California and Marin County four years. He was employed with the legal department of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Francisco.

In addition to his wife, Golden is survived by two daughters, Angela and Jennifer and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Golden of Battle Creek.

lutionary guerrillas" now in jail were released by 5 p.m. (11 a.m. EDT) Thursday.

The note was signed by "The Central Committee of the Turkish People's Liberation Army." This is a left-wing organization which has claimed responsibility for earlier abductions of foreigners, including five U.S. airmen in Ankara. The airmen later were released unharmed.

The Turkish government ignored the demands for $400,000 ransom for four of the American airmen kidnaped in March and it was ignoring this demand as well.

The government arrested about 200 alleged left-wing extremists last month after the civilian government was ousted and martial law proclaimed in the midst of increasing public disorders.

The Turkish cabinet met for five hours Monday night in emergency session. It ordered an all-out search for the kidnappers and threatened large-scale arrests.

The government also said it will pass a new, retroactive law setting the death penalty for the abductors and for anyone harboring them.

Five masked gunmen forced their way into Elrom's apartment building Monday morning, tied up three persons they found there and also bound and gagged nine other persons who entered the building while they waited 90 minutes for Elrom to come home.

Elrom, husky and fit, struggled until he was hit over the head with a pistol butt, authorities said. They quoted witnesses as saying he was carried out of the building unconscious and driven off in a car with Ankara license plates.

Elrom's wife was put under a physician's care, suffering from shock. The Elrom lost their only child, a son, in a plane accident three years ago.

Elrom was born Ephraim Hofstaedter in Poland. He took a Hebrew last name when he joined the foreign service three years ago.

He was the chief pretrial interrogator of Adolph Eichmann, the Nazi general who later was tried in Israel for the murder of millions of Jews during World War II. Eichmann was found guilty and was hanged May 31, 1962.

prison terms ranging from one to 10 years, Tass said.

"They said that one of the main extenuating circumstances was the fact that all the nine defendants had pleaded guilty of criminal offenses and felt repentance," Tass said.

The nine face charges that include conspiracy in the planning stage of an attempt to hijack a small Soviet airliner at Leningrad in June, 1970, and to flee abroad with it. They are also charged with spreading anti-Soviet propaganda and stealing printing equipment.

It appeared from earlier testimony that only eight of the nine were being linked with the hijack attempt and only two — Hillel Butman and Mikhail Korenblit —were singled out as ringleaders in that.

Last December and January, 12 Jews and Russian Zionist sympathizers were sentenced to prison terms of up to 15 years on charges of actually attempting to seize the plane.

Monday, after the conclusion of testimony by a battery of 46 witnesses that included some of the original hijack defendants, prosecutor Inessa Katukova asked for prison terms in this case.

She demanded 10 years for Butman, eight for Korenblit, six for Lassal Kaminsky, five for Lev Yagman, four for Vladimire Mogilever, three for Solomon Dreizner, Viktor Boguslavsky and Lev Korneblit and one year for Viktor Shitilbans.

Rush To Polls In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Voters balloted Tuesday at a record pace in the Democratic mayoralty primary in which "tough cop" Frank L. Rizzo faced the challenge of a black legislator and a Kennedy-style congressman.

The spirited contest between Rizzo, 50, former police commissioner, and his liberal foes— Rep. William J. Green III, and Hardy Williams, 40, a freshman legislator—has excited the electorate and captured national attention in the off-year Pennsylvania primary.

The turnout was twice the average for a state primary and predictions were that 350,000 of the 552,000 registered Democrats, 41 per cent of whom are black, would cast ballots before the polls closed at 8 p.m. EDT.

City Parade Law Is Struck Down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California's Supreme Court ruled Monday that the City of Seaside's parade ordinance is unconstitutional and "a barefaced example of uncontrolled discretion."

By a 6-1 vote, the court ruled the ordinance wrongly gives the city government "virtually unbridled and absolute power" to prohibit any demonstration it dislikes for any reason.

The court prohibited the prosecution of 19 members of antiwar groups who staged their own Independence Day parade last year after being refused permission to join a march sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and partly funded by the city.

A Professional Negotiator Eyed

Novato Unified School District trustees last night cast an eye toward hiring a professional negotiator to handle negotiations with teachers in future years.

Trustees named .Supt. James G. Bunker and Asst. Supt. Paul C. Mobley as their representatives in present negotiations, but indicated they were looking toward a change in the future.

Trustee Ronald D. Schenck said "I still think the board should consider third party negotiation," but others felt it was too late to do it this year.

Chairman William G. Schneeflock, who felt he didn't like to put an educator in the role of negotiator, said "I'd like to see us employ the services of a professional negotiator."

Schenck commented: "It's not going to be cheap, but it may have substantial benefits."

Trustees also took issues with the report of a three-member fact finding committee, sponsored by the board and the Novato Teachers Association.

The committee proposed that 63.5 per cent of the current expense section of the budget be allocated to teachers salaries, and that if an impasse is reached in negotiations, a mediator be called in.

Trustee Dan H. Barber said the committee failed to report on how district salaries for teachers compare with those of similar districts. This question was asked and not answered, he said. "I don't think they have completed their job," Barber said.

Schenck said he was chagrined and angry that they didn't answer that question yet "chose to answer a number of others not put to them, and make recommendations not in their province."

Trustees accepted the report with the comment that they didn't feel "bound by these suggestions."

The committee also recommended giving priority to improvement of fringe benefits, and several of its recommendations have been included in the Novato Teachers Association negotiating platform for 1971-72.

Members of the fact finding committee were Supt. James L. Merrihew, Mount Diablo Unified School District; Edgar W. Case, executive director, Oakland Education Association, and Oscar E. Anderson, consultant in school finance and legislation.

Varying Views On Health Care 'Crisis'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Numerous witnesses told a Senate committee that the nation's health care system is breaking down, but a Stanford University professor said "consumer control" of the system would solve the nation's health care problems.

The witnesses testified Monday before the Senate Subcommittee on Health, presided over by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who afterward flew to Los Angeles to hold another hearing.

Kennedy has proposed a national health care plan and said at the hearing that even President Nixon "has recognized that there is a crisis" in the delivery of health care in the U.S.

However, Dr. Count Gibson of Stanford said, "I do not profoundly believe in central health administration in which Washington figures out the care for all of us."

"We are all too different," Gibson said. "I believe the solution is consumer control of health care where the consumer has a voice and controls the input."

Kennedy and Dr. Roberta Fenlon, president of the California Medical Association, disagreed over whether there was a health care crisis.

"We are not here to claim that our present health care system is perfect," Dr. Fenlon said. "It contains significant deficiencies ... but these factors do not constitute a health care crisis."

Her comment evoked loud laughter from many of the 200 persons present, some of whom had testified they had great difficulties in obtaining health care.

Kennedy told Dr. Fenlon that the President "has recognized that there is a crisis ...the medical profession and the insurance industry have brought us into this crisis."

Dr. Fenlon replied "Physicians do not believe the insurance industry has failed the American people.."

One of the witnesses, Richard Blackwell, a Palo Alto policeman, said he had incurred huge medical debts because of open heart surgery on one son and brain surgery on another.

Blackwell said he owed $200,000 in medical debts, of which 80 per cent was for hospitalization.

Sadat Begins Reshaping His Party

CAIRO (UPI)—President Anwar Sadat is reorganizing the Arab Socialist Union (ASU), Egypt's only political party, as part of a purge of government and party officials who opposed him, political sources said today.

They said Sadat began the ASU reorganization Monday night by issuing a decree setting up a new provisional secretariat composed of eight men faithful to him. The ASU was the base of opposition to Sadat.

In the purge the president fired Vice President Ali Sabry, seven cabinet ministers, three top ASU officials, and has had 110 government officials arrested. Another 300 persons were dismissed from their government or ASU posts.

Sadat in setting up the new ASU secretariat said he planned to reorganize the union "from top to bottom" by holding free elections in the near future. The sources said Sadat promised harsh action will be taken against any body trying to rig the elections.

Among the latest persons arrested were Mohammed Uruk, director of the Voice of the Arabs Radio, and other senior Cairo radio and television officials. They were suspected of complicity with Sadat's opponents, the semiofficial Middle East News Agency (MENA) said.

Cairo Radio said that for the fourth day in a row delegations called at the presidential palace to pledge their support to Sadat. In addition, it said, Sadat's office has been receiving a daily average of 10,000 cables of support.

Sadat is to address a special session of the National Assembly Thursday —a week after the crisis flared into the open with the resignation of six of the cabinet ministers opposed to Sadat.

Trustee's Retort To Vandalism, Repairs

Vandalism at Novato schools is costing money that could be going into the educational program, and that's "atrocious," trustee Carolyn M. Crabtree declared last night.

Mrs. Crabtree's comments came as the Novato Unified School District board received notice that glass breakage was $1,500 over budget and that reserve funds would have to be tapped.

Parents should realize that tax funds are spent to repair vandalism, she said. "Every dollar to repair a pane or glass or spray over obscenities," could be used in the ecuational program, Mrs. Crabtree said.

She suggested that "parents tell the kids where the land lays and how the tax dollars could be used," and that the "parents do a better job as parents; know where their kids are and what they are doing. I'm sure we have delinquent chidlren because of delinquent parents."

The Novato Unified School District Board Also

INSURANCE — Calls for bids to be opened June 18 at 4 p.m. on insurance coverage for the district including liability, property damage and fire.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of three teachers, Valien Carlson, San Ramon School; Gretchen Ostrom, Rancho School, and Yvonne Young, currently on leave.

LEAVE — Granted Maria Silva, teacher, Pleasant Valley School, and Elizabeth Weedon, teacher, Lu Sutton School, leaves for 1971-72.

TEXTS — Adopted a series of texts, more than 100 books for English, industrial arts and homemaking by a 5-1 vote with Mrs. Crabtree dissenting because she hadn't looked at the books. She suggested that textbooks be available at the Novato Branch of the Marin County Library for viewing by parents before they are adopted.

PRE-PLACEMENT UNIT — Took under study a request for Jody Becker of the Marin Juvenile Justice Commission to support retention of the pre-placement center unit at juvenile hall, which County Administrator Alan Bruce has recommended be closed.

BREAKFAST MEETING — Scheduled j special meeting at 7:30 a.m. Thursday with the Novato City Council at council invitation at the Copper Penny restaurant to determine if periodic meetings of the two groups should be held. The next regular meeting will be at 8 p.m. June 7 at the Novato High School lecture hall.

CLOSED SESSION — Went into a closed session to instruct its representatives in negotiations with teachers.

Dixie Park Planning Halted; More Study

A plan for development of San Rafael park and recreation facilities on Dixie School District property came to an abrupt halt last night.

The San Rafael City Council, wondering if perhaps two blocks between Freitas Park and proposed tennis courts at Vallecito School wasn't too much, referred a proposed joint powers agreement with the school district back to the park and recreation commission for further discussion.

The agreement, already approved by the school district, called for the city to spend up to $24,000 for construction of two tennis courts at Vallecito School and walkways between Freitas Park and Don Timoteo School and the Vallecito tennis courts.

Under the agreement, the school district would have granted control of the tennis facilities to the city.

When councilman Fred E. Jensen questioned the two-block distance between the park and tennis court site, City Engineer Ely Caillouette Jr. said that Andrew J. Snyder Jr., parks and recreation director, had said in the past that eventual plans called for development of the area between the park and tennis courts.

Jensen asked that discussion of the projects be continued so that Snyder could be present to explain them, and the council rejected all bids, which were opened at its last meeting, for the projects.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

ABATEMENT — Ordered abatement proceedings to begin against a house at 33 Maywood Way when its owner, Richard Lynch of 105 Baltimore Avenue, Corte Madera, failed to present a work schedule for repairs, as had been requested by the council at its last meeting.

HIGHWAY — Passed a resolution requesting the state Division of Highways to proceed with landscaping of Highway 101 through San Rafael.

CAMPERS — Passed to print an ordinance making it a misdemeanor to live in a trailer, camper, station wagon, truck or other vehicle in San Rafael, with the exception of sleeping only in vehicles at the rear of certain residential building for no more than three successive nights in any 90-day period.

MAINTENANCE — Agreed to a landscaping maintenance agreement with Marin County for maintenance of completed phases of South San Pedro Road median areas. The agreement was estimated to cost the city $2,230 a year, and the county $4,620 a year.

HEARINGS — Set public hearings on a proposed increase in sanitary service fees and Yellow Cab Co. rates for June 7; on addition of a housing element to the city's general plan for June 21, and on a proposal to ban trucks on Lincoln Avenue from Highway 101 to Third Street for Aug. 2.

SIGNS — Directed City Atty. Fred J. Robbins Jr. to prepare an amendment to the sign ordinance which will require a $100 bond from candidates for city offices to ensure that campaign signs are taken down within 10 days after an election.

COMMISSION — At the request of the planning commission, set for July 12 a joint meeting with the commission to clarify council policies.

BIDS — Called for bids to be opened June 7 for a storm drainage replacement project at the intersection of Kerner Boulevard and Canal Sreet. Estimated cost of the project is $12,000.

APPEAL — Denied by a 4-0 vote (councilman John A. Miskimen was absent), an appeal of planning commission denial of resubdivision of two lots into three lots at 265-271 Clorinda Avenue. Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said the two lots were approved prior to adoption of the city's slope ordinance, and they do not meet the ordinance's requirements and three lots would be even worse.

Dellums in Blast At Congressmen

BERKELEY (UPI) —Congressman Ron Dellums returned to his constituancy Monday for the first time since his election and described his new colleagues in anything but glowing terms.

The Negro Democrat said congressmen are less concerned with "solving the questions in the country than with getting elected."

His fellow congressmen are "drawing $42,500 welfare checks" in pay, he added in a talk to 800 applauding students and supporters at the University of California's Sproul Plaza.

Decision On Burton Is Delayed

The San Rafael City Council, which has dealt with resignations and unresignations from its parks and recreation commission before, was faced with another last night.

The council continued the matter to its next regular meeting, June 7.

At issue are an April 23 letter of resignation from commissioner George S. Burton and a May 10 letter from Burton withdrawing his resignation.

In his letters, Burton gave no reason for either of his moves.

The council faced a similar situation a year ago when then commissioner Roy R. Rhodes submitted his resignation and six days later asked that it be withdrawn.

The council escaped acting on Rhodes by accepting the opinion of then City Atty. David Menary Jr., who said the resignation was void because it had not been filed with the city clerk. Both of Burton's letters, however, were filed with City Clerk Marion A. Grady.

If the council does not accept Burton's resignation, he may not be entirely welcome back on the commission.

Commissioner Robert C. Schoen told the council last night that the four other members of the commission are working well together and the return of Burton would bring conflict back to the commission.

The council continued the matter so that councilman John A. Miskimen, who was absent last night, could be included in any decision.

Burton, 42, of 19 Hacienda Court, was an unsuccessful candidate in last month's election for the city council.

When school closes don't let your child's mind close with it.

We can help your child become a better student beginning in June. If your child does not show the interest in school that you would like to see or, if your child would like to take a step ahead; enroll him now in the Sullivan Reading Center Summer School. The Center offers accelerated learning programs in math and reading using the highly successful Sullivan programmed teaching methods.

Reading Your child will work at his own personal level of understanding. If he finds a difficult sound, the instructor comes immediately to his aid, and works with him until the material is fully understood. This immediate response to your child's questions eliminates any frustrating mental stumbling blocks toward learning. There is no regression in the Sullivan teaching method. Each page of text is an upward step in the child's learning curve.

Math Math-without-words. The basal mathematics course does not use a single word of English or any other language. The fact that the program does not rely on words means a student is never handicapped by a low reading level or other language problems. Each student progresses at his own pace offering advantages to gifted and slower students alike.

What Parents say about the Sullivan Program:
Mrs. Joseph Mell, Palo Alto, Ca.: Joe had two and a half sessions and the change is absolutely incredible. He has moved to a top reading group, he always gets 100 in his spelling tests, and can handle his social studies assignments which require reading with ease and confidence. But the best change of all is that he now enjoys reading. He even bought two books with his own money.
Mrs. William Weir, Novato, Ca.: Brad's attitude toward learning has greatly improved as a result of your program. He seems to respond favorably to the individual attention that is your specialty.

Here's a summer school that won't spoil your summer vacation plans.

Cal Editors' Fate On Park To Board

BERKELEY (UPI) —The publishing board of the University of California student newspaper will decide if four editors should be fired for writing an editorial advocating the tearing down of the "People's Park" fence.

Chancellor Roger Heyns sent a personal representative to a meeting of the Daily Californian's publishing board Monday to ask for the dismissals.

The editorial last week urged students to tear down the chain fence surrounding the small plot of university-owned land in observance of the second anniversary of the 1969 riot over the park.

On Saturday, demonstrators tore down the fence and clashed with police following a rally celebrating the anniversary. Forty-one persons were arrested and at least seven policemen injured, none seriously.

Heyns' representative, Richard Hafner, called for the firing of the three editors who voted for the editorial as well as the dismissal of editor-in-chief, John Emshwiller, who did not vote for it.

Berkeley's three new radical councilmen skirted the issue of the editorial and called for the resignation of city manager William Hanley as well as removal of the fence.

They said police have not tried to solve the problem but wait until the situation reaches the confrontation stage.

In calling for the dismissal of Emshwiller, Hafner said the editor failed "to exert the leadership expected of his position to insure against irresponsible use of the newspaper."

Preceding Saturday's demonstration the Daily Cal strongly urged non-violence. Late Saturday it issued a statement deploring the confrontation.

Last Tuesday's controversial front-page editorial had urged readers to "take the park again."

"Nothing so flimsy as a fence can stand up to the will of the community," it said. "By pulling down the fence we are resisting violence, not encouraging it."

Nixon Backs House Plan On Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon gave enthusiastic endorsement today to the welfare-Social Security bill approved by the House Ways and Means Committee as "the most significant piece of social legislation to be considered by the Congress in decades."

In a statement issued by the White House, Nixon expressed hope that the measure — carrying a 5 per cent increase in Social Security benefits — would quickly pass the House and Senate.

The committee reversed itself Monday by including the higher benefits, which would go to 26 million Americans effective June 1, 1972.

In his statement, the President praised the committee chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and Rep. John Byrnes, R-Wis., the ranking Republican in the group.

Nixon said it was his "profound hope" that Congress now would "carry forward the momentum which has been generated, thus seizing an historic opportunity and meeting an historic obligation."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford Michigan told newsmen after he and other GOP legislative leaders met with the President this morning that "I will strongly support" the measure, including the boost in Social Security payments.

Hearing Due On Pay For Employees

The Novato City Council will have a special meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Novato Community House to discuss pay raises requested by city employees.

The Novato City Employees Association is seeking pay hikes in four jobs including police officer and 5 per cent pay raise for all employees.

The association recommended that effective July 1, the salary for a police officer be hiked 5 per cent, police clerk, 5 per cent; junior civil engineer, 2.5 per cent; and building inspectors, 2.5 per cent to bring them in line with salaries paid in other Bay Area cities used for comparison.

If these boosts are approved, "The association will only ask for a five per cent across-the-board cost-of-living increase," reported John Perry, president of the association.

The association also is seeking a disability insurance program for all employees, 11 paid holidays, an increase of one, and survival benefits made available on a voluntary basis.

$20,000 Chopped From Ross Budget

The Ross School District Board last night approved cutting approximately $20,000 from the proposed $569,672 budget, according to Supt. Thomas A. Anderson.

This was done by eliminating one teaching job and making many minor cuts, he said. The enrollment in the school has dropped from 517 students to 492, he said.

The board will resume budget discussion at its June 21 meeting, he said. The proposed budget is approximately $23,000 more than the current $526,641 budget. The board has not discussed the tax rate, Anderson said.

The Ross School District Board also:

COMMITTEE — Named Trustees H. Jack Wyman and Justin L. Williams, with A. Crawford Green Jr. as alternate, to a Parent-Teacher Association sponsored After School Citizens Recreation Program committee. it will go to the town council for financial support. Its organizer, Joan Smith, requested $7,500 for a full-time paid recreation director.

INSURANCE — Received notice that Blue Cross medical insurance rate will be increased from $18.83 this year to $22.41 for next fiscal year.

MATHEMATICS — Received notice that Joyce Ramacciotti, fourth grade teacher, and Mary Balough, third grade teacher, have been accpeted in the mathematics specialization program of the California State Department of Education and will attend special classes this summer in order to assist other teachers in the mathematics program next year.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignation from Judy H. Bloch, sixth grade teacher, and from Dorothy L. Hardy, fifth grade teacher who is retiring after 18 years with the district. One of these positions will not be filled, Anderson said.

GIFTS — Accepted $600 cash gift from an anonymous donor; books from Frank Fitzsimmons, James Schull, Dale Perry and John Bungen family, and a set of color prints from Rodney G. Roberts.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Increased the money for summer school from $650 to $800 for the P-TA sponsored program that goes from June 21 through July 16.

CLOSED MEETING — Held a short closed meeting to discuss teacher negotiations with the superintendent.

Development Plan On Agenda

A report on an application for additional federal funds and more time to complete Marin City development will be presented to the Marin County Redevelopment Agency board at a special meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the agency office, 429 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

Executive Director Wallace K. Shepherd said the amendment to the agency's current federal loan and grant contract for development asks a two-year extension and $918,105. One-third of that sum must come from local courses, he said.

Shepherd said he wants to submit the application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development after the agency board approves it, probably later this week.

Employee Pay Hike Plan Told To Council

Corte Madera Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels last night asked the town council to give all town employees 7 per cent salary increases as well as additional benefits next year.

Bartels said that he felt a 5 per cent increase would meet the rise in the cost of living and that an additional 2 per cent was necessary to bring Corte Madera employees up to salary levels in comparable cities.

Bartels said in a written memorandum given councilmen that "though Corte Madera kept pace with comparable salary jurisdictions in the past, it is presently behind in nearly all cases . . ."

In addition to the raises, Bartels recommended that town employees be given a dental plan, that the town pay all the cost of hospital insurance and that police uniform allowances be raised.

He did not estimate the cost of his proposals.

Councilmen last night did not discuss Bartels' recommendations but set a hearing for 7 p.m. next Monday to tackle salaries and benefits.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

JUSTICE — Voted 3 to 1 to endorse a four-county Regional Criminal Justice Planning Board which will set up priorities for distribution of state and federal funds. Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff voted against endorsing the board and Councilman Edward W. Colthurst was absent.

TAMALPAIS PROJECT — Set 2 p.m. June 4 for opening bids on Tamalpais Drive reconstruction. Estimated cost of the project varies from $140,799 up to $193,392 because of alternative materials under consideration for lighting and bricked crosswalks and the size of trees to be used for landscaping.

FLOOD CONTROL — Postponed for the second time discussion on the Ross Valley Flood Control District. Councilman Edward W. Colthurst was to have reported on efforts to obtain Corps of Engineers financing but was out of town.

ABBREVIATED AGENDA — Voted to try an abbreviated agenda grouping routine items for the next three months in order to speed up council meetings.

CARNIVALS — Ronald E. Bartels, town manager, reported he met with owners of Corte Madera Center and they agreed to limit the number of carnivals to be held each year.

COMMISSION TERMS — Voted to start terms on the various commissions Jan. 1 to insure that at least three of five members at all times have had some experience. Terms to expire during the year will be extended until Jan. 1 when a drawing will be held to determine when terms will end. Various commission terms now end in different months.

PLANNED DEVELOPMENT — Referred to the planning commission a recommendation that the 25-acre requirement for grouping housing units on tracts meeting per-square-foot requirements be applied to smaller tracts — perhaps as small as one acre.

HISTORIAN — Appointed John R. Vance town historian. Vance, of 117 Walnut Avenue, is a retired army colonel, and a former town finance officer. He will compile a history of Corte Madera under the honorary appointment.

BIKE LIABILITY — Referred to the bicycle committee for study the town's liability in case of accidents on bike paths to be constructed.

PLANNING COURSE — Authorized Chief Building Inspector and Zoning Administrator William (NMN) McBride to attend a planning course at the University of California at Berkeley from July 1971 through March 1972 at an estimated expense of $300.

REZONING DENIAL — Deneid the request of Sol Langsam, owner of 801 Meadowsweet apartments to rezone the site of his 19-unit project to a new classification meeting conforming usage.

HEARINGS SET — Scheduled public hearings for 8:30 p.m. June 21 on requests by D. A. Beacock, Earle and Solvason Inc., realtors of 645 Tamalpais Drive to rezone property at 626 Tamalpais Drive from single family residential to professional and administrative office zoning; for a request by the same firm to add realtors and real estate offices as a permitted use in the professional and administrative zones.

COMPLAINT — Told contractor Paul Potts that he is responsible for keeping Alta Way clear for fire engines to get by. Ian K. McDougall, 39 Alta Way, reported Potts' subcontractor on housing construction is blocking the road with lumber and vehicles and Councilman Wagstaff confirmed violations.

ASSESSMENT DISTRICT — Reconvened as the Sanitary Board of Sanitary District No. 2 and directed the district engineer Arthur N. Morrison to record notice of acceptance of completion of the Lucky Road Assessment District.

Humphrey's Solution To Red Tape

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Addressing the California Legislature today, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., proposed creation of regional domestic White House ambassadors to help clear up federal red tape.

Humphrey said such ambassadors "would not make policy. They would facilitate action. They would give state and local representatives one-stop service."

Such domestic ambassadors were needed, he said, to help nonfederal governments "break through the maze of federal bureaucratic red tape and relieve the crisis in government."

Humphrey said the ambassador proposal was one of four suggestions he has for bringing "government at all levels into closer harmony to work for common objectives."

His other proposals, he said, are "opening the secrecy-shrouded federal budget process," regular meetings between the president and state and local governments and regular meetings between state and local legislative leaders and congressional leaders.

Humphrey said the United States is "the only industrialized nation that has no established, ascertainable, understandable goals, priorities or planning."

He said the budget makers only allocate national resources for a year or two instead of planning farther into the future.

"They should be looking —in consultation with federal, state and local representatives —at America's needs, 10, 20, or more years ahead," he said.

In his prepared remarks he asked the joint session, "have any of the budget makers come to you to talk about Caifornia's needs in the future?

"Have they asked you about how best to meet the needs of 20 million Californians now or the millions more you will have in the decades ahead?"

Headquarters To Angel Island

The state Parks and Recreation Department's Golden Gate Area headquarters has moved from its offices at Samuel P. Taylor State Park in Lagunitas to new offices on Angel Island.

The move, according to a department spokesman, was brought about by a reorganization which has consolidated San Francisco and Marin state parks under one headquarters.

About 12 employees were affected by the move which took place last week.

Population Of California Near 20,237,000

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's population should reach an estimated 20,237,000 by July 1, the state Department of Finance reported Monday.

If the population reaches that figure, the state would have experienced a 1.1 per cent growth rate increase over 1970 of 229,000, the department said.

By July 1972 California should have 20,472,000 inhabitants, an increase of 235,000 or 1.2 per cent.

Director of Finance Verne Orr explained that the April 1, 1970, census of 20,098,863 included 145,729 persons living abroad who claim California as their home state.

The slowness of growth was attributed by the department to a drop in out-of-state persons coming to California. From a peak of 356,000 in fiscal 1963, net civilian migration dropped to 27,000 for fiscal 1970.

Kaiser Nurses Sign Contract

Nurses at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael were among 4,000 nurses in the Bay Area who have signed a new three-year contract providing $55 to $65 per month in salary increases.

According to spokesmen for the California Nurses Association and three hospital associations including Kaiser, the new contract provides salary hikes from $55 to $65 per month the first year and $65 per month additional the following two years.

About 50 other changes were made in the work agreements including such items as improved pension and health and welfare benefits, longer rest periods between shifts and a joint reclassification study of hospital employees.

Schools Cited For Racial Imbalance

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Citizens Advisory Committee on Integration says that 83 of San Francisco's 100 elementary schools are racially out of balance by State Board of Education standards.

The report was made Monday by chairman Donald Kuhn of the committee which is drawing an integration plan for the Board of Education.

Three More Indicted In Big Pot Haul

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Three of 14 persons indicted by a federal grand jury here in connection with a record 5 1-2-ton marijuana seizure in San Francisco were arraigned Monday.

U. S. Magistrate Harry R. McCue set a June 10 omnibus hearing date for Richard M. King, 42, of San Diego; James Leo Olson, 36, of Captain Cook, Hawaii; and Robert C. Light, 30, of South Seattle, Wash.

Seven others were arraigned last week and authorities still were seeking four more persons in the case.

The indictments followed the arrests of King, Light, Olson and five others near San Francisco May 3. The marijuana was taken from the 58-foot converted shrimp boat Mercy Wiggins near the Golden Gate.

U. S. Attorney Harry D. Steward said the grand jury investigation is continuing and more indictments are expected. A hearing is scheduled Monday to hear a defense motion concerning use of electronic surveillance in the case.

Loma Verde Asked To Share Rec Costs

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night recommended that the Loma Verde share of the playground program costs at Loma Verde School remain at 50 per cent.

The recreation program at the school, operated by the city, serves both children from Loma Verde, who live outside the city, and children from within the city.

It was decided last year that Loma Verde share half the costs and this year City Mgr. Charles A. Brown has proposed a percentage.

Commissioner Renata Barton said commissioners favored keeping the cost split at 50-50 after a report that other school playgrounds were accommodating children from outside the city and there wasn't any cost sharing at these playgrounds.

Last year children from Loma Verde who participated in the recreational programs at the playground paid a fee, with the Loma Verde Parent-Teacher Association guaranteeing the area's 50 per cent share.

Food Stolen

Hams and steaks valued at $1,420 and $20 in cash were taken sometime Sunday or Sunday night from Colombo Meat Co. of 127 Verdi Street, San Rafael, according to police reports.

$350 In Cash Reported Taken

A bag containing $350 in cash was taken from a drawer between 10 and 10:05 p.m. yesterday at Swensen's See Us Freeze at 196 Northgate Center, San Rafael, police reported.

Owner Alfred M. Silberman said a young man, 20 to 21 years old, about five feet six inches weighing 150 to 160 pounds came in just at 10 p.m. The young man asked for change for a dollar and then made two telephone calls. Silberman discovered that the money was gone immediately afterwards, according to police.

Charges Dropped In Drug Agent's Case

Marijuana charges against a San Francisco undercover narcotics agent were dropped today in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Robert A. Smallman dismissed the charges at the request of Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman, who said an investigation indicated the agent, Michael G. Edmond, 23, of Sausalito, was innocent.

Edmond surrendered himself to Marin authorities May 4 on a warrant charging him with possessing and cultivating marijuana and possessing narcotics paraphernalia.

The warrant stemmed from a visit to his apartment by Sausalito police May 2 when neighbors complained of loud music.

Edmond was not at the apartment when police arrived, but his two roommates, Daniel J. Miller, 25, and Thomas W. Villas, 24, were arrested.

A preliminary hearing for Miller and Villas was to have been held this afternoon before Judge Smallman.

Miller and Villas were not at the apartment May 2 when Sausalito police arrived, but they returned while police were still there.

The pair, according to police, said they knew nothing of the drugs in the apartment, which they said belonged to Edmond. They told police they did not smoke marijuana and said Edmond had hosted a party at the apartment the night before.

Fifteen growing marijuana plants, several packages of marijuana seeds and stems, seven ounces of the weed, a flour sifter, eight pipes, a scale and a brass waterpipe were found in the apartment, police said.

Herman said today an investigation had determined that Edmond had moved into Villas's apartment at 35 Rodeo Avenue April 6, and that Miller moved in shortly after that.

On April 17, Herman said, Edmond — a rookie on the San Francisco police force — told a fellow narcotics officer that he suspected his roommates were using drugs.

The other officer told Edmond to inform his superiors, which Edmond did on April 19, Herman said.

He was advised by his superiors to move from the apartment, and on April 20 Edmond contacted a San Francisco apartment rental agency, according to Herman.

A cancelled check, dated April 23, for a $100 deposit on another apartment indicated Edmond's preparation to move from the Sausalito residence, Herman said.

Edmond attended an Army Reserve training session at the San Francisco Presidio all day May 1 and 2, Herman said, and returned to the Sausalito apartment only "briefly" the night of May 1 — when according to his roommates, he was hosting a party — before spending the night at a friend's residence in San Francisco.

Debris Collection Set In Belvedere

The first in a quarterly series of free debris collections in Belvedere will be held Thursday and Friday in cooperation with Mill Valley Refuse Service.

Up to three cubic yards of debris —equal to 21 garbage cans — will be collected from each regular customer of the refuse firm. Refuse should be placed at curbside before 5 a.m. on the regular garbage collection day.

All rubbish should be placed in disposable boxes as no containers will be returned. Prunings and trimmings too large for boxes must be tied with strong cord and must not be longer than five feet.

No rocks, cement, appliances or dirt will be taken.

Equipment Stolen

A microphone and amplifier valued at $225 were taken between 10:15 a.m. and 5 p.m. Friday from Dominic's Restaurant at 507 Francisco Boulevard, Manager Mario J. Brenta reported yesterday to San Rafael police.

Expressway Extension Plans Near

Plans for the extension of the Rohnert Park Expressway westward across Highway 101 are nearly complete, the Rohnert Park City Council heard last night.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said engineering plans should be complete soon so that the council can call for construction bids on June 7. He said the work would include the new roadway from the freeway west to the city limits as well as extended sewer and water lines.

Callinan said the Sonoma County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on plan lines for extending the road into unincorporated areas in the future. No cost estimate has been made on the project, he said.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

INDUSTRY — Set a meeting for June 3 at noon at Chesney's Carriage House with industry representatives and businessmen to discuss ways of improving the appearance of the industrial park.

BOWLING — Heard councilman Arthur R. Roberts suggest the city build a bowling alley-recreation center to be operated similar to the municipal golf course.

CATS — Introduced an ordinance that would ban cats from running loose and set fines for their owners.

FIRE MEETING — Received invitation to meet with officers of the Cotati Fire District at 7 p.m. Friday at Chesney's Carriage House.

Restaurant Owner Is Found Dead

Tony Andresen, 56, owner of the Washoe House restaurant-bar near Petaluma, died today from an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound.

The Sonoma County Coroner's office reported that Andresen went into the bathroom of his Sebastopol home at 1 a.m. and shot himself in the chest with a .38 caliber revolver. He had reportedly been despondent over ill health. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Community Hospital of Sonoma County.

Andresen, a Petaluma native, had operated the restaurant at Stony Point and Roblar roads for 21 years. He had spent most of his life in Petaluma and had moved to Sebastopol recently.

Andresen was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose of Petaluma and the Santa Rosa Elks Lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Jessie, and a brother, Henry (Hank) Andresen of Petaluma.

Funeral will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma, followed by burial in Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

Youth Hurt In Bike-Car Mishap

A 17-year-old Kentfield youth was taken to Marin General Hospital yesterday for multiple injuries suffered when his bicycle rammed the rear of a slow-moving sheriff's patrol car.

Brian E. McLeran, of 700 Goodhill Road, Kentfield, was reported in fair condition today at the hospital with a dislocated left shoulder, a cut scalp and a fractured left leg.

The California Highway Patrol said McLeran was eastbound on Goodhill Road near Woodland Road when his bicycle collided with a patrol car driven by Deputy Joseph G. Kelly, 43, who was checking an illegally parked car.

Next Hearing Set In Davis-Magee Case

The sixth judge to enter the Davis-Magee case has set 9 a.m. Monday for hearing pretrial montions in a Marin Hall of Justice courtroom.

Judge Richard E. Arnason of Contra Costa County, a 49-year-old judge with a wide experience in criminal cases, was named to the case last week by the state Judicial Council.

He follows Judge Alan A. Lindsay of Alameda County, who withdrew reluctantly from the case when San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee was allowed to use his one peremptory challenge of a judge.

An earlier judge had voluntarily withdrawn when challenged by Magee as being prejudiced, and the Marin judges have said they will not hear further matters in the case because of their association with Judge Harold J. Haley.

Magee and Angela Davis are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy stemming from the August shoot-out at the Civic Center in which Judge Haley and three other persons died.

Miss Davis has been waiting for weeks to have pre-trial motions heard, but Magee has continously stalled the case by refusing to cooperate with court-appointed attorneys and by attempting to get rid of every judge assigned.

Magee's latest attorney, Ernest L. Graves of Los Angeles, has now filed documents saying that he is joining in Miss Davis's motions, including ones for dismissal and challenge of the grand jury which indicted the pair.

He also said that he plans to file additional motions on his own, although he acknowledged that he is acting without Magee's approval.

He said he agreed with Magee's demand for an additional hearing to determine if the convict is capable of acting as his own attorney as he wants to do.

Miss Davis, whose lawyers have also asked delays in the case several times and who unsuccessfully attempted to challenge Judge Lindsay as prejudiced, are also waiting to have a motion heard asking that she be released on bail.

She has been held in Marin County Jail since she was returned from New York in December.

The Cats Were Hep In Granddad's Day

Much of the world's troubles these days are laid to lack of communication — in spite of the fact that we have faster and wider communication through both words and pictures than at any previous time in history.

The "generation gap," according to many of the letters received in the Independent-Journal's "Rap Session" contest, is largely a communications gap.

Adults, some of the letters say, don't understand youth because of the way youth talks.

Well, did they ever?

RUMMAGING AROUND in an old scrap book, we ran onto an item dating back to the 1920s which shows that "everything changes but everything remains the same."

It seems that Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale University had decried the decline of conversational English. Americans, he said, were losing the art of conversing (they didn't say "communicating" in those days — it was not an "in" word). "Slang and a few adjectives do all the work," complained Professor Phelps.

Some youthful humorist leaped upon the professor's remarks to produce this bit of doggerel, which we clipped in that long-ago day from the Red and Black, school newspaper of West High School in Salt Lake City. (Where the Red and Black got it, we have no idea).

"Bo, you said it! Ain't you right!
Conversation is a fright.
How can people be the berries
With their punk vocabularies?
Hardly anybody lives
That can throw the adjectives,
And to hear the slang they spout,
You could pretty near pass out.
Here's our language, full of words
For these lazy-minded birds,
Yet the way they go and trim it
Down to nothing is the limit!
Hand it to them, Dr. Phelps!
Every little razzing helps.
If your movement doesn't crash,
You will be the cat's mustache."

THAT IS PROBABLY about as obscure to the "now generation" as the "now generation's" lingo is to their parents — but to anybody who grew up spouting the slang of the '20s, it is perfectly intelligible. And a few of its expressions have survived down to date, becoming parts of the common language.

Maybe we should get with it and cool it about this "communication gap" hangup. Why get uptight about how these cats talk? They haven't really split. Substitute bobbed hair for long tresses on the girls, hair slicked back with Brilliantine for ditto on the boys, wide-bottomed corduroys for patched dungarees, and a hip pocket flask for a package of joints, and they'd be right at home in the Flapper Era, driving Professor Phelps up the wall just as their grandparents did.

Or, with a few other superficial changes, they'd be equally at home with the younger generation of a decade later — the one that produced the Veterans of Future Wars, pledged to bring world peace by refusing ever to bear arms.

Generation gap? Communication gap? Adam probably said to Eve, "I don't understand that boy Seth at all."

'Little Hoover' Report Gives Fairs A Pat On The Back

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti, R-Eureka, is chortling over a Little Hoover Commission report praising the operation of the 76 district and county fairs throughout California.

Belotti, always a proponent of bigger and better fairs, a state expense of course, was disturbed when recommendations were made by the administration to cut the number of district and county fairs down to 38, by consolidations.

Customarily, each country and district fair is allotted $65,000 a year out of state funds to put on its show. A later law specifies the award "if they need it." Of course, most of them need it.

STUDIES OF THESE district and county fairs have been going on for a good many years, with the idea of bringing the operation within reason and compatible with the interests of the state taxpayers at large.

These interests would mean that the county or district which offered the public a fair would pay the costs and not come back on the taxpayers of the entire state for an appropriation.

The legislature has been unable to enact laws which would apply pure reason to the handling of these finances, primarily because of a ";ou scratch my back, I'll scratch your back" attitude among legislators. Virtually all legislative districts have either district or county fairs, in some instances both, which they need to look out for financially or risk the enmity of the voters in their districts.

NO ONE SERIOUSLY challenges the right of a county or district to put on a fair for its people. The practice of the state providing holidays for the people has been handed down since the days of the Romans, hence the name "Roman Holiday" which is what most of the district and county fairs are composed of.

Fair officials, who make their livings off the shows, have attempted to classify the fairs as educational. During World War II, a lot of fairs, including the state fair, were skipped, and no one seemed to know the difference. But the Little Hoover Commission, perhaps hypocritically, says of them:

"All local fairs, large or small, provide vital and needed services to the people and communities they serve. Local fairs are part of the culture and are comprised of human values not readily measurable in financial terms."

With such statements which con the people into believing fairs are a great necessity, officials and associations have been able to put the bite on the state treasury for a good many years, and from all indications, will continue, no matter how great the need for essentials.

Terrified Judges Dissipate Pity

In reading of the process of getting ready for the murder trial of the judge killer, one gets the feeling of dismay to see how easy it is to make fools out of the court in San Rafael.

This is an out-and-out cold-blooded murder and to find terrified judges for trying it is ridiculous. Realizing this fact causes one to feel no sympathy for the judge who was murdered in the court house.

No Longer Need For Hitch-Hiking

In regard to Don Briggs's letter to the I-J, May 12, entitled "Place Tg Pick Up Hitch Hikers Needed," we do want to tell you that there is at the present time a local Marin County bus service operated by the Golden Gate Transit. Perhaps you have noticed the blue and gold buses, Marin Transit Systems, running this service . . .

At the present time, we do run buses from San Marin, Novak Square, Novato, Sunset Parkway, Hamilton AFB, Lucas Valley, Northgate, Santa Venetia, Civic Center, San Rafael, Marin General Hospital, and College of Marin. Our buses arrive at College of Marin in time for students to make early classes.

Perhaps you could stop in at Nave's or stores in Novato and pick up copies of our schedules. Then the next time you pick up students going to College of Marin, you could inform them of our service . . .

Experts Disagree On Welfare Costs

My recent letter suggesting that you publish an anlysis of the effect locally of Governor Reagan's proposed welfare "reform" program was prompted by a front-page news item in one of your issues last week.

In this item, as I recall, it was stated that the estimated 1971-72 county tax rate would rise by at least 66.5 cents per $100 becuase of various cost increases, of which approximately 16 or 17 cents for increased welfare costs due to proposed shifts in cost from state to local government. You quoted the county administrator and the county auditor as the sources for your news item.

If Mr. (Alan) Bruce and Mr. (Michael) Mitchell are correct, and the item did not indicate any question regarding this, it is small wonder that the "analysis" furnished by the governor's office showing a decrease in county costs for welfare has been "subject to challenge."

Because of these markedly disparate estimates, it would appear all the more worthwhile for the Independent-Journal to clarify this subject for its readers.

MARY M. LeHANE

San Anselmo.

(No two experts seem to agree on the effect of the complicated welfare reform program proposed by Gov. Ronald Reagan. Although the governor's figures show a saving to Marin County of $679,454 from the proposed changes, figures worked up by County Auditor-Conler Michael Mitchell show additional cost to the county of $1,176,000 from the same changes. It appears that no one can be sure just what the impact on the county would be until the program goes into effect. — Editor.)

School Authorities Overlook Children

I find the actions taken by the school authorities regarding the dismissal of Mr. James Toliver difficult to comprehend. I have attended Martin Luther King School two or three days a week as a volunteer aide during this past year as well as last year. I do not support the man solely on my observations alone, but also from what the children say and how they express their feelings concerning him.

It would seem to me that those in control of our schools are not honestly concerned about the most important segment of the district — the school children themselves!

'Earth Day' Program Outrages Parent

There was a time, not long ago, when parents could feel confident in sending their childrec to their schools, alone, to attend a function taking place there, and feel it was something harmless, beneficial or just fun.

On May 1 I attended "Earth Day" at Isabel Cook School. I had heard from a friend of mine what was presented in San Mateo County for their "Earth Day" functions, but I couldn't believe that San Anselmo schools or the City of San Anselmo would permit such presentations in our area, so I went to see for myself. . .

There were a few booths with "home made goodies" for sale; the Sierra Club had a very small area, with excellent material; but the remainder were booths of varied pamphlets, booklets and stickers.

At the "Planned Parenthood" booth, while I was there, one woman impressed me as being a barker at a circus, calling out all their services "so there won't be so many babies" — with children of all ages present to observe. She told of all the services available for both male and female, in detail, to prevent conception, and of their referral service for abortions, adding, "We also service teenagers, in fact we encourage them to come in, as it is against the law of the county to service them and we are the only agency in the county to service teenage girls—and we do it without parents knowledge or consent."

I very strongly oppose the public schools' using taxpayers' property and encouraging the school-age children to attend such activities. It is my understanding some children even brought home notices from the school.

I am of the opinion that if more parents were aware of what the schools are sponsoring for our children, they would also oppose such activities . . .

Contrasts In Middle East, But Both Sides Want Peace

TEL AVIV — The contrasts between the two sides in the Middle East conflict are very great. But there is one similarity that may swing the balance for peace.

The longing for an end to the bloodshed is as strong here as it is in Egypt. During the war of attrition the casualties reported from day to day, numerically small yet large in proportion to Israel's population, were the cause of nationwide anguish. These were the ablest young men, the pilots, the vanguard of the army.

With the truce in its tenth month, the drone of helicopters overhead no longer suggests the return of the wounded and the dead from the fighting zone along the Suez Canal. Although there has been no real change in the tangle of claims and counterclaims from both sides, the assumption is that the truce will continue into the indefinite future.

Events in an unstable and unpredictable part of the world may shatter this assumption tomorrow. Nevertheless, among the Americans acting as midwife to a peace settlement still a long way from birth, it has produced something like euphoria. Shuttling back and forth and listening to the contentions of each side has had, they assume, a curative effect.

MOVING FROM ONE side to the other, the contrasts are overpowering. Israel is a nation intensely organized from top to bottom, with a discipline owing much both to a sense of common nationhood and to controls applied by a government operation under wartime restraints.

The Israelis are a westernized people, with the governing-professional class of the older generation, at any rate, educated in Europe or the United States. This means a technology exceeding all but the most-advanced nations.

As propagandists, even granting their built-in advantage in the West and particularly in the United States, they are unrivaled. They know how to seize every opening. Their understanding of the media is all-embracing. A constant stream of visitors, many of them guests of the government, get the full treatment.

THE CONTRAST with Cairo could not be greater. On the other side of the Middle East divide, the inquiring reporter goes through an exercise in frustration, with intrigue an internal division blocking all channels. The very absence of information from one side, with an abundance from the other, produces an imbalance no matter how objective the visitor may want to be.

In a speech this week, President Anwar El-Sadat proclaimed that "our forces are fully prepared to fight the liberation battle." From what this reporter could learn from non-Egyptian sources in Cairo, the Sadat rhetoric falls considerably short of the facts.

The army has been greatly beefed up with an estimated seven divisions between Cairo and the canal. There have been improvements in training and morale, thanks in no small part to the numbers who have gone to Moscow for special courses. But it is not essentially different from the army that was routed in the six-day war in 1967.

The decisive factor is the Israeli Air Force. Despite all the Soviet Union has poured in in advanced fighter planes, the MIG-21s, and advanced missile defenses, the SAM 111s, the Israelis are rated incontestably superior in the air today. That could be the genuine deterrent to a new outbreak of the fighting.

THE ENIGMA, the unknown X in the equation, is the Russian presence. How pervasive is it throughout the Mediterranean? Certainly, as the United States has championed Israel, the Soviet Union greatly increased its influence in the Arab world. The 13,000 Russian technicians and military men in Egypt are only the tip of the iceberg. So much is hidden from even the most-penetrating intelligence.

In an atmosphere of intrigue and suspicion it takes on a legendary quality. The top secret MIG-23s, never before deployed outside Russia, are said to be flying over the west bank of the canal. At three times the speed of sound at an altitude of 70,000 to 80,000 feet, the 23s excel any U.S. plane. Their radar and missile-firing apparatus are positioned on planes at a lower altitude.

Are there actually such mystery planes, as reported, flying over the desert? Would the Soviet Union risk the remote chance that this weapon, with all its secrets, might fall into enemy hands?

In the gloomiest possible view, this interval corresponds with the Spanish Civil War in the late '30s when the Nazis were testing their new weapons. But the professional gloomsters are not always right.

Russian 'Foot In Door' Gives Pause To Ceylon

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In the English-language Ceylon Daily Mirror a recent editorial gained significance because it was cleared by government censors. "A toehold through temporary military aid could tempt the donor to attempt a foothold, if not a permanent stranglehold," the editorial said without naming names.

It was of further significance that the same newspaper also published prominently an article from an Italian weekly discussing "the dangers of Russian penetration into the Indian Ocean."

CEYLON, LYING OFF the tip of India in the Indian Ocean, is outside the main stream of international events and is no more used to worldwide notice than she is to the insurrection among her educated youth currently threatening the Ceylonese government.

Presumably the leftwing government of Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike will survive the insurrection which is cast in a mold even farther to the left, but not without changes.

When the Bandaranaike government took over about a year ago it moved to the left with the naming of Communists to the cabinet and recognition of North Korea, North Vietnam, the Viet Cong of South Vietnam and Communist East Germany.

Since then the government has expelled North Korean diplomats, apparently in the belief North Korea is a source of support for the young insurgents.

AT THE OUTSET of the outbreak by the "Che Guevarists" in April, Mrs. Bandaranaike sent out a general appeal for arms to help put it down.

India, Pakistan and Britain were among the non-Communist nations to respond directly. The United States supplied helicopters indirectly but held up on other requested aid pending Pentagon "study" of surplus weapons.

Most generous of all was the Soviet Union.

It sent five Mig 17 fighters, and a Mig 15 trainer along with technicians and crews to train Ceylonese pilots.

Later shipments reportedly included armored cars and additional helicopters. Other aid came from East Germany and Yugoslavia.

The airplanes were stationed at Katanayake airfield, a former British installation 20 miles north of the capital of Colombo.

WHILE THE AID extended the Bandaranaike government has been international in character, it is the extent of the Soviet effort that now causes concern.

The withdrawal of Britain from east of Suez has left the Indian Ocean a military vacuum which the Russians have been moving to fill. The fear is that Ceylon might provide the next permanent base for the Soviets to add to footholds already established in Yemen at the Indian Ocean's western gateway and in Mauritius off Madagascar.

It is the route by which both Japan and the western nations obtain their mideast oil.

The fact of Ceylon's desirability as a Russian base, already noted by the Ceylon Daily Mirror, suggests the Ceylonese government may now be having second thoughts about its hasty recognition of such as North Korea and that it may now seek to move closer to the political center.

The China Expert: Detente With Peking Good And Bad

WASHINGTON — Now that the euphoria is over about our Ping-Pong match with Red China, people are starting to think about the significance of a real detente between the United States and the People's Republic of China.

I hadn't given it much thought until I talked to my friend Cutaway at the State Department.

"Well," he said, "it looks like we've made a breakthrough with the People's Republic of China."

"That's good," I said.

"NO, THAT'S BAD. The Soviets are very mad at us because we're playing table tennis with Chou En-lai."

"That's bad," I said.

"It could be good," Cutaway said. "If the Soviets are afraid of us making a deal with China they might be more accommodating about the SALT talks on nuclear weapons."

"That's good," I said.

"It could be bad. If the Soviets decide that an America-China pact was a threat to their security, they might insist they need larger nuclear weapons to protect them from the Chinese."

"That's bad."

"IT COULD BE good. We might risk the Soviet wrath in order to open up trade with a country of 800 million people. The Chinese need everything, and there is no reason why we shouldn't consider them our largest potential customer. It's a very significant market."

"That would be good," I agreed.

Cutaway shook his head. "Bad. In order to sell them stuff, we'd have to buy things from them."

"Is that bad?"

"In a sense it is because the Chinese might undersell the Japanese to get our business. If we bought things cheaper from the Chinese than we did from the Japanese, we could cause an economic disaster in Japan."

"We'd have to put Pearl Harbor on full alert again," I said.

"IT WOULD BE good, though, if the Japanese realized that they could no longer flood the American market. Then we'd manage to have better trade relations with them."

"That's good."

"Of course, it wouldn't help our employment situation here, because if the Chinese undersold the Japanese — and we can't compete with the Japanese now — there would be less jobs than ever in this country."

"That's bad," I said.

"It's good in this sense: Once we build up a strong trade relationship with China, we could encourage Chinese tourism to this country. You get 50 million Chinese tourists here at one time, and all the airlines and hotels would show a profit."

"That would be good."

"THE ONLY THING bad about it is that there aren't enough Chinese restaurants to handle them all."

"I was afraid of that," I said. "What else do you see coming out of the detente?"

"The reason Secretary Laird said we had to build an ABM system was to protect us from the Red Chinese. If we eventually become their friends, we won't need the system."

"That's good," I said.

"But it will already have been built by then and cost the country $50 billion."

"That's bad."

"DON'T BE TOO sure. If we take up with the Red Chinese, we might need the ABM system to protect us from Chiang Kai-shek's missiles."

"Which we sold him," I pointed out.

Cutaway sighed. "Ping-Pong sure screwed up this country's diplomatic game plan."

Innocent Plea By Marinite To Court Brawl

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A plea of innocent has been entered in San Francisco Superior Court for a Mill Valley man arrested last month on suspicion of felony assault during a free-for-all at a pretrial hearing for the Soledad Brothers.

John Turner, 25, of 55 South Knoll Avenue, stood mute in court Friday refusing to answer the court's questions.

A jury trial for Turner and two co-defendants has been set for June 28.

The three were arrested April 6 after a courtroom brawl in the Hall of Justice in which they battled bailiffs.

The Soledad Brothers, George Jackson, Fleeta Drumgo and John Cluchette, are scheduled to stand trial in August in connection with the murder of a guard at Soledad Prison last January.

Fate Of Wooded Area On Agenda

A proposal to preserve a two-third acre wooded area of Cazneau Avenue as an open space park will be discussed by the Sausalito City Council at 8 p.m. today in city hall, City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr reported.

A group of residents, headed by Dr. Stephen L. Cavis, 55 Cazneau Avenue, is seeking city assistance in purchasing the area, known as "The Glen," which is slated for development.

The council will also hear a report on the Sausalito police department's handcuffing procedures in making arrests, the city manager said.

Pay For Nonteachers Is Due Discussion

Shoreline Unified School District trustees will consider 1971-72 salary schedule for nonteaching employees at 8 p.m. Thursday at the district office in Tomales.

Trustees last week granted teachers and administrators a 4 per cent pay raise. There hasn't been a proposal yet from nonteaching personnel, according to Supt. Charles A. McCully.

Petaluma's Own 'Major Sport' Fits A City That's Different

Petaluma usually is considered to be a quiet, average American city, but once a year it comes to life with a unique event all of its own — the world's wristwrestling championship.

Men have been wristwrestling in local bars for years, but it first became an organized sports event 10 years ago and gained national prominence a few years later when "Snoopy" of "Peanuts" fame decided to enter.

Though neither Snoopy nor his creator, Charles Schulz, may actually attend the rousing event, they're there in spirit. The crowd of more than 1,000 is always in a festive mood and while some may find the prospect of two muscle-bound men grunting at each other dull, they still attend each year because of pride in their hometown.

Colorful entrants from around the world add spice to the event, as do area television coverage and the ABC "Wide World of Sports" crew in their powder blue berets and flowing scarves.

WRISTWRESTLING — As shown in last week end's event — is an interesting spectator sport because muscle power is not always an indication of the winning contestant. While most sport healthy biceps, they'll be the first to tell you that grip, thumb placement, and courage have a lot to do with it. Timing and getting the jump on your opponent is also important, but successful wrestlers also seem able to stare their opponent dead in the eye, hoping perhaps to sap his strength that way.

Contestants — with wide ranges of "methods" — are from all types of backgrounds. Local ranch boys are normally in abundance, but attorneys, teachers, salesmen, and even football players are represented.

WRISTWRESTLING may be as unique as Petaluma itself. While it may be classed as a suburb, Petaluma has retained its own character and perhaps is more like "middle America" than other suburbs.

Anti-war demonstrators usually find little opposition at most high schools, but in Petaluma the other side is equally vocal. The city couldn't be considered hawkish on the war, but it certainly is one of the few in the country to have a war memorial to the Vietnam dead.

People may joke about Petaluma being the egg basket of the world or that sleepy little community (26,000) out in the sticks even beyond Novato, but the city enjoys its character and celebrates it annually with the wristwrestling festivities.

Petaluma City Manager Denies Disinterest In Police Problems

Petaluma City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer today denied that he is not interested in promoting professionalism in the city's police department.

The Petaluma Police Officers Association had complained Friday that salary negotiations have been going badly and said city management is not interested in bettering the department by increasing wages.

Meyer said he was "disappointed" that the association had made the charge and said he couldn't agree that raising salaries would bring more professionalism to the department.

The officers complained that the Petaluma force is a training ground for other departments and that 13 of 18 patrolmen have been on the force less than a year. The association said that half the patrol force had quit since last year's bitter salary negotiations which nearly led to a strike.

Meyer said that, according to his figures, only three officers have resigned from the department since last August.

Meyer also rejected the association's claim that starting salaries in neighboring departments are higher than the top Petaluma wage. Patrolmen currently receive $702 to $852 per month while starting salaries in neighboring departments are San Rafael, $812; Novato, $794; Santa Rosa, $742; and Napa, $704, Meyer said.

Meyer said he had not intended to slight the association by not attending Two of the negotiations sessions, saying other city officers had attended to gather information for him. "I can't attend every meeting," Meyer said. "It takes a tremendous amount of time."

He said six other employee groups must also be considered and police salaries must be kept in line with budgetary limitations. "It depends on what the people of Petaluma can afford," Meyer said.

The association has requested a 15 per cent pay increase.

Innocent Plea In Theft Case

Aubrey Kenneth Rattan, 18, of 138 Ash Way, San Rafael, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglary.

A preliminary hearing was set for tomorrow.

Rattan was arrested May 6 on suspicion of stealing a $1,500 video tape outfit from a room at the Tiburon Lodge March 9.

The arrest of Rattan and a companion who was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall ended a two-month investigation by the Tiburon sheriff's substation.

The Marin City Learning Center will observe Malcolm X's birthday tomorrow from 10 a.m. to noon in the Manzanita Center.

The program will include films of the life of the black leader, who was assassinated Feb. 21, 1965 in New York City, and speakers from the community who will discuss Malcolm X's contributions to black people in America.

The Marin City Learning Center is a Saturday school for elementary school students, sponsored by a group of Marin City parents.

3 Sewer Projects Get Funds

The federal government's Environmental Protection Agency has awarded $3.2 million to three sewer projects in Marin County.

The amount will be divided among the Novato Sanitary District, the Stinson Beach County Water District and the Bolinas Public Utility District.

Novato will receive $1.5 million towards its $3.5 million project to improve treatment plants in Novato and Ignacio and extension of an outfall line in San Pablo Bay.

Voters approved $3.5 million in bonds for the project last December and were promised in campaign literature the district would only sell the amount of bonds needed after receiving state and federal grants.

The Bolinas district also received a grant totaling about $1.5 million toward construction of the district's proposed $5.3 million waste disposal system.

The Stinson Beach district was awarded a $200,000 grant for construction of sewer facilities estimated to cost about $238,000.

Hamilton Base Use May Match Travis

By BENJAMIN SHORE
(I-J correspondent)

WASHINGTON — When Marin County officials confer with Federal officials here next week on civilian commercial flight use of Hamilton Air Force Base, they will find the way smoothed by just-completed negotiations for similar use of Travis Air Force Base in Fairfield.

Golden Pacific Airlines has been given permission to operate six scheduled flights a day in and out of the giant base. Solano County has agreed to a 20-year lease of 5.5 acres on the base for a small terminal to serve such commuter flights.

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, has set up appointments on May 27 and 28 for the Marin County delegation to meet with Air Force and Federal Aviation Administration officials.

"The deputy assistant secretary for installations believes such joint use at Hamilton can be worked out," Calusen said in an interview.

He was referring to Lewis E. Turner, who negotiated the Travis arrangement with Solano County and Golden Pacific. The only other joint use is at Eglund Air Force Base in Florida.

Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Fourth District, who played a major role in securing Air Force permission at Travis, says the Air Force is not eager to see widespread civilian use of its active facilities, despite a 1969 Defense Department policy allowing it.

"But I think if Golden Pacific's experience at Travis is good — accident-free and no inconvenience to the Air Force — then chances would be good for a similar arrangement at Hamilton," Leggett said.

Clausen said any civilian use would have to be "compatible with Hamilton's operations and security."

Solano County has agreed to pay the Air Force $1,700 a year to lease the 5.5 acres, which are in two parcels, for a small passenger terminal and light maintenance facilities. Financing of the construction would be through a joint agreement between the county and Golden Pacific.

The Air Force has stipulated that general aviation (privately owned and operated aircraft) and nonscheduled commercial flights would not be allowed under the agreement with Solano County.

Furthermore, military aircraft always would have priority over Golden Pacific, and the Air Force could suspend civilian flights in a national emergency.

In a May 7 memo to his staff, Turner recommended changes in Air Force procedure as a result of months of bureaucratic ping-pong in which Solano County's application was spunted back and forth between Air Force officials in California and Washington.

"In future cases involivng joint use," Turner's memo reads in part, "the joint use agreements should be prepared at base level and submitted to this office for approval.

"Any lease of land and/or facilities supporting such joint use agreement should also be prepared at such level and submitted with the joint use agreement."

Arrested Man Ordered To Court

A 30-year-old San Rafael man, arrested Saturday by Novato police on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs and resisting arrest, was ordered to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Charles Willis Patterson of 1517 A Fifth Avenue, was released later on $625 bail.

Patterson was stopped by police at 1:15 a.m. in front of 10 Joan Avenue because of a faulty headlight. He gave his name at first as Robert G. Benz to whom the car was registered, according to police, who arrested him for giving false information.

Police reported subsequently finding a plastic bag with pills and capsules in his coat pocket.

Droped Lines In Honor Report

A line dropped from yesterday's Independent-Journal report on the honoring of 12 top Marin high school seniors resulted in a mistaken listing of two students.

Nancy Thelen of San Rafael was incorrectly shown as attending San Marin High School in Novato, whereas she actually attends San Rafael High School.

The name of San Marin High School senior Philip W. Adams was omitted.

Details of the school careers of both students were correctly reported.

$1,000 Commercial Saw Reported Taken

A commercial saw, valued at $1,000, was taken from a construction site at 1[illegible]9 Evergreen Avenue, Homestead Valley, May 9, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

The saw was owned by the Edward Burger Construction Co. of San Rafael, deputies said.

Auto Is Looted

An Airplane ticket, travelers checks and cash, valued at a total of $1,200, were taken from a car owned by Nancy J. Bovee of San Francisco while it was parked at Muir Beach May 8, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Arraignment In Dollars Theft

Ross Sheffield Murphy, 20, of Ross, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of burglary. He is to plead Friday.

Murphy was arrested last Tuesday after he attempted to sell 90 silver dollars to a local merchant, San Rafael police said.

Murphy's fingerprints matched prints taken at the home of Wilbur F. Mathewson of 47 Bret Harte Lane, where a coin collection was taken May 9, police said.

New AAUW Leader Boosts Education

"I wish I could wrap up the joy of learning, tie it with a big red ribbon, and give it to everyone," says Dr. Edith Pewitt, president of the Novato Branch, American Association of University Women. "It's strange," she said, "but it (learning) is something we can't give people."

Dr. Pewitt, who was graduated from Texas Women's University and received a doctorate in education at North Texas University, is consultant for the Novato Unified School District goals committee and also a consultant for Silver Burdett Publishers, for a junior high school science program. The bachelor's degree was in home economics but she taught science, biology and chemistry in high school.

"I MOST enjoy working with the staff at the schools and helping teachers implement the science programs," Dr. Pewitt said.

A resident of Marin County for only one year, she spends a great deal of her time as a tourist and is a very big booster of the Bay Area.

"There are few back roads in Marin County that I haven't traveled," she said.

She and her husband, Col. Edgar L. Pewitt, director of materiel for the Western Air Force Reserve Region at Hamilton Air Force Base, have three children. Their daughter, Mrs. Timothy W. Chatagnier of Reese Air Force Base in Texas, is the mother of the Pewitt's only grandchild, Leigh Marie, born in January; Robert is a student at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos, "President Johnson country," and Edgar is a senior at San Marin High School.

SHE SAYS her hobbies are gardening, reading for enlightenment necessary in her business, cooking and eating.

Dr. Pewitt will be the Novato Branch delegate to the National AAUW convention in Dallas, Tex., in June.

"There's no place I'd rather go," she said, looking forward to seeing her granddaughter.

The Pewitts moved here from Grapevine, Tex., and while her family was growing up she was involved in social, service and religious activities. She is a former worthy matron of the Order of Eastern Star.

"Women need to be interested and concerned," Dr. Pewitt said. "I classify myself as a doer," she added. "I guess my role in life is to improve education so people can enjoy it more."

SHE WILL serve as president of the Novato branch for two years. Other officers to serve the two-year term are Mrs. Roland B. Karste, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Michael D. Thieme, recording secretary.

New topics to be studied for two years are "We, the People," "This Beleaguered Earth," "The Crisis in Public Education," and "A Dollar's Worth."

"We, the People" is a reappraisal of the role of the citizen in relation to the government and courts; "This Beleaguered Earth" is concerned with ecology with emphasis on population problems; "The Crisis in Public Education" will be a re-evaluation of the American educational system, redefining goals and values, and restructing and re-organizing the system for relevance, quality and equality of our changing society; and "A Dollar's Worth" will be consideration of value judgments toward public interests in terms of available revenue and citizen influence in establishing economic priorities.

She says that membership is by invitation for the cultural and social organization, or by transfer from another chapter.

A native of Marin County, Lorraine Schau was graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended the College of Marin. She and her husband, an accountant, are parents of a daughter, Lynn Marie Schau, who is teaching in Santa Barbara, and a son, Richard, who is a senior at Oregon State University.

MEET BELLA ABZUG

Mows Down Demo Chieftains

BY DONALD LAMBRO

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Whether she's addressing a women's liberation meeting in Los Angeles or an anti-war rally in Rhode Island, New York's newest congresswoman isn't surprised anymore to hear shouts of "Bella for President!"

"At first I thought it was sort of funny but I'm used to it now," said Bella Abzug, the irrepressibly articulate Manhattan Democrat who has been called the House's answer to Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

"Not that I would make such a terrible president," she mused. "But, you know, it isn't reality.

"Women come up to me and say 'run for president. We believe in you.' What can I say?"

Throwing her hands in the air and adjusting the broad-brimmed hat which has become her trademark, she added:

"I usually tell them, 'My mother agrees with you.'"

RACING ABOUT her cramped congressional office, her arms cutting the air in sweeping gestures, Mrs. Abzug during an interview with UPI gave her views on virtually everything from Congress' institutional paralysis to the man who can beat President Nixon.

"A WOMAN'S place is in the House — the House of Representatives" was one of Bella Abzug's campaign slogans last fall. And now that she's New York's newest congresswoman her plain talk in a loud voice is echoing through the halls of Congress and has made her one of the most sought-after political speakers in the country.

(UPI Telephoto)

Since taking her seat in January the 50-year-old freshman lawmaker has been one of the most sought-after political speakers in the country, appearing on college campuses and before women's liberation, antiwar, and Democratic party groups from coast-to-coast.

PEOPLE ARE starved for plain talk," said the blunt-talking congresswoman who is noted for her militant tongue-lashing of Democratic leaders. "They want someone who expresses their feelings and Ithink they identify with me. I've been getting standing ovations all over the country. I know I sound like an egomaniac but it's the truth."

House veterans knew little about the gravel-voiced, broad-shouldered New Yorker when she first appeared on Capitol Hill.

Cracked one House member: "When I first heard her name I thought she was an Algerian terrorist."

But it wasn't long before the cloakrooms were buzzing with stories of her latest clashes with House leaders.

When Democratic chieftains at a recent party caucus succeeded in winning approval of a resolution calling for total U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam by the end of 1972, instead of Dec. 31, 1971 as supported by more dovish members, Mrs. Abzug was livid. In language that isn't printable, she accused Speaker Carl Albert and Majority Leader Hale Boggs of "copping out."

"NO ONE HAD ever talked to them like that before," one observer noted at the time, "at least no lady ever had."

She fought to win assignment to a vacancy on the Armed Services Committee but was stymied by its chairman, Rep. F. Edward Hebert, (D-La.) She was given, instead, seats on Public Works and Government Operations. "The conservation subcommittee isn't terribly relevant to the lower East Side of Manhattan," she noted bitterly.

"People are dying in Indochina and we're playing games here," she complained. "Nothing's ever decisive. It doesn't get down to being relevant.

"But it hasn't been all frustration," she added quickly. "I've created a lot of pressure on some issues."

AMONG OTHER things, Mrs. Abzug has called for a congressional probe of the FBI, urged repeal of the draft, vigorously backed the equal rights for women amendment, and pushed hard for a massive increase in anti-poverty funds.

For her, Congress is "a big piece of machinery —it can mow you down."

Speaking to a House Democratic leader on the phone recently, she explained, "I intend to get up, make my speech, offer my resolution, and then they'll clobber me."

But she refuses to be clobbered. She sees her role in Congress as "challenging the power structure. I'm not going to be cowed by the machinery of the club."

SHE WAS irate about a recent television news show which contrasted her with Rep. Louise Day Hicks, D-Mass. Mrs. Hicks was said to be more concerned with home district problems while Mrs. Abzug was portrayed as being primarily concerned with national issues.

"ARE YOU KIDDING?" she roared. "I make myself as available to constituents as anyone. I go out on the picket lines, join rent strikes, squatters' strikes, antiwar marches. What are they talking about? I'm an activist."

Great Antique Fair To Open

Called "the greatest antiques fair in the world," with 79 British dealers offering exhibits valued at a total of 10 million pounds, the Grosvenor House Antiques Fair in London will open June 10 and continue through June 24.

An outstanding cultural and social event of the London summer season, it will be opened by the British Prime Minister, Mr. Edward Heath.

All exhibits must have been made before 1830, says the fair staff.

You're Right, That Modern Underwear Correct, Not Immoral

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teen-age questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! the Independent-Journal.

THE TROUBLE WITH PARENTS, CONTINUED . . .

DEAR HELEN:

Today my mother walked into my room, opened my dresser drawer and took out the only four pairs of bikini underpants I own. In their place she put some heavy old cotton numbers that look like training pants yet.

Helen, all my 13- and 14-year-old friends wear bikini panties because they're comfortable and, besides, the tops don't show above hip hugger jeans. But my mother now says they are too "sexy" for my age.

I asked what made her change her mind and she wouldn't answer me. Could you make her understand? — FRUSTRATED LOSER

DEAR LOSER:

My IGAP (I'm Guessing Again Perception) says your mother got the kaffee-klatch jitters. Wanta bet she'd huddled with other mothers that day, discussing the terrible hassles in store for parents who "let their children grow up too soon"?

So she reacted, because when does something basic and illogical, just to make her feel more secure.

If your briefies aren't back by this time, let me know and I'll try to persuade her that modern underwear isn't immoral. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My father is always saying to my brother, "Don't do the dishes — you want to act like a girl?" But it's okay if my sisters and I rake leaves, mow the lawn, take out the garbage, etc.

Another of his favortie expressions, "You'll get perverted if you . . ." He mentions things we wouldn't even think of and it makes me feel crawly.

He insists I keep my bedroom door open at all times, even when I'm sleeping so he can check on me.

When my older sister went to Florida he called her every dirty name in the book, because her boy friend paid her way. It was a college weekend and she stayed in a dorm with the other girls who visited their boy friends.

He always criticizes but never compliments and doesn't know us until we do something wrong, then jumps all over us. By "wrong," I mean getting a "C" in school or being sick when he doesn't think so and says we're goldbricking.

My sister was in an accident last summer and needs plastic surgery on her face. He says she has to earn the money herself though she's still in school. He can afford to pay the bill. No wonder we hate him.

My mother keeps saying maybe he'll change. He gets away with whatever he wants because he says she doesn't have the guts to get a divorce.

Every day he does something more to make us wish we could leave home. Please tell us how to stand this misery until we can. — T.L.F.

DEAR T.:

You can stand almost any situation if you know it has a time limit. However, some of your problems might dissolve sooner if you'd stop building an endless case against your father.

Granted, he's far from perfect. But you're so locked into hatred that you see only the bad and probably magnify it . . . which is dangerous because, if bitterness and resentment become habit, they can louse up your whole future.

Instead, learn to accept or sidestep what you can't change, apply as much understanding as possible, and remember that even now, three-fourths of your life goes on outside the home. Don't get so tied up with injustices that you stop enjoying it. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Cancer Warning In Oral Contraceptive

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Women with premalignant breast lesions and a "high risk" tendency for breast cancer should avoid long term use of oral contraceptives, the second National Conference on Breast Cancer was told yesterday.

Dr. Edward F. Lewison of Johns Hopkins University said there was ample evidence to indicate a close relationship between estrogenic hormones and birth control pills and the breat.

"...It seems quite clear that estrogenic hormones and the pill which may contain an estrogen can cause epithelial cell changes within both normal and abnormal breast tissue," he said.

Lewison said that it has been demonstrated that extracts from the ovary (estrogenic hormones) were remarkably potent growth stimulants for the epithelial cells of the female genital tract including the breast.

"Cancer," he said, "is the uncontrolled growth of these epithelial cells."

Lewison also told the American Cancer Society meeting that another example of what he called the close relationship between breast cancer in humans and estrogenic hormones could be demonstrated by other clinical results.

"Women with advanced breast cancer who have a therapeutic removal of the primary source of estrogenic hormones, the ovary, show a remarkable improvement of their metastatic breast cancer in about one-third of the cases," he said.

"Also, I have observed that estrogens taken in small doses may aggravate a pre-existing breast cancer."

He said the "development of newer and more satisfactory contraceptive agents without the possible harmful effects of long-term estrogen administration would be highly desirable."

He added, however, that the clinical evidence indicating a close relationship between estrogenic hormones, the breast and breast cancer" is strongly persuasive. Yet, there is no known clinical evidence at the present time indicating that estrogens or the pill will definitely cause breast cancer in human beings."

In another report to the group, Dr. Martin P. Vessey, of the department of medicine, Radcliffe Infirmary, Oxford, England, disagreed on the effects of oral contraceptives.

"In a case-controlled study in progress at five London teaching hospitals, 220 women aged 16-39 with breast lumps, together with 216 matched controls, had been interviewed between Dec. 1, 1968 and Dec. 31, 1970," Vessey said.

"No evidence has been found so far that oral contraceptives are associated with an increased risk of breast neoplasia; indeed these preliminary data suggest that the preparations tend to protect against the development of benign lesions."

Dock Permits Up For Waldo Point

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission will vote Thursday on permits to improve docking facilities for Waldo Point's houseboat colony to bring the boats up to Marin County standards.

Before the commission are permits to allow George Kappas, Donlon J. Arques and Miriam M. Tellis to fill a total of 2.91 acres of San Francisco Bay, replace old docks with new ones, add berths for 77 new houseboats, construct new parking and access facilities and make minor shoreline adjustments.

Voting also is slated on a Marin County application to fill approximately one acre of the bay for widening of San Pedro Road from Lochnivar Road to Riviera Drive.

Also on the commission agenda is a further public hearing and possible commission action on amendments to the body's bay plan which would allow replacement of existing fill — principally pilings — with an equal amount of new fill for water-oriented commercial recreation projects.

The commission, in a series of informal "straw votes," has indicated approval of such a swap policy.

The meeting will be at 2 p.m. in room 1194 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

Mill Valley To Drain Cascade Reservoir

Cascade Reservoir and Dam, once a seemingly unsurmountable barrier to civic harmony in Mill Valley, was hurdled with relative ease last night by the Mill Valley City Council.

After a brief discussion, councilmen voted unanimously to drain the reservoir, preserve the historic dam structure for the time being and maintain a no trespassing zone in the surrounding park.

The reservoir issue has been a bitter source of dissension in past years because of misuse, accidents, nudity, litter and fire danger, with some residents demanding the lake's removal and others its maintenance.

Councilmen voted last spring to close the reservoir and park to public use from May 1 to Nov. 1. That ban will continue.

In voting to drain the lake, the council accepted a recommendation by the city park and recreation commission, an ad hoc committee for reservoir preservation and the Marin Conservation League.

Councilmen did not, however, address themselves to the question of what to do with the reservoir ultimately.

The ad hoc committee wants Cascade Reservoir developed into a safe swimming hole, though it admitted the city has no funds at present to do so. The conservation league wants a walk-in park there.

Draining the reservoir will give the city time to study how it will be used in the future, councilmen said.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

LEASE — Agreed to maintain bus parking areas at the city-owned Lytton Square Bus Depot and to extend to the end of 1972 a lease for the interior of the building to Janice Aronoff for $250 per month.

REVENUE SHARING — Asked the U. S. Congress to enact a revenue sharing plan.

BOARD — Appointed John De Becker to a vacancy on the Mill Valley Flood Control Zone Advisory Board.

VARIANCE — Upheld an appeal from a planning commission decision and denied a variance to allow Edmond C. Kagi to build a house to within three feet of the front property line at 94 Elinor Avenue.

APPEAL — Upheld an appeal of a planning commission decision and denied a variance for the old city library at 52 Lovell Avenue. Owner William E. Cullen had proposed to widen Lovell Avenue four feet in lieu of providing five off-street parking spaces at the library, which he wants to convert to three apartments.

RESTAURANT — Denied a parking variance to allow expansion of Pat and Joe's Restaurant, 71 Throckmorton Avenue, from 75 to 135 seats. Councilmen encouraged owner Pat Trujillo to reapply for a variance after a planning commission subcommittee comes up with a fee to be levied against applicants wishing variances from parking requirements.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned today at 8 p.m. at city hall to take up items from last night's agenda.

Favorable Report On Lottery Bill

BOSTON (UPI)—The state legislative committee on governmental regulations gave a favorable report Monday to a bill establishing a Massachusetts lottery which would sell for 50 cents a ticket and would award weekly prizes.

The House was expected to begin debate on the bill next week. Under the bill, 33 per cent of the money raised would go to the state for the Department of Mental Health.

Mine Blast Kills 21

KARACHI (UPI)—A coal mine explosion at Sinjadi, 27 miles northeast of the Baluchistan provincial capital of Quetta, killed at least 21 persons and injured two others Sunday, reports reaching here said. Eleven other miners were missing and presumed dead.

SCHOLARSHIP — Colleen Mary Coleman, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman of 114 Hawthorne Way, Santa Venetia, today was awarded the annual $500 Archie Culpepper scholarship of the Marin County Board of Realtors. She will attend Chico State College.

Disciplinary Plan Advances

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation to restrict a school teacher's power to discipline unruly students gained a slim approval vote in the Assembly Monday and sent to the Senate. The bill by Assemblyman John Burton, D-San Francisco, advanced on a 41-22 vote, the bare margin needed for passage.

Under Burton's bill, a teacher could suspend such students only from his classroom and send them to the principal for "appropriate" action. Currently, a teacher has authority to suspend troublemakers for almost two days from school.

UFWOC Pickets At Strawberry Fields

SALINAS (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm union started organizational picketing Monday at strawberry fields in the Salinas and Pajaro valleys.

The main target of the AFLCIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee was a dozen small and medium-sized growers who belong to the Driscoll Strawberry Association.

City Hall Project Gets Council Nod

Construction of an addition to the Petaluma City Hall for Sonoma County and city offices was approved last night by the Petaluma City Council.

In doing so, the council concurred with the decision of the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to award the project to Rapp Construction of Santa Rosa at a basic cost of $436,900.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said a parking lot addition and site work would increase the overall price to $461,800 with the city's share being $167,564 and the county's share $294,236.

The 12,468-square-foot building to run parallel to the present city hall will house the Southern Sonoma Municipal Court, county and city offices. When the portion of the city hall now being used by the county is vacated, it will be remodeled as added space for the city engineering department.

Meyer said that only $5,000 need be drawn from the general fund to meet the city's share of the cost since funds have been set aside annually for seven years for the project.

The Petaluma City Council also:

WATER TANK — Approved plans for a new two million gallon water storage tank on East Washington Street. Cost was estimated at $197,200.

NEW REGION — Agreed to request County Supervisor Henry Spomer to attend a council meeting in the near future to explain plans for the North Coastal Regional Association, the planned alternative to membership in the Association of Bay Area Governments. Councilmen complaiend about a lack of information and said that perhaps a representative should attend planning sessions.

LIGHTS — Approved the replacement of 15 aging lights in Walnut, Wickersham and Kenilworth parks at a total cost of $2,044.

CONTRACT — Approved an agreement with the American Federation of Slate, County and Municipal Employees Local No. 956 to grant a salary increase of 20 cents per hour on July 1. The union representing water department and maintenance employees had originally requested a 35-cent per hour hike.

Fired Health Unit Typist Wins Exoneration, Reinstatement

Frances I. Jennings, senior typist in the Marin County Health Department who was fired on March 19, will be reinstated with full pay and privileges.

That was the 4 to 0 decision of the Marin County Personnel Commission, which met yesterday at the Civic Center. Commissioner Bella H. Aaron didn't vote, explaining she had been on the commission about two years ago when another hearing was held on Mrs. Jennings' job classification. Mrs. Aaron said she did not want the information from the previous hearing to interfere with the current case.

Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer who dismissed Mrs. Jennings, must reinstate her as senior typist in the health department tuberculosis unit at $590 per month. Mrs. Jennings will also get all back pay and benefits lost since her dismissal on March 19.

The health officer accused Mrs. Jennings of insubordination, quarreling with other employees, and disrupting the office.

Mrs. Jennings, represented by attorney Richard H. Breiner, countered that Dr. Albrecht's administrative assistant, Frank E. Kirby and other aides harassed her.

After exonerating and reinstating Mrs. Jennings, the personnel commissioners decided to hold another closed meeting at 9:30 a.m. on May 28 at the Civic Center to decide what action if any they should take on allegations that Kirby had used recording devices to tape conversations without alerting the person at the other end of the phone.

The Marin County Personnel Commission also:

SOCIAL WORKERS — Approved the transfer of six home-maker positions in the department of public social services from the Marin County Employees Association bargaining unit to the Social Workers Union bargaining unit.

ELIGIBILITY — Denied a separate bargaining unit for 47 eligibility workers in the department of public social services. They will remain a part of the Social Workers Union bargaining unit.

AFSCME — Put off until May 28 a request by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) for the right to represent about 200 employees now represented by the Marin County Employees Association.

Scheel, Wife Hurt In Wreck

BONN (UPI)—West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel and his wife suffered minor injuries when the official car they were riding in collided with a taxi Monday.

The driver of the taxi died in the crash and his passenger suffered serious injuries.

Scheel and his wife were traveling on the Autobahn from Bonn to the Bonn-Cologne airport to board a plane for Bucharest when the crash occurred.

Bill Advances On Airplane Hunting

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House has passed and sent to the Senate legislation that would provide a $5,000 fine, a year in prison, or both, for anyone caught hunting from an airplane.

Persons licensed by state or federal governments to protect livestock or crops from predators by hunting from the air would be exempt. The government also would be given authority to revoke or suspend the license of any pilot convicted of airborne hunting.

Record Budget Of $547 Million Wins City Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Board of Supervisors approved a record $547.5 million budget Monday after Controller Nathan B. Cooper indicated there might not be a tax hike.

The spending program, to go into effect July 1, is $33 million more than the current budget but $53 million less than requested by city departments. It is also $9 million less than recommended by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

Cooper told the board that there was "an outside possibility" the budget could be financed without boosting the current tax rate of $12.82 per $100 assessed valuation.

"Much depends on actions of the state legislature and on our estimates of revenue," he said. "The picture won't be clear until August."

Symphony Concert Is A Sellout

The San Francisco Symphony Orchestra's Saturday Marin County performance of "Four Views of Romeo and Juliet" is a sellout, the orchestra's publicity office announced.

The musical exploration of the famous star-crossed lovers' tale, directed by Seiji Ozawa, will be performed at 8:15 p.m. at the Terra Linda High School gymnasium. It is the last in the orchestra's second annual four-concert series in Marin County.

It features four musical interpretations of Shakespeare's famous love story, beginning with Berlioz's love music from "Romeo and Juliet," and ending with Leonard Bernstein's symphony dances from his "West Side Story," the modern-day Romeo and Juliet. Between these two extremes are Tschaikowsky's overture-fantasy, "Romeo and Juliet," and selections from Suites 1 and 2 of Prokofieff's ballet, "Romeo and Juliet."

The performance is also a sellout this week at the Opera House in San Francisco where standing room only is available.

Container Ban Urged In Mill Valley

Mill Valley should take the lead in banning the sale of non-returnable beverage containers in hopes that Marin County and the state will follow suit, the president of the Homestead Valley Community Association has urged.

In a letter to Mill Valley Mayor George E. Wickham, Paul I. Peyrat supported the council's May 3 action in urging a uniform countywide ordinance, but said Mill Valley should act independently as well.

While admitting "it is . . . difficult for one jurisdiction to take on the responsibility of such an ordinance," Peyrate said "we do not feel we can wait for statewide legislation . . . we do not wish any further delaying action in the search for this ordinance which would offer some protection to our deteriorating environment."

The fourth and fifth grades of Homestead School appeared before the council May 3 and presented 1,350 signatures urging a ban on non-recyclable beverage cans and non-returnable glass bottles.

Pops Concert Set Under Trees In Ross

"Cabaret Concert — Sous les Arbres" is the French theme of the Marin Symphony Orchestra's annual pops concert and picnic dinner set for May 30 at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

The concert, at 4:30 p.m., will find the crowd seated at tables under the trees to hear Sandor Salgo conduct Offenbach's "Orpheus in the Underworld" and Dukas's "Sorcerer's Apprentice."

As soprano chanteuse, Marin's Gwen Curatilo — who has performed with the San Francisco Opera and Symphony — will sing a group of French songs and Chants d 'Auvergne.

Novelty entertainment will be Can Can dancing by a group of Stanford coeds that includes Jackie Benington, 1969 America's Junior Miss, and a gag appearance as a conductor of the orchestra in one number by Donald Beacock, this year's "Realtor of the Year" in Marin.

Beacock, who made the high bid to conduct the orchestra in the guild's auction last November, will arrive in a limousine in white tie and tails to conduct a march with an honorary baton presented to him by a coterie of music lovers.

A hot dinner of French cuisine will be served following the concert by guild members, with the pieces de resistance consisting of pastries baked by members of the guild's auxiliary. French and domestic wines will be available along with the usual beverages.

During dinner strolling musicians will entertain under the direction of Eddy Walter.

General admission to the concert is free, but there will be a charge for dinner. Tables for from four to 12 may be reserved through Mrs. Harold Schnurer, 176 Riviera Drive, Larkspur.

Additional information may be obtained by telephoning the Marin Symphony Guild office in San Anselmo.

Harry Williams To Head State Indian Aid Agency

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan formally announced yesterday the appointment of Harry D. (Timm) Williams, a Marinite and Yurok Indian, as director of an experimental Indian aid program.

Although Williams has been on the job about two months, the official announcement was not made until yesterday.

Williams will head the new California Indian Assistance Project, designed to insure that Indians in the state receive all government services to which they are entitled.

Williams, 47, who will receive $18,000 annually in the new post, is official spokesman for the Klamath River Yurok Indians and is the longtime Stanford football mascot, "Prince Lightfoot."

He moved recently to Sacramento from his Fairfax home and received a leave of absence from the Matson Navigation Co. in San Francisco, his full-time employer, to take the state post.

HARRY D. WILLIAMS
Aid project

Joe Carillo Jr. of Davis, a member of the Wickchumni Tribe of the Tule River Indian Reservation, was named deputy director by Reagan at a salary of $12,000. He has been an employee of the state Department of Public Health.

The federal Department of Housing and Urban Development has provided $38,000 for the project, with the state contributing $20,000. The project will operate on an experimental basis for a year.

Williams and Carillo will report to Reagan through Robert J. Keyes, special assistant to the governor for community affairs. Keyes said the project might be continued for a second year if successful.

Williams, who long has deplored governmental neglect of Indian needs, told the Independent-Journal today:

"We're hoping to strengthen state capabilities to understand and identify all needs of Indians in the state, especially those off reservations . . . and to improve delivery of state services and federal resources to Indians in all areas."

He also hoped the project would create greater opportunity for Indians to work more closely with state officials.

Application For Model Homes Is Turned Down

The Novato Planning Commission last night denied an application by McKeon Construction Co. to construct two model homes at the northwest corner of South Novato Boulevard and Highway 101 where it plans to build 528 townhouse and condominium units.

The firm sought a variance to construct the model homes before a precise development plan was approved, saying it would help to speed up sales.

The planning staff recommended denial and said soils analysis indicated potential problems in building on the mud flat portion of the 50.5-acre site. The soils matter must be resolved before any building takes place, staff reported. Staff members also opposed any building without an approved precise development plan.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

PIZZA RESTAURANT — Granted Jay M. Lofthouse a permit for a Straw Hat Pizza restaurant, adjacent to the Copper Penny restaurant, 7089 Redwood Highway.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Granted Nicole Love a permit to operate a private summer school in a single-family home at 1144 Ferris Drive.

REZONING — Approved rezoning 13.5 acres on the east side of South Novato Boulevard, opposite Stone Drive, from limited agriculture to planned residential single-family, as requested by L. B. Fleischman and John E. Peterson.

APARTMENTS Approved rezoning lots at 1129 Third Street and 1128, 1124, 1104 and 1100 Fourth Street from single-family to multiple-family as requested by Alfred Bellucci.

DOUGHERTY PARCEL — Approved rezoning 6.44 acres at the northeast corner of Simmons and Leese lanes from limited agriculture to planned residential as requested by Allan and Helga Dougherty.

MACHINE SHOP — Referred to the plan review committee an application by William W. Hints for a variance to build a machine shop and office on the north side of Vallejo Avenue between Highway 101 and the Northwestern Pacific Jailroad tracks.

DIABLE TRIANGLE — Agreed to consider rezoning of the Diable Triangle land form multiple-family units at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House.

RAP SESSION

Enlightened Generation Blocked, Dentist Finds

By ERIK M. INGRAM
(20th in a series of 24 raps)

This country for 30 years has stressed a high level of education for its younger generation but now has turned a deaf ear to that generation's enlightened demands for change.

That, according to Dr. Daniel A. Collins of Mill Valley, is at the heart of the so-called generation gap.

"We have a younger generation today that is not going to allow itself to be exploited economically or politically," Collins said the other day at his San Francisco Dental office.

"The political and economic institutions of this country are based on the need for a semi-illiterate population . . . But, generally speaking, all of a sudden we're all educated."

Thus come demands for change, demands for a piece of the action, demands for an equitable share of the system, he continued.

"The days of capitalism are numbered," he said. "We have to find a system where all people have a share."

Seeking a share is nothing new to Collins, who at 54 is a board member of the National Urban League, a founding member of the league's San Francisco branch, a board member of the San Francisco branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and executive director and board member of Harcourt Brace Jovanovich publishing firm.

He also is on the governing boards of three colleges including Golden Gate College of San Francisco and has been a member of the State Board of Education and the State Board of Public Health.

Over the years, Collins has been described by some as a man of honest good will. A man of cares. A man of devotions.

He can also be described as an angry man.

"We are asking millions of people to protect a system in which they have no stake," Collins said. "Rare is the person seeking to change the system who has a stake in it."

DANIEL A. COLLINS
'All . . . have a share'

Citing welfare as an example, he maintains it is simply a means of keeping people "out of the action."

"Labor is as guilty as anyone else," he continued. "Congress has given them superficial laws which have allowed it to be selective."

Ten years ago, he said, a black man couldn't get into apprentice programs. Even today a city may have 40 black doctors and lawyers but no black plumbers. "There's something wrong with the system, I'd say," he added.

Such are the flaws youth is demanding be changed. Vietnam is another.

Himself an outspoken critic of the war, Collins said he can understand the younger generation's concerns.

"Young people are less afraid of changes which must be made than the older generation which seems to resist," he said. "You can't be honest with yourself and support this war. Are we prepared to deny our own progeny to save face?

"If we don't consider change fast, we are going to have a revolution on our hands," he said.

While he doesn't condone violence, Collins said he has some compassion for those that do.

"It's hard to work in the system . . . it's slow, but that is where I work for change," he said. "I can't buy violence but I share a feeling of guilt for the burden Angela (Davis), Huey (Newton) and Bobby (Seal) carry."

Assuming the charges against Miss Davis are true, he said, "What drove her to this? What drove a bright girl to put her life on the line? What forced her to take this alternative?"

It's everybody's burden, he concluded.

No Position On Juvenile Hall Plan

The Marin County Board of Education last night declined, for lack of information, to take a position on the county administrator's proposal to scrap the preplacement unit at Juvenile Hall.

The matter stems from a request by the Marin Juvenile Justice Commission for board support for the unit which provides a short-term education program for youngsters 13 to 18 years of age.

According to Robert E. Spain, director of administrative services for the county schools office, the board said it could not take a position since it was not clear what reasons the county administrator used in recommending the $160,000 per year program be cut.

Spain said the board also requested information on the probation department's evaluation of the program's success before taking a position.

Members of the justice commission are approaching all Marin school board members seeking support against what they term county administrator's "arbitrary cuts."

The Marin County Board of Education also:

FOREST MEADOWS — Met a Forest Meadows Development Center to hear a report on the center's operation. The center is charged with educating mentally retarded children.

SAN QUENTIN — Approved a contract with San Quentin Prison to provide occupational placement services for inmates. The contract totals $15,482 and is for employment of one person. A second contract totaling $14,695 for music instruction and the hiring of one teacher also was approved.

POLICY MANUAL — Accepted three installments of the proposed nine-part policy manual for the district. Those sections accepted included personnel, internal operation and board by-laws. Still to be completed are sections dealing with community relations, administration, business operation, students, construction and facilities. The manual has been in committee for about a year.

JOB DESCRIPTIONS — Accepted classified employee job descriptions from the schools office's personnel commission. The board will approve the recommendations and return them to the commission which will set salaries.

CLOSED SESSION — Entered closed session to instruct its negotiators on the board's position on teacher's salaries.

PROJECTS — Heard a status report on funding for four district projects showing the county will receive no state funds for improving kindergarten programs and development of new educational management systems. The board also was told the staff will resubmit a request for funds for an environmental education center and was told the fund raising firm of Miller and Kramer of San Francisco has been working to raise funds for an environmental education study.

Fairfax Cuts Police Calls To Oak Manor

The Fairfax City Council last night voted to discontinue emergency police and fire services to Oak Manor as long as residents of the area refuse to annex to the city.

"They don't want us; so we're going to show them," Councilman Frank J. O'Connell said.

Fairfax has in the past provided emergency help to Oak Manor residents when requested to do so by the sheriff's department or county fire department.

The vote was not unanimous last night.

Councilman Lee Nelder said, "We as councilman will be sorry the day we cut them off." He suggested solving the problem by supporting the sheriff's department's request for more officers and cars.

Councilman Robert R. Souza also voted against discontinuing first call aid, saying, "Unilateral action to cut off services is not the answer."

Councilmen Cornelis Van Vliet, Frank J. Egger and O'Connell voted the end to emergency help, with Van Vliet saying, "by giving them those services, they'll never want to be annexed."

The Fairfax City Council also:

GARBAGE — Put off decision on raising Fairfax garbage collections rates by 25 cents until its next meeting.

UNDERGROUND — Created an underground utility district along Broadway from Pacheco Avenue to Merwin Avenue with overhead structures to be removed by Feb. 1, 1972.

TOPICS — Assigned $16,000 in federal highway funds to the City of San Anselmo so that city may synchronize its traffic lights. San Anselmo will pay back $11,000 out of its gas tax fund.

REVENUE — Adopted a resolution, to be sent to all California senators and representatives saying that cities need revenue-sharing funds.

RESIGNATION — Accepted David R. Seyler's resignation as chairman of the park and recreation commission.

PROPERTY — Approved the sale of city property on Live Oak Avenue and earmarked the funds for improving city facilities.

OVERTIME — Changed the period municipal employees may hold compensatory time on the books from 60 days to one year.

POLICE — Authorized an additional sergeant position on the force, making four all together. The increase will cost, according to the police chief's report, an additional $576 for the 1971-72 fiscal year.

CREEK — Adopted the Watercourse Ordinance which will block construction of structures, or tree removals, in and around the Fairfax creek. Egger said it would protect the creek environmentally, esthetically and ecologically.

PG&E — Agreed to pay PG&E $228 covering the city's share of trenching a fire alarm system on Broadway. Fairfax will own the system.

CONSTRUCTION — Voted to spend $9,000 to alter and modify the city hall, which would include a police department confidential interview room, and evidence storage area. The total improvements, including architect Donald Keith Olsen's fee, will be no more than $35,000. The missing $26,000 will come from selling the city property on Live Oak and the building improvement fund. The Design Review Board will be consulted on the plans.

BUDGET — Set a discussion of 1971-72 budget for June 7.

Arrests In Attempted Burglary

Three 19-year-old San Rafael youths were booked into Marin County Jail today on suspicion of attempted burglary of the Gemini clothing store in Sausalito.

Johnny Lin Motta, of 141 Auburn Street, Michael Mario Colombo, of 267 Mountain View Avenue and Kenneth Kay Kuhl, of 103 Orange Street were arrested by Sausalito police about 2:45 a.m. They were apprehended after an officer, who received a report of a burglary in progress, noticed their auto leaving the vicinity of the store.

Police, who stopped the car in the 1000 block of Bridgeway, said they noticed two tire irons and two pairs of gloves in the auto. One iron bore traces of paint similar to that on the store's door which showed signs of being forced, officers noted. The store was not entered, according to police.

Apartment Rezone Plea Is Rejected

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night denied a Fairfax man's request that his Sycamore Avenue property be rezoned for apartment use.

In denying George Surovtsov's request for property at 122 Sycamore, the commission said that to grant it "would have the effect of condemning the entire Sycamore Area to R-3 (high density) zoning."

According to the commission secretary, Surovtsov pleaded that the old home on the property has been vacant for 3 months and no longer is an income property.

Sycamore Avenue is currently zoned and developed as a single-family residential area.

What Surovtsov planned for his property if rezoned was not disclosed last night, the secretary said.

Stiff Boat Rules For Bass Lake

BASS LAKE (UPI) —Rules affecting boat operation and water skiing as well as stiff fines for littering go into effect at this Sierra resort starting Friday.

Madera County Sheriff's Sgt. Ovonual Berkley said all boats must be registered, carry fire extinguishers and provide a life preserver for each passenger.

There will be a mandatory $25 fine for littering the lake or the shore as required under a new state law, Berkley said.

He said boat operators pulling skiers must be at least 16 years of age and the observer, also required, just be at least 12.

Berkley said officers will patrol the lake during daylight hours and the lakeshore will be patrolled 24 hours a day.

Benches Taken

Picnic tables and benches valued at $400 were taken between 5 p.m. Saturday and 8:45 a.m. Monday from the Sub Hut restaurant at 4380 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, owner Jeffrey Synder reported to police.

Creek Maintenance Irks Fairfax Council On Tax

The Fairfax City Council, angered at a 5-cent maintenance tax, last night voted 4-1 to consider the feasibility of withdrawing from an agreement with Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project.

Fairfax and San Anselmo, who never have joined the project, agreed in 1965 to pay part of the cost of maintenance. San Anselmo councilmen are also now trying to get out of the agreement.

Fairfax Councilman Robert R. Souza said last night that he had voted for the joint powers agreement because he didn't want to torpedo the entire flood project but that he thought it was never clear where the 5-cent tax would go.

Charles E. Murphy, Marin County flood control engineer, replied to Souza that it was "clearly pointed out and stated several times." He said that Fairfax and San Anselmo comprise about 20 per cent of the watershed for the Corte Madera Creek and that most of the maintenance work will be done in areas downstream where their dirt and silt was washed.

City Atty. Wallace S. Myers told the council that "not in every case are we free from taking care of the flow of water."

Councilman Frank J. Egger had said that Fairfax shouldn't be responsible for water downstream.

Councilman Frank J. O'Connell, who cast the only dissenting vote, attacked what he called the attitude: "as long as we're high and dry why should we be part of the problem?" attitude.

In a related matter, the council voted to include four recently annexed areas in the flood control agreement district.

GE Warning On Light Defect

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The General Electric Co. has recalled all its outdoor floodlight and holder kits sold since August because of a possible wiring defect that could cause severe shock.

The GE Lamp Division here announced Monday an investigation showed only about 40 of the units already sold may be affected, but the recall was made as a precautionary measure.

Owners of such units purchased during or after August were asked to return them to GE offices here. The company also requested dealer and distributor stocks to be returned for inspection.

Zunino Request For Dissolution

The wife of Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest C. Zunino filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court for dissolution of the couple's 14-year marriage.

Sally Louise Zunino cited irreconcilable differences in her petition for dissolution.

Zunino, 40, joined the district attorney's office in 1964. He ran unsuccessfully for Municipal Court judge last June.

They were married July 22, 1956, in Nevada, according to Mrs. Zunino's petition, and have two children, Ernest M., 10, and Laura L., 6.

The family home is at 131 Marinda Drive, Fairfax.

Mrs. Zunino seeks custody of the children, $350 monthly support for the children and $450 a month support for herself.

Innocent Plea To Grand Theft Charge

Stephen L. Brusell, 18, of Petaluma, pleaded innocent yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court to charges of grand theft and possession of stolen property.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon released him on his own recognizance and set a preliminary hearing for June 4 at 2 p.m. Brusell was arrested Friday along with three juveniles on suspicion of taking a boat from its storage place at 743 Paula Lane, Petaluma.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, May 18, the 138th day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. There is no evening star.

Those born on ths day are under the sign of Taurus.

On this day in history:

In 1852 Massachusetts became the first state to pass a law making school attendance compulsory for children between the ages of 8 and 14.

In 1860 Abraham Lincoln was nominated for president by the Republican party at a Chicago convention.

In 1941 throughout the nation, the first "I Am an American Day" was held, honoring 300,000 aliens who had become U.S. citizens the past year.

In 1969 Apollo 10, with three American astronauts aboard, blasted off for the moon in a rehearsal flight for a lunar landing.

A thought for today: Spanish novelist Miguel de Cervantes said, "That's the nature of women, not to love when we love them and to love when we love them not."

Vandals Scratch Eight Used Cars

Vandals scratched the hoods of eight used cars sometime Friday night or early Saturday morning at Annex Motors Sales at 535 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

Mgr. William H. Beeble said that he thought it was the work of someone walking by with a sharp instrument. He estimated $200 damage to the cars.

WINNING BRIDGE

If You Hate Deceit Just Forget Today's Real Gem

Capturing an opponent's king with your ace is the best normal way to promote the value of a minor honor (such as a ten or jack) held by your side. In some hands, however, you must be cunning rather than normal. If you would rather lose than practice deception on your opponents, you have my permission to forget today's article as soon as you have read it.

QUEEN OF HEARTS

West opened the queen of hearts, a very normal card, against the normal contract of four spades. After all, this is not going to be a tale of unrelieved villainy.

Declarer won in dummy with the ace of hearts and led a low trump. East played low, and South put up the king. If West had been a normal, virtuous taxpayer, he would have captured the trick with the ace of spades and you would now be reading about some other hand. South would eventually get to dummy to lead the ten of spades for a finesse; and East's jack of spades would never win the setting trick.

CASUAL PLAY

As it happened, West was a devious character. When South led a trump to the king, West casually played his low trump as though he were just normally following suit.

South led a diamond to dummy and returned the ten of spades just to see what East would do. East naturally played low, and South stopped for thought. South was clever enough to know that West might be giving him the business, but the odds are always against skullduggery: first, West must have the ace of spades and, second, he must think of playing low without giving himself away.

QUEEN OF SPADES

South therefore put up the queen of spades in the hope that East had started with A-x-x of spades. West promptly produced the ace, remarking: "Very careless of me. I forgot to take this last time."

East eventually took the setting trick with the jack of spades, and South realized that West was an unreliable character.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠-J 5 3
♥-K 9 8 4 2
♦-Q J 6
♣-5 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

You would bid one heart if partner opened with one club or one diamond, but the hand is not strong enough for a response of two hearts over an opening bid of one spade.

Furniture Taken

Outdoor furniture valued at $352 was taken between 5 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday from the Rafael Racquet Club at 95 Racquet Club Drive, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

New Policy Working To Curb 'Fast-Buck, Shady Operator'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —California has begun the first state regulation of the franchising industry which has made a buck for some and lost a bundle for others in everything from fried chicken to dry cleaners.

State officials hope it will save gullible investors from the "suede-shoe" operator who preys on the financially ignorant.

The law was passed by the 1970 Legislature and went into effect the first of this year. Its provisions are manifold and complex but are geared toward informing the potential investor of what he's getting into.

Richard Gilbert, deputy state attorney general, said the law "does a lot" to curb what he called the "fast-buck, shady operator" from bilking unsuspecting investors.

"First, it discourages fraudulent operators from thinking of selling franchises, and, second, it gives necessary information to persons who are thinking of investing," Gilbert said.

A key provision of the new law requires the franchisor to file a current financial statement with the State Department of Corporations and make it available to the prospective franchisee.

Another section gives the potential investor 48 hours to scan—with the help of an attorney and accountant—the financial stability of the franchising concern.

James L. Kelly, deputy state corporations commissioner, said he is "very confident" the information will be a prime consideration in a person's decision whether to buy a franchise.

"I don't think people are as unsophisticated as some persons believe," Kelly said. "Give them the facts and they can discern where the problem areas are and what they want or don't want to get into."

Kelly said the losses suffered by earlier investors during the franchise boom of the 1960s were partially brought on by two factors.

One, he said, was the "lack of information" a franchise would get on a business. The other was the "undercapitalization" of a franchising firm.

Under the new law, in addition to financial disclosure, the franchisor must provide a statement showing conditions under which the franchise can be canceled. He must provide information concerning the formula on which the franchise fee is based.

The franchise salesman must also disclose the extent to which the franchisee must purchase his supplies, products, fixtures and other goods from the franchisor.

Gilbert, who said "franchise fraud" is "among the biggest problems" the attorney general's office must deal with, said the new law provides "a general shakeout" of dishonest operators who have given the franchising business a black eye in some areas of the business community.

"The new law serves to discourage them from coming into California," he said.

Kelly agreed, saying he expects some franchisors who have been operating in California to pack up and leave, without bothering to even file an application for doing business.

Kelly said 140 franchisors so far have filed applications with his office to sell in California. Under the law, the corporations commissioner can deny permits to firms he considers financially unstable.

Kelly said there was no way to determine the number of franchises sold in the state, since no registration of them had ever been made before.

With the law in effect less than five months, already one lawsuit has resulted from its antifraud provisions.

The attorney general's office has filed a complaint against a company proposing to train persons under a franchise to learn how to fill out income tax returns.

Merger Aids Both Producers, The Consumers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Both producers and consumers will be the beneficiaries of the recent merger of two inspection programs of the state Department of Agriculture, director Jerry W. Fielder announced Monday.

Ha said the merger went into effect May 3 and combined the bureaus of Fruit and Vegetable Standardization and Shipping Point Inspection into a new Fruit and Vegetable Quality Control bureau.

Fielder said the change was designed to more effectively coordinate produce inspection and certification in California.

John T. Miller, presently chief of the department's Fruit and Vegetable Standardization program, will be assigned as assistant to Dr. Laland Bartlet, assistant director for inspection services, in whose division the new bureau will operate.

Classroom At School Entered

Someone entered a classroom at West Novato School this past weekend, threw items around the room and wrote obscenities on the blackboard, Novato police reported today.

Officers said the entry was between 8 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. yesterday.

Miscellaneous unidentified items were taken and the loss was estimated at $10.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Symptoms Similar In Childrens' Strokes — But Causes Different

Strokes may develop in infants, children and adolescents. Although the symptoms are much the same as seen in adults, the causes vary considerably.. I was called by the mother of a 7-month-old child who was having convulsions. During the examination, I found that the infant was not using his right arm or moving his right leg. The tyke was hospitalized and we found that one of the vessels in the brain was ruptured. He had been born with several weakened cerebral arteries that had ballooned out like an old inner tube. It was just a matter of time before one of these vessels would break and cause fatal brain hemorrhage.

INFECTION IS A more common cause of childhood stroke. A 10-year-old boy developed a sore throat with tonsilitis and nasal congestion. He had a high fever and felt miserable. After antibiotics were given, he began to improve. Two weeks later the lad developed convulsions involving the muscles of the right side of his face and right arm. He could barely move his right leg and became stuporous. Tests showed he had meningitis. A different antibiotic was prescribed and the boy gradually improved.

IN HIS CASE, the respiratory infection had spread to the brain via veins that travel in that direction. The blood that clotted in the veins led to phlebitis in the brain. Fortunately the condition was recognized and treated promptly. Any process that blocks or ruptures cerebral vessels can culminate in a strokelike disorder.

HEAD INJURIES may do the same, if the end result is hemorrhage. Youngsters with bleeding tendencies also run the risk of stroke. When a blood clot breaks loose and races to the brain, there may be sudden and severe damage to the nervous system. Stroke is serious at any age but in children the outcome depends upon the cause.

RETURN OF THE PERIOD

Mrs. B. W. writes: Is it possible for a woman not to have a monthly period for a year after childbirth? This is her fourth baby. P.S. It was a spontaneous delivery.

REPLY

This is not the usual aftermath to childbirth but if it happened to the woman, we must assume it is possible. I hope this is not a sign that No. 5 is on the way.

NOT IN HARMONY

W. A. writes: What is hormonal imbalance?

REPLY

This term implies that the glands in the body are not working in harmony. One or more of these structures is sluggish and in need of rejuvenation. Frequently the thyroid gland is the culprit. When it becomes lazy or too active, the other glands are affected secondarily.

ALLERGY AND CARROTS

B. T. writes: What is there in carrots that causes canker sores on the tongue?

REPLY

Nothing, to my knowledge, unless your cankers stem from an allergy to carrots. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on canker sores.

CRAMPS AFTER TEA

W. A. writes: When I drink tea at work, I get stomach cramps. Why?

REPLY

The caffeine in tea may increase the acids and churning movements of the stomach. Are you relaxed at teatime or is it an occasion for bickering?

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Shopping Center Is A Mixed Bag

A big shopping center is a mixed bag. It is private property, yet it takes on many of the qualities of a public area. The Supreme Court has referred to the shopping center as the "modern analogue to the town center."

Recently Harry Hippie went to the shopping center and bought a coke. He sat on a bench there, drinking it and talking to a friend. A store security officer told Harry and his bearded friend to move on. After some heated words the security officer ordered Harry off the premises. When he failed to leave, the officer made a citizen's arrest. Harry was charged with breaking the city anti-loitering law.

Harry's lawyer argued that the city ordinance was unconstitutional. The court ruled that the shopping center does not have absolute power to arbitrarily eject Harry, a would-be customer. But the shopping center could remove him for good reasons. The city ordinance gives the merchant power to arrest and remove the customer who might injure or disrupt his business. But that must be proved. Looks alone are not enough.

For example, no merchant can remove a person because of his color, race, religion or ancestry. Even back in the early days of the common law, certain kinds of business were "affected with a public interest." The laws imposed on them a common law duty to serve all customers on reasonable terms. Discrimination was ruled out.

The more the premises are affected with a public interest — the more the place takes on the qualities of a public premise — the less power the owner has to remove people.

In one case the manager of a race track tried to expel a patron who had a "reputation" as a bookie: He sued to prevent his ouster. The court ruled that the person could not be kept away without some better grounds than "reputation." The person must be involved in some kind of illegal activity.

In another case the bar owner tried to keep "homosexuals" out of his bar and restaurant. The courts said that homosexuals had the right to food and drink as long as they were acting properly. If they were committing illegal or immoral acts then they could be removed. (Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.)

Span Decision Now In Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation that would leave it up to San Francisco Bay Area voters to decide the question whether a southern crossing bridge should be built was in the hands of the Senate today.

The bill by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, was approved by the Senate Transportation Committee Monday without opposition and sent to the full Senate.

Crown submitted the measure after Gov. Ronald Reagan vetoed legislation prohibiting construction of the span without legislative approval. Reagan said the populace of the area should decide the issue.

Under the measure, voters in San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties would decide in the June 1972 primary election whether the bridge should be constructed.

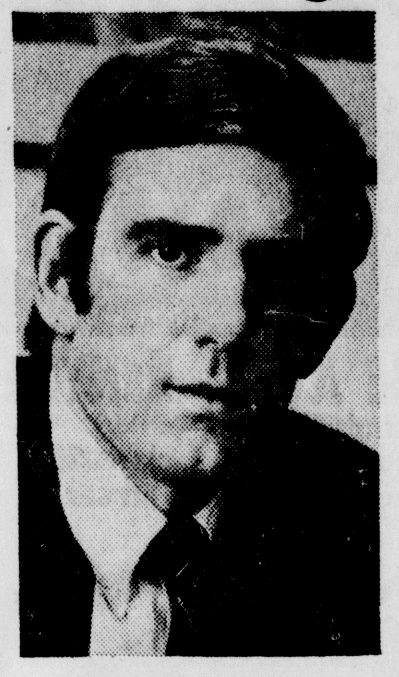
San Jose Professor To Guide Drake High Plan

The Tamalpais High School district board last night unanimously appointed a 34-year-old associate professor of English at San Jose State College to the position of assistant superintendent at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo.

Dr. Thomas Mayer Lorch was named to the $24,000 per year job which had been sought by 130 others.

Lorch, who is married and resides in San Francisco, graduated Phi Beta Kappa and summa cum laude from Yale University in 1958 with a bachelors' degree in history.

In 1959, he received his master's degree in English from the University of Chicago and in 1965 his doctorate in English krom Yale. He also has studied at Northwestern, Harvard and Stanford universities.



THOMAS A. LORCH
To head Drake High

His teaching experience includes positions at Groton School in Massachusetts, Yale and the University of Norte Dame where he was an associate professor.

His administrative experience at Notre Dame included positions of director of freshman English, director of undergraduate studies in English, director of the program for the training of teaching assistants and memberships on several committees.

Lorch, who will assume his new duties at the end of this school year, will be charged with guiding Drake High School through a test of controversial reorganization.

If successful at Drake next year, reorganization to decentralize the district will be undertaken at the district's other two schools.

Students Critical Of Athletic Recommendations; Seek Study

A committee studying whether athletic programs are wanted or needed in the Tamalpais High School District was criticized last night by student representatives who called for a study of the study committee.

Addressing their comments to the district board, students Joe Franaszek and David Bonfield of Redwood High School charged the athletic study committee, which has no student representative, "is heavily weighted against change in the athletic program."

The purpose of the committee when formed was to determine what part, if any, athletics should play in education, young Franaszek told the board. "Now we find the committee making recommendations."

The staff committee was formed in August to deal with the question of whether athletics is an integral part of education and if so, to what extent, and if not what to do with it.

The main issue arises from student demands that their funds not be used to support school teams. Currently, athletic programs operate on a $120,000 per year budget of which $12,000 comes directly from student body coffers.

The question was raised a year ago when student officers at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo tried to withhold funds from the athletic department.

Franaszek said students "didn't push" for membership on the committee when it was formed because they felt it would not make recommendations but limit itself to analysis of the role of athletics. However, he said, now it is supplying the district's budget committee with information for next year's budget.

Drake principal Harold Allison, who heads the committee said he was unaware of the students' disenchantment with his group.

He said the committee had agreed to accept one student as an observer and that the student's suggestions were considered. However, he said, the student has no committee vote.

In giving an oral report on the committee, Allison said it has been inactive since March and indicated it probably would not complete its work by the end of the school year.

Student Bonfield asked that before the committee proceeds further, Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins outline how the athletics program will fit in a decentralized district as proposed, the student advisory committee be directed to study the study committee, the study committee hold its meetings in public and a student be given full membership.

Board president David R. Ring, following some board discussion, told the students the board at this point couldn't be concerned with the mechanics of committee operation.

A mistake was made by the board when the committee was formed by not specificing voting membership, he acknowledged. However, he assured student concerns would be given a full hearing when the question of athletics came before the trustees.

Report Is Set Aside, Pending A Closed Probe

A consultant's report on Tamalpais High School District's controversial education program for mentally retarded students was set aside last night by the district board in favor of a closed session Monday to hear charges against two of the program's three teachers.

The program erupted into controversy last year when parents charged their children were being "treated as outcasts" by some teachers and students at Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley where the program is held.

The board responded to their charges by hiring a consultant to study the program and come up with recommended changes.

"The consultant concluded that the program was an excellent one," Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins told the board. But, he added, parents have lodged formal complaints against faculty members.

Board president David D. Ring said he felt discussion of the program would be useless until a closed session on the charges could be held.

"There's no feasible way to discuss it without getting into names and specifics," he said.

E. Allen Arnold, a parent and head of a parent protest group, told the Independent-Journal parents of 10 children have filed the charges against the teachers.

Arnold, who lives at 212 Cascade Drive, Mill Valley, said the document stating their position and charges.

In letters filed earlier with the district, the parents charged some teachers are inept at their jobs, show little concern for their students and frequently leave students unattended.

The board's closed session is scheduled for Monday at 8 p.m. at the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

A second controversial issue was contained last night when Dr. Hawkins told the board he was not yet ready to recommend it rescind its 1969 policy on hair.

He said the recommendation would come before the board again at its next meeting.

No Invitation To The Wedding

GRASS VALLEY, Calif. (UPI)—Tricia Nixon's wedding invitation list failed to include the name of at least one of President Nixon's two cousins living in rural Nevada County.

Oliver Milhous, who operated the 700-acre Milhous Boys Ranch, said Monday he has not received an invitation to the June 12 White House wedding of Nixon's eldest daughter.

"No comment," was the response from the other cousin, Phillip Milhous, when asked if he had been invited. He created a nationwide stir in February when he revealed his family was on welfare.

Both cousins were invited to Nixon's inauguration in 1969 but neither attended.

Rail Tragedy

BANGKOK (UPI)—Police reported today that seven railway workers were killed and another injured Sunday night when a locomotive crashed into a track car they were riding in Nakhon Sawan.

Elephant Jam In Lincoln Tunnel

NEW YORK (UPI)—Traffic jams are nothing new to the New York metropolitan area, but Manhattan-bound drivers from New Jersey experienced their first elephant jam Monday night.

A caravan of 18 elephants lumbered through the busy Lincoln Tunnel under the Hudson River when the nationwide rail strike forced their 30-car train to stop in South Kearny, N.J.

Most of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus equipment was transferred from the train to vans which drove through the busy tunnel, but the elephants walked through one section of the tunnel.

Tar Paper Stolen

Twenty rolls of black tar paper, valued at $300, were taken from the Tamalpais Lumber Yard warehouse at 241 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, between May 7 and 10, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

The district estimated the cost of the project at $313,000.

JIM GILMARTIN

An Incubator For Champions

As I keep reminding you, Marin County is an incubator for champions. Spirited champs, too.

Last week at Moraga, St. Mary's College honored its outstanding athletes with a number of trophies, including the "Tom Nelson Award" to the "most spirited" ball player. This is quite an honor named for the former Terra Linda High School star, a St. Mary's graduate now serving with the United States Marine Corps at Parris Island, South Carolina.

When he starred for the St. Mary's baseball team all four years of his college career, Tom Nelson won the "most spirited" award three times so the athletic department decided to permanently name the trophy after him. And that is quite an honor for another local boy who makes good.

ALLAN MURRAY of Marin got quite a writeup in the May 15 issue of the St. Louis Sporting News for his work as president of the San Francisco Giants Boosters Club. The article noted that the club if unofficially known as "Murray's Roadrunners" for his energetic travel itinerary to follow the Giants. Also, the author made quite a bit to do about the Boosters' alcoholic beverage consumption on their safaris, and that's the truth, pfffzzz.

MY OH MY, but Petaluma was a hub of activity last Friday night. Not only did the well-publicized World's Wristwrestling Tournament pack 'em into Veterans Memorial Building, but Petaluma Speedway had its usual Friday night throng out for the NASCAR races in which San Rafael's Gary Ramsier finished second in the sportsman division main event.

ANOTHER "LOCAL boy makes good" item: Gino Marco, a student at College of Marin, scored a goal for the Scots in their 2-2 tie with the San Francisco Athletic Club in Sunday's exhibition soccer matches at Kentfield, attended by more than 850 persons. San Rafael barkeep Henry Landauer, the noted international referee, was scheduled to officiate the two games but had to miss it because of a business trip.

WHEN WILLIE MAYS hit his 600th career home run last year, the company that manufactures his bats rewarded him with one share of its stock for each foot the ball travelled — well over 300.

Now, I just learned that when Atlanta's Hank Aaron hit his 600th homer earlier this year, General Mills presented him with— are you ready? — 600 boxes of WHEATIES! (Aaron has been featured in Wheaties television commercials.)

I like Wheaties, but I think Mays got the best of the deal.

REDWOOD HIGH School has booked an intersectional basketball game next Dec. 28 when the Giants of Larkspur entertain Cottage Grove, Ore. High. That's because former Redwood and College of Marin star Jim Halm is head coach at Cottage Grove. He and Coach Dick Hart of Redwood had to obtain permission for the game from the California Interscholastic Federation which usually frowns on intersectionals.

Hawks, Canadiens At End Of The Line

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens come to the end of the road tonight. The team that wins the game wins the National Hockey League Stanley Cup.

The Hawks and the Habs are tied three-all in the best-of-seven match for pro hockey's highest honor and, if the first six are any indication, the seventh will be a thriller.

Only one of the six contests has been decided by more than a two-goal margin and the home team has won every time.

The Hawks got first crack at home ice and cashed in, whipping the Canadiens 2-1 in overtime and 5-3. In Montreal, the Habs evened things with 4-2 and 5-2 triumphs. Back in the Windy City, they dropped a 2-0 decision, then forced the seventh game with a come-from-behind 4-3 win on Montreal Forum ice.

The Hawks, even though they let their foes off the hook, seemed more relaxed than the Canadiens after the sixth tilt. As their plane back to Chicago waited for take off, they engaged in a pillow fight.

Montreal, meanwhile, has been under tension from a verbal blast at Coach Al McNeil by Henri Richard and a threat on McNeil's life.

The series already has produced a bumper crop of candidates for the Conn Smythe Trophy, awarded to the most valuable player in the playoffs.

The Canadiens' Frank Mahovlich has 14 playoff goals, breaking Phil Esposito's record, and 27 points, tying Esposito's mark. Other prime candidates include the goaltenders —Ken Dryden for Montreal and Tony Esposito for Chicago.

Esposito, in 17 playoff games, has a goals-against average of 2.14. Dryden's mark is 3.05 in 19 games.

Whichever way the series goes, it will enter the record books as the longest season in the 54-year history of the NHL. The Canadiens have played 107 games in regular-season and Stanley Cup play; the Hawks have played 105. May 18 is the limit set by the NHL for play.

Should Chicago win, it would be the Hawks' fourth Cup since they entered the NHL in 1927. The Habs, a charter member of the loop, have won the Stanley Cup 15 times.

The second team all-Pacific 8 Conference forward in all three of his collegiate seasons was one of two third-round picks by the Cavaliers.

SIGHTLESS SKIER

Frenchman Who Can't Be Stopped — That's Eymere

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Try to imagine putting on a blindfold, then a pair of skis, and heading down a slope through the trees with only the voice of a buddy guiding you along.

For 34-year-old John Eymere, that's normal skiing. John Eymere is totally blind.

A frenchman by birth and now resident of Aspen, Colo., Eymere doesn't have time for self-pity. He's too busy getting ready to open a summer-winter sports resort for the blind in Aspen. He's now in his last week of schooling at Guide Dogs for the Blind in Sn Rafael.

Sitting there with his golden retriever, Chianti, in the lounge at the school for the blind, talking with such enthusiasm and his non-seeing eyes looking squarely in the direction of the interviewer's voice, one has to remind himself this man is blind.

And being blind is a new experience for Eymere. He lost his eyesight due to diabetes. He began losing it three years ago — first one eye, then finally the other. By last September he was totally blind. But three months later he was already back on skis.

Born in Monte Carlo but reared in the Alps, Eymere was skiing as soon as he was walking. He moved to the United States from France in 1959 and shortly had his own engraving business in New York City. Five years ago he moved to Aspen and bought his own lodge, the Coachlight Chalet. So he switched from the engraving trade to ski instructor.

Brian Webber, an 18-year-old who was working at the chalet when Eyemere lost his eyesight suggested the two of them go skiing. Eymere, blind only three months, said, "sure."

"We had to try different methods to find which one worked best" said Eymere. "First I tried following him down the slope, listening for his commands, but I couldn't hear them well. Then we tried it with him beside me. That didn't work either. Finally I tried skiing behind him, and that seemed to work fine."

Three times since his blindness Eymere has smacked into trees during his skiing. "They were simple mistakes, like turning right when the guide said left," he said.

Since Eymere could still ski while blind, why couldn't others? he thought. With full cooperation of his fellow Lions Club members in Aspen, he is now in the process of starting a resort for the blind.

In addition to skiing, there will be ice skating, dancing, snow picnics, ice fishing and sleighriding during the winter. The summer program will include hiking, fishing, rock climbing, overnight camping and horseback riding.

'I'm learning how to ice skate now," said Eymere. "I hadn't tried it before I became blind, but I want to be able to do any of the things that we'll be offering for the blind people in our program."

Married and the father of two sons, 1 and 3, Eymere wants to take up mountain climbing when he returns to Aspen later this month.

"I'm anxious to try out new things, especially with Chianti," he said. "Maybe she can keep up with me skiing, maybe the snow will hurt her feet, who knows."

Eymere said he has found that 80 per cent of blind persons are on welfare. He recalls going to a get-together with some others who were blind and they "sat around listening to some accordion music."

" 'This couldn't be like it is being blind,' I said to myself. That's when I got the idea to have a vacation spot for blind people . . . a place where they can do things."

After his graduation from the Guide Gods for the Blind Saturday, he'll be trying to do something about it. He'll give blind people something to do. If they can keep up with him.

Athletics To Open Homestand Tonight

Jim Hunter Gets Call Vs. Brewers

OAKLAND (UPI) —Righthander Jim Hunter of the Oakland A's chases his seventh straight victory of the season tonight in a "welcome home" game for the local white shoes.

The Milwaukee Brewers open the A's eight-game homestand with three night games. Marty Pattin, now 3-3, will oppose Hunter.

After losing two games to start off the season, Hunter has rebounded with six straight wins. Coupled with Vida Blue's eight victories, the two pitchers have produced 14 of Oakland's 25 wins.

In fact, Oakland manager Dick Williams is now faced with a surplus of starting pitchers.

Chuck Dobson and John Odom have overcome early season elbow problems and appear as healthy as ever. This was evidenced by their performances Sunday against the Kansas City Royals.

This means that Williams can call upon Hunter, Dobson, Blue, Rollie Fingers, Diego Segui and Odom as starters. But then each pitcher would probably get too much rest between starts and idleness sometimes breeds ineffectiveness.

To cure the problem, Williams has dropped Segui, the defending earned-run champion of the American League, from the rotation. Williams will use a five-pitcher rotation until situations demand otherwise.

The Athletics enjoyed an ott day Monday after flying back from Kansas City and completing their last road trip with a 7-4 record. The A's are 17-6 on the road and 8-8 in the Oakland Coliseum.

Minnesota follows the Brewers into the Coliseum this weekend and the California Angels make their first appearance at the Coliseum next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Nicklaus Still No. 1 On List

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus topped golf's money winners for the fourth straight week Monday despite taking a vacation from the professional golf association's tour.

Nicklaus, who has won three of nine tournaments this year, has earned $131,788, leading Arnold Palmer, $106,796, and Miller Barber $99,037.

Gary Player is fourth on the list with $94,775 and Tom Shaw fifth with $81,845. Rounding out the top ten are Lee Trevino with $78,835, Frank Beard $72,658, George Archer $69,779, Billy Casper $64,820 and J. C. Snead $64,465.

Giants Try To Stop Hot Cubs

CHICAGO (UPI) —If there's a hotter team than the San Francisco Giants these days in the National League, it might be the Chicago Cubs.

With Billy Williams, Ron Santo and Jim Hickman blasting the ball and Ferguson Jenkins and Ken Holtzman striking out a lot of batters and winning a lot of games, the Cubs have strung together six wins in a row.

Meanwhile, the Giants posted an 8-4 record during the last homestand at Candlestick Park to currently nestle nine comfortable games atop the National League West with a 27-10 record.

The Cubs (18-17) have closed to within 4 1-2 games of the New York Mets in the NL's East.

San Francisco came to town today to match pitches and swings with the Cubs. Lefty Ron Bryant of the Giants went after his fourth win and was opposed by righthander Milt Pappas (4-4).

The teams also play Wednesday and Thursday afternoon at arcless Wrigley Field.

Manager Charlie Fox of the Giants said he may rest shotstop Chris Speier for awhile. The smooth-fielding rookie injured his left ankle on a play in the second inning Sunday against the Los Angeles Dodgers and then aggravated it while pivoting on a double play in the third but stayed in the game.

Outside of Willie McCovey's aching knees, the rest of the Giants are in fairly fine shape to begin the nine-game road trip which also takes them to Houston and Los Angeles.

The next double by Willie Mays will set an alltime Giants record. Mays is now tied with Mel Ott with 488 two-baggers.

NEW 49ER CONTRACT

Nolan In A Hurry To Get Started

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Rewarded with a new five-year contract, coach Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers turned today with zest to the 1971 season.

His old five-year pact, still with two years to run, was torn up by club president Lou Spadia Monday and he was given a new contract as an expression of appreciation and confidence by team owners.

"It would be a good guess he got a raise," Spaida told newsmen.

The 10-3 record forged last year by the 49ers under the 39-year-old Nolan was the team's best since joining the National Football League in 1950. The 49ers also won the Western Division title for the first time in history.

Nolan, a soft-spoken native of Pittsburgh who starred as a defensive back for the New York Giants, said he was happy with the new contract but was more interested in planning for the new season.

"Naturally, I'm pleased," he said. "Coaching is my life. I want to coach and that's what I'm doing. I'm grateful for the opportunity I have been given to coach that much longer."

In the same breath, Nolan said he anticipated another fine season for San Francisco. "We have to be a better ball club ... look at the competition in this league," he said.

He said he planned to install a multiple formation offense with the 49ers after seeing what success it had at Kansas City and Dallas where Nolan was an assistant coach before coming to San Francisco in 1968.

"I believe it is going to catch hold in the program. It's becoming more and more popular."

Nolan, near unanimous choice for NFC coach of the year in 1970, said he was looking forward to getting started on the new season.

"I want to see what our new players can do. We think we have the personnel to do a lot of things this year and we want to get started working with it."

Today quarterbacks John Brodie, Steve Spurrier and Buster O'Brien and six linebackers opened a six-day camp at the club's Redwood City training base.

The linebackers are Dave Wilcox, recovered from an off-season knee operation; Carter Campbell, a taxi squad member whose weight has shot from 213 to 238 pounds under a special exercise program; and veterans Skip Vanderbundt, Frank Nunley, Ed Beard and Jim Sniadecki.

3-Way Track Chase

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It will be USC, UCLA and Oregon dominating the Pacific Eight track championships, according to the coaches of Stanford and California's cinder teams.

Stanford's Payton Jordan and California's Dave Maggard agreed the three cinder powers would score heavily at the meet Friday and Saturday at Seattle, but they would not choose a winner among them.

Jordan said Oregon coach Bill Bowerman was a master at disguising his plans by entering runners in all possible events as a decoy to other coaches and then just having them go where they can pick up the most points.

Jordan pointed out that while his Indians are longshots, they still include five school record holders —Randy White in the intermediate hurdles (50.7), Don Kardong in the three mile (13:28), Rick Tipton in the high hurdles (13.7), Al Meredith in the triple jump (52'3-) and Duncan MacDonald in the mile (3:59.6).

Maggard said that freshman Rick Brown, fresh from setting an American record in the 600 meters, and jumper Jim Frazier would head the Bears' contingent, but that sprinters Eddie Hart and Isaac Curtis are doubtful.

Yanks Whip Orioles

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The New York Yankees are finally beginning to make believers out of themselves with their new-found confidence coming at the expense of the Baltimore Orioles.

The Yankees took advantage of three Baltimore errors and three stolen bases to defeat the Orioles, 6-3, behind the combined seven-hit pitching of Mel Stottlemyre and Jack Aker.

Roy White, who almost sat out the game because of a wisdom tooth extraction, hit a two-run homer in the first inning and Jerry Kenney "stole" two runs to lead the Yankee attack.

"We played an outstanding game," Stottlemyre (4-1), said of the Yanks' performance. "We took advantage of their mistakes."

The Yankees capitalized on the Baltimore miscues to score three unearned runs. In the second inning Kenney was safe at first on shortstop Mark Belanger's throwing error. After executing the first of his two steals, Keney scored on Gene Michael's single.

In the eighth inning, Bobby Murcer and Danny Cater hit back-to-back singles. Felipe Alou then hit a routine grounder to third baseman Brooks Robinson. Robinson's peg was in time to get Murcer at the plate but catcher Elrod Hendricks dropped the ball allowing Murcer to score. Kenney's sacrifice fly scored Cater to wrap up the New York scoring.

Kenney also scored in the fourth inning when he singled, stole second and scored on Michaels' single.

In other American League action Boston defeated Detroit 3-2, Cleveland whipped Washington 6-3, and Minnesota edged California, 3-2.

Homers by John Lowenstein and Ken Harrelson gave the Cleveland Indians enough edge for their victory over Washington. The Indians survived an outfield collision that resulted in three of their players being knocked out in a bizarre 110-foot homer.

Lowenstein was involved in the fourth inning accident. He and shortstop Jack Heidemann were hospitalized for observation of leg injuries and Vada Pinson was treated for face cuts that needed nine stitches.

All three slammed together converging for a pop hit to shallow left by Tom McCraw and as they lay stunned he ran around the bases for his freak inside-the-park homer.

George Scott's two-run double in the fifth inning enabled Ray Culp to pick up his fourth victory of the season for Boston. Scott's drive down the left field line off losing starter Dean Chance came after a single by Luis Aparicio and a walk to Reggie Smith and overcame a 2-1 Detroit lead stemming from Willie Horton's two-run homer in the fourth.

Tom Hall came in for Bert Blyleven with two on and none out in the ninth inning and struck out three California pinch-hitters as the Twins edged the Angels. After Ken McMullen and John Stephenson opened with singles, Hall relieved and struck out Billy Cowan, Ken Berry and Jim Fregosi to preserve Blyleven's fourth win in eight decisions. The Twins scored all their runs in the fifth. George Mitterwald's two-run homer, his first of the season, highlighted the Minnesota scoring.

.295 Not Exactly A Slump, But Clemente Isn't Happy

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Roberto Clemente, the Pittsburgh Pirates' four-time National League batting champion, is considered most dangerous when he's complaining.

"I felt a little down because I'm not playing the way I'm supposed to play," said the 36-year old outfielder Monday night and then even speculated on possible retirement. "They always say, retire in your own time, retire when you're on top. I'll quit when I should quit. No one will tell me when to quit."

Clemente must be going pretty bad this year? Wrong. He's batting .295, has driven in 17 runs and Monday night delivered in the clutch with a two-run triple with two out in the ninth inning to give the Pirates a 6-5 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Bob Bailey, batting .164 going into the game, hit a three-run homer in the first inning and a run-scoring single in the third to pace the Expos to an early 5-0 lead. But the Pirates again got excellent pitching from their bullpen, nicked Carl Morton for two runs in the third and closed the gap to 5-4 on homers by Clemente and Bob Robertson in the eighth.

Clemente, who had been retired in two previous crucial situations, came through with the game-winning blow off reliever Mike Marshall after singles by Gene Alley and Dave Cash. The victory enabled the Pirates to move to within one game of first place in the National League East.

Starter Luke Walker was tagged for five runs and five hits in three innings but Jim Nelson, Nelson Briles and Mudcat Grant shut out the Expos on two hits in the last six innings enabling the Pirates to "get even."

The Atlanta Braves scored a 4-3 victory in 12 innings over the New York Mets, the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, and the Houston Astros downed the San Diego Padres, 2-0, in the only other scheduled National League games.

Ralph Garr, whose .404 batting average leads the NL, tied the score with a 10th inning homer and won it for the Braves with another homer in the 12th. Donn Clendenon drove in all three New York runs with a two-run homer in the first inning and a homer in the top of the 10th. Homers by Clete Boyer and Orlando Cepeda accounted for the Braves' early runs off Tom Seaver, who went 9 2-3 innings for the Mets.

Bob Priddy, who allowed the Mets three hits and two walks but no runs in two innings, won his second game for the Braves. Ron Taylor, who threw the second gopher ball to Garr, was the loser.

Pitcher Jim Bunning and batterymate Mike Ryan homered for the Phillies, who dealt Jim Merritt, a 20-game winner for the Reds in 1970, his fifth straight loss of the season. The victory snapped a six-game losing streak for Bunning and was his second of the season. Johnny Bench hit his 13th homer and Pete Rose his third for the Reds.

Don Wilson pitched a six-hitter and struck out six to win his fourth game for the Astros. Jack Hiatt singled in the Astros' first run in the second inning and Jim Wynn singled in an unearned run in the eighth. It was the fourth straight loss for the Padres, who didn't move a baserunner beyond second base.

Dates Announced For Crosby Pro-Am

PEBBLE BEACH (UPI)— Tournament manager Larry Crosby announced Monday the 31st Bing Crosby National Pro-Am will be played Jan. 13-16.

The tournament pairs the tour's best professionals with low handicap celebrity amateurs over the Pebble Beach, Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point courses. Tom Shaw was last year's pro winner.

Palmer To Take Brief Rest From PGA Tour

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI)— Golf's top attraction, Arnold Palmer, said Monday he is going to bow out of the professional golf tour for about three weeks in order to prepare for the U.S. Open June 17-20 at Ardmore, Pa.

Palmer was in the Pacific Northwest along with San Francisco 49er quarterback John Brodie and fellow pros Rod Funseth and Pat Welch, both of Spokane, to play an exhibition match at the Spokane Country Club.

"I'm just not driving as well as I should be," Palmer said, "and that upsets me because I figure that the driving is one of the steadier parts of my game."

Palmer said he would play one more exhibition while he's resting, but would not play competitive golf until the Charlotte (N.C.) tournament which is a week before the U.S. Open.

In the exhibition round, Palmer toured the 6,761, par-72 course with a four-under 68. Welch was next at 73 and Funseth and Brodie had 74s.

Happy Ending In Track

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Although in many ways it was a chaotic disaster, the North Coast Section, Division III track and field meet Saturday at College of Marin had a happy ending. Tamalpais High of Mill Valley became only the second Marin County school ever to win the thing.

The Marin County Athletic League champion Indians edged Santa Rosa in the final team standings, 33-27, and qualified six individuals for the NCS finals Saturday at Santa Rosa Junior College. Redwood of Larkspur is the only other Marin school to have won the division meet. They turned the trick in 1969.

Except for Tam's triumph, the meet Saturday was a flop. Poorly organized and handled by host team San Rafael, it meandered aimlessly until after sundown when the final events were run. By that time, no one had the patience to tabulate the final team scoring, the results of which finally were announced yesterday.

In individual scoring, Tam was led by Gerald Robertson, Al Schlette and the dynamic distance duo of Vian Collier and Mike Arago. Robertson, fully recovered from a bad ankle that sidelined him toward the end of the MCAL campaign, was a triple qualifier. He took thirds in the triple jump and high jump, and fifth in the high hurdles.

Schlette gave an inspired performance to nail down berths in the 100-yard dash and long jump. He finished second in both, upsetting rival Paul Crovo in the dash.

Collier and Arago won their specialties as expected,. At the two mile distance, Arago breezed in 9:35.8, while Collier jogged to a 4:25.9 in the mile without really trying.

The most outstanding individual performance of the day for an MCAL runner was recorded by San Marin's middle-distance star, Chakra Chappell. Competing in the most difficult "double" in track, Chappell won the 880 and took second in the 440.

IT'S UNFORTUNATE that fielding records aren't kept in MCAL baseball, because Terra Linda is one of the finest defensive outfits to hit the league in a long time. In five of their last seven games, the Trojans have gone errorless, and all told they have only 17 miscues in 12 games. The more notable fielders on the club include first baseman Larry Kerr, who has not made an error in league play, and third baseman Jim Codington, who has played the entire season with a bandaged broken thumb.

Several MCAL players besides Codington have suffered broken bones this year. Novato's Bill Busher became the latest casulaty when he busted an ankle last week while playing basketball. Busher was the league's third leading hitter. Two Drake stars, Steve Hale and John Billings are out with broken hands, and Tamalpais centerfielder Clifford Hall is playing with crecked ribs.

Petty Leads Race Drivers

DAYONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—With three more Grand National races to go before the first $25,000 of the $100,000 NASCAR Winston Cup prize money is handed out June 2, Richard Petty holds a 77-point lead in the standings.

James Hylton gained 93 points on the pace-setter Sunday with a seventh-place finish in his Ford at the Winston 500 in Talladega, Ala., to revive his hopes of overtaking Petty. Petty smacked the wall with his Plymouth early in the race and finished 38th.

Petty, of Randelman, N.C., now has 1,505 points to 1,428 for Hylton, of Inman, S.C. Petty also has a commanding lead in winnings with $114,775.

Commercial Fishing In Tomales Bay

By AL GIDDINGS

There is legislative action possible this year to close Tomales Bay to certain types of commercial fishing. I used the words "certain types" because closing the commercial oyster beds is not contemplated.

The closure would include the net fishing probably more so than anything else. There are about three commercial groups of net fishermen operating in Tomales Bay at the present time. I sent for and received the commercial fish catch figures for Tomales Bay from 1965 through 1970.

The commercial catches for this six-year period were: Herring —38,000 pounds, all by nets; smelt —28,000 pounds, all by nets; angel shark —22,000 pounds, all by nets; leopard shark —18,500 pounds, all by nets; halibut — 979 pounds by nets; perch —20,872 pounds, by nets. (This includes all types with sea, black and silver perch predominating. Red tails are rare throughout the catches.)

Also included in the catches were rockfish: 290 pounds; one seven gill shark; 154 pounds and one or two soupfin sharks; 104 pounds. The average catch over the six-year period was approximately 20,000 pounds per year of the above fish. In 1970, the catches were: herring, 5,308 pounds; smelt, 2,500 pounds; perch, 3,000 pounds; sharks, 800 pounds for a total of 11,722 pounds.

The wholesale price paid for these types of fish would probably average about 25 cents per pound — a little more for halibut, but less for sharks and angelfish. This puts a total commercial value of about $5,000 per year on each of the six-year catches. This year at 25 cents per pound, the 11,722 pounds were worth $2,900. By these figures, commercial fishing in Tomales Bay is a very small enterprise. Then what's it all about? Why do the sportfishermen want the nets out of the bay?

In talking to different sportsmen, most of them feel that the commercial catch figures are not exactly true. A commercial fisherman who sells his fish is supposed to get a Fish and Game receipt from the buyer of his fish. By law, a copy from the F. & G. receipt book goes to the Fish and Game Department for analysis and logging.

From these figures, the department is able to compile the statewide commercial fish catches. This gives year by year comparisons, gives reasons for law changes and, in general, shows the trends of the fish populations.

If the buyer does not give a receipt to the fisherman, then that catch is never logged, making the statistics incorrect. It is possible that some buyers don't issue receipts for tax evasion purposes. Some fishermen fail to make out receipts if they sell their fish to other than a commercial buyer, or for fish that they might eat themselves, such as a halibut; or for a fish kept, that is illegal to take commercially in nets such as stripers, steelhead or salmon. The sportsmen feel that these things happen, and they do happen at times.

For instance, I see no figures on ghost shrimp commercial sales, yet I'm sure that Tomales Bay ghost shrimp were sold! This might also be true of rock crabs. For a commercial fisherman to keep a striper, salmon or a steelhead is not an improbability.

In talking to commercial fishermen, they feel that they are only making a living and that most of the fish they catch wouldn't be utilized by the sportsmen anyway. One case in point is the 20,000 pounds of sharks and rays caught in the sportsman's two-day shark derby. The fish were sent to the reduction plant last year.

They say also that the smelt, herring and perch are here in great numbers, enough so that there are more than enough for both types of fishermen. Years ago, when herring sold for $30 per ton, 1,700 tons or 3,500,000 were netted. The processed canned herring would not sell, so the price dropped to $10 per ton, and the market now has a total call for about 5,000 to 15,000 pounds only for the season.

The fishery is still here, there is just no market for the fish! This applies to the perch, smelt and shark fisheries also. It does seem a little hard to stop commercial fishing in lieu of the facts that the total yearly catch is only worth from $3,000 to $5,000, split among three fishermen. The fish in general are fish not sought after by sports fishermen, except for the perch and they are plentiful!

Of course if the 11,000-pound figure is low because of failure to make out receipts, and the figure should be doubled or even trebled to be correct, then the commercial fishermen have created a problem for themselves in that they have made the bay a place insignificant for commercial fishing according to their own statistics. (Things can sure backfire!)

But really, the only significant problem as I see it, is that a commercial fisherman could net a run of bass, salmon or steelhead and failing to release them, hurt the local runs of these type fish. And commercial ghost shrimping in Tomales Bay should be illegal.

On Wednesday, at 10 p.m. on Channel 9 there will be a study of the California Water Plan and the Peripheral Canal. You should watch it! It may make or break the San Francisco Bay.

Utah Gets Home Court Advantage

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)— "The winner is going to be the team with the hot hand and no other single factor will make that much difference."

That's the way former Boston Celtics great Bill Sharman sizes up the game tonight between his Utah Stars and former teammate Frank Ramsey's Kentucky Colonels for the championship of the American Basketball Association.

The Stars and Colonels have battled through six rugged games with each team winning three times on its home floor.

But for the Colonels to emerge as ABA champs, they must break a season-long jinx in never being able to win at Utah's Salt Palace. In fact, the Utah triumphs have usually been by wide margins.

On the line tonight in addition to the prestige of being ABA champions is $8,000 in prize money to each player.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Publishing Field Is Good Investment

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am a mother in my 30s with $1,000 to invest. What investment would you suggest for me? — J.B.

A. The publishing industry, long in the doldrums, is expected to enjoy renewed growth as federal aid to education increases and the economy improves. And, it is an area which I feel you may find of interest, being a young parent. There are a number of stocks suitable for purchase in this group, including Western Publishing. Company creates and publishes juvenile books (Golden Books), comic books and texts, and sells toys, games and commercial and educational printing.

Profits rebounded sharply in 1970 as sales reached a new high at $171.4 million; and earnings climbed a hefty 51 per cent to 98 cents from 57 cents a share. First quarter 1971 net was also significantly improved.

A big plus for Western is its acquisition of the license to manufacture and publish material under the well-publicized "Sesame Street" label. While the full effects of this newly-acquired "plum" may not be felt in 1971, it should provide a sginificant push to 1972 earnings. Shares have considerable appeal for appreciation over the long term.

Q. I would like your opinion on the possibility of price appreciation for Plessey Co., Ltd. — G.S. & I.G.

A. A British concern, Plessey Co., Ltd. is a highly diversified enterprise, active in the fields of telecommunications and electronics, engineering and aerospace. Through the July, 1971 acquisition of Alloys Unlimited, Plessey strengthened its operations in electronics, aerospace and other technology-based industries in the U.S.

Sales (excluding Alloys Unlimited) for the six months ended December 1970, increased 11 per cent year-to-year, while net income advanced 8.9 per cent. On a greater number of shares outstanding, earnings per share fell to 8 from 10 cents in fiscal 1970.

Although anticipated growth for the telecommunications sector enhances the long-term potential of the ordinary ADRs, near-term prospects are clouded by the reduced demand for aerospace and defense electronic equipment.

Liquor Tax Hike Syndrome Raked

LAS VEGAS (UPI) —An official of the alcoholic beverage industries contends that states which regularly increase taxes on liquor defeat their purpose.

Charles Bryant of the tax council of alcoholic beverage industries Monday told the directors of the National Liquor Stores Association that legislatures which hike taxes excessively on the industry soon reach the point of diminishing returns.

Bryant says overtaxed but thirsty customers go to adjoining states to buy liquor when taxes get out of hand.

As a result, he said small business operators were faced with adverse sales and cut payrolls and purchases to the detriment of the state's economy.

WILL HAVE LARGER V-8 ENGINE

A new 4.5-liter V-8 engine designed to run on low-lead or no-lead fuel will be available in three 1972 Mercedes-Benz sedans in September. The engine will be standard equipment in the 280-SEL and the 300-SEL models and as an option on the 280-SE, which will keep the 2.8-liter six as its basic power plant. Cars will be offered in Marin by Mercedes-Benz of Marin, San Rafael.

Signs Of Recovery On Market

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks showed signs of recovering near noon today, although declines still held a commanding lead over advances.

A Senate committee approved legislation to stop the nationwide rail strike, which would order striking signalmen back to work until at least Oct. 1. The Senate action came as the House Commerce Committee considered similar legislation.

The strike already was being felt in the automobile industry where thousands of workers were laid off or put on half days. Barring an end to the walkout, the industry could be shut down completely by the end of the week.

Prices were lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Of the 1,006 issues on the tape, 472 declined while 270 advanced.

On the Big Board, heavily traded Shell Oil, Gulf Oil, and General Foods all surrendered fractions.

Less active Bausch & Lomb, however, gained about 3 after sliding 8 1-2 the previous session. Also higher were Dentsply International up 2 3-8, Federal National Mortgage and Natomas 1 3-8 each, and IBMN Control Data, and Memorex up a point each.

General Motors was off about a point in the otherwise fractionally mixed automotive group. Steels and airlines also traded in mixed fashion.

Your land is Portland?
Your port is Oakland.

If you plan to land in Portland, take off from Oakland, and save an hour and an ulcer on your way to the airport. United Airlines makes it easy with two convenient non-stops to Portland every single day of the week. An early morning and a late afternoon flight. Both ways. To and from Oakland, on the near side of San Francisco Bay. Just a freeway, a bridge and a freeway from home. Ask your travel agent.

Or call the Fly Oakland Girl, ENterprise 1-2422, for reservations and information. Remember, she's on your side.

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees Riverside passenger car tires (to the original purchaser) against (1) defects in material and workmanship and (2) road hazards as follows:

If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.

Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.

For service under this guarantee return tire with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wearout Allowance
40,000 miles	Prorated on Miles Driven
40 month	$10.00
39 month	8.00
36 month	6.00
33 month	5.00
30 month	4.00
24 month	3.00
18 month	2.00

Tread Wear Expectancy offer does not apply to tires used commercially.
